

NO POISON TRACE IN STRANGE'S BODY

Dr. Rowland to be Prosecuted Despite Report by Chemist.

MADE A THOROUGH TEST

Hearing, Beginning Monday, to Rely on Circumstantial Evidence.

RALPHIGH, N. C., June 12.—In the case of Dr. D. S. Rowland, charged with the murder by poison of Engineer Charles R. Strange, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the chemist who has been since May 21st analyzing the stomach of Strange for traces of poison, reported this afternoon that no poison was found.

The prosecution to-night authorized a statement that the case against Rowland would be pushed anyway, and circumstantial evidence be relied upon. The hearing will begin on Monday morning at 10 o'clock before a justice of the peace.

Made Thorough Test. The report of Dr. Syme, the chemist, states that "since no autopsy was made, and since there was no statement from a physician that the test for certain poisons could be omitted from the chemical analysis, a complete analysis was necessary."

Continuing, the chemist says: "I therefore made a systematic examination for detectable poisons and corrosives, including free mineral acids, alkalies and salts, volatile poisons, organic poisons, mineral poisons and certain strong drugs usually not included in a toxicological examination."

The report concludes with one hundred and sixty-eight poisons that were tested for in vain.

Dr. Rowland Still in Jail.

Dr. Rowland, who a few days ago had been on trial for the murder of his own son by poison, none having been found in the boy's stomach, is in jail here. His wife, who was Strange's widow of six weeks when she married Rowland, who attended Strange on his deathbed, is here to be tried as an accessory before the fact of her husband's murder.

OBSTACLES TO THE WINDS.

Young Couple, Felled in First Attempt to Wed, Pile to Other Jurisdiction.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 12.—The happy culmination of a romance was temporarily spoiled this morning when Miss Sadie Carpenter, of Norfolk, Va., and Alexander Tanner, of Charlotte attempted to marry clandestinely, and ran into an obstacle in the shape of a telegram from Norfolk forbidding the register of deeds to issue the license.

Carpenter was not to be thwarted, however, and the young people immediately procured a team and drove rapidly southward, presumably toward the jurisdiction of New York City. They halted just across the South Carolina line, where no register of deeds need be confronted, no license required.

SETS FIRE TO HER CLOTHES.

Widow, After Repeated Attempts, Succeeds in Committing Suicide.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 12.—Mrs. Frances Phillips, aged seventy years, committed suicide two miles east of Lumberton this morning by setting her clothes afire. Her mind had been unbalanced for some time, and she had been lately suffering from delirium. Two weeks ago she attempted to drink concentrated lye, and at another time she was taken from the railroad track before an oncoming train. Arrangements had been made to take her to the asylum to-morrow.

O. Hechle, of Parkersburg, W. Va., presiding.

The convention was welcomed to Virginia by S. E. Morris, of Norfolk, and on behalf of the city, by Mayor James G. Hildick.

Attorney H. K. Wolcott delivered an address on the U. C. T., and responses were made by President E. O. Hechle and Oscar Jenkins, of William Anderson, president of the Norfolk Business Men's Association and Board of Trade, delivered an address on behalf of the Board of Trade.

CANNON'S VIEWS ABOUT SOUTH

Speaker Admitted in Speech at Guilford That They Have Undergone Modification.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., June 12.—Speaker Cannon's speech at a banquet given in his honor during his recent visit to Guilford College continues to be discussed. A gentleman who attended the Guilford College commencement and heard the speaker's toast has received letters and telegrams from Northern papers asking him to give them the true version of Mr. Cannon's speech. The gentleman's reply, given out to-night, is this:

"From old English times what was said at a private banquet was considered sub rosa. Speaker Cannon said nothing on topics mentioned improper, untrue, sensational or in bad taste. The speaker was the guest of the college and the alumni. Certainly no alumni would assist in putting a guest in the limelight, even if he had said something extraordinary. Mr. Cannon's speech was taken down by an official stenographer of the House of Representatives, who will probably supply the exact text if desired."

Speaker Cannon said while at Guilford College that his former views regarding the South and Southern people had been materially changed, and he assured several gentlemen that with pleasure he would advocate a government appropriation to Guilford College during the next session of Congress.

One Negro Shouts Another. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SPENCER, N. C., June 12.—Vick Rich, a colored employe of the Southern Railway Company here, was shot the other day by another colored man also colored. Two balls took effect in Rich's neck and in his side.

DEFAULTING TELLER PLEADS "GUILTY"

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 12.—Francis H. Jones, defaulting teller of the Charlotte National Bank, pleaded guilty today to three counts in the indictment for embezzling the bank's funds. Judge Boyd reserved sentence until the case against Percy G. Fonville, who is charged with conspiracy with Jones to steal the bank's funds, shall have been heard. The Fonville case was called immediately after Jones' plea was entered, but owing to the failure of Congressman Wylie, of Alabama, chief counsel for Donville, to arrive, with consent of the district attorney the case was postponed until Monday next. Shortly after the court took a recess, counsel for Jones had a conference with the court, and announced that the defendant wished to restore a part of the embezzled money, and the court accepted for restitution to the bank the sum of $5,000, which was tendered.

Sensational developments are expected when the case of conspiracy against Donville is called. Fonville man a bucket-shop in this city, and it is known that Jones had dealings with him. Knowing ones predict that Jones will seek to show that he was a scapegoat of Fonville's, and that the stock broker is morally responsible for his downfall.

FIND CLOTHING OF MISS RICHARDSON

Cloak and Underskirt Picked Up on Small Island in Rivanna River.

WRIGHT PHYSICAL WRECK

Young Man With Girl at Time of Drowning Has Been Relentless in Search.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTEVILLE, VA., June 12.—The cloak and underskirt picked up on Saturday, June 1st, the day she was drowned near Edge Hill Church, in attempting to cross a stream in a buggy while the water was high from the heavy rain, have been found on a small island in the Rivanna River, near Milton.

Ragged holes in both garments showed that the body had caught on snags in its course down the stream. The cloak was buttoned and turned wrong side out; even the sleeves were turned in this manner, showing that the cloak had caught on some rock or snag and that the force of the current had drawn the body of the young woman out of the garment and swept it out probably into the James.

The horse, which was drowned at the time Miss Richardson met her death, was found on a hammock of drift at Columbia, near where the Rivanna empties into the James—sixty miles from the scene of the drowning. This leads to the belief that the body of the young woman, being so much lighter, has been carried into the James, and, if ever recovered, may be found as far away as Richmond.

All the more tragic is the condition of Mr. William Wright, the young man who was with Miss Richardson when the accident occurred. He is afflicted as a physical wreck through loss of sleep and fatigue from his hopeless search for the body of his sweetheart. In a boat, which he had made by a lumber company of this city, he has continued his search from day to day. Every foot of the creek from the river bank for miles has been gone over as thoroughly as is possible, considering the muddy water. In addition, young Wright has offered a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body.

CONTINUE ALL CASES.

Judge Clopton, Sitting at Chesterfield, C. H. for Judge Watson, Defers Trials.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHESTERFIELD, C. H., Va., June 12.—Judge Clopton, who opened court here Tuesday in Judge Watson's stead, on account of the latter's illness, has thought all cases over. He is inclined to continue by continuing all criminal and common law cases until the September term of court, and adjourning court until the last of the week, which it will be formally adjourned for this term.

From expressions heard yesterday, the application of Rev. Thomas J. Nettles to succeed the late Captain William A. Blankingship as county superintendent of the county, has not received general approval throughout the county.

TRAINS RUN TOGETHER.

Passengers on Danville and Western Indly Shaken Up.

DANVILLE, VA., June 12.—A head-on collision between two passenger trains of the Danville and Western Railway, a branch of the Southern, occurred this afternoon at about 5 o'clock, about twelve miles west of here. The Danville and Western is a single track road, and the collision was the result of the two trains running at a rate of about fifteen miles an hour, and the engines more or less damaged. One of the cars of the Danville conductor on the east-bound train, was injured by being struck by glass from a falling door. There were about twenty passengers on each train, all of whom were shaken up, but none seriously injured.

The cause of the wreck has not been determined, but an investigation is now in progress.

CUSTODY OF CHILD.

Fight by Mrs. Emmert to Get Four-Year-Old Son from Husband Ends.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BISTOL, TENN., June 12.—The case of Mrs. Keffle Robinson, Emmert against William B. Emmert, in the form of a petition of the complainant for the custody of her four-year-old son, was called on for trial in the Chancery Court here to-day, but Judge Haynes reserves his decision until the next week.

Barring his present trouble, no man is held in higher esteem here than Mr. Emmert. The divorced Mrs. Emmert is a sister of the late Governor of the New York railroad magnate, and regarded by all as a very superior woman.

INDICT CITIZENS.

Grand Jury of Lunenburg is Contending With Ill-Get Sale of Liquor.

MEHERRIN, VA., June 12.—Several citizens of this county were indicted at the present term of Circuit Court, which is being continued through this week for ill-get sales of whiskey and wine. A large portion of these cases were continued on account of the ill-health of Commonwealth's Attorney Nebbett, but those who were tried on this charge were found guilty and in some instances fines have reached as high as $100 against them.

Since the construction of the Tidewater Railroad through this territory the demand for the class of goods has been heavy, and shipments from various points have found their way to private houses contiguous to this line. It is believed that scattered here and there were parties who made it their business to supply this demand, and no evidence sufficient to convict could be secured until late, when quite a number of them were located and indictments followed.

BIG LANDSLIDE.

Trains on Clinch Valley Road Greatly Delayed—Service Interrupted.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] TRAZEWELL, VA., June 12.—A slide on the Clinch Valley to-day has produced passenger and freight trains greatly. All the rivers and branches are out of their banks and serious damage is feared.

The trial of Harman for the murder of Willie Reese Whitely is still in progress. The jury, which was impaneled to-day, tended to prove the defendant insane from childhood. The trial may be concluded this week.

BLAKELY RAMMED; MUCH DAMAGED

Whipple, Torpedo-Boat Destroyer, Jabs Big Hole in Blakely at Navy Yard.

TROUBLE IN ENGINE-ROOM

So Says Official Report Made to Navy Department by Commander Berry.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., June 12.—The torpedo-boat Blakely was rammed by the destroyer Whipple at the Norfolk navy-yard to-day and put out of commission. The Blakely is now in dry-dock, with a hole in her side big enough for a man to walk in. The boats had just arrived at the yard with the remainder of the flotilla to which they are attached, and were manoeuvring to enter the dry-dock for thorough repairs when the collision occurred.

Just how it happened no one who saw it can be found to say, and it will probably remain unknown until a board of inquiry, which will be constituted, makes its report on it. But the lick was a hard one, the Whipple's sharp stem slicing its way far into the Blakely amidships. The Blakely took in water rapidly, but was prevented from sinking by the instant closing of her watertight compartments.

The accident would have been far more serious at sea. The Blakely will be immediately repaired.

The Official Report.

The following dispatch from Commandant Berry at the Norfolk navy-yard regarding the collision between the torpedo-boats Whipple and Blakely, has been made to the Navy Department this afternoon: "Whipple rammed Blakely in coming to wharf, cutting completely into the after stateroom, driving the Blakely against the sea-wall and flattening in her bow. Whipple unhurt. The accident due to error in engine-room, going ahead at full speed when signaled to back."
