

NAME OF JOHNSON SETS THEM WILD

Convention Stampedes for Governor and Nominates Him With Rush.

BRYAN DEMONSTRATION ALMOST DUPLICATED

Enthusiasm Greatest Ever Seen at Democratic Meeting in Minnesota—Bare Reference to Executive Caused Uproar That Lasted Over Hour.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., August 19.—The Democratic State Convention this afternoon stampeded for Governor John A. Johnson, and nominated him for re-election with a rush, after a remarkable demonstration. When the roll call for nominations began Atkin county yielded to Ramsey county (St. Paul), and Mayor Daniel W. Lawler, of St. Paul, took the platform, and at the conclusion of ten words, mentioned the name of John A. Johnson.

Great Demonstration. One of the wildest demonstrations ever seen in a Democratic State convention in Minnesota ensued. Hennepin county (Minneapolis) tore up its standard and started a march about the hall. Everybody else seemed to join in. Some delegations grouped themselves on the stage, about the picture of Governor Johnson. Band music added to the pandemonium.

Frank Day, the Governor's private secretary, immediately rushed out of the building to find a telephone, in order to get into communication with his chief at the Capitol. Minute after minute passed, and still the delegates yelled excitedly, waved banners, carried the picture of Johnson about the hall, and in other respects duplicated the demonstration given to Bryan at Denver.

Wild for Johnson. The convention was wild for Johnson. "Marching Through Georgia" and "Cheer, Cheer, the Gang's All Here" were played in rapid succession by the band, but the crowd yelled. The galleries, which were well filled in the afternoon, joined in the demonstration.

Blames Creator for Suicide. Tired of Despondent Life, Self-Slayer's Explanation. LOUISVILLE, August 19.—Alfred T. Wimberly, State manager of the Bankers' Life Association, of Des Moines, Ia., was found dead in bed at his home here yesterday afternoon, with a self-inflicted pistol wound. A letter found on a table in the room reads:

"I am neither drunk nor insane. I have no domestic troubles or business troubles. I have committed no crime. I am simply tired of life. I have always had my health, but my Creator is responsible. I have no fears for the hereafter, if there is any. This is for the public, if the public wants it."

LIVED TOGETHER IN SILENCE. Husband and Wife Spoke But Twice in Score of Years.

WORCESTER, MASS., August 19.—A report was received here today that Miss William F. Pond, a wealthy resident of this city, died at Johnson City, Tenn., after a long illness. She was married to her husband in 1888, and they lived together in silence for more than twenty years. Mrs. Pond says only four or five words, however, and but twice in the remaining six years.

WOULD JOIN BEAU IN DEATH. York Girl Tries Suicide Because Sweetheart Is Killed.

YORK, Pa., August 19.—After drinking an ounce of laudanum in an attempt to end her life, Miss Lizzie Lau lay down on a sofa and requested a boy to get her a telephone. She then made several selections and then announced that she was going to die. A physician was summoned, and the young woman was carried to the hospital, where she now lies in a serious condition. She never recovered from the shock. Pond was eighty-one years old.

TWICE TRIED TO END HIS LIFE. Jailors Had to Take All Man's Clothing to Save Him.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., August 19.—As soon as Anthony Dykuck returned to Marlon Heights last night, after serving ninety days in jail for assaulting his wife, he attacked her again, and the police locked him up. He tried to hang himself, making a noose out of his shirt, but was cut down in a half-second condition and stripped of everything but his underclothing. With his shirt he tried to strangle himself up again, but the police discovered the second attempt in time, and divested him of all his clothing until to-day, when he was removed to jail.

INSANE MINISTER SHOOTS HIMSELF

Syracuse University Professor Leaves Note Saying He Is Tired of Life.

UTICA, N. Y., August 19.—The Rev. James Duane Phelps, of Syracuse, financial secretary of Syracuse University, committed suicide early this morning in his room at the Wurz Hotel by shooting.

A revolver and cartridges, which he carried to the hotel with him, and a note, written on a piece of paper which the weapon had been wrapped, gave conclusive evidence that Dr. Phelps' act was deliberate.

The body was discovered about 6:30 o'clock this morning by the son of Joseph Wurz, proprietor of the hotel, who saw the head and shoulders of a man protruding from a window on the top floor of the building. He called to Mrs. Thomas Chantry, who lives next door.

The woman immediately dashed into the hotel and looked out of the window of which the body was hanging. She tried to render aid, not knowing the man was already dead.

Later she recalled having heard a crash about 2 o'clock in the night. The noise awakened her, she said, and she thought at the time it was a fire alarm. She probably heard the report of the pistol when discharged awakened her, and that the body of the man falling from the window was the crash she heard.

Wurz, the hotel proprietor, immediately summoned a physician, and the two men pushed open the door of the room in which Phelps had killed himself. The bed had been placed against the door. The position in which the body lay indicated that the clergyman stood not far from the window when he fired the shot. The revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger with his thumb. The revolver still clung to his thumb when his body was found.

Only one chamber was discharged. On the dresser nearby stood a box of cartridges, and the box was open for the six cartridges necessary to fill the chambers of the revolver.

On the piece of green wrapping paper which had been used to wrap the cartridges when he brought them into the hotel was written in a firm hand in four lines this message: "My name is Phelps, of Syracuse. I have done this because I did not care to live. Still, I believe Christ died for the uttermost man."

There was also a card of the Northern Christian Advocate, dated July 19, stating that Phelps was a correspondent of the Advocate, and which bore the signature of Bennett E. Titus, editor of the paper. It was noted. Titus was in Utica and was notified. On his arrival at the undertaking parlors, where the body was taken, he said he was not surprised at Dr. Phelps' suicide.

He said the clergyman had been melancholy for some time, and that in his opinion he had been in a sane for several months. Aside from this, nothing is known here as to a motive which would have prompted the suicide.

Dr. Phelps was about sixty years old, and one of the foremost Methodist ministers in the State of New York. He was a member of the General Conference, and had filled many leading pulpits in Buffalo and the cities of the West.

For the past ten years or over Dr. Phelps had been connected with Syracuse University. For several summers he had been in charge of the Methodist Institute at Thousand Islands Park.

TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPED OVER CITY. (Continued From First Page.) could not estimate his loss. It was said that a Mr. Hitchcock's barn on the corner of the intersection of Richmond and Fair Oaks, was struck by lightning and destroyed. But this rumor could not be confirmed, though it was generally prevalent.

Considerable damage was done to the trucks at the First Market. Water running down in a tremendous torrent on Kennington street, was soaked or otherwise ruined.

Streets Were Like Rivers. Though the storm raged about forty minutes, it did more damage than any other storm of the season combined. Streets ran rivers. Street-car traffic was halted for nearly half an hour, and pedestrians who were not drenched before there was possibility of shelter.

Those who were fortunate enough to have remained indoors stayed at the windows watching the down-pour, the electrical display until it came too close for comfort. Many wives and mothers, whose husbands or sons had stayed out, were frightened, for the bolts seemed to be striking everywhere. Hundreds of window panes were broken, many were blown down by the fury of the gale. Nearly every flash seemed to strike some wire, and this bolt added to the terror of the hour. Dozens of places were thrown into absolute darkness as the lightning broke in on the artificial current. The telephone service was put out of order, and the operators for the operators to stay at the switchboards; the police patrol system was put out of order, in fact, everything worked by electricity was temporarily suspended while Nature was working out her own ends.

The storm was generally characterized by lightning and more dangerous of those that have visited the city. More stories of damages will probably be detailed this morning.

Held Back by Storm. One hundred and fifteen Richmonders journeyed to West Point yesterday afternoon by the "Twilight Limited," and the same number returned this morning by daylight.

There was a washout on the line at Cohok, and it took the greater part of the night to get the water to flow. While the gay party of young people enjoyed the night dancing and eating midnight suppers, dry and safe at West Point, and returned to Richmond with visions of wrecks and disaster before their eyes, and burned the telephone wires for news.

A washout occurred just below Cohok, fishing camp at a place which was badly washed a week or more ago. It took a temporary wooden trestle to be secured for rebuilding this section of the roadway. Under this trestle the water washed in the main line, and the trestle was washed away so that the section boss was unwilling to allow the excursion train to pass. The train dispatcher's office at Richmond was notified shortly before midnight, and work train was sent to the scene with a force of bridge carpenters.

The conductor of the "Twilight Limited" patrolled his train, quelling nervousness and excitement, and the telephone numbers of friends and relatives. Soon the wires brought the news that the trestle was washed away for a distance of a mile and a half, and that beyond the delay, no harm had been done. And in the light of dawn today, a tired party of excursionists returned to Richmond with the resolution that hereafter Richmond should be a sufficient summer resort for their needs. It is expected that damage will be repaired in time for the regular schedule over the West Point route to-day.

Street Car Work Damaged. Besides the great amount of damage done by wind and lightning in the severe storm which swept over the city last night, the street cars were swept down Main Street along the section where the work of laying new rails is under way, worked much like a mine, and a serious delay was caused. The sand which had been laid and leveled ready for receiving the paving blocks, between Ninth and Twelfth streets, was completely washed away and deposited on the tracks a block below.

The sand was piled so heavily on the tracks, that it was impossible for the cars to plow their way through, and until several laborers, who were hastily brought to the scene, succeeded in clearing the sand away, the cars were compelled to stop.

Between Ninth and Eighth on Main Street, the street cars were held up for several hours. This had hardly taken its initial set, but Inspector Gordon comes down this morning it is impossible to say whether the work will have to be resumed to-night to estimate the damage.
