CROWDS AT IDLEWOOD

The Casino at Idlewood Park was filled last night with pleasure-seekers, who seemed greatly to enjoy the vaudeville bill for the week. The Three Coles, tight and slack wire artists, was much applause. Little Miss Cole, who is only about ten years of age, is very clever. Mark Johnson, the comedy bicyclist, introduced many new features in trick and fancy riding. Finkler and Cress are good acrobats. The pictures are funny and created many laughs. The five-cent admission to Idlewood was inaugurated last evening, and, judging from the first night's success, will prove a decidedly popular move on the part of the management.

CELEBRATE AT LAKESIDE PARK

Chosen Last Night by Labor Day Committee After Much Discussion. Plans for the Labor Day celebration in Richmond were further discussed last night at a meeting of the committee at Labor Temple, and though as yet the program is only tentative, those in charge of the exercises hope within a week or two to have the arrangements complete in every detail. The only matter of importance decided last night was the selection of a location for the celebration. After considerable discussion Lakeside Park was chosen. The selection of this place came as somewhat of a surprise to those intimate with labor affairs, as most were under the impression that the committee would finally decide upon Idlewood.

WAS NATIVE OF RICHMOND

Edward C. Mead Dies at Asheville. Spent His Boyhood Here, but Had Since Lived at Keswick. His Genealogical Work. Mr. Edward Campbell Mead, of Keswick, Albemarle county, member of a distinguished Virginia family, and a man widely known for his literary attainments, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. R. Hewitt, of Asheville, N. C.

EDWARD C. MEAD DIES AT ASHEVILLE

Mr. Mead was a native of Richmond. His father, Rev. William Zacharias Mead, was a prominent clergyman in the Episcopal Church and for many years editor of the Southern Churchman. For some years after the death of his father, Mr. Mead conducted a school in this city, which attained a high reputation, and in which girls from many of the prominent Richmond and Virginia families were educated. When a youth of eighteen Mr. Mead moved to Albemarle county, and Broad Oak, the country estate, near Keswick, was his home from that time until his death. Since the death of his father, two years ago last month, he had spent a good deal of his time with his son in Richmond. Although never strong physically, Mr. Mead was a man of brilliant mind and of high literary attainments. He was educated in the best schools of his day, and studied for some years under private tutors. While giving personal attention to the management of his estate, he devoted much of his time to literary work, and besides newspaper and magazine contributions, he published several books. Probably the most widely known of these is his history of the Southwest Mountains of Virginia. He also published some years ago a book devoted especially to his home county of Albemarle, in which are many illustrations of the most noted homes in that county. He was always deeply interested in matters affecting Virginia history and the lineage of Virginia families. During the latter years of his life he had devoted special attention to genealogical work, and some five years ago began the Genealogy Column of the Times-Dispatch, which he soon made one of the most popular departments of the Sunday paper, and which has continued to grow steadily in interest. Through this he has given to the people of Virginia the genealogies of a great many of the oldest and most prominent families of the State. His literary work, and his genealogical work, were both of a high standard. He was one of the most complete in Virginia. His Family. Mr. Mead married Miss Emily Burgoyne, of Albemarle county, who was a native of New York. They were a long and happy married life, and Mrs. Mead died in July, 1906. He is survived by seven children—Mr. H. B. Mead, of Newark, N. J.; Mr. W. Z. Mead, of Chicago; Mr. F. R. Hewitt, of Asheville, N. C.; Rev. G. O. Mead, rector of Christ Episcopal Church of Richmond; Miss Mary R. Mead, of this city; Miss Annie Mead, of Asheville, N. C.; and Mr. Ernest Campbell Mead, of this city. Mr. Mead is spending his vacation in the North, but has been telegraphed for, and is expected to meet his father's body at Keswick on Wednesday. His funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the residence of his mother, in which the deceased had long been a member and in which he took a deep interest.

CONSCIENTIOUS DRUGGIST

About a year ago E. A. Sodergren, a druggist, wrote us from Callaway, Nebraska, that he had a serious case of kidney disease and that his physician did not offer him much encouragement. He desired to put Fulton's Renal Compound to the test for his own case, and if he got results he would sell it to others. He wrote several times for advice, showing a very obstinate case. He now writes: "It is now ten months since I began using the compound, and although my case has been very obstinate, it seems to have finally yielded to the treatment. I have no doubt results would have been obtained sooner had I not kept at work." (Due to the results obtained in this case, our agencies were promptly accepted in Callaway and the adjoining town.) Simply another case of kidney trouble in which the inflamed kidneys refused to respond to the futile old-time kidney excites and had to be removed had failed, yielded to Fulton's Renal Compound, the first and only emollient for inflamed kidneys. Inflammation of the kidneys, even in its most chronic form, is now curable. Send for literature. JOHN J. FULTON CO., Oakland, California. Owens & Minor, our sole local agents.
