

South Boston Social News

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] South Boston, Va., April 15.—There will be special Easter services at all of the churches to-morrow, with the exception of the Baptist, owing to the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. R. Doan, who is adding in a meeting in South Richmond. The program which will be rendered at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning will be as follows: Music, under the direction of Miss Pattle Evans; organist, doxology; invocation; hymn, "Christ, the Lord, is Risen To-day"; offertory, "Resurrection and the Life"; soprano solos, by Mrs. W. H. Faulkner, Miss Sallie Love-lay; bass solo, F. L. Walker, Jr.; baritone solo, Joseph Stebbins, Jr.; chorus, choir, hymn, "How Calm and Beautiful the Morn"; sermon by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Maxwell; anthem, "Hosanna"; hymn, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand"; benediction.

Special Easter union services will be held at Trinity Episcopal Church in the evening, as follows: Processional hymn, 109 (Sullivan); "Gloria Patrie"; "Gloria in Excelsis"; "Cantata Domini"; "Benedic Anima Mea"; hymn 114 (Armathea); sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. G. Lane; offertory; anthem, "Christ, the Lord, is Risen To-day" (Williams); doxology; recessional hymn, 119 (All Hallows).

On Tuesday evening Mrs. S. C. Morton, Sr., entertained at cards in honor of Mrs. Hugh Caffee and Mrs. E. W. Barrett, of Newport News, who are the house guests of Mrs. J. McN. Stover, on upper Main. Music was interspersed during the occasion, and most delicious refreshments were served. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. J. McN. Stover, Mrs. Jack Lovelace, Mrs. W. I. Jordan, Mrs. R. E. Jordan, Mrs. C. W. Walters, Mrs. Jack Lovelace, Mrs. S. C. Morton, Jr., Mrs. W. Lucas Penick, Mrs. J. O. Watkins, Miss Lucy Henderson, Misses Betty and Katherine Warriner, Mrs. Charles T. Lovelace, Misses Anna Belle, Lavette and Lizzie Morton, Sallie Lovelace, Hon. Joseph Stebbins, Jr., V. E. Fowler, Flournoy Lovelace, S. C. Morton, Sr., Jack Lovelace.

Mrs. Hugh Caffee and Mrs. E. W. Barrett, of Newport News, were guests of honor at an afternoon tea on Saturday given by Mrs. J. McN. Stover, at whose home they are visiting. The guests were Mrs. W. T. Lea, Mrs. S. C. Morton, Sr., Mrs. Jack Lovelace, Mrs. S. C. Morton, Jr., Mrs. J. O. Watkins, Mrs. J. J. Lawson, Mrs. C. H. Friend, Mrs. R. W. Lawson, Mrs. A. M. Kendall, Mrs. C. W. Walters and Mrs. F. L. Walker, Jr.

Mrs. Alfred Slack and son, Master Slack, of Georgetown, Ky., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lipscomb, Jr., on upper Main.

Frederick Moore, of Boston, Mass., is spending several days in South Boston, the guest of his friends.

Tyree C. Wright has returned from a visit to Roanoke and Bedford.

Robert E. Smith and bride have returned to South Boston from their honeymoon trip.

Christiansburg Social News [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Christiansburg, Va., April 15.—Rev. Jas. Gatron and Rev. Frank Emberger held a most interesting service at Fairview Methodist Episcopal Church on Sunday, when it was their privilege to sell the old church and build a handsome new one at Childress. The new building will cost $1.

Rev. Mr. Gatron preached the dedication service at this church forty years ago.

Rev. Charles Stanton, new pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, preached his first sermon on Sunday morning, returning to Hinton, W. Va., Sunday afternoon. Mr. Stanton is now installed at the parsonage with his family.

Miss Leslie Powers, of Roanoke, is the guest of Mrs. Mary Edmondson. Miss Annie Childress has been called to Norfolk by the serious illness of her niece, Miss Elizabeth Schaeffer. She is the guest of Mrs. John C. Dillon.

Mrs. Wilton Sevier, of Bristol, has been the guest of Mrs. Emma Trigg this week.

Among those who will spend the Easter holidays at home are Miss Louise Hawley, of Roanoke, Cadis Avlin and William Walters, William Hall, Douglas Lester and Dan Spindie, of V. P. I., and William Pierce, of Roanoke.

West Point Social News [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] West Point, Va., April 15.—Charles Newbill, of Essex, has returned from Roanoke, where he was called by the illness of his son, John William, who was operated on for appendicitis the first of the week.

Arrangements are being made for an Easter banquet to take place at the Terminal Hotel, April 22.

There is the usual coming and going incident to the season. Among those who are spending the holidays away are Miss Alma Bland, who has been called to a visit to her sister, Mrs. Williams, in Cape Charles City; Mrs. A. Julian Egan, on a visit to Mrs. Livingston, in Baltimore; Mrs. H. DeBoggs, with her parents in Baltimore; Mrs. Chandler, to Chesapeake; Mrs. New Kent, and Miss Valerie Chandler, to spend the school holidays at her home in New Kent.

Mrs. A. M. Orgain, of Dinwiddie and Little August are the guests of Richmond Bland.

Lynwood Harris, of New Kent, was in town this week.

Miss Evelyn Cade, of Baltimore, is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Ed. Morvitz. Mrs. Anna Thomsen, who spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Garbin, in Chase City, has returned to her home, Little Plymouth, in Cape Charles.

Dr. Bescoe Spencer, of Baltimore, is spending Easter with his mother at his home here.

Mrs. J. W. Marshall will spend Easter with her relatives in Baltimore.

Pinehurst Social News [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Pinehurst, N. C., April 15.—Each day some new, sweet song we hear from the mocking-bird and his feathered orchestra; each day some beautiful flower unfolds to April sun and breeze. Informal affairs rounding out a busy week spent in the open air with interest centered in an indoor archery party at the Holly Inn. Starting with the "good" in mind the company endeavored to hit the target; the result, the demolishing of many a record, but few targets, and the safest place in the room, its center. Six prizes were awarded, however by the committee, the list including Mrs. Mason Evans, of Youngstown; Mrs. William West, of Philadelphia; and Miss Bertrande Hernandez, of Washington, and H. Carter, of Brooklyn. F. P. Barnes, of New Haven, and F. R. Wink, of Boston. The evening was enjoyed by fully 200 people.

Among other affairs was a challenge supper given by Mr. Leslie D. Pierce, of Rochester, Va., several social evenings and a bridge party.

In addition to the annual mid-April golf tournament was a selected score handicap arranged by the Silver Poles, which Mrs. Thoma J. Thoma, of New York, and Miss Louise E. Ellkins, of Pittsburgh, were the prize winners.

Many have joined their rounding out the month here, and the winter and summer tapers will remain through May, but many good-byes are being said, for the season is rapidly drawing to a close, a season which parallels in the history of the village.

Stylish SHOES

THE Shoes are just as important an adjunct of the Easter costume as the Easter hat—in fact, the hobble skirt makes the footwear the most strikingly conspicuous part of women's attire, and renders it highly essential that the Shoes shall be neat, stylish and of the correct shape.

Social Side of Washington

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, April 15.—Washington is bedecked with the tender green of spring. Many of conservative ways has kept her fairest linen for the guests of the post-Easter season, which is a pair of international visitors at the Swiss legation, four titled Britons, a member of the French Parliament and the avian courtiers of Continental Congress. The latter, alone, are 1,000 strong, and by to-morrow evening their number will have reached the high-water mark in attendance, for with the flight of their BFC on the lap every daughter of the revolution who can is looked to be in Washington next week to assist in electing the woman of her choice to the office of president-general of the national society. The two candidates in the field—Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, the incumbent, and Mrs. William Cummings Story, late regent of the State of New York—were pitted against each other two years ago, and now, as then, the followers of each side claim to have the requisite number of votes to elect their favorite leader. In justice to Mrs. Scott, who, if not re-elected, will be the only presiding officer of the N. S. D. A. R. willing to succeed herself for a second term not to be given the chance, he it observed that opposition to her is entirely impersonal, having rather its inspiration in the fact of her "kitchen cabinet" composed, unfortunately for her, of three Daughters who were refused office by an overwhelming vote of the congress which elected her to the presidency.

Social events for the visiting Daughters began to-night, when members of local chapters kept open house at Continental Hall, and later in the evening Miss Nannie Barbee, of Kentucky, entertained them with negro dialect stories, related in her own quaint style.

On Monday evening Mrs. Scott will hold her official reception in the name of the D. A. R. to the S. A. R., and on Wednesday, President and Mrs. Taft will receive all of the Daughters at the White House. Thursday will be devoted strictly to business, the election of officers being on the tapis, and nothing will be allowed to interfere with the vote-casting. Trolley tripping to Mount Vernon, Annapolis and other places of historic interest in this vicinity will mark other days not already devoted to luncheons, dinners and teas.

Mrs. Charles H. Davis, wife of Representative Davis, will be chief hostess to the Minnesota Daughters attending the congress. Mrs. Oscar W. Underwood will do the same for those coming from Alabama. Mrs. Swanson, wife of Senator Swanson, whose home in Sixteenth is ever open to Virginians in Washington, will be missed from the ranks of entertainers this time owing to the recent death of her sister, Mrs. Henry Bohmer, of Philadelphia, herself a frequent visitor at D. A. R. congresses.

One of the pretty affairs of the week was the farewell luncheon given by Baroness von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador, who will sail on Tuesday to spend the summer abroad. In addition to being a farewell to her friends in this city, the affair was a welcome home to United States Ambassador to Berlin and Mrs. David Jayne Hill, and their daughter, Miss Catherine Hill, who are enjoying a brief vacation in the land of their birth, and incidentally, it is whispered over the luncheon, Mr. Hill is looking after his political fences, which Secretary of the Navy G. von L. Meyer is trying to break through. And thereby hangs a tale of interest, because of Mrs. Meyer's predilection for the company of foreigners.

Miss Edith Morgan, of New York, who is visiting Miss Helen Taft at the White House and will remain for the Easter dance there on Wednesday evening; Mrs. Merrill, the guest of Ambassador and Mrs. Hill, and their daughter, Catherine; Miss Margaret Dines, of Albany, the debutante grand-daughter of General and Mrs. John W. Foster, whose Easter guest she is, and a group of out-of-town girl friends of Mrs. Morgan, who are assisting in the calm of Holy Week. The presence of Sir John and Lady Murray, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and United States Minister to Panama and Mrs. Thomas C. Dawson, has also been the reason for several unexpected dinners on the social calendar.

Society is preening its feathers for the reception of another Mexican ambassador—the second within the limits of a single season—Madame de la Barra, whose wedding trip to Europe was abbreviated by her husband's appointment to a Cabinet position in Mexico on the eve of their sailing for Rome, was afterwards obliged to remain longer at the embassy here, awaiting the illness of her own and their stepson. They are now convalescing, and she is able to accept a few of the hospitalities that are showered upon her by diplomatic society in anticipation of her early return to enter the Cabinet circle in Mexico City. Senora Zamacona, who will succeed Madame

Goodbye to Catarrh and all its Loathsomeness

Hundreds of thousands of people all over the civilized world have rid themselves of catarrh by going about it in an intelligent and systematic manner. There's no secret about it—kill the catarrh germs, that's all you have to do, and hawking, snuffing and spitting will instantly cease.

Just Breathe It.

being made of Eucalyptus and other antiseptics, it kills the germs and soothes and heals the sore, raw, tender membrane. Outfit costs but $1.00. That means an inhaler and bottle of Hyomei. Extra bottles of Hyomei cost but 50 cents. Sold by Tragle Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-mei) will abolish every symptom of catarrh if you give it a chance; it will give delightful and refreshing relief in five minutes. No vile drugs to pour into the stomach, bear that in mind. You just breathe Hyomei as naturally as fresh air, and coughs, colds, asthma, croup and deafness caused by catarrh, Hyomei is guaranteed. To break up cold in head or chest in a few minutes, pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEI into bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.

de la Barra as mistress of the Mexican embassy, is ill in Berlin and will not be able to make the trip to America for some weeks. It is expected, however, that she will arrive in time to participate in the early summer festivities, which will include several garden parties at the White House and the silver wedding reception of President and Mrs. Taft. The latter event will be June 25, and the new congressional families are looking forward to it as an oasis in the desert of a summer session of Congress, and that the House and Senate will be in session until late in the summer, is generally conceded by those accredited with "knowing." If straw shows the way the wind blows this surmise is not without strong foundation, else why would the majority of congressional families be removing from hotels to quarters where they will be more comfortable as the season waxes warm? Incidentally, it is also observed that the President is casting his eye about for available moonlight partners on the golf links when Old Sol begins to shine too hot for early afternoon games.

Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark and Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst are among the house-hunters, and Dame Rumor says that the latter couple will spend the winter here in the future, entertaining the political friends of the former, which is one way of spelling a Hearst booming of the Clark and Hearst stock. Quite aside from politics, the task will be most pleasant for the ladies, who are most congenial, each being very domestic, and at the same time keenly interested in the broader affairs of the world in which their husbands are shining lights.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred T. Grenfell, of Labrador, and Mrs. "Tay Tay" O'Connell, of London, are renewing old acquaintances in Washington, the former as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Butler, and the latter visiting relatives. William Arthur Burton, of Liverpool, whose engagement to Miss Jessie Krogstad was recently announced by Dr. and Mrs. Krogstad, parents of the bride-to-be; the Governor of Alaska and Mrs. Clark, and Cleveland Perkins, recently transferred from the American legation in Chili to the legation at Copenhagen, are other sojourners at the capital for the Easter holidays.

When Mr. Perkins starts for his new post he will be accompanied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins, who will be his old father for some time at the Danish capital, and go thence to Stockholm, where they will be entertained by former Minister and Mrs. Lagercrantz. Count Albert Ehrensvard, who succeeded Mr. Lagercrantz as Swedish minister to Washington, is a rich, titled young bachelor diplomat, who refuses to be lionized by society in general, although he is not oblivious that a large part of a diplomat's duty is best accomplished by promoting friendly relations in a social way.
