

FIRE DESTROYS PEANUT FACTORY

Loss to Petersburg Company Will Amount to More Than $30,000.

MONUMENT SITE SELECTED

Four Young White Men Sentenced for Robbing Cars.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., October 20.

The large four-story brick factory of the Levy Peanut Company (Inc.), operated by a stock company, located at the corner of Hollingsbrook and Second Streets, was practically destroyed by fire this morning.

The valuable machinery of the company, used for handling, cleaning, sorting and shelling peanuts on a large scale, was practically ruined.

The factory building was owned by W. W. Donnan, and was insured for about $100,000, of which $7,750 was in the Virginia Mutual.

With the exception of Commander James Anderson, of Springfield, the Massachusetts Battlefield Commissioners, appointed to select a site at Petersburg for a monument to the soldiers of that State who fell around this devoted city, have returned to their homes.

The desire of the commission was to erect the monument at or very near the crater, but it was found that a valid title could not be given for a site, though the owners, who have only a life interest in the property, were willing to donate the site.

The citizens of Petersburg, the Confederate veterans especially, extended every courtesy and aid to the commission in the execution of their mission.

Commissioner Anderson is commander E. M. Wilcox Post, G. A. R., of Springfield, and is also a honorary member of A. P. Hill Camp, Confederate Veterans.

Four young white men of this city, indicted for robbing cars of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, were tried and convicted in the Hustings Court today.

The management of the Southside agricultural exhibit, to be held in this city, October 27-30, is overran with applications for space.

The stock exhibit promises to be a very full and fine one, the boys' corn exhibit will be great, and the housewives of this section will show the public what can be accomplished in their departments.

The grand jury to-day returned a number of indictments for minor offenses, and then went into an investigation of the sale of the city's dredge, for which it is alleged, no money was received by the city.

FIVE NEW BISHOPS NAMED BY CHURCH

With This Action, Work of Convention at Cincinnati Practically Ends.

Cincinnati, O., October 20.—With the appointment of five new missionary bishops and the selection of a successor to Bishop Graves, of Kearney, Neb., to-day, the last important action by either of the houses of the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church probably will end to-morrow.

The following are the new bishops: Rev. George Allen Berber, of Omaha, to be Bishop of Kearney, Neb.

Rev. Theodore Payne Thurston, of Minneapolis, to be Bishop of East Oklahoma.

Rev. Francis L. H. Potts, of Shanghai, China, to be Bishop of Wuhu, China.

Rev. Louis S. Ford, of Berkeley, Cal., to be Bishop of San Joaquin, Cal.

Rev. Julius Walker Atwood, of Phoenix, Ariz., to be Bishop of Arizona.

Rev. Albert Temple, of Waco, Tex., to be Bishop of Northern Texas.

In the opinion of a large number of the bishops, this convention has been the most important ever held by the church.

The most noteworthy actions of the convention during its three weeks' session have been the creation of the reorganized board of domestic and foreign missions at the afternoon session of the House of Bishops to-day.

The name of Bishop Brent, of the Philippines, was also proposed, but was withdrawn.

A resolution in the House of Deputies, declaring that "we protest against the unfair and inhuman treatment of the Jews in the empire of Russia" was lost by a close vote, and the resolution was placed on the agenda.

Proceeding the social service conference a resolution presented by Bishop Greer, of New York, was adopted asking help from every one to further the laws against child labor.

Alexandria, Va., October 20.—The Citizens' National Bank of Alexandria, to-day made application to the Post-office department for a depositary for postal savings funds.

BLACKSTONE FAIR IS GREAT SUCCESS

Exhibits Far Surpass Expectations—Governor Makes Opening Address.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Blackstone, Va., October 20.—The Blackstone Agricultural and Educational Fair opened this morning under most gratifying conditions.

The agricultural exhibits far surpass the most sanguine expectations of the management, and owing to an unfavorable weather yesterday and to-day, it has been decided to continue the fair Saturday also.

The opening address was made by Governor William Hodges Mann, soon after he turned the corner of the Agricultural Building and set the machinery exhibits in motion.

The Governor spoke on the agricultural needs and possibilities of Virginia to an enthusiastic gathering of about 1,500 people.

The counties of Loudoun, Brunswick, Middleburg, Lincolnton and Northway compose the fair, and only these are permitted to contribute.

A distinctive feature is the fact that no admission fee is charged to the grounds or any of the exhibits, yet over $2,000 in premiums will be given away.

The fair Association and the merchants and business men of Blackstone.

Experts express the opinion that the corn and tobacco exhibits are the equal of any seen at any of the fairs in the State, and that the other exhibits are equally as notable.

J. Gordon Pinney, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Petersburg, delivered an address on the importance of education in farming this afternoon.

T. O. Sandy will deliver an address on "Farming" Friday morning, and S. J. Eggleston, on "Education." Special attention also given to the subject of good roads.

Friday afternoon the grand tournament will take place, followed by the coronation ball, W. Moncreu Gravit, of Staunton, will deliver the address.

On Saturday several distinguished educators will be present to continue the educational program, and in the afternoon the premiums will be awarded.

Justice is speedy. Jackson, Ky., October 20.—Accepting sentence of death by electrocution rather than face a probable hanging at the hands of a mob, Charles Little today pleaded guilty in court to the murder of the late Senator Shelby.

The judicial proceedings against Little were the shortest on record. Mrs. Little had told officers that her husband killed the senator, and another confessed and asked for an immediate trial.

The Crawford adherents were attending the annual meeting of the Circuit Court being in session, a jury was at once impaneled and the former pleaded guilty.

Mountaineers who had followed James H. Hargis, Crawford's uncle, when that feudist was in his glory, flocked to Jackson late yesterday and last night.

They discussed the killing and heard the story of V. G. Mulliken, of Lexington, who, with another, had tracked and killed the murderer.

Mulliken related the confession of Mrs. Little, who had told Mulliken that she had seen Crawford, because the distiller refused to give him whiskey. The feudists had planned to hang Little and by torturing forcing him to reveal the names of his supposed confederates.

The first reports of the killing were that three men and a woman were concerned. Assembled in a darkened store room, they discussed the killing and heard the story of V. G. Mulliken, of Lexington, who, with another, had tracked and killed the murderer.

Mulliken related the confession of Mrs. Little, who had told Mulliken that she had seen Crawford, because the distiller refused to give him whiskey. The feudists had planned to hang Little and by torturing forcing him to reveal the names of his supposed confederates.

A CABLE AD EVERY DAY

Inside the Case of THE INNER-PLAYER TRADE MARK PIANO

Is an ingenious device called the MINIA-TURE KEYBOARD.

Naturally you will ask why it is necessary to have two keyboards in one piano. The reason is this—that without this feature the instrument would have a mechanical touch. Try an ordinary player-piano and you will see that it is wanting in what might be termed human expression.

The reason is that there is lack of elasticity in the mechanism which transmits the touch to the piano strings. The Miniature Keyboard gives this required elasticity, so that an INNER-PLAYER Piano has very much the same touch as that given by the fingers of an expert musician upon the piano keys.

Mrs. Alonza Divine, (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Leesburg, Va., October 20.—Mrs. Divine, widow of Alonza Divine, of Leesburg, died yesterday at her home in this place, of pneumonia, aged sixty years.

She is survived by one daughter, Miss Jessie Divine, and by one son, Arthur B. Divine, editor and owner of the Loudoun Mirror.

Charles Fayette Ball, (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Washington, D. C., October 20.—Chas. Fayette Ball, a well-known farmer of Leesburg, died this morning at the residence of
