INSISTENT DEMAND FOR ARBITRATION

men who were willing to return to work.

C. O. Pratt, leader of the striking carmen, declared to-night that the agreement of the Mayor and the responsive offer of the company was a "bluff."

In its usual daily statement the committee of ten to-night claimed increases in the ranks of the general carmen during the day and declared that the workers of the State only awaited the word to join the movement here. The statement indicated possibility of further trouble.

Federal Arbitration Urge.
Washington, D. C., March 11.—President Taft and Senators Penrose and Oliver, of Pennsylvania, to-day received telegrams urging Federal arbitration of the carmen's strike in Philadelphia. The messages were signed by B. E. Greenwalt, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor. The appeal to the President was dispatched to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor.

The telegrams to the Senators read as follows:

"Justice, as well as we, demand that the carmen's strike in Philadelphia be submitted to arbitration at once, and that as an official representative of the people of Pennsylvania you immediately use your official influence toward this end."

Both of the Pennsylvania Senators are in New York and are not expected to return to Washington until Monday.

It is the impression here that Labor Commissioner Neill will be dispatched to Philadelphia to make a personal investigation in the strike conditions for the President.

It is not known whether the telegram sent to President Taft is the same as those sent to the Pennsylvania Senators, all that could be learned at the White House being that the telegram had been referred to Secretary Nagel, who, in turn, was expected to consult with the Labor Commissioner.

Referring to the extension of the strike from Philadelphia to the State of Pennsylvania or to the country, I do not want to discuss that subject for publication at this time," said President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, to-day, when asked about the possibility of a State or nation-wide strike as a result of the Philadelphia labor controversy.

"I will plan in secret."

"Whatever plans we may have for the protection of labor," he continued, "I do not know that it is necessary to publish or proclaim. The forces arrayed against labor meet and plan in secret. They take neither the public nor labor into their confidence. We will do the best we can to protect the rights and interests of the working people."

Referring to the action of the Philadelphia authorities yesterday in prohibiting the holding of a mass meeting at the baseball park, Mr. Gompers said the men "were treated as the Cossacks treat the Russian subjects, rather than as citizens should be treated in the United States."

"An attempt such as this," he added, "to deny and prohibit free assembly and free speech, and wantonly and ruthlessly and brutally to club men, women and children in the effort to exercise their right of free speech and free assembly is bound to react."

"For the moment," he said, "such as obtaining in Philadelphia may have the upper hand, but that cannot last long, not in free America. Philadelphia corporations and politicians do not seem to understand that the greatest safety lies in freedom."

Reviewing the situation which led up to the trouble, Mr. Gompers said that everything was done by the men that could be done with honor to avoid the strike, adding:

"Ever since the strike of last June of the street railway men in Philadelphia, which was adjusted by agreement, the company has been engaged in nullifying the result of the strike and the agreement had with the organization."

Struck to Save Union.
Under the direction of President Kruger, of the street railway company, the strike-breaking agencies began to import men into Philadelphia. In the course of ten days he discharged nearly 700 of his old and faithful employees because they were members of the union. The men said that their organization would be gradually wiped out of existence. He persisted in his course, and the men went on strike to maintain what they had and also to maintain their union.

Mayor Royburn, as the representative of the city government, voted against arbitration and took the position of hostility, instead of remaining impartial."

Here and There in the Legislature

Present-giving has become exceedingly fashionable in the Legislature, and many members will carry home with them substantial appreciation of their faithfulness and popularity.

The House Committee on Privileges and Elections at its meeting yesterday morning presented its chairman, Judge Martin Williams, with a beautiful cuff button and scarf pin, handsomely engraved with the name of the committee on Privileges and Elections, this taken of our esteem. We hope you will not consider its intrinsic value, but wear it as a reminder of the time you so pleasantly have spent together during the session of 1910.

"In bidding you Godspeed to your home and family, we would like you to know that you carry with you our respect and admiration for the fairness, impartiality and ability which has characterized your leadership from beginning to end. We wish you a safe trip and a happy reunion with your loved ones."

Judge Williams made a happy response. Mr. Throckmorton, chairman of the House Committee on Roads and Internal Navigation, was given a silver sugar dish and cream pitcher by his committee and the most distinguished manner the honors were done by Mr. Talleferro, Mr. Throckmorton responding.

Perhaps the most unique of all was the present given to Dr. Dunn, the chairman of the House Committee on Schools and Colleges. A package in the shape of a leather-bound book and leather-cased flask Mr. Dunn said that inasmuch as Dr. Dunn is a member of the committee on the chair of anatomy, for his patients only, this article might come in handy.

Last night Mr. Page was the host of the House Committee for Courts of Justice at dinner at the Westmoreland Club. In addition to the members of the committee and Clerk Washington, there were present Senator Wickham, Colonel Wingo and Clerk John W. Williams. Mr. White presented the chairman with an appropriately engraved gold-headed cane. Mr. Page responded, both speeches being excellently conceived.

W. C. Winn, of Lunenburg, and Judge W. B. Zacher, of Halifax, were guests on the House floor yesterday.

From his seat in the House chamber yesterday afternoon, Mr. Page sent the following telegram to Samuel Hardy, who is under sentence of death in the Norfolk Jail and to whom the House has granted a reprieve for a new trial:

"I have closely followed your case and believe you the innocent victim of a legal conspiracy. I shall urge Governor Mann to pardon you."

Three members of the House who have been stopping at 1103 East Clay Street—Captain Thomas S. West, of Bedford; J. A. Barham, Jr., of Surry; and Dr. H. Myers, of Halifax, were hosts at dinner last night. The guests were Colonel J. E. West, of Nansemond; J. A. Jett, of Northumberland; and Landon B. Lowry, of Bedford.

T. A. Overby, a former member from Lunenburg, was on the floor of the House last night.

Present-giving has become exceedingly fashionable in the Legislature, and many members will carry home with them substantial appreciation of their faithfulness and popularity.
