DISEASED CATTLE KEPT OUT OF STATE

New Law Prevents Entrance of Batch of Tuberculosis Cows.

Tuberculosis cows which were shipped into Virginia from New York have been held up by the Bureau of Animal Industry, examined and properly tagged. This result was accomplished as a result of the new law requiring the tuberculin test to be applied to all cattle brought into Virginia for dairy or breeding purposes.

Certificate Necessary. The State veterinarian has once replied to the effect that the cows must be accompanied by a written certificate from the State quarantine officials of New York that they had passed the tuberculin test not longer than four months before entering the State of Virginia, before they could be forwarded to Richmond.

Later, Dr. Fernebaugh was asked what could be done in the absence of the certificate. His reply was that it would be entirely satisfactory if the Virginia Live Stock Sanitary Board if an inspector from the Bureau of Animal Industry in New York were called in to apply the tuberculin test to the cattle while at the Potomac yards.

Dr. Fernebaugh comments on this circumstance. "There is no doubt in my mind that the State Live Stock Sanitary Board took care in its own steps to prevent when it sought to stop the marketing of diseased dairy and breeding cattle from other States into Virginia.

"It is my honest opinion that our State has been made the dumping ground for purebred diseased dairy cattle for years, whenever dairymen had discovered the cost to the municipality. We have had gratifying success in our work against diseased cattle. We fought and won the contest, and tick, which is being exterminated, and the quarantine line is constantly moving south. The foot and mouth disease got all around us, but it was not allowed to enter Virginia. Hog cholera gives us trouble still, but we are doing our best to keep it out. Dairymen have lived twice in the last six years, but made only very short visits. In this warfare against tuberculosis we must have the loyal support of the cattle owners. They should take care of what they have and be careful of what they buy. Always remember that the best prevention of tuberculosis is good, nourishing food and plenty of fresh air and pure water."

At an unexpected banquet given by the City Democratic Committee at Murphy's Hotel last night, Clyde W. Saunders, former member from Clay Ward, was presented with a handsome silver service, given in token of his past work in the city, State and national elections.

Major Miles Martin, chairman, presided and made the presentation speech, all members of the committee being present. As the feasting was brought to an end, Major Martin arose and announced the reason of the gathering. He stated that Mr. Saunders had failed to receive the requisite number of votes in the recent election to hold his former position as a member of the City of Richmond Democratic Committee, nevertheless, he had rendered invaluable services to the cause of the Democratic party, both in city and State elections, and in the campaign for the health league. Final reports of the Laymon's Missionary Movement will be made at the meeting of the campaign committee to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. A stereopticon will be used to exhibit the reports from the various conventions at such as Buffalo and Cleveland. Brief addresses will be delivered by Colonel E. C. Burke will deliver the convention now in session there, carrying greetings from this city, and also reporting the progress of the campaign.

To-morrow's meeting will be the culminating feature of this campaign. It will be held at 3:30 o'clock in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. This city's per capita gift for last year was $1.09. Buffalo's was $3 cents. Members again gathered in Richmond. Constitution and Its Causes. Constipation is man's worst enemy, and half the bodily ills are a result thereof. WILL LEAD FIGHT AGAINST DISEASE

Dr. Truman A. Parker Made Secretary of Anti-Tuberculosis League.

Dr. Truman A. Parker, of Richmond, has been selected by the executive committee of the newly-organized Virginia Anti-Tuberculosis Association as its executive secretary. The selection is regarded by health officers in this city as a fortunate one. Dr. Parker has been practicing medicine and will enter upon his duties at once. With headquarters in Richmond, he will travel through the State and organize anti-tuberculosis work. Labor of this kind is not unknown to Dr. Parker. For some time past, during his practice in Richmond, he has interested himself in the warfare against the white plague. When the Galloway State Sanatorium for the treatment of incurable tuberculosis was opened last spring, Dr. Parker was appointed temporary superintendent. After a short stay, he was forced to resign and return to Richmond to resume his profession, but has kept in close touch with the cause, and is well-informed upon anti-tuberculosis methods and enthusiastic upon the subject of organization. He is a graduate of Hampden-Sidney College and the University of Medicine.

Sole of Stamps. The first important work of the new executive official, Dr. Parker, is the distribution and management of the sale of Red Cross Christmas stamps. To this end he will go to different points in the State to interest local societies in this work. Preparations for the stamp sale were made. The bill posters of Richmond, following the official action of the National Bill Posters' Association, have agreed to post the advertising matter for the stamp sale on their bill posts. The sale of stamps will be taken care of in Richmond by the Visiting Nurses' Association, in Staunton by the Civic League, and in the other cities by the Health League. This important work, which both the national and local will be vicariously shared until after the Christmas holidays.

FIFTY DOLLARS FOR SHOOTING MAN

Conductor Butzner Fined in Hustings Court for Wounding Negro Who Wouldn't Pay.

J. E. Butzner, the street car conductor who shot John Gray, colored, after the latter attempted to escape arrest for not paying his fare, was fined $50 in the Hustings Court yesterday on a charge of assault and battery, the charge of felony having been changed to one of misdemeanor. The evidence was that Butzner shot at the negro to intimidate him, and not to wound Gray from the car and ran out to the conductor approached him, to pay his fare. He was placed under arrest, but jumped from the car at Broad Street and ran into the street. Butzner fired at him but swore that he shot only to intimidate. The bullet struck Gray in the back of the neck and lodged on the cheekbone.

Butzner is said to be an efficient employee, but he violated the rules of the Virginia Railway and Power Company in going armed. Only those conductors who operate on suburban and inter-urban lines, where scant police protection is afforded, are permitted by the company to carry arms. Those who work on the city lines are especially prohibited from carrying pistols, and this rule Butzner violated.

Butzner has a mother and two sisters, and he is supported by the company. He is regarded by the company as a good conductor, and though he violated one of the most stringent rules of the company, it is probable that no other punishment will be dealt out to him. But the street car company employees in the city is allowed to carry a pistol.

SUFFRAGETTES HERE

Movement Started to Organize Branch of National Order. According to a statement issued yesterday, certain suffragettes, interested in the national suffragette movement, met last Thursday afternoon to discuss the course which will be accomplished. It is said that many prominent women are interested in the sending of a petition to Congress to have the sex equalized to vote. Similar movements in Virginia have always failed to accomplish anything, and that by concerted effort the cause will be accomplished.

It is stated, furthermore, that Mrs. Parker, the most celebrated of suffragettes, has been invited to speak in this city, and that she will be invited to outline a campaign to be carried out in Virginia.

More Trouble for Harris. William Harris, the man who was arrested Wednesday by Detective-Sergeant Witt, on a charge of pocket picking, had another warrant to face him yesterday when he was charged with attempting to break into the City Police Station.

GIRLS IN MILL CLASSES MAKE WEDDING CLOTHES

Speaker Tells Y. W. C. A. Convention How Work Has Spread Through Manufacturing Centres--Officers Are Elected.

More efficient womanhood was the earnest demand sounded throughout the proceedings of the territorial conference of the Young Women's Christian Association yesterday. The reports proved the practical purposes sought and the practical results reached by the organization, which aims to serve by uplifting women everywhere and bringing them into closer and more sympathetic sisterhood. Work of the most helpful quality is being carried on all over the nation and in foreign climes among colleges in cities and in industrial centers.

After a short devotional service early in the morning, conducted by Rev. Theron Rice, D. D., the conference opened by electing the following officers: Miss J. C. Stewart, of Richmond, president; Mrs. Woodbury Pulsifer, Miss Elizabeth Long, Charlotte, vice-president; Misses Halle Gramlin and Lottie Hudson, assistants. The various committees were also appointed.

What Order Has Done. The report of Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Allen, chairman of the territorial committee, showed great progress in the work of the association. In Norfolk and in Richmond, the Woman's College, at the University of Virginia, and in Danville and Charlottesville has developed greatly, and $30,000 has been raised for a building in Greensboro, Mill village, association have, by request of the manufacturing companies, been established at Piedmont and Greensboro, and provided for them by the companies. The other organizations at Peizer and Greenville, Va., are in most encouraging condition.

In two years student associations have been formed in Roanoke College, Washington College, Shenandoah College, College of the Holy Cross, Sweet Briar College, Randolph-Macon Institute, Oak Park Seminary, the Virginia Seminary, Mountain View Normal and Industrial School and Newberry College, Newberry, S. C. The value of these organizations to the community was attested by one of the college presidents, who declared: "I could not run the college without the co-operation of these associations."

Three of the college associations have opened stores, turning over the mercantile profits to the treasury of the general association. They have taken over the entire control of athletic in their respective institutions. Although the foreign secretary of the association in Ceylon. The best church workers and missionaries, especially those engaged in mountain mission work, are recruited from the ranks of the association.

Plan Summer Camp. Among advanced steps anticipated are a summer camp for self-supporting young women and a training centre in this territory for the preparation of the young women who are to take part in the work.

Miss Anna D. Casler, executive secretary, reported that the activities of the association have been in many helpful directions. While financial support has been far too inadequate, the almost undeveloped field in the country, where much can be done. Too many country girls are ready to come to the cities because they do not understand what opportunities they have at home. They go to cities not yet prepared to co-operate with them for their best when they reach there.

The afternoon session began with Bible hour, under the direction of Miss Adams. There was a session of the City Association Council, led by Miss Casler. Miss Adams urged the

Of the 2,500,000 people in labor unions in the United States, 15 per cent are in the United Church of Christ. Miss Adams recently published, added Miss Adams. Religion must be brought into the work of the association through the women. All people cannot be preached to, because some do not understand preaching, and the association should be able to help them to understand it through helpful service to them.

What Mill Girls Do. Miss Simms spoke of the work being carried on by mill girls, emphasizing their enthusiasm in their work, their helpfulness to those around them, their closing appeal for workers in this direction was strong and compelling.

Miss Casler, director of the association, showed pictures of the buildings and members in America, India, Japan, Ceylon and other countries. She told many interesting stories as delights upon the pictures, and broadened the importance and position of the association in the minds of the audience. This morning the meeting will begin at 9:30 o'clock with a prayer service, and will be followed by a talk with routine work and with a talk from Dr. Buchanan, of the Richmond Associated Charities, on the study of the work of the mill girls and students. It will be an automobile ride for the delegates. At 5 o'clock the Woman's Club will tender them a reception at the clubhouse. At 8 o'clock there will be a song service, followed by important addresses.
