HIGHER LICENSE AND FEWER BARS

Allderman Ellett Proposes Increase in City Tax from $250 to $1,000.

HAVE THIS OR PROHIBITION

Growth of Anti-Saloon Sentiment in Rural Section Spreads to Cities.

The report that a movement for higher liquor licenses in this city was quietly in progress among certain influential men is now to Councilmen and others usually alert to detect any such effort. So far as can be ascertained, the only "movement" looking toward increasing the city liquor license is an ordinance introduced four or five months ago by Alderman T. H. Ellett, of Lee Ward, and referred by the Board of Aldermen to the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform. Mr. Ellett stated yesterday that that committee had agreed to pass by consideration of the measure until after the reunion, when it would be taken up and considered. The Ellett ordinance proposes to increase the city license from the present flat rate of $250 to a flat rate increased to $1,000, having just been granted for a year, however, this ordinance, in the event of its passage, would not become operative before next year.

Allderman Ellett stated that he knew nothing of any organized movement for high license other than his ordinance, but he is hopeful that this will be reported, and will be favorably considered by the Council.

Spread of Reform Movement.

The State license tax is $850 and the city license $250, compared with a city tax of $600 in Lynchburg, Norfolk has also recently increased the amount of liquor license, but Commissioner of the Revenue Hawkins did not know yesterday what the figure is in that city.

The ordinance fixing the city liquor license was for a long term of years, up to 1905, divided into two classes, the amounts for the several classes ranging from $35 to $250. In 1903 the number of classes was reduced to three, and the licenses ranged from $100 to $150 and $250. In 1904, and effective since that time, the ordinance fixed the license tax at a flat rate of $250. This, with the State license, makes it cost a saloon $600 to do business, exclusive of Federal license tax.

The Times-Dispatch, in its issue of Thursday, commenting upon the result of the local option election in Charlottesville, and the gradual spread of the prohibition sentiment from the rural sections to the cities, suggested that prohibition would not be effective in the larger cities, and that the best regulation of the liquor business would be an increase in the license tax so as to diminish the number of saloons, and supervision of these saloons, and to concentrate in certain localities, and in many cases in sections where they ought not to be, notably around the city market and on the north end of Broad Street. The congestion is greatest around the markets and in a few other localities.

At the time of the surrender, Jordan was captain of the company, and at home nursing a wound received at Fort Steadman, March 25, 1865. Hudson was first sergeant, and was nursing wounds received in both legs at Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864, and Worsham was acting adjutant of the regiment, and in bed with a wound received at Winchester, September 19, 1864.

The case against Mrs. Mary McVoy, of No. 925 St. James Street, charges upon complaint of Walter J. Ferguson, with running a disorderly house, was continued to June 12th, when she said she would move, her rental expiring on that date.

HAD GALLON OF BOOZE.

William Lee thought it from Man He Didn't Know.

William Lee (colored) appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of being a suspicious character. Lee was discovered Thursday near the Chesapeake and Ohio yards with a gallon of whiskey in a pint bottle in his possession. Lee explained that he bought the whiskey for $2.25 from a man whom he did not know. On account of the lack of evidence, the case was postponed.

New Steamer on James River.

One of the best fitted up passenger steamers that has ever been to this city is the Saratoga, which arrived here yesterday. She is 300 feet long over all and 67 feet wide, with four decks. This steamer is to run between this city and the Jamestown Exposition. She has sleeping accommodations for 500 people, and is fitted up for the comfort of travelers, including shower baths of salt water. The dining-room can accommodate 150 people at one time.

This steamer will make two trips a week. She is now lying at the Clyde Line wharf.

It is thought the example of Suffolk in securing an association building will be followed by other communities of similar population, for already inquiries have been made concerning the question, and the State secretary will investigate to ascertain if circumstances are favorable to the enterprise.

ERECT BUILDINGS IN MANY CITIES

Fine Example Set by Suffolk Will Be Followed by Other Places in Virginia.

State Secretary L. A. Coulter, of the Y. M. C. A., has returned from Suffolk, where he led in a campaign for $5,000 with which to complete the fund for the new Y. M. C. A. building.

For some time $5,000 had been pledged, and recently the board of directors at Suffolk determined to raise an additional sum in a rapid canvass. They decided to ask for $5,000, and in a canvass lasting only seven days $5,644 was secured. Two thousand dollars will provide a very attractive building, complete in equipment, for a city the size of Suffolk.

Plans have been adopted, and the board meets to-day, at which time no doubt contracts will be let for the building, since bids have already been secured.

It is thought the example of Suffolk in securing an association building will be followed by other communities of similar population, for already inquiries have been made concerning the question, and the State secretary will investigate to ascertain if circumstances are favorable to the enterprise.

JURY DISAGREED AS TO NEUROLOGY

Case of Drs. C. H. Rudd and John W. Buchanan Goes Over Until July.

Prosecution Contends That Neurology Is a Branch of Medical Science.

The case of Drs. C. H. Rudd and J. W. Buchanan, charge with practicing medicine without compliance with the statute, the hearing of which began on Thursday in the Hustings Court, resulted in a mistrial yesterday afternoon. Judge Witt discharged the jury and continued the case to the July term, when it will be heard by another jury. It is reported that the jury stood four for conviction and three for acquittal. The penalty in the event of conviction may be a fine of from $50 to $500, in the discretion of the jury.

Conviction of Two Sides.

In the evidence adduced the prosecution sought to show that the defendants in proclaiming themselves neurologists were advertising practice in a recognized branch of medical science, and that even though they were not administering medicine they were required to undergo examination by the State Board of Medical Examiners. The defense claimed that the defendants added the title of neurologists to their announcement in order to indicate that they were not medical doctors, but doctors of neurology with the title N. D. They merely treated the nervous system by means of optics, fitting glasses scientifically to the needs of the patient and thereby relieving nervousness superinduced by defective vision. The prosecution contended that the defendants practicing optometry or ophthalmology if their contentions were correct, and not neurology.

It was contended by the State that in using the title "Dr." and adding the term "neurologists," the defendants were practicing medicine within the meaning of the statute by the fact that the patients or patrons of the neurologists declared that they had derived great benefit from the optical or ophthalmological treatment, and that if they could not secure similar glasses they would not take a large sum for those adjusted by the defendants. No patron testified to the administering of any medicine.

Jury Discharged.

The early hours of the session yesterday were devoted to the presentation and argument of instructions, and these being finally agreed upon, the case was argued on its merits by the attorneys engaged in it. The case was given to the jury shortly after 1 P. M., and at 2:30 they reported inability to agree upon a verdict. Judge Witt thereupon adjourned court until 4:30 and the jury was again kept together some time; but reported finally their inability to agree. They were then discharged.

The prosecution was instituted by the State Board of Medical Examiners as a test, in order to secure construction of the statute as it may apply to the new science.

Superintendent Jackson Davis and Miss Schermerhorn were busy all day yesterday getting the county school exhibits ready to be sent down to the exposition. They will be ready for transportation early next week.

SON BEATS FATHER.

Clyde Valentine Said His Father Had Treated Mother.

Clyde Valentine appeared in Police Court yesterday morning, charged with beating his father, L. S. Valentine. The case was dismissed, when it was shown that the negro man had not beaten his father because the latter had ill treated his mother, and that he did not contribute more than $2 a week to the support of the family.

Mrs. Valentine said that her husband had driven her brother, who she had not seen for eighteen years, away from home, she fainting and her mother, and when her son found her in this condition, he called his father a contemptible cur. The fight followed.

WANTED TO SEE MAYOR.

William Fisher, One-Legged Man, Arrived in City.

William Fisher, a white man of about twenty-eight years of age, with one leg, was arrested in the City Hall at noon yesterday by Sergeant Whitehair on a charge of begging.

Fisher said that he was on his way to ask the Mayor for a little financial aid. When searched, $14 was found on his person.

Asked for his address, the man said he was from No. 22 West Jackson Street, but investigation disclosed that this place was a negro tenement house. Subsequently information was elicited that the man was from Washington, having arrived in the morning from Norfolk.

John Hurdy Must Hums.

Governor Swanson yesterday refused to commute the death sentence of John Hurdy, the negro who is condemned to hang next Friday in Roanoke for the murder of Policeman Beard, of that city. His Excellency has had the petition under advisement several days.
