

QUAKER CRICKET IS GOING ABROAD

Philadelphia Team Is to Play a Series of Matches in England.

PALMER EASY FOR BURNS

Victory of American Assured Hackenschmidt Coming to This Country Soon.

BY RICHARD DAHLGREN. (Special Cable to the Times-Dispatch.) LONDON, ENGLAND, January 6.—The news that a picked team of cricketers from Philadelphia is to invade England this year has been received with sincere pleasure by English cricketers of the bat and wicket. The various English teams which have visited the United States have received such fine treatment that they propose to show the Americans that England is not white when the States when it comes to hospitality.

Under the best fifteen matches have been arranged for the Philadelphia team, the first of which is to be played at Cardiff on July 6th.

Tommy Burns has completed his arrangements for a match with Jack Palmer, and it will be fought at Wexford in February. The match is attracting very little interest, as it is considered a foregone conclusion that Burns will win pretty much as he pleases.

I have spoken with several men who are interested in the fighting game here, as to the possibility of a purse being offered for Burns and Johnson, the American negro, in case he should come over looking for a match. It is doubtful if sufficient inducements would be offered for such a match, even if Jack should cross the water. Nothing like the purse which these two men could draw in America would be given in England.

Burns has given a good impression here, and it is the general impression that next to Jeffries, perhaps, he is the best fighter now in the ring.

American in Racing.

Reports that W. K. Vanderbilt intends to take an active part in English racing crop out periodically and as regularly turn out to be without foundation. The latest report to this effect is that Mr. Vanderbilt is now pointing his golf stick to the water derby, and if he trains on up to expectations that he will be started in the great race with a good chance of success. Mr. Vanderbilt would be welcome to the English turf, but for some reason he seems to prefer to do his racing in France.

Richard Croker has recently purchased 100 acres adjoining his Glencairn stud farm, near the Leopardstown race course, and now has a solid tract of 500 acres. It is hard to get news of Mr. Croker's youngsters, but I understand that Dr. McGrath, his trainer, is thoroughly well satisfied with the situation, and is confident that Mr. Croker will make even a better showing this year than he did last at the English race-tracks.

"Hack" Coming to America.

George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, has no present intention, I understand, of meeting Rogers, the American wrestler. He does not regard Rogers as worth while. Hack is seriously considering an offer of $10,000 to go to America this spring and give a series of exhibitions, winding up with a match with Frank Gotch, either in Kansas City or Chicago, next May. The Russian wrestler has not quite made up his mind yet, but he has accepted the offer, but the probabilities are that he will do so.

London has America to thank for some splendid trophies for the next horse show. A. G. Vanderbilt has donated a $1,000 gold cup for road four-hand teams, and Mr. Clarence Mackay has given a $1,000 trophy for park fours.

Mr. Lawrence Jones, of Louisville, Ky., one of the winners of last year's show, has given a $250 cup for the heavy harness horse class. There is every reason to believe that this year's horse show will surpass even that of last year, both as to the number of entries and in popular favor.

Lady Master of Hounds.

A lady "master" of hounds is a novelty even in England. Miss N. Pyman, of Bathwaite Hall, Whiteby, has been named as the "master" of the Gothland hounds, and her mastership has been a marked success. Miss Pyman has followed the Gothland hounds for some years, and few know more regarding hill hunting, or can ride

GOOD ONE FOR RICHMOND

JAY KANZIER.

Perry Lipo is fast gathering together his material for a pennant-winning team this season, his latest purchase being Jay Kanzier, former manager of the Columbia club, of the South Atlantic League.

Kanzier is from Sandusky, O. He plays first-base, and from all accounts is one of whom Richmond may expect much. He has height and plenty of reach, and few balls come his way without landing in his mitt. His last published record gives him a batting percentage of .329, and a fielding record of .982.

straight to hounds over a boggy moor when a straight-necked fox points his mask for the sea, than this pretty girl.

The Gothland is an ancient pack, which has for some years been mastered by a committee. The selection of Miss Pyman as M. F. H. was an experiment, but there is every indication that it has been eminently successful.

WAS GIVEN HIS RELEASE.

Bentley So Asserts, Though Manager Grim Said He Would Return.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNN, Va., January 6.—A letter from William Bentley, who was a member of last year's Lynchburg team, and one of the leading hitters of the league, announces the fact that he was given his release last summer by the local team. After Bentley was injured, he says, he asked for and secured his release.

AMERICAN ATHLETES IN CHINA'S CAPITAL

PRINCETON, N. J., January 6.—Way off in China a few weeks ago, the athletic ground of the British legation was the scene of an international competition which perhaps failed to rival the Olympic games at Athens last year, but which nevertheless, in spirit was just as keenly contested as the event in Greece.

More than 2,000 persons from the various legations of Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Austria, Belgium, Japan, Holland and the United States, crowded an arena in the center of the empire, in order to witness sixteen events of track and field.

The meet was then under the auspices of the Princeton University delegation in far away China, and the motley array of uniforms and Oriental costumes—the groups of civil and Chinese spectators—indicated that the religious movement in the Orient is progressing at least in Peking—the center of the empire—in so far as it is effecting among the Chinese an interest in worldly affairs and ideas.

Princeton University's delegation have taken up their abode in Peking, and there in the last two years they have accomplished much good among the students.

Robert R. Galley, the all-American center on Princeton's champion 1906 team, is in charge of the work for the New Jersey college in Peking. Religious meetings are held regularly for the army, and Bible classes have been started with great success.

New League May Come Here. A. W. Lawson, president of the Union League of professional baseball clubs, was in the city yesterday looking over the field, gentlemen interested in baseball, and had taken up their abode in the city. Several other cities want the franchise, but Mr. Lawson views Richmond very favorably, and if the funds are forthcoming it is quite likely that this action, however, will be taken.

Commissioner Fairbank Dead.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] BOSTON, Mass., January 6.—Mr. Wilson Fairbank, who was commissioner for the State of Massachusetts at the Jamestown Exposition, died very suddenly here today.

GOLD QUEST WON AT ODDS OF 15 TO 1

Rank Outsiders, Roped Home With the Money in the Fourth.

TRACK A LAKE OF MUD

Jockey Powers Made a Record by Piloting Home Three Winners.

NEW ORLEANS, La., January 6.—At the Fair Grounds today the weather was bad and the course was a lake of mud. Long shots won the majority of the races. A surprise came with the fourth race, when Gold Quest, at 15 to 1, came home the winner. Jockey Powers rode three winners, Summaries:

First race—mile and seventy yards—Banriola (4 to 5) first, George H. White (30 to 1) second, Dorothy Ann (15 to 1) third. Time, 1:50.

Second race—six furlongs, selling—Dona (15 to 1) first, Prince of Peace (75 to 1) second, Creel (25 to 1) third. Time, 1:20.

Third race—seven furlongs, selling—Third Rail (8 to 1) first, Sainsaw (9 to 5) second, Thomas Calhoun (5 to 2) third. Time, 1:36 2-5.

Fourth race—seven furlongs, selling—Gold Quest (15 to 1) first, Miss Mason (10 to 1) second, Ethel Carr (5 to 1) third. Time, 1:35 3-5.

Fifth race—six furlongs, handicap—Chief Hayes (16 to 5) first, Higginbotham (6 to 1) second, Plantation (9 to 1) third. Time, 1:29 2-5.

Sixth race—mile and sixteenth, selling—Donna (11 to 5) first, Dottie (25 to 1) second, Delphi (11 to 5) third. Time, 1:57 1-5.

RACES AT RINK

Several Fast Matches Arranged for Friday Night.

The only special event for the Skating Rink this week will be the races on Friday night. The moving pictures are shown every night. The management promises that the building will be comfortably heated, and the Friday night races should prove interesting. Louis Oppaman, the fast Lynchburg skater, will be here to try conclusions with Brent and other local sportsmen, and a boys' race in which Taylor, Harrison, Fraser and other youngsters will participate, will also be put on.

TO MANAGE PORTSMOUTH.

Steve Griffin To Have Charge, and Expects Good Results.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, Va., January 6.—Steve Griffin, captain of the Charleston, S. C. team last year, and who finished the season in Norfolk at second-base, has been given the management of the Portsmouth team for the next season by Owner Bland.

Griffin is recognized as a good man, full of ginger, and a good judge of baseball players. He begins work at once rounding up players for the Trunkers. He is confident of securing an aggregation that will put Portsmouth at the top of the ladder.

"WAS INSANE AT TIME DEED WAS COMMITTED" to the witness chair. He was William F. Miller, a decorator, Miller said he had known Stanford White casually, and had formed an opinion upon what he had read of the case.

He felt he could render a fair and impartial verdict, and upon this statement Mr. Jerom announced that he passed the juror for cause. The three talesmen who followed Miller under examination were excused because of the unqualified opinion they declared they held.

Thomas H. Harmer, who was foreman of the second Nan Patterson jury, and voted for acquittal, was excused because of illness.

As to the plea of insanity, Mr. Jerom explained to each of the proposed jurors in turn that a person from criminal liability in this State only upon proof that he was at the time of the deed suffering from such a defect of reason as not to know the nature or quality of his act, or that the act was wrong, he also questioned each talesman closely as to any conscientious scruples entering his mind, and was satisfied that Charles E. Grammel, a ship broker, said he had certain scruples against capital punishment, but if sworn as a juror he felt he could lay it aside and vote for a conviction if the evidence seemed warrant it.

Mr. Jerom was asked to challenge for cause, but Justice Dowling ordered the examination to proceed. In other ways Mr. Grammel was acceptable to the prosecution, and was turned to Mr. Littleton, of the defense. He was then accepted, and took his place in the foreman's chair. After Grammel's acceptance the luncheon recess was ordered. There was a delay of ten minutes in beginning the afternoon sessions.

Thaw Looks Palled. Thaw's family group, which had been kept outside the second rail for the morning sessions, was provided with chairs inside during the afternoon. Thaw appeared palled in the afternoon light. There was a sobriety of expression about him which was quite striking. He is calmer and more self-controlled than a year ago. The opposing attorneys, however, were anxious to secure a jury at the earliest possible moment.

William R. Ellis, a straw goods manufacturer, was excused because of an unfavorable opinion. Thomas Moyne, a lawyer through District Attorney Jerom's examination, but went down on a challenge from the defense. It was not until the tenth talesman of the afternoon session had been examined that the second unsworn juror was said to be ready. He had an opinion, but it was not so expressed as to influence his judgment in the course of the evidence. He was accepted.

The fourth tentative juror, Floyd S. Sanford, assistant manager of an uptown bank, was accepted late in the afternoon session.

Sanford was quickly passed by the prosecution, but Mr. Littleton, of the defense, questioned him at great length. The juror said he had read the reports of the former trial pretty thoroughly, and formed an opinion as to the truth or falsity of the charges against Thaw. He insisted that by hearing the witnesses himself he could render a fair verdict.

The examination of talesmen lagged during the late afternoon. A long line of prospective talesmen was lined up, and they were called out to be examined by Judge H. H. Conway, keeper of a small hotel in 11th Street, was passed into the jury box a few minutes before the afternoon session ended. He said he had read the reports of the former trial pretty closely, but had formed no particular opinion. His examination was brief. Several talesmen who followed were excused because of the strength of their opinions. When the evening recess from 6 to 8 o'clock was ordered the five tentative jurors in the box were taken out to dinner, in charge of uniformed officers of the court.

Cornelius Renner, the last talesman examined, declared that everybody who killed a person was more or less insane, it was excused by consent.

Small Night Crowd. Josiah Thaw was the only member of the defendant's family present at the evening session. The unsworn talesmen were the sole spectators. Half an hour was consumed in the examination of the first two talesmen called, both being eventually excused by consent. They had opinions which they felt would prevent an impartial judgment of the case. It was not until the seventh talesman of the evening session had been reached that the sixth juror was secured. William E. Brower, a decorator, declared that while he entertained an opinion in the case, it was not a strong one. He was accepted, and the case proceeded by allowing Mr. Brower proved acceptable as juror No. 7.

He is Arthur R. Naething, a baker, who surprised all of the attorneys by declaring that he had read none of the reports presented at the first trial. He declared that at home with members of his family he had read the newspapers, and gained a more or less definite opinion from them. This could be laid aside, he said, when he took his place in the jury box. Maurice B. Lewis, vice-president of a large exporting firm, was temporarily passed as juror No. 8 as the evening session drew to a close. There was a strong impression that Mr. Bouvier would not remain on the panel, for he declared the defenses based upon insanity usually prevail, and he suspected the talesmen were next excused in rapid order, and then the ninth chair was filled by the selection of George W. Carey, a dry goods dealer. Mr. Carey said he had an opinion, but it was not a strong one.

MISS SIMONTO WARNED. Threatened With Instant Death If She Appears Against Thaw.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., January 6.—Some one has threatened to blow the head of Ida Veronica Simonton if she appears against Harry Thaw in his second trial for the killing of Stanford White.

Miss Simonton, who is at present staying with her mother at No. 243 Fortieth Street, has been mentioned frequently in connection with the Thaw case. Her name was introduced into the testimony of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who said Miss Simonton was the only woman who could control Stanford White.

Miss Simonton asserts that ever since her return from Africa she has been receiving letters containing threats against her life if she appeared on the stand against Harry Thaw. The latest of these letters was received yesterday from Philadelphia. It reads: "Madame, we understand you are about to take the stand for Stanford White, a criminal who destroyed women and children. Beware, we are in your hands. Beware, madame, that you do nothing in this matter for vengeance because you have lost your father-in-law. Our vengeance will immediately follow any utterance you make against Harry Thaw. Do not think of escape, for we are many in number. We send you our salutation. (Signed) 'THE CAMORIST,' Successor to the Black Hand."

The fact that the letter is written in French, Miss Simonton believes, furnish a clue as to its writer. The person who sent it evidently knew she could read French. Miss Simonton is inclined to believe it came from a former chauffeur. She called attention to the fact that when the Black Hand sends a message to any one it is usually written in broken English. While this letter was written in French, the signature was in Italian.

Forethought. Superintendent (to new clerk): Why, you want to get out nearly every day? Your foreman says you are a very good worker. He knew how to arrange things. On the same day, one time, his step-mother died, and the new clerk was in a hurry to get on to law suit—Transatlantic Times.

An Innovation. A New York woman is having a fountain placed in her parlor. This is novel. The fountain is a small one, and is the latest of the nearest approach to this heretofore.
