

could throw little light on the affair. She was at breakfast both times, she stated, and the first time was called by Mrs. Gaylord, who has since become a mother. Mrs. Gaylord was in the room when the nurse arrived. She was discovered washing out the child's burning mouth. She was too ill to be interviewed. There are several helpers but Miss Venable strongly protests that she suspects none of them.

Some motive might lie in the fact that the baby was exceedingly irritable and often cried. Rumor has it that the child was often roughly treated on this account by one of the helpers.

One of the strangest features about the whole affair is that, apparently, little attention was paid to the first attempt on "Baby" Vaughan's life. No extra precaution, so far as can be ascertained, was taken to prevent a second attempt, and no report of it was made to the police. The Committee on Relief of the Poor met Monday night, and although both Superintendent George B. Davis and Dr. Trevillian, house surgeon, were present, no report of the murder was made to the committee. Mr. Davis left yesterday morning for a ten days' stay in Rockbridge county. The matter will be taken up to-night at a called meeting of the committee. Members of the committee said the night that the crime was outrageous and a disgrace to the institution.

Abandoned by Mother. "Baby" Vaughan had a checkered career in the four months he lived. He was brought to this city on April 6th by his mother, who gave him the name of Frances Vaughan, claiming to be an actress, and a man giving his name as Thompson, both hailing, they said, from Washington. They took their trouble to Dr. St. Julien Oppenheimer, who referred them to Mrs. Hermance, of 1210 East Marshall Street. The latter said she would care for the child, and Thompson paid her a month in advance, saying that he would come through every Thursday to visit the baby. Both were deeply agitated. They had many bottles of soothing syrup, with which the little fellow seemed to be filled, but all the bottles were labeled by a Norfolk drug store. They have since been lost.

"Goodby, Muggins," said Mrs. Vaughan, and the two left the house, still hurrying. They dismissed the carriage, and returned on foot. Before leaving Mrs. Vaughan stated that her address would be in the care of the New York Dramatic Mirror, New York, and that she was engaged to play in the Lyric Theatre, Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

A letter received from her three weeks after the child was left with Mrs. Hermance stated that she was not in New York, but in Philadelphia. Mrs. Hermance wrote to Philadelphia, and the reply came that the Lyric was closed. No more has ever been heard of either Mrs. Vaughan or of Thompson. Mrs. Vaughan is described as a young woman, about twenty-one years of age, slim, dark hair and eyes. She wore a polka dot blue skirt and a suit made of some mixed material. They disappeared with the same mystery that enveloped them when they came.

Child's Hard Career. Mrs. Hermance kept the child for the month engaged for by the mother, and two weeks longer, hoping all the while to hear from Mrs. Vaughan. Then she took "Muggins" to the City Home on July 15th, when he was nine weeks old. Still baffled about the woman, the little boy was discharged from the Home on June 15th, to become the adopted son of Mrs. George F. Mountz, the wife of a patent medicine man.

But his stay with them was short, for the two quarreled over him, the husband being unwilling to become a party to the adoption, and on July 2d "Baby" Vaughan, who is known here by no other name, was returned to the City Home.

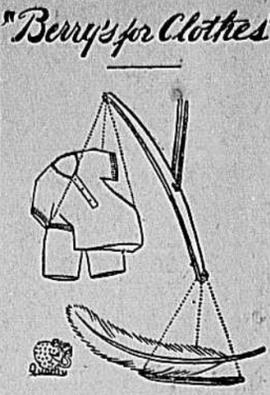

After his departure Dr. and Mrs. Mountz separated, he taking his trunk one way, and she her suit case another. In plain view of the neighbors. After having knocked about from place to place so often, the infant was at last laid to rest at the home until last Tuesday, when the first attempt was made on his young life. He never entirely recovered from the effects of the first poisoning, and the second time the fate which had pursued him so calamitously attained its end, and he died.

Dr. Oppenheimer has no connection with the case other than that he referred the couple to Mrs. Hermance, thinking to do them a favor. Both man and woman were utter strangers to him. After Mrs. Hermance failed to receive the second promised remittance, Dr. Oppenheimer wrote to Thompson, but no reply was received.

Murder, Says Coroner. Coroner Taylor is deeply interested in the case, and is sparing no time to effect a get to the bottom of it. He is anxious to find the guilty party not only to secure punishment, but also to protect the community from a repetition of such cases of infanticide. He is making an examination of the stomach and liver of the baby, but does not expect to find much trace of poisoning, owing to the lapse of time. He is making an examination of the stomach and liver of the baby, but does not expect to find much trace of poisoning, owing to the lapse of time.

Mrs. Ethel Gaylord, who was the first to notify Miss Venable of the poisoning last Tuesday, has had a career more checked even than that of the dead baby. She came to Richmond four years ago, when she was but sixteen, from Emporia, and was an inmate of a certain home in the city. She was then Miss Ethel Taylor.

After her discharge from the home she went to Norfolk, returning here a few years ago. She applied for a second entrance to the home, but admission the second time is never given, and she went back to Norfolk, becoming an inmate of the Crittenden Home. Two months ago she returned a third time to Richmond, and applied to the home, where she had formerly been treated, for a position as a nurse. This was refused, but she had no funds, and a ticket to Norfolk was bought for her. Again coming to Richmond, she sought refuge in the City Home, and there she was given bed and board.

BIG REUNION HELD AT SCOTTSVILLE

Big Crowd Attends, and Captain Woods, Judge Duke and Others Speak.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) SCOTTSVILLE, Va., July 21.—The reunion of Henry Gantt Camp, No. 75, Confederate Veterans, was held here today. The old soldiers and all the multitude were regaled with fried chicken, ham, bread and butter, apple pie, sweet potatoes, hard-boiled eggs, every description, iced tea and iced lemonade in abundance.

The day dawned with threatening skies, and every prospect of a down-pour, but at 10 o'clock the hour set for the gathering of the veterans to march to the grounds, the clouds had cleared and the day was sunny and hot with an occasional delicious breeze.

The spot selected for the reunion is a well-shaded tract of most of the ground being as level as a floor, with clumps of trees here and there.

Hon. W. Douglas Patterson made the address of welcome, graceful and eloquent manner, just after the children present had sung "America," led by Mrs. A. G. Bell. Miss Annie Farrar presided at the organ, accompanied by Mr. Jake Yeager on the cornet.

"Dixie" was sung just after Mr. Patterson's address. Hon. R. W. Duke's address was most appropriate and a brass band from Charlottesville discoursed patriotic airs all day.

Captain Michael Woods, of Charlottesville, captivated the vets with his talk on the impressive scenes of the battle of Gettysburg, which he was touching upon the charge at Gettysburg and comparing it with the precipitate charge of the 600 at Banks's house, the steady march of the Confederate. He also reviewed the battle of Sharpsburg, where 9,000 drove 22,000 back. Captain Woods discussed the loyalty of the Southern women and the fact that if the South had won in the conflict, it would, with its lengthy seaboard, have ruled the world.

More than 3,000 people were here today, and every one seemed to have a jolly good time. Over 100 were shaking hands with one another and listening to the good speeches. Captain John Lamb, with his kindly face and soldierly bearing, was especially interesting with his eloquence, and was applauded vociferously.

Senator Thomas S. Martin vowed he would not speak, but he had to speak just the same what time the crowd in his home town would allow between the applicant and his interests. The chairman of the dinner committee, and she and her many assistants did their work bravely and well.

MRS. CARTER AND HER DEBTS Answered Questions So Readily Her Creditors Got No Ground.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Mrs. Leslie Carter succeeded in turning her bankruptcy examination in the Federal building to-day into "pinkies" and "sweats" for the creditors who composed the audience, left the building with an amiable, resigned look. Mrs. Carter looked so ready, though she didn't really say anything in her long disquisitions, that the creditors simply couldn't growl.

Under the name of Leslie Carter Payne, the actress was adjudicated a bankrupt in 1907. She owed $184,000. Her assets amounted to only $37,925.18.

Conservator for Carter. A CHICAGO, July 21.—Petition for a conservator for the estate of Leslie Carter, former husband of Mrs. Leslie Carter, and one of the most prominent financiers of Chicago, was filed this morning, when it is possible that enough evidence may be gleaned to warrant an arrest, though this is regarded as doubtful.

NEW SKIN REMEDY Creates Big Stir; Drug Stores Crowded With Sufferers.

For several weeks past Tragle's and other leading drug stores in this city have been crowded with persons desiring a supply of posium, the new cure for eczema. This is the drug which has created such a stir throughout the country since its discovery one year ago.

For the convenience of those who use posium for pimples, blackheads, blotches, red nose, acne, herpes and other minor skin troubles, a special 50-cent package has been adopted, in addition to the regular $2 jar, which is now on sale at all leading drug stores.

In eczema cases posium stops the itching with the first application, and proceeds to heal curing chronic cases in two weeks. In minor skin troubles the relief is equally rapid. After an overnight application. For a free descriptive pamphlet, write direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York City.

KNOW IT WAS LIE; WOULD NOT SWEAR

Miss McCauslan Tells of Alleged Efforts to Manufacture Evidence Against Gould.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Mrs. Ben Teal, wife of a prominent theatrical manager, and one of the three persons arrested in connection with the alleged plot to manufacture divorce evidence against Frank Jay Gould, the millionaire, was compelled to spend nearly four hours in a cell in the Tombs this evening before bail could be secured.

Great consideration was shown Mrs. Teal in the Centre Street Police Court, where she was arraigned, with Mrs. Julia Fleming, a seamstress, and Henry E. Mousley, a private detective who, according to the best information, is one of the two who figure in the alleged conspiracy. When Magistrate Corrigan held the trio in $5,000 bail each, Mousley quickly found a bondsman, but the two women were not so fortunate.

Court was kept open until after 4 o'clock to await the women, but as none appeared by that time, the magistrate announced that the women must be taken to the Tombs. Mrs. Teal had to be supported on her way to the prison by Mrs. Fleming. She was weeping bitterly.

Magistrate Corrigan indorzed the bail bond papers, so that in case a bondsman was secured, the women could be immediately released. It was not until 8 o'clock that Mr. Teal succeeded in getting bail for his wife. Mr. Teal did not appear in court, but Mr. Fleming and up to late last night the seamstress was still a prisoner.

Charge of Conspiracy. The examination of the prisoners today was a perfunctory one, the authorities desiring further time to delve into the amazing story of Mabel D. McCauslan, a young woman from St. Paul, Minn., who voluntarily gave to the district attorney the information which has formed the basis of the charges against certain persons conspired to have Miss McCauslan testify at the trial of Mrs. Gould's suit for divorce that Gould had been paying attentions to an actress.

Counsel for Mrs. Frank Gould said this afternoon that he did not know Detective Mousley had never seen him, and knew nothing about the alleged conspiracy except what he had read in the newspapers. The attorney added that it was absurd to think that any one could have been authorized to secure false testimony.

Would Pay Her Well. Miss McCauslan's affidavit, which was made public today, declares that Mrs. Teal, in the presence of Mrs. Fleming, offered her $600, and a monthly allowance in the future, if she would sign an affidavit declaring that she had seen Mr. Gould in company with Miss Devoe, an actress, in the act of eighteen years old, and describes herself as a milliner, says in her affidavit that she went to the Teal apartment on July 16th. Mrs. Fleming was present. While there Mrs. Teal asked her if she wanted to earn some money, and Mrs. Gould consented that she did, Mrs. Teal, she affirms, said:

"You know that I sublet my apartments in the Glenmore to Miss Devoe. Now, Mrs. Gould is suing her husband for divorce, and she has offered me $600, and a monthly allowance in the future, if I will give an affidavit that she had seen Mr. Gould in the Glenmore. The stronger the evidence is against Mr. Gould, the more alimony Mrs. Gould will get. You have seen my affidavit to that effect, and you know the arrangement of the rooms."

Then the affidavit continued: "Mrs. Teal told me that she would be required of her would be to testify in the said divorce suit that while deponent was in the Glenmore she saw Mr. Gould in company with Miss Devoe come out of the room of Miss Devoe; that if deponent would make an affidavit to that effect and would give testimony before the court in support of the same, she would be given $600 in money and would be sent to the country and paid an allowance; that my would of thousands of dollars. Very Dry in Mecklenburg. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) MECKLENBURG, Va., July 21.—The continued dry spell through this section has, during the past two weeks, damaged the crops to a great extent. Up to date the present crop of corn, beans, all kinds were exceedingly good, with large acreage planted and the fields worked better than for several years. Unless rain comes soon all crops will be greatly retarded, and the yield out to a great extent.

Serious Around Fredericksburg. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FREDERICKSBURG, Va., July 21.—The drought which has been prevailing for some time in this section, is most serious. The corn crop has been affected, and now the pickle and melon crops are being seriously injured. Unless rain falls within the next few days, the damage will result in a loss of thousands of dollars. RIDICULES SLIM DIET Sir Charles Brown Denounces Doctors Who Preach Abstinence.

LONDON, July 21.—Sir Charles Clifton Brown, at the Public Health Congress to-day, made a slashing attack on medical men who preach not only simplicity in diet, but a degree of abstinence which hitherto has been regarded as dangerous. A campaign against overfeeding was right, he said, but many doctors were going too far. He criticized Professor Chittenden's declaration that the average man could do with half the nutriment he takes at present.

Japanese Government to Change Her Armaments to Meet Conditions of To-Day.

TOKIO, July 21.—The Japanese Admiralty has decided upon a large scheme of rearmament. Instead of building new ships, the armaments of the old will be altered so as to bring them in line with the most modern ideas, and with the requirements indicated by the war with Russia. Thus vessels of the Mikasa type, which have hitherto carried four twelve-inch guns and fourteen six-inch guns, will henceforth carry four ten-inch, instead of fourteen six-inch, so that their principal armament will be brought up to eight pieces of heavy calibre. In fact, their fighting strength will be doubled. Similarly, in the case of vessels like the Retvisan taken during the war, their new armament will consist of four twelve-inch and four ten-inch pieces, the latter being substituted for the twelve six-inch which these vessels originally carried.

When the program is carried out it will have the advantage of creating a thoroughly homogeneous fighting force. First-class cruisers are to be added to the navy. These ships will have a displacement of 18,500, with a horse-power of 44,000, and a speed of twenty-five knots. They will be 450 feet long overall, with eighty feet beam, and a draught of twenty-six feet. Their armor will be seven inches, and their armament will consist of ten twelve-inch guns, some six-inches, whose number is not yet fixed, and then 47-inch, one of these ships is to be built at Kure.

KOREANS AS GENDARMES Four Thousand, Selected Chiefly From Disbanded Army, Are Enlisted.

SEOUL, July 21.—Four thousand Koreans are now enlisted as auxiliary gendarmes. These men are selected chiefly from the disbanded army. They will be commanded by Japanese officers and are expected to assist materially in putting down the disturbances. One of the main difficulties confronting the Japanese military in the campaign against the so-called insurgents has been the lack of knowledge of the people and language. The new Korean gendarmes will be able to distinguish the peaceful villagers from the insurgents. Under discipline the Korean makes a good soldier, and the action of the government in recruiting what actually will be a new army of Koreans for Korea will have the effect of inspiring the people of the country with a greater degree of self-confidence. It is said that the measure is very popular and that the number of applicants for admission to the corps is largely in excess of the number required.

Now that America has returned a portion of the 'boxer' indemnity, China should send an envoy to Washington for the purpose of conveying the thanks of the government for this act. Therefore, let Tang-Shao-Yi receive the rank of president of the government board and proceed to the United States."
