

It is, and Messrs. Bowman, Withers and others speaking in opposition. SOME OF THE NEW BILLS

Here and There in the Legislature

THE "third house" is going to be much in evidence at this session of the Legislature. It is indicated by the crowds that swarmed in the lobbies and galleries yesterday. The fight of the Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company for a charter to parallel the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad from Drewville to Fredericksburg is already warming up, and the forces behind the bill are being marshaled by Hon. Alvin U. Embrey, of Fredericksburg, who was once a member of the lower branch. Judge Embrey is a lawyer of distinguished ability, and is perfectly at home in the management of a battle such as this, in which he is now engaged.

CONGRESSMAN HAL H. FLOOD, of Appomattox, and Hon. W. H. Graves, former member of the House from Henry county, were among the prominent Democrats in the fight to shake hands with their friends in the Legislature.

INTEREST centered yesterday in the announcement by the clerks of the comptroller, clerk of the Senate and clerk of the House, that the following announcements in the House:

THE GRIP

The late Dr. Shroy, one of New York's most successful practitioners, advised getting warm and using a Cathartic at Once in Cases of Grip. The first thing to do in an attack of the grip is to get warm, and be sure to move the bowels freely, preferably with Hood's Pills. Generally speaking, if there is simple grip, it is quickly followed, not more than a day or two, by the attack.

A MODERN ANOMALY

All the Comforts of Home Outside of Home. A YACHTING PROBLEM SOLVED. The hotel problem in New York is a most important one, and its magnitude has been greatly increased during recent years by changed conditions of living. The hotel, once defined as a house for the entertainment of travelers and strangers, is now becoming the permanent abode of thousands of well-to-do Americans. Many of these own fine residences, but frequently find it more comfortable and convenient to live in hotels, where the manager takes upon himself all the cares and perplexities of housekeeping, and gives his guests the unalloyed pleasures and blessings of home, together with a privacy not to be found in most metropolitan houses.

TAFT ON INJUNCTION

Given His Views and Says a Kind Word About Labor Unions. MARTIN'S FERRY, O., January 9.—The views of William H. Taft, Secretary of War, in regard to the uses and abuses of injunctions, are stated in a letter in reply to questions propounded by Llewellyn Lewis, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, given out here today. Secretary Taft expresses his statement with a declaration that

Why I Lost My Job.

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers. I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily leave their places of employment. They do not know, and probably would not believe, when their last pay envelope comes, along it is usually very service no longer received. If we know we are removed, the reason for their removal is not their fault. It is because of some mental weakness, or general indolence. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful cause of failure in the walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this age our minds must be clear, rapid, active, and free from all influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "floaters" who are blown about by every wind to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful, with no ambition to rise above their position. Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him. But no man can get the best out of himself until he is first free from all fretful indispositions and worries. That was my trouble. I was full of trouble, and I was full of worry. My stomach in the first place was always out of order, and I was worrying about it and my mind grew cloudy, and slow. I made mistakes, and grew grouchy. That was the end.
