DEBAUCH KILLS WOLLIE BRITT

Stanley Ketchel's Manager Dies in San Francisco Hospital of Hemorrhage.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SAN FRANCISCO, October 30.—Wollie Britt, manager of Stanley Ketchel and Battling Nelson, died suddenly late this afternoon of hemorrhage of the lungs at the St. Joseph's Hospital, where he had been recuperating from a debauch following the defeat of Ketchel. Britt was only thirty-two years old, but two years ago he drank so heavily that he was hospitalized for a year and a year ago in New York he narrowly escaped death as a result of alcoholic excesses. Britt was a very clever boxer when younger, but lately he turned his attention to promoting prize fights. He was good at the contest, and one of the best ring-side coaches in the country. He began as a newspaper writer on a local afternoon paper, but when Jimmy Braddock became prominent as a pugilist he became his brother's manager. After James whipped Britt, Willis became Nelson's manager, and he was largely through his advice that Nelson beat Gans. Britt coached Ketchel well, but he made a ghastly mistake when he matched Stanley with Johnson, and it was the realization of this error that drove him to his last and fatal drinking spell.

A DIPLOMATIC MOVE

Greece Seeks Favorable Solution of Cretan Problem.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] CONSTANTINOPLE, October 30.—It is believed in official circles here that the rumors of the abdication of King George of Greece are circulated with the view of persuading the powers to solve the Cretan problem in favor of Greece. Turkey has communicated to the powers its decision not to hasten King George's abdication, but in the same note said it would not tolerate an attack on Ottoman interests nor renounce in any degree its rights over Crete. The Minister of Foreign Affairs has warned the Greek government not to receive Cretan deputies or grave developments will ensue.

YALE'S PROSPECTS ON TRACK GLOOMY

Princeton Won't Be Very Strong, and Harvard Has the Speediest Team, on Paper.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., October 30.—The track situation at Yale University is far from being bright. It would appear at this rather early stage that the Blue team is to be a decidedly unbalanced one. In the field events the Bulldogs will again have the same strong aggregation which last season represented the New Havenites, but graduation has made a big inroad into the track side of the question. The weak points at the present time are in the dashes, hurdles and long-distance runs. In this situation, which is causing the supporters of Yale in this branch of sports no little anxiety. It is somewhat early to pass judgment on the possibility of the team, but the prospects are not what they should be for a university of the size of Yale.

Constipation And Appendicitis

The Letter Usually Caused by the Former, Which, in Turn, Has Its Origin in the Latter.

Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily. Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills, and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of their distress, they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until chronic inflammation of the bowels occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the result is appendicitis.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

have been the means of curing numerous cases of constipation, by direct curing the intestinal indigestion. They digest every kind of food, a single grain being capable of digesting 5,000 grains of alimentum, and in addition to peptic and other powerful digestives, they also contain diastase, which converts starch into sugar, and readily will never cure a disease of this sort, and those who make frequent or regular use of them will sooner or later set up an inflammatory condition of the intestinal system.
