

RANDOLPH-MACON WINS A DECISIVE VICTORY

Richmond College Goes Down Before Superior Play of Ashland Team--Lemon and Black Goal Never Seriously Menaced, While Three Touchdowns Were Made on the Red and Blue.

Randolph-Macon showed Richmond College under yesterday evening on the Broad Street Park gridiron. The game was hard fought, as all games between the teams representing these two rival colleges always are, but the Yellow Jackets' goal was never seriously menaced, and most of the play throughout the game was in the hands of the visitors.

It was a case of the lighter team winning on superior team work and better individual play; that is history of the contest in a nutshell. The Randolph-Macon eleven, while several pounds lighter, was much faster and had a greater variety of plays than the local team, and their men were in better condition.

Notwithstanding the drizzling rain and gray, lowering skies, 2,000 people occupied grandstand and sidelines when Referee Gammon's whistle blew for the game to begin. Richmond College's rooters were out in force, and they made the welkin ring with college yells and songs. Randolph-Macon, too, had her following, and it was a noisy one, full of surplus enthusiasm, which she had ample opportunity of working off as the Lemon and Black tore off great gains around the ends and through the line of the Red and Blue.

Richmond College fought hard, and the Red and Blue line contestants were bornly every play, but the backs, ends and line of the "Bibbits" were too strong, and the speed with which "Kid" Chaplain, Randolph-Macon's star 126-pound quarter ran the team rushed Richmond off its feet.

Both teams were a bit too eager, and several of the linemen on each side were penalized for holding in the line. The officials did their duty, and did it well, and their rulings were fair and impartial, all the penalties they inflicted being merited ones.

For Richmond College, her backfield, especially Atkins and Lankford, played hard ball, but the line was weak and the ends allowed themselves to be cut in frequently, both Sessler and Rowe skirting their respective lines. Richmond College could not work the forward pass to any advantage, while the Methodists made many of their best gains on this play. Story and Gillette both doing superior work on receiving the ball. Sessler and Rowe, the "Arrow" and "Shot" backs, made several beautiful runs around Richmond's ends, and Chaplain pulled off some nice gains on the quarter back run.

For Richmond, Lankford did some very pretty play, and it was he who was the only Richmond man who could make any material gains. Randolph-Macon's ends were invincible, and their backs handled punts with consummate skill. Captain Harlan, a veteran of last year's crack team, got his kicks off well, and his line plunging was a consistent asset in the Lemon and Black gains. The only thing to mar Randolph-Macon's nearly perfect work was one or two fumbles, with one fumble in sight. The Ashland line, though mostly made up of new men, was exceptionally strong, quick and aggressive, and four of Richmond's punts were blocked. Jones, a freshman on the Yellow Jackets, was the man of the big last year's tackle, blocking Richmond's kicks and frequently making beautiful tackles on the end plays.

To mention the Randolph-Macon stars would be to name the whole team. Each man did his part, and did it well and consistently, and this is successful football. There was star work on the part of individual players, but it was the team as a whole that made the Lemon and Black wave proudly over the Red and Blue in yesterday's contest.

Warren had his team well drilled and in good condition, and the victory credit to his coaching. Few teams from the smaller colleges of this State have ever made a better showing than Randolph-Macon did yesterday.

To praise Randolph-Macon's work is no disparagement of Richmond's men. The Spiders, while beaten, worked hard and contested stubbornly from the first whistle to the close of the last half. They were outplayed, but not disgraced, and never for a minute did they quit or lay down. They were whipped, but only by superior team work and faster play.

The Detailed Play. Captain Harlan won the toss, and Richmond secured the kick-off, defending the east goal. A light drizzle was falling when the game started, but before the half closed the sun was trying to shine, and the slight interference of Jupiter P. did not seriously bother either players or spectators. Harlan kicked to Davis, and Richmond kicked to Chaplain, who had the ball back sixteen yards. Sessler gained fourteen yards around Ransome's end. Randolph-Macon tries quarter back, the ball going out at Richmond's forty-five-yard line. Richmond fails to gain. Kicking on third down, the ball back to Chaplain, who runs the ball back five yards. Sessler gets a pretty run of thirty-five yards on fake kick. Gillette gains twenty-five yards on a pretty forward pass. Sessler gets five yards around left end. Harlan adds six yards through center. But here Richmond takes a brace, and the ball goes over. Wright and Lankford make eleven yards.

The First Score. Richmond tries quick back kick, but Sessler blocks it, falling on the ball. Story, on a well executed forward pass, carries the ball to Richmond's four-yard line. Richmond's splendid fly Trance, with top weight, 124 pounds, on her back, was victorious in the rich Nursery Handicap, for two-year-olds, six furlongs, straightaway. She was ridden by Jockey Miller, and for the second time made a gallant start.

Trance Wins the Nursery. George Olin's splendid fly Trance, with top weight, 124 pounds, on her back, was victorious in the rich Nursery Handicap, for two-year-olds, six furlongs, straightaway. She was ridden by Jockey Miller, and for the second time made a gallant start.

Delirium Wins Manhattan. H. P. Whitney's Delirium won the Manhattan Handicap, for all ages, at six furlongs, main course. Together with Fashion Plate, Delirium broke from an outside position at the post, but Gilbert managed to get in near the rail, while Upton kept Fashion Plate wide all the way home. Besom, the early pace-maker, quit at the head of the stretch, and Delirium then ran in a fine race, beating Delirium. Then Mr. Belmont's Half Sovereign looked the winner, but Delirium came with a gallant rush at the end, and won by a half length in 1:11 3-5, equaling the world's record. Half Sovereign finished second, the same margin before Fashion Plate, who, after swinging back, beat the field, and was largely closed with a remarkable turn of speed and convinced the experts that he was easily the best horse in the race. Wide Mason came from nowhere, and was ahead of the money, with Besom practically on even terms with him.

Harvard Beats Williams. CAMBRIDGE, MASS., October 10.--Harvard defeated Williams to-day, 10 to 6, in a game which was largely given over to exchanges on punts. Save for a few minutes in the second half, when Harvard made good gains and secured her only touchdown, neither side was able to make much headway through the lines. The remaining four points came to Harvard through Burr's goal from placement in the first half, after Corbett had made a fair catch of Brown's punt.

Yale Beats Holy Cross. NEW HAVEN, N. H., October 10.--Yale beat Holy Cross this afternoon in football, 18 to 0. While the visitors were able to hold Yale down to three scores, at no time did they advance near enough to Yale's goal line to endanger it. Hedges played right half back for Yale, and was responsible for one touchdown. In the second half, Murphy, of Yale, made a spectacular run through the Holy Cross team, getting the ball on a punt and running it back thirty-five yards.

Wake Forest Wins. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WAKE FOREST, N. C., October 10.--In a loosely-played game here to-day Wake Forest College won from Warrenton High School by a score of 21 to 0. Forehand, Gray and Leggett did best work for Wake Forest, while Graham and Cherry worked well for Warrenton. High School. Wake Forest was greatly crippled, five of their men not being able to play on account of minor injuries received in the last game.

Neither Side Able to Score, In Contest Characterized by Much Though Tarheels Keep all in Collegians' Territory. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEWPORT NEWS, VA., October 10.--Washington and Lee and the University of North Carolina played a no-score game here this evening in the presence of nearly 2,000 spectators. The game was listless, and enthusiasm was conspicuous by its absence. The Carolina boys had all the best of it, keeping the ball in Washington and Lee territory nearly all of the time and narrowly missing a touchdown several times.

Both teams were lacking in ginger, the Lexington boys especially playing like they were half asleep. Feuerstein, the little Washington end Lee quarter back, played a hard game, and furnished what life there was to the work of his team. His splendid effort at a goal from the Carolina forty-five-yard line, the ball sailing squarely between the posts and barely below the bar, was one of the features of the game. Thomas, half back, and Kiley, full back, were the stars for Carolina. The game ended with the ball on the Washington and Lee twenty-yard line after a fumble had prevented Carolina from scoring. Washington and Lee averaged 172 and Carolina 163. Line-up of the teams:

THE GREAT MORDECAI BROWN

Chicago's malinary on the firing line, whose twirling has gone a long way toward keeping the Cubs in the front ranks. The twirling was different. It belonged strictly to Chicago. Coming from behind they annexed five more tallies. Even then, with memories of the previous inning, the cheerful local enthusiasts did not give up hope of Detroit. But Mordecai Brown was pitching steady, hard ball, and Detroit was set down without another run.

Good Rainy Day Crowd. The attendance, officially given out as 9,512 paid admissions, was curiously affected by the weather. All for noon the sun shone brightly and the temperature was mild. Crowds wended their way to Bennett Park and the stands were comfortably filled when a change came over the sky. Then a slight sprinkle began, followed by more like a mist than a rain. But it was enough to turn many persons away. Play began with a drizzle cooling the enthusiasm of the spectators, and by the time the second inning was under way a heavy rain was falling. At the end of the first inning the show signs of abating. Another inning and it had ceased, but the diamond and outfield were exceedingly slippery, and the base lines were mere elongated puddles of mud.

When the game manager Jennings declared that Detroit was by no means discouraged. With a dry field and another chance he declared that it would be another story. Manager Chance, of Chicago, said that the game made no surprise to him, as his team was in as good or better condition than it was last year, when it defeated Detroit in four straight games.

Chicago won by heavy and opportune hitting and brilliant work in the field. Tinker, in particular, played a sensational game at short, making two beautiful stops and throws, retiring runners who apparently had made safe drives. Reulbach pitched superb ball for five innings, allowing only two hits, both of these in the first inning. In the sixth two hits but no runs were garnered from his delivery, but in the seventh "Big Ed" weakened. Three singles and a double, resulting in three runs, secured the victory for Reulbach in favor of Overall, but the latter's stay in the limelight was brief and disastrous. His first official act was to hit McIntyre, but Evers doubled to right field, Evers bunted safely, Schulte singled, scoring Schaeckard. Chance forced Evers in to pitch. Tinker forced Hoffman out, Tinker to Chance. Schaefer fled to Hoffman, Schmidt out, Reulbach to Chance. No runs.

Third Inning--Schaeckard doubled to right field, Evers bunted safely, Schulte singled, scoring Schaeckard. Chance forced Evers in to pitch. Tinker forced Hoffman out, Tinker to Chance. Schaefer fled to Hoffman, Schmidt out, Reulbach to Chance. No runs.

Fourth Inning--Reulbach struck out, Schaeckard singled to center, his third hit. Schaefer sacrificed to Rossmann. Schulte fled to McIntyre. No runs.

O'Leary out, Tinker to Chance. Crawford lined to Evers. Cobb out, Evers to Chance. No runs.

Seventh Inning--Chance fouled to Schmidt. Steinfield walked. Hoffman forced Steinfield, O'Leary to Downs. Tinker was out, Schaefer to Rossmann. No runs.

Rossmann struck out. Schaefer sent a high fly to Schaeckard. Schmidt fled to Hoffman. No runs.

Sixth Inning--Kling fled to McIntyre, who made a pretty running catch. Reulbach out, Downs to Rossmann. Schaeckard fled to McIntyre. No runs.

Downs bunted to Reulbach, who threw him out at first. Summers hit to the same place and went out by the same route. McIntyre hit the ball into the net in front of the plate and rolled out of Kling's reach. McIntyre getting to first, O'Leary singled. Crawford hit a little grounder to Reulbach, who retired him easily at first base. No runs.

Both Score Seventh. Seventh Inning--The rain had ceased somewhat at the beginning of the seventh inning. Evers hit a grounder to Rossmann and was safe when Rossmann waited too long for Summers to cover the base. Schulte sacrificed. Summers' Rossmann. Downs tumbled Chance's grounder and he was safe at first. Evers taking third. Steinfield fled to Crawford and Evers scored on the throw in. O'Leary and Downs tried unsuccessfully to catch Chance, but the Chicago captain made second. Hoffman out, Summers to Rossmann. One run.

Cobb's drive was too hot for Reulbach to handle and he was safe. Rossmann singled over second. Cobb taking third by a daring run. Rossmann scored on an attempt to catch Cobb at second on a throw from the plate. Schaefer struck out. Schmidt fled to Tinker and was thrown out at first. Cobb scoring on the play. Rossmann was held at second. Downs doubled down the third-base line, scoring Rossmann. Summers drove a pop fly just over Tinker's head and Downs scored. Reulbach was taken out and Overall put into pitch. McIntyre was hit by a pitched ball. O'Leary fled to Schulte. Three runs.

DETROIT IS DOWNED BY CHICAGO NATIONALS

First Game of Series Goes to Team From Windy City by Big Score--Rain Holds Attendance Down, but More Than 10,000 Persons See Contest.

DETROIT, MICH., October 10.--Rain rendered the first of the series of baseball games at Bennett Park this afternoon between Detroit and Chicago, for the world's championship, which went to the Windy City players, 10 to 6, an aquatic exhibition of some merit.

To the impartial observer, it was a tank drama, with its many scenes of low comedy, but to the local enthusiast the comedy was a tragedy. It was not pleasant, locally, to observe Catcher Schmidt, lying prone in the mud, four feet from the home plate, with the ball in his hand, struggling to arise, while a Chicago player trotted in with the score at 9 to 0. Much comic incidents due to the condition of the grounds and the slippery, wet ball, appreciated by the serious followers of the fortunes of either team. Chicago was compelled to use three pitchers to win the game. But Detroit employed two in their efforts to check the Cubs.

But it was, for all that, a game full of surprises and heart-breaking climaxes. Detroit, in their half of the first inning, put a run across the plate in shabby fashion. But in the third, Chicago rushed in four tallies, while the locals were unable to connect with the ball.

In the seventh, pandemonium broke loose as Detroit added three more to their score, making the score 5 to 4 in favor of Chicago. The noise became ear-splitting in the next inning when the "Tigers" accumulated two more, giving them the lead of one run. They had the lead once, lost it and then regained it.

The ninth was different. It belonged strictly to Chicago. Coming from behind they annexed five more tallies. Even then, with memories of the previous inning, the cheerful local enthusiasts did not give up hope of Detroit. Carolina Plays W. & L. Tie Game. Neither Side Able to Score, In Contest Characterized by Much Though Tarheels Keep all in Collegians' Territory. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEWPORT NEWS, VA., October 10.--Washington and Lee and the University of North Carolina played a no-score game here this evening in the presence of nearly 2,000 spectators. The game was listless, and enthusiasm was conspicuous by its absence. The Carolina boys had all the best of it, keeping the ball in Washington and Lee territory nearly all of the time and narrowly missing a touchdown several times.

Both teams were lacking in ginger, the Lexington boys especially playing like they were half asleep. Feuerstein, the little Washington end Lee quarter back, played a hard game, and furnished what life there was to the work of his team. His splendid effort at a goal from the Carolina forty-five-yard line, the ball sailing squarely between the posts and barely below the bar, was one of the features of the game. Thomas, half back, and Kiley, full back, were the stars for Carolina. The game ended with the ball on the Washington and Lee twenty-yard line after a fumble had prevented Carolina from scoring. Washington and Lee averaged 172 and Carolina 163. Line-up of the teams:

When the man was struck the Bullock was on his last lap. It continued without pausing, and won the Nassau Sweepstakes. Another winner, the Chalmers-Detroit (No. 11) in the Jerecho Sweepstakes, committed a similar freak (crossing a bridge a mile east of Westbury). L. E. Matthews, of Hempstead, was sitting on a bank above the bridge when a wedge of iron shot out of the engine of the Chalmers-Detroit and struck him on the head. He was taken to the Nassau County Hospital in an ambulance, and when the man was struck the Bullock was on his last lap. It continued without pausing, and won the Nassau Sweepstakes.
