A PLEA FOR HEALTH.

The unsanitary conditions in the eastern and western sections of recently annexed territory are a menace to public health and demand immediate attention. The main trouble is lack of drainage. In consequence of which stagnant pools may be found on almost every block, in public alleys as well as on private lots.

But who has authority to proceed with this work? No one, so far as we have been able to ascertain. The Board of Health has no authority, because drainage is an engineering matter, and the City Engineer has no authority, unless directed by the Council. The only way out of the difficulty, as we are informed, is for the City Attorney to draw an ordinance directing the City Engineer to proceed, and for both branches of the Council to adopt it.

But in the interest of health and comfort, we beg the Council to take action as soon as possible. Citizens in the annexed territory are now required to pay full city taxes, and they are entitled to every consideration which such payment implies.

ALABAMA'S POLITICAL TROUBLES.

The State of Alabama has a political situation that is full of entanglements. In the summer of 1906 a primary election was held to nominate a candidate for Governor and minor State officers. The Legislature of Alabama convenes only once in four years, and an adjourned session will begin in July, 1907.

Senator Morgan's term expired March 4th of the present year, and the term of Senator Pettus will expire in 1909. Therefore, the next Legislature will elect two United States Senators, and the primary election held last year nominated both Senator Morgan and Senator Pettus, but, owing to the extreme age of each, it was deemed advisable to nominate alternates.

Bankhead and Johnston were chosen. The fight for Governor was between Mr. Comer and Lieutenant-Governor Cunningham, and resulted in the selection of Mr. Comer, who is now Governor.

So far so good, but it is said that the prime reason for nominating the alternates was to prevent Mr. Comer, in case of his election as Governor, from appointing a man of his own selection to succeed either Senator Morgan or Senator Pettus in the event of a vacancy. This was resented by the friends of Mr. Comer, and when the State Convention met to declare the result of the primary and adopt a platform, Comer's friends, who were in the majority, succeeded in inserting a plank which was intended to abrogate the result of the primary, so far as concerned the nomination of alternate candidates for Senator.

Senator Morgan has since died, and Governor Comer has appointed Mr. Tankhead to serve until the Legislature meets in July. As the Legislature is controlled by Comer men, it is not improbable that the majority will hold that the instruction of the primary was abrogated by the subsequent action of the convention and elect some man other than Bankhead to the Senate. Governor Comer is out in a card in which he says that he will continue to fill the office of Governor and will not be a candidate for the Senate. He also holds that the action of the primary is not binding on the Legislature.

"It is effect," says he, "was specifically limited to the executive. It was for the purpose of electing an appointee for the Governor, and provided the person so selected should hold for a definite term, that is for the term between the occurrence of a vacancy and the next meeting of the Legislature, not for any other, or further term of time. The winner in this primary is entitled to that term and shall receive it. It now becomes the untrammeled duty of the Legislature to select a Senator for the balance of the unexpired term of the late Senator Pettus, in the discharge of this duty, they should give the State a representative in harmony with the views of the people on the dominant issues now before the country."

These complications affect the State of Alabama only, but they emphasize the need of a change in the Federal Constitution so as to make United States Senators in Congress elective by direct popular vote, instead of by the Legislature. The primary is at best but a makeshift, and is by no means a satisfactory substitute for a regular election by the people.

REPUBLICANS AND THE TARIFF.

Governor A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, is out in an interview in which he says that the people of the West are strongly in favor of the renomination of President Roosevelt, and he believes that when the next Republican National Convention meets, he will be the nominee, and the campaign to follow will result in his triumphant election.

"I feel positive," he adds, "that even though the President has declared against accepting another term, his wish will not be respected, and in response to the public demand, he must heed the call and stay in the White House four years longer."

Governor Cummins subsequently delivered an address before the Pittsburg Board of Trade, in which he said: "I stand just as firmly and as persistently for a reduction in some of the duties in order that the home buyer may be protected as I do for reciprocal arrangements that will enlarge our sales abroad."

"The course of the tariff conclusively establishes that the duties are excessive. If the iron and steel manufacturer of the United States can sell his products in the markets of other countries in open competition with the manufacturers of the earth, and in so doing, he can make a profit upon his sales, the man who still holds that our manufacturers need the high duties in order to enable them to compete successfully in their own markets with foreign producers, has surrendered his good sense in his ideal of the shrine of that miserable maxim flched from the language of the great American game."

"I am for tariff revision and for tariff reduction as a measure of justice to the buyers of protected commodities. It seems to me that we have gone to the shrine of that selfish and have abandoned the buyer to the tender mercy of monopoly, combination, and greed."

"The people have borne excessive tariff with marvelous patience, but they will not bear it in silence, and little by little they are coming nearer to their own. The way is beset by many difficulties, but they will be overcome, and it will not be long before a Congress will convene that will be as swift to give them the relief which they are entitled to as the Congress of the last few years have been resolute in denying."

That is Democratic doctrine, no matter who preaches it. It is possible that the Republicans are going to nominate Roosevelt on a tariff-reform platform? If so, the proposal of Mr. John Temple Graves that Mr. William J. Bryan second the nomination will be not so absurd as appeared when it was first made. These be strange times in politics.

NORFOLK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

From all reports the arrest of Virginia soldiers at Pine Beach last Sunday was a public outrage, and the conduct of the county policeman who made the arrest brutal. Governor Swanson will order a thorough investigation to be made, and he would perform a public service if he would have the whole county investigated. It is openly charged that the resorts around the Exposition Grounds are a disgrace to civilization; that the Sunday law is flagrantly violated; that saloons and gambling joints are operated every day in the week and no questions asked. It was stated the other day in the public print that the policeman who arrested a soldier on Sunday took him to a saloon which was selling liquor in violation of law, and confined his prisoner in the saloon while leaving the barkeeper free to ply his trade.

It would appear from these reports that political conditions in Norfolk county, which have so often been exposed and denounced, are no better than ever.

Norfolk county has not only been a pest in politics, but is most expensive to the State government. The criminal expenses of Norfolk county during the year ending September 30, 1906, amounted to $24,626.10. By the census of 1900 Norfolk county had a population of 50,780. The county of Pittsylvania had a population of 46,894, yet the criminal expenses of Pittsylvania were only $15,521.87. The county of Accomac, with a population of 32,570, received from the State only $3,269 for criminal expenses, and the county of Albemarle, with a population of 20,000, received only $820.76.

It is true that Norfolk county is peculiarly situated, a part of it being on the border of the cities of Norfolk and Portsmouth, but so is a part of the county of Henrico on the border of Richmond, yet the criminal expenses of Henrico county are only about one-third as great as those of the county of Norfolk.

Now that the investigation has been started, let it be broad and thorough. Turn the light on and let the public see.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

The Board of Aldermen did wisely to commit exclusively to the School Board the work of securing plans and specifications for the new High School building, and we hope that the Council will concur. The School Board consists of nine members and the Committee on Grounds and Buildings of eleven members.

"Friendship in Absence."
By ABRAHAM COWLEY.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

When chance or cruel business parts us two,
What do our souls, I wonder, do?
Whilst sleep does our dull bodies tie,
Methink at home they should not stay
Content with dreams,—but boldly fly
Abroad, and meet each other half the way.

"Twere an ill world, I'll swear, for every friend,
If distance could their union end:
But love itself does far advance
Above the power of time and space,
It scorns such outward circumstance,
His time's forever, everywhere, his place.

Rhymes for To-Day.

THE SECRET.
STIFLE the lily and shut up the rose—
Let them not listen out there on the hill!
I have a secret that no one else knows:
Please God that none ever will!

Strangled in sleep by a dream's leaden breath,
Falling to shame o'er a nameless abyss,
Shrieking aloud at a thought worse than death—
Let no one else win to this!

Only for me is the ultimate bane,
Life without merriment and shroud without sign.
Some heart must drown in this dead sea of pain:
Let it be mine; only mine!

No one but me knows these horrid ways—
I tread alone where the very sun blights:
No one but me knows the curse of my life:
No one the hell of my nights.

Root up the lily and stamp down the rose,
Choke up the babbling, unbearable rill!
I have a secret that no one else knows:
Thank God that none ever will!

P. S.
Reader, this fake has gone on long enough!
I am the jolliest party alive—
Secretly, but this 't is a bore to write guff.

People Seen

in Public Places

Mr. W. A. Rinehart, of Allegheny, a prominent railroad contractor and former member of the House of Delegates, is at Murphy's.

The presence of Mr. Rinehart in the city at this time brings to mind the fact that he is a man of prominence in his party and in addition to having served in the Legislature, was for some years a member of the State Democratic Committee from the Tenth District.

It is said that Captain William M. McAllister, of Bath, and Captain Phil. F. Brown, of Botetourt, may enter the race as Mr. King's competitors, but so far as is known, they have made no formal announcements. Both have served in the lower branch of the Legislature in former years, and may desire to re-serve.

The district is regarded as close, and has given the Democrats a good deal of trouble in recent years, but leaders of that party who have been especially carried if the leader chosen is a popular and aggressive one.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien H. Cooke, of Roanoke; Misses Mattie Cooke, of Hopkins, and Jane Cooke, of Roanoke, are at the Jefferson.

Dr. S. B. Barham, of Surry, several times a member of the House of Delegates from the District of Prince George's County, is at Murphy's.

Hon. S. B. Barham, a son of Dr. Barham, is the present member, and is standing for re-election. He is being supported by the Democratic nomination by Dr. William B. Daniel, of Prince George, who has represented the district in the lower branch at a former session.

Mr. B. C. Banks, of Bland Court-house, who is in charge of the Virginia mineral and timber exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition, is at Richmond, having come up from Norfolk last night, on his way home to spend a few days.

Mr. Banks says the exhibition is being carried out, and that he believes it is going to be a success, provided the attendance shall measure up to the hopes of the management.

Mr. Banks will return to the grounds after a short stay at his home, where he goes to look after some private matters.

He is quite an active leader in the Democratic politics of the Ninth District, but his long absence in connection with the Jamestown Exposition, has put him a little out of touch with the situation.

"I may be able to tell you something when I come back," he said, "when he is in the lobby last night. The information did not come from Mr. Banks, but from Hon. S. B. Barham, a former member of the House of Delegates, will probably be the Democratic standard-bearer for the Senate in the Fifth District to succeed Hon. Peyton F. St. Clair, who declines to stand for re-election.

The district, which is a close one, is composed of the counties of Giles, Bland, Pulaski and Wythe.

Some of the Virginians registered at the Richmond Hotel are: Hon. S. B. Barham; F. R. Bradley, Staunton; H. E. Dodson, Boydton; E. J. Wright and wife, Lynchburg.

Virginians at Murphy's are Roger S. Warren, Arvonian; Miss Sadie M. Burch, Lynchburg; C. Schultz, Buchanan; E. W. Gregory, and wife, Chase City; A. C. Crawford and wife, Covington; Robert Kinler, Jr., Lynchburg.

Among the Virginians at the Jefferson are W. H. Hoehner, of Norfolk, and Miss Margaret Cochran, of Staunton.

P. S. Greathouse, Staunton; A. W. Moore, Divert; G. G. Corydon, Phoebus; C. B. Wilson, Danville, are among the Virginians at the Lexington.

Investigation Demanded.
In calling upon Judge Portlock, of the Norfolk County Circuit Court to see that the laws are enforced at the Beach, the Tidewater Union of Methodist Ministers have taken a manifestly proper step. If it be true, as alleged, that the laws there are flagrantly and brazenly violated, that illegal gaming is carried on openly and above board, that the Sunday liquor laws are being broken, and that, in spite of the fact that the laws are being broken, no efforts should be omitted by the authorities to put a stop to the offenses and to punish the offenders.

In the interest of public morals and of the peace and order of the locality, as well as for the protection of visitors and the good name of the county, it is urged that the authorities should take prompt action on the charges so alleged to exist at Pine Beach should be tolerated for a moment.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

LOAFERS DISAPPEAR.
Five Non-Workers Fined in Police Court Yesterday.
Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning disposed of five vagrants who were brought before him, but two were negroes. A fine of $5 was exacted from all, and only one was paid—that by a "lady friend." The last was warned, however, that he would have to go to work within twenty-four hours or he would be brought back and fined again.

Justice Crutchfield and Chief of Police Werner are rapidly clearing the city of loafers, and the officials are receiving the commendations of business men from all sides.

RAN FROM OFFICER.
Lucien Lewis Breaks Away from Capt. Tomlinson, But Is Caught Again.
Lucien Lewis (colored) broke from the grip of Captain Tomlinson yesterday morning, but was caught again on the street to escape arrest at the hands of the detective. A crowd fell in behind, and quite a merry chase was witnessed for several days, looking over the heads of the crowd, the man was mistaken of turning up Sixth Street, where he ran into a stall, fell down and was caught by Officer Spurr.

Lewis and John Hopkins were arrested by Captain Tomlinson for being drunk.

It is announced that the Department of Agriculture that Commissioner Kolmer, who is abroad in the interest of immigration, will return to the city about July 1st. He will sail from Liverpool on the steamship Baltic on June 22d.

DIED IN ALLEY.
Ethel Arnett Lawson, Colored, Succumbed to a Hemorrhage.
Ethel Arnett Lawson, a colored girl from Newport News, was stricken down yesterday morning while coming from the Chesapeake and Ohio Depot in a carriage, adjoining the premises of 1727 East Main Street, where she died in a few minutes. The girl was in the last stages of consumption, and while in the carriage had an attack of hemorrhage.

GOVERNOR GOING TO PETERSBURG

Will Accept Custody of Monument to Forty-Eighth Pennsylvania Regiment.

OFFICIALS ON THE MOVE

Superintendent Eggleston Returns and Corporation Commissioners Are Away.

Governor Swanson yesterday accepted an invitation to go to Petersburg today, accompanied by his staff, and to participate in the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of a monument to the Forty-eighth Pennsylvania Regiment. The Governor and party will leave this morning for the Cockade City, and His Excellency will accept the custody of the monument from Governor E. S. Stuart, of the Keystone State.

Governor Stuart and his staff and a large party of veterans and Pennsylvania citizens will arrive in Petersburg at 5 o'clock this morning, and the occasion promises to be a most interesting one.

Governor Swanson was in his office during practically all of yesterday, though he disposed of no matter of great public moment. He called upon Superintendent Joseph D. Eggleston, Jr. in the latter's office, and they talked over some matters relating to the public schools and to the meeting of the Board of Education, which will take place here on Monday night.

The session of the board will be full of interest. The case of Superintendent James E. Clements, of Alexandria county, who is charged with failing to send in his reports properly and promptly, will come up. It is understood that if the charges are sustained he will be fined for his delinquencies. The board will elect a superintendent for Chesterfield county to succeed the late William A. Blankenship, and much other business will be disposed of.

Officers Come and Go.
Public officials at the capitol and library have been coming and going all the week. Mr. C. Lee Moore, of the State Auditor's office, went to his home in Alexandria to vote in the Eighth District primary yesterday, and the Corporation Commissioners and the Board of Education, which will take place here on Monday night.

Superintendent Eggleston was back from Lexington yesterday, but will leave to-day for Portsmouth to make a speech to-night at the closing of a high school there. He speaks to-morrow in Norfolk county, and will then go to the exposition to see how the educational exhibit is getting on.

Miss St. John is delighted that Louisiana has fallen in line for school improvement, and has raised her school tax from 17-1-2 to 35 cents.

Heard Among Officials.
Captain P. St. Julien Wilson, State Highway Commissioner, has returned from Augusta county, where he has been for several days, looking over the roads being built by convicts in that section. Captain Wilson is much pleased with the work that is being carried on in this line in many sections of the State.

Governor Swanson yesterday appointed Mr. George Kurtz, of Winchester, to succeed himself as a member of the State Embalming Board. Clerk H. Stewart Jones yesterday opened the bids for the Supreme Court printing for the next fiscal year, and the contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, who was the man who lost in the State Lottery.

The figure of the winning concern was forty-two cents per page. Adjutant-General Charles J. Anderson was in his office yesterday, having returned from Lexington, where he attended the meeting of the V. M. I. board.

Secretary R. C. Stearnes, of the State Board of Education, is at Howardsville, attending a high-school commencement. He will return here to-day. Labor Commissioner James B. Doherty, who is chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Labor Commissioners, which meets at the Jamestown Exposition July 22d-29th, is busy preparing for the convention.

It is announced that the Department of Agriculture that Commissioner Kolmer, who is abroad in the interest of immigration, will return to the city about July 1st. He will sail from Liverpool on the steamship Baltic on June 22d.

DIED IN ALLEY.
Ethel Arnett Lawson, Colored, Succumbed to a Hemorrhage.
Ethel Arnett Lawson, a colored girl from Newport News, was stricken down yesterday morning while coming from the Chesapeake and Ohio Depot in a carriage, adjoining the premises of 1727 East Main Street, where she died in a few minutes. The girl was in the last stages of consumption, and while in the carriage had an attack of hemorrhage.

The body was viewed by Coroner Taylor, who decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The girl had come to this city in the hope of receiving medical attention. She was nineteen years of age.

MISSOURI CADETS VISIT RICHMOND

Governor Swanson and Mayor McCarthy Review and Address Fine Corps.

PARADE ON BROAD STREET

Nearly Three Hundred University Boys on Sight-Seeing Tour.

The cadet corps of the University of Missouri, a fine body, numbering 250 youths and young men in uniform, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon in a special train over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, and spent nearly five hours in this city. They were under the command of Captain Joseph Frazier, U. S. A., commandant and professor at the university.

The cadets came up from the Jamestown Exposition and were met at the station by Mayor Carlton McCarthy, who escorted them to the City Hall. There the cadets were reviewed by Governor Swanson and Mayor McCarthy, both of whom briefly addressed the cadets, complimenting them on their soldierly appearance and welcoming them to the city. Mayor McCarthy notified the Governor of the presence of the visiting cadets, and the Executive Council of the city.

Mayor McCarthy sought in vain to have a military escort to meet the visitors, but the local military did not arrive until Monday night at a late hour, and it was not possible to have a military escort. The cadets had a stand of national and Missouri colors. Just presented to them, and went through some pretty ceremonies with the colors.

The visitors from Missouri put in the time during the afternoon seeing the city and visiting its points of interest. In groups they explored the City Hall, Capitol and Library, and viewed the various monuments and other places. The corps left at 7 P. M. for their homes, well pleased with their observations in Richmond.

Summer Institute at Port Conway.
A State summer institute for colored teachers will be held at Port Conway, King George county, opening July 1st and continuing through August 1st.

The regular uniform State examinations will be held at the school July 29th, 30th and 31st.

The State Board of Education is intended to give an opportunity for improvement to the teachers of the colored schools in the counties on and near the Rappahannock river, and has practically no money in those counties should make an effort if possible to attend. The instruction will be confined to the public school branches and has as practical as possible. The faculty will be as follows: J. H. A. Cyrus, president Union Industrial Academy, manager; J. H. Blackwell, principal Manchester colored school, principal; Nelson Williams, teacher Richmond city public schools, assistant; Carrie L. Gray, principal of a school in the city, assistant.

Tuition fee, $4. Boarding arrangements can be made for $7. For full information write J. H. A. Cyrus, Port Royal, Va.

Every school teacher who can do so is urged to attend this school.

State School Examiner, First Circuit.

Occupied White Man's Seat.
R. A. Harris (colored) was fined $10 by Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning on the charge of not moving into the "White Man's Seat" when ordered by the conductor of a street car. The man went to jail in default. Harris's defense was that he was new to the city, and thought he was being imposed upon when the conductor ordered him to move back.

Early Morning Blize.
Fire started early yesterday morning in the left of Mr. John E. Parrish's stable, No. 514 North Twenty-sixth Street, causing damage amounting to about $20. A neighbor saw the smoke, issuing from the left and notified Mr. Parrish, who at once led his horses out of danger. Wagon No. 1 arrived, and the flames were soon extinguished.

Had "Paralysis."
Daisy Martin, colored, suffering, she said, from "paralysis," called drunkenness by the police, was fined $5 by Justice Crutchfield yesterday morning. She went to jail in default.

Hamlet Goes to Jury.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NICHOLAS, (A. J. No. 1)—George Hamlet, colored, who was arrested yesterday morning at the Van Dyke League Home, on Main Street, was given a preliminary hearing in the Police Court this morning and held for the action of the grand jury at the July term of the Corporation Court. The charge against the negro is house-breaking.
