TRAVERS CAPTURES NATIONAL HONORS

Nineteen-Year-Old New Jersey-ite Plays Remarkable Golf for the Title.

WINS BY LARGE MARGIN

Play of Amateur Champion Has Been Most Consistent, and He Well Deserves Victory.

CLEVELAND, O., July 13.—

Playing the same unbeatable golf that has characterized his play since the beginning of the tournament, Jerome K. Travers, the nineteen-year-old golfer of Montclair, N. J., today won the National Amateur Golf championship from Archie Graham, of the North Jersey Club.

Travers won a decisive victory, 6 up and 5 to play. He was two up at the end of the morning round of 18 holes, and gradually increased his lead. The end came at the thirty-first hole, when Travers, after dropping a 175-yard mid-iron shot, ten yards from the cup, ran the ball on the next shot to within less than a foot of the hole and holed the little putt after Graham had missed a long putt that would have prolonged the game.

Travers' score of 15 holes played in the morning was 75; for the first nine holes of the afternoon play, 35; and he was under bogey on the last four holes played. Graham took 73 in the morning, 33 for the first nine holes in the afternoon, and was one over bogey on the last four holes.

"Travers is the logical winner of this tournament, and deserves the championship," said the veteran Walter J. Travis, after watching the little New Jersey golfer hole out the putt that brought him national honors. "He had the hard side of the draw and waded through a lot of high-class players to the finish."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

ROANOKE, VA., July 12.—The baseball rosters have organized a club known as the Fair-Play Club, with a view of seeing to it that all players and umpires receive fair play, and also to raise $1,000, which will be divided between the members of the club at the close of the season, if the club does not come below second place.

Drake's Branch, 6; Keysville, 5.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

KEYSVILLE, VA., July 13.—Drake's Branch turned the tables on the Keysville ball team here yesterday, defeating them by the score of 6 to 5. The Keysville boys seemed asleep all during the game, and made most costly errors. Both Beville, of Keysville, and Lacy, of Drake's Branch, were touched up freely for hits. Adams was substituted for Beville in the seventh, and was very effective.

Batteries: Keysville—Beville, Adams and Beville; Drake's Branch—Lacy and Friend. Umpires—Walker, of Chase City, and Watkins, of Charlotte Court-house. Time of game, two hours. Attendance, 700.

PETER PAN WINNER OF THE BRIGHTON

Keene's Commando Colt Again Shows Gameness in Battle.

CAME HOME IN A DRIVE

Great Crowd Cheered Madly When Notter Took Winner to the Front.

NEW YORK, July 13.—

Peter Pan, James R. Keene's game colt, won the $25,000 Brighton Handicap at Brighton Beach today in a drive that brought the 22,000 spectators in the stands to their feet, yelling like mad. The great Commando colt was a hot favorite with the bettors, being backed down from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5. Notter won his race in the stretch, and as Peter Pan, jump by jump, went into the lead, the biggest crowd that ever assembled at the Brighton track rose to its feet with a wave of cheering that did not cease until Notter had ridden back to the scales and Peter Pan had been led to the paddock.

McCarteer, the second choice in the betting, got away first with Coy Maid close behind, while Peter Pan trailed along in fifth place. At the mile Montgomery had come from fourth and was two lengths behind McCarteer. Coming into the stretch Notter gave Peter Pan his head and the colt responded with a rush. Through the bunch he came like a cannonball and when at the eighth post McCarteer faltered the race was over. Peter Pan rushed under the wire, winning by a neck. Montgomery was third by half a length. Summaries:

JOURNALS WON AGAIN

The Richmond Journals added another victory to their string by defeating the Christ Church Association yesterday afternoon on the latter's grounds by the score of 6 to 0. Dowden and Gathright both pitched beautifully, the former being backed up by almost faultless fielding.

In the fourth inning W. Bauer led off with a two base hit and scored later on Shelton's single. The seventh remained 1 to 0 until the seventh, when the Journal team, by bunting hits, aided by costly errors, scored five more runs.

Richmond, 4; Lynchburg, 2.

Fighting with bulldog determination every inch of the way and exhibiting team work and individual playing, such as had perhaps never before been seen at the Broad Street grounds, W. B. Bradley's Colts, with Pitcher Wilson Hobbs at the helm in the first game, and Duke Carter at this position in the second, took a double header from the Lynchburg champions yesterday afternoon before the largest crowd that has gathered to witness a baseball game here this season by the close scores of 4 to 2, and 5 to 4.

While the first affair was replete with sensational plays and thrilling situations, the second was by far its superior when it comes to the reckless manner in which the locals got themselves into the worst possible holes, and then with an ease and grace that would have done justice to a matinee idol, recovered their equilibrium.

Big Crowd Was Loyal.
The immense crowd of over twelve thousand frenzied fans that were literally lined on every side of the park, was with the team from the time Umpire Truby called play at the start of the first game until Gettig stabbed Hooker's hot shot and hoisted it to second ending the second contest. It was not only a loyal gathering, but a good-natured one. When errors and one or two careless plays were made by Richmond, especially in the second game, the cry would go up, "Let it go, old chap, do better next time, and remember we're with you." The men responded nobly, and every one was happy.

What was easily the feature of the afternoon was Duke Carter's hit in the ending of the eighth inning of the last contest, with two down, the score 4 to 4 by virtue of timely swats by Bentley and Stewart in the first half of the same, and a man on third. Carter had already connected for one single, but after Cowan had singled, a stolen second, came to third on a passed ball, and Walsh had fled to left, making the second out, no man in the park, though all were pulling hard for the necessary single. Bentley, by the hole in a doughnut against a dollar that Carter would turn the trick.

Case's Story Reversed.

With tense faces and hands gripping the backs of the benches in front of them, the crowd saw Carter fan at a wide one. The next over was a ball, when Truby showed his nerve by calling a strike on the batter in the face of the existing conditions. Kline, who was in the pit for Lynchburg, wound up slowly and deliberately, and put one over. It was just what Carter had been waiting for, and he met the ball fair on the end of his bat.

With the snap of the wood against the leather sphere, the crowd saw instantly that it was fair, and with one accord, and as if they had been trained for it, the banners, grandstand and floor, by the field arose with a prolonged shout that must have reached to Lynchburg and told the fans in that place that Richmond had trailed the pennant aspirations of the visitors in the dust, temporarily at least.

Pandemonium Breaks Loose.

It was to be expected that the faithful in "Hooker's Row" would explode at the incident of this kind, but the "members" proved to be but a drop in the bucket. Hats were thrown into the air, little care being taken whether or not the hat thrown belonged to the man who threw it. Pandemonium had broken loose. Following the rustle of hats came a bombardment of seat cushions that fairly darkened the sky. They came so thick and fast. The only thing to do was to let it rain a natural death, and after five minutes or more of a deafening din, the game went on.

When Gettig's throw to Cowan ended the suspense in the first half of the next, a shout went up that would have done justice to a colored camp meeting, but it sounded faint and far away to those who had heard that caused by Carter's timely single.

Richmond's two victories yesterday and the one of the day previous, together with the postponement of the Portsmouth-Danville game, which could not be played because of rain, gives the Colts a percentage of .475, which ties them for next to last place in the pennant race with the Truickers. The triple defeat of Lynchburg in the last three days lowers the percentage of the Champions, putting them back to second place, and allowing Norfolk to go to the front. The Roanoke-Norfolk contest was also postponed on account of rain. This leaves the six clubs even more closely bunched than at any time before this season, and makes the race more interesting than ever before.

The First Game.

In the preliminary workout, Hobbs looked to be fit and at the last moment was selected by Manager Reeve to do the twirling. While the big fellow was not in as rare form as he was when he went in to relieve Salvo on Thursday, and though he was touched up rather freely, he performed consistently throughout the eight and one-half rounds, kept the nine hits made off him well scattered and was always in command of himself. He showed the results of the game in the sixth and seventh innings, but with wonderful determination and grit, well knowing the habit that Lynchburg has for butting out victory in the final rounds, he gathered himself together in the last two innings and, pitching desperately, retired the side in these two sessions, allowing only one man to get as far as first.

Slobie, Titman and Cowan carried off the sticking honors in the opener, with three and two hits apiece, respectively. There were no fielding features worthy of mention in this game, unless it was the beautiful manner in which the entire team played together like one man. True, there were errors and one dumb play were chalked up against three of the Colts, but only one run resulted from Gettig's heave to the fence behind Cowan. As a matter of fact, these few miscues only added zest to a good contest, and in view of the results can and were forgiven most loyally.

Colts Begin Early.
After the visitors had been retired in order, Titman led off by driving the second ball thrown to him to left-
