PRENDERGAST IS MADE ARCHBISHOP

Enthroned in Presence of Many of Church's High Dignitaries.

CEREMONIES ARE ELABORATE

All Clergy Pay Homage, and Address of Fealty Read.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 27.—In the presence of high dignitaries of the church, and practically all the clergy in the archdiocese, the Most Rev. Edmund F. Prendergast was yesterday enthroned archbishop of the metropolitan see of Philadelphia in the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, succeeding the late Archbishop Patrick John Ryan. The ceremonies were extremely elaborate, and the great edifice, which was completely filled, was beautifully decorated with flowers and bunting.

Noted Prelates March. The ceremonies of the day began with a procession from the chapel of the cathedral to the church, and as it got under way all the Catholic church bells in the city began ringing. The procession was headed by 150 seminarians, and in the line, all in the full robes of their offices, followed Archbishop Falconio, the papal delegate to the United States, Archbishop Farley, of New York; Bishop Monahan, of Wilmington, Del.; Bishop O'Connor, of Newark; the five suffragan bishops of the see of Philadelphia—Bishop Hoban, of Scranton; Bishop Pitaric, of Erie; Bishop Shanahan, of Harrisburg; Bishop Garvey, of Altoona, and Bishop Canevin, of Pittsburgh.

Nearly all the priests in the archdiocese were also in the procession, at the rear of which walked Archbishop Prendergast, in full pontifical robes.

At the door of the cathedral Mr. Bernemann, rector of St. Paul's Church, Reading, and senior priest of the archdiocese, presented the crucifix to the archbishop, which he kissed as an act of faith.

All Clergy Pay Homage. The ceremony at the altar began with the reading of the papal bulls authorizing the elevation.

PHYSICIAN ADVISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

For Eczema, Patient's Wrist and Shin Itched Like Poison, Scratched Until They Bled, Says: "Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured Me."

"Four years ago I had places break out on my skin which would not heal and burn by spells, and scratching them would not seem to give any relief. When the trouble first began, my wrist and shin itched like poison. I would scratch those places until they would bleed before I could get any relief. Afterwards the places would scale over, and the flesh underneath would look red and feverish. Sometimes it would begin to itch until it would wake me from my sleep, and I would have to go through the scratching ordeal again.

I consulted my physician in regard to it, and he pronounced it "dry eczema." I used an ointment which the doctor gave me, but it did no good. Then he advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. As this trouble has been in our family for years, and is considered hereditary, I felt anxious to try to head it off, and got the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, and they seemed to be just what I needed.

The disease was making great headway on my system until I got the Cuticura Remedies which have cleared my skin of the great pest. From the time the eczema healed four years ago, until now, I have never felt any of its pest, and I am thankful to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment which certainly cured me. I always use the Cuticura Soap for toilet, and I hope other sufferers from skin diseases will use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Irvan Hutchison, Three Rivers, Mich., Mar. 16, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp, will be sent free, on application to Post-Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 17A, Boston.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED.

John Fox, Jr., Gives Reading From His Own Short Stories.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Blacksburg, Va., July 27.—John Fox, Jr. gave a reading in the school auditorium last night complimentary to the faculty and students of the Summer Normal School. The general public was invited, and he was greeted with a large and appreciative audience.

J. B. Craft, pastor of the Baptist Church, introduced Mr. Fox in a few well chosen words. His first number, given by request, was one of his short stories, "A Trick or Trade." He then read a number of his other short stories, "The Heart of the Hills," "Heller-Sartain," and "Courtin' on Cutshin." "Preachin' on Kingdom Come," "On Heller-Sartain Creek," the humor and pathos and masterly portrayal of mountain character of each of which, brought out by Mr. Fox's inimitable reading of them, impressed his audience most deeply.

FEATHER IN SLEMP'S CAP

Taft Expected to Accept His Candidate for Postmaster.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, D. C., July 27.—The Virginia political pot began to boil again to-day, when Congressman Slem called before the House and recommended to President Taft the appointment of C. Vance as postmaster general to succeed Postmaster Griffin, whose term is expired. For some time past Old Dominion political matters have been quiet in Washington, and it has been the opinion of those who are familiar with the situation that Mr. Slem might no longer be allowed to dictate Federal appointments, but that some recent nominations made by the President are taken to mean that so long as Mr. Slem and the State organization backed by Alvin H. Mitchell, worked harmoniously together, there will be no radical change.

This particular appointment, while of no special significance, will, if it comes through, be a feather in Slem's cap, and others probably will follow at an early date.

The following changes were announced in the class postmasters in Virginia to-day: At Hague, Julia M. Perkins takes the place of R. D. Perkins. At Staunton, H. D. Palmer takes the place of W. F. Walters. At Warrenton, Eva L. Johnson succeeds S. M. Jones. P. H. McG.

TAX LEVY IS FIXED.

Supervisors Examine and Approve Proposed Tax Report.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Chatham, Va., July 27.—The Board of County Supervisors in annual meeting this week examined, approved and certified the report of the county treasurer of the contract for enlarging the county jail, which was fixed at $6,712. The county levy was fixed at as follows: for general county purposes, 20 cents on the $100 worth of property; roads and bridges, 40 cents on $100 of property; bonded indebtedness, 15 cents on $100 of property; schools, 20 cents on $100 of property. In the districts of Dan River and Chatham, the school levy was made 10 cents higher than other districts of the county. This is the same levy as last year. Miss Sallie M. Myers and J. W. George, of the county, were quietly married at the home of Rev. J. E. Brooks Monday. Mr. Brooks performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a small gathering of friends.

FARM LIFE SCHOOL SYSTEM INDORSED

Interesting Addresses Before North Carolina State Farmer's Union.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Salisbury, N. C., July 27.—The second day of the State meeting of the Farmers' Union, which convened in Salisbury yesterday, was given over to routine business, and the meeting adjourned to-night. The indorsement of the farm life school system, the matter of adopting a charter, and an address by National President C. S. Barnett, of Union City, Ga., were features of the day.

To-night I. O. Schaub, president of the North Carolina Boys' Corn Club, addressed a large audience of farmers. The teaching of the elements of agriculture in the public schools was advocated in an address by P. E. Shaw, of Duplin county. President Hill, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Raleigh, addressed the convention to-day in the interest of the State Farmers' Institute, to be held in Raleigh July 29.

The place for the next annual meeting will be chosen at a meeting of the State organization, to be held in December of this year.

WORK OF LAYMEN IS CONSIDERED

Address by Judge Newman, Leader of Movement for Baltimore Conference.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lexington, Va., July 27.—The Roanoke District Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which opened in Trinity Methodist Church, Lexington, on Tuesday night, adjourned to-night. Rev. J. H. Light, editor of "The Virginia Issue," of Richmond, to-night made an address on temperance.

This afternoon a meeting of the laymen was held in the interest of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. It was addressed by Judge E. D. Newman, who is the leader of the movement for the Baltimore Conference. Judge R. C. Jackson, of Roanoke, was re-elected leader for the Roanoke district.

The following delegates were elected to the annual session of the Baltimore Conference, to be held in Roanoke next April: W. H. Agnor, Lexington; H. H. Dickey, Christiansburg; T. T. Flashburne and Judge R. C. Jackson, Roanoke; A. Harnate—Judge P. V. Jones, New Castle; F. B. Thomas, Roanoke; W. R. Kennedy, Lexington; F. H. Chalmers, Salem.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

"Catawba," Home of H. C. Breckenridge, is Burned.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fincastle, Va., July 27.—The residence of H. G. Breckenridge, known as "Catawba," was destroyed by fire this morning between 2 and 3 o'clock. Charles Holliday, the only occupant in the house at the time, narrowly escaped with his life, losing his clothes and some money.

H. G. Breckenridge had gone to Roanoke, expecting to return to-day with his youngest daughter, who had been spending a while with her mother.

Will Stand Trial for Wife Murder

Young White Farmer Accused of Poisoning Bride of Three Months.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Statesville, N. C., July 27.—Iredell Superior Court convenes here next week, and the most important case on the docket for trial will be that of Reuben Combs, a young white farmer, who will be tried for his life for the murder of Mrs. Bessie Lou Anna Beard Combs, his seventeen-year-old wife. Briefly, the history of the crime is as follows:

March 13, 1911, Reuben Combs, son of N. H. Combs, a citizen of this county, and Miss Bessie Lou Anna Beard, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beard, also of this county, ran away to South Carolina and were married. The parents of the girl objected to the marriage, principally on account of the girl's age. After their marriage they returned and located on a farm Friday morning, May 26, less than three months after they had been married, the husband reported that he had found the dead body of his young wife lying in the yard of their home, dressed in her night clothes. Before the coroner's jury held a few hours later, he testified that his wife had hoed cotton all the day before. She was not well, and he did not want her to work. However, when she retired that night she seemed in her usual health. About 11:45 o'clock the next morning he awoke and was surprised to find his wife out of the bed, and absent from the house. Searching, he found her dead body in the yard, several feet from the house. The body was then not cold. He started to carry it into the house, but laid it down and gave the alarm to the neighbors.

At 10 o'clock that morning an inquest was held. The county physician examined the body externally and found no cold. He started to carry it into the house, but laid it down and gave the alarm to the neighbors.
