WARM WELCOME AT NEWPORT NEWS

Senators Martin and Swanson Address Voters of Shipbuilding City.

JONES GOT HIS "DIVVY"

All Martin Has to Say as to "Yellow Dog" Fund Charge.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Newport News, Va., September 4.—Following nonpolitical addresses delivered at the Labor Day celebration at Buckroe Beach this afternoon, United States Senators Claude A. Swanson and Thomas S. Martin tonight addressed a fair sized crowd in this city and although it was an evening hour arrangement they were given a cordial welcome.

Senator Martin spoke first, and in an address lasting more than an hour repeated much of the speech he has been delivering since taking the stump several weeks ago. He made no defense or explanation of the Glasgow letters, and his only reference to the charges on this score made by Congressman Jones was that he had not only received "divvy" but had raised thousands of dollars for the redemption of the State from negro rule.

SPEAK AT BUCKROE BEACH

Senators Martin and Swanson at Labor Celebration.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Hampton, Va., September 4.—United States Senators Thomas S. Martin and Claude A. Swanson were the principal speakers at the Labor Day celebration at Buckroe Beach, this afternoon, held by the various labor organizations of Newport News, Hampton and the Virginia Peninsula. While neither of the Senators discussed politics, they were received with a great ovation from the immense crowd attending the celebration.

Mr. Swanson, however, touched on politics in defending his labor record as Governor, Congressman and Senator. Senator Martin spoke less than ten minutes and confined his remarks to praising the cause of labor, labor unions, and the rights of the laboring man. The day was highly successful from every standpoint of organized labor, and the crowd attending was one of the largest in years.

Senators Martin and Swanson arrived here at 11 o'clock, and were taken to the beach in a special car by the Labor Day committee. They were kept busy meeting the men in the morning, and at 7 o'clock they were the special guests at a luncheon in the Buckroe Beach Hotel. The speaking which was held from the right hand porch wing of the hotel, started at 2 o'clock.

ATTENTION, LABORING MEN!

Is Carter Glass your friend? He claims to be, but look at his record.

In the State Senate he voted against the "Employers' Liability Bill" in the Constitutional Convention he did not speak, he did not vote, he did not pair on this most important measure. Before he became a candidate for office and while he was EDITOR and owner of a newspaper he showed his enmity to organized labor by the following vicious editorial, written and published while the bill was pending in the Legislature to establish the Bureau of Labor:

"A bill to create a Bureau of Labor is under consideration in the Legislature and will probably be passed. Its only beneficiaries will be the men who will draw the salaries attached to it. Virginia laborers will derive no more benefit from it than Virginia farmers do from the State Agricultural and Railroad Bonds, but it will increase the expenditures, though it is to decrease them that the members of the Legislature were elected."—Alexandria Gazette.

Exactly so. It is proposed, in a spirit of miserable demagoguery, to demoralize Virginia by creating an impertinent, meddling official, at a high salary, to meddle with other people's business. The members of the Legislature who vote for any such vicious measure ought to be consigned to oblivion by their constituents. It has been the boast of the South that no such professional agitator as Sam Gompers and Clarence Powell have ever received countenance in this section, and it will be an evil day for Virginia when enough demagogues get in her legislative halls to discredit that boast as to this State. The cotton and woolen mill industries of New England are being broken down today because of restrictive legislation, enacted upon the demand of contented, satisfied walking delegates of the Gompers type, and the mills of the South are increasing and flourishing because of freedom from such detestable interference. As we have said before, Virginia is the only Southern State that has any restrictive statutes at all, and, consequently, the only Southern State that is not increasing in cotton mills. Instead of repealing the legislation we have, in order to enable our mills to compete with the mills of other Southern States, it is proposed to enact other miscellaneous laws. We sincerely hope and confidently predict that Governor Tyler will have the courage and good sense to strangle the life out of this proposed Bureau of Labor if it should pass the General Assembly.

enthusiastic, although Senator Swanson was cheered wildly as he advanced to speak and was interrupted several times during the address. Senator Swanson defended his record as Governor, declaring that he had done many things for the advancement of the laboring men and had used his efforts in behalf of organized labor as Congressman, Governor and Senator. He said he was responsible for the creation of the Virginia Bureau of Labor, the Health Department and many other measures that have proven of great advantage to the working classes.

"The proudest thing in my record as a public servant," declared the junior Senator, "is that I have voted more than 1,000 times for labor measures, and no one can question the vote on any measure that had the effect of advancing the laboring people." Senator Swanson also said he took credit for the circulating free libraries, and the increased number of high schools in Virginia, made during his administration.

Senator Martin's voice still is husky, and he found trouble in speaking for the short time. He said his record on labor matters was known to the laboring class, and declared that he had never found in his public life men fairer than those representing organized labor.

It had been arranged that both Senator Martin and Senator Swanson should speak to-night in Newport News, and each of the Senators saved his voice for the evening political gathering. The Rev. Herman G. Stevens, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Danville, delivered an address on "Child Labor in the Southern Cotton Mills," and John J. Aksey, of Newport News, spoke on "The Industrial Side of Life." Frank S. Lyons, president of the Newport News Central Labor Union, was the presiding officer and introduced the several speakers.

TIGERS VICTORS IN FIRST GAME

Shoemakers Get Second, When Brooks Outpitches Efrid in Great Battle.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Roanoke, Va., September 4.—The morning game was won by Roanoke in the last half of the ninth inning. It was a beautiful battle, and until the winning run came over the plate it was anybody's game. The features were the battling of Shaughnessy, Hooker and Morrison, and the holding of Krebs for the visitors, and catching of Ryan for the locals. A dropped fly ball by Shields in the eighth with two on and two out put Lynchburg ahead, but the Tigers tied the score in their half by timely hitting. In the last inning an error by Bruck, a single by Shaughnessy, and a free pass, purposely issued to McCauley, put three Tigers on the bases with one out. Starke lost control and walked Ryan, forcing Ginn home with the winning run.

In the afternoon Brooks was winner in a beautiful box battle with Efrid, the only run being scored by the first batter of the game, Morrison, who hit for three bases to deep left field and was scored by Stockdale's long fly to Gardin. Thereafter neither side could score, although Buck Hooker perished at the plate twice. The feature of the game, aside from the pitching, was the hitting and base running of Hooker, who got two two-baggers and two stolen bases, walking twice. Brooks was in fine form, and had the Tigers popping them up steadily. Efrid's pitching was of a high order, also, although not as good as Brooks'. The score:

Jones' Letter vs. Jones' Words

Mr. W. A. Jones has asserted that no money was needed to maintain white supremacy in Virginia in the early nineties. Why, then, the letter of which an exact reproduction is given below?

Addressed to Dr. W. J. Nowbill, of Irvington, Lancaster county, Virginia, who authorizes its use.

My dear Doctor I enclose you check for $100 which you will kindly use for your precinct, Kilmarnock White Stone. I knew it is not enough and the demand upon me elsewhere have been fearful. I have sent Northway a small amt ($25) which he thinks he can use. He cannot do anything, I imagine, with Oscar Morris. I told Oscar black type. I have attended to the C.H. & Littleton. I want to say in conclusion that I am using about all I can get but that if you should lock a few dollars with which good results could be obtained, I shall have to trust to your good judgment to use it for me, that is to advance it. Of course I cannot go very far. I go to camp & Middleburg tomorrow shall be on the road until the 7th. With best wishes, I am Yours sincerely W.A. Jones

The Oscar Morris referred to was a prominent local negro politician. Probably dispenser of the "yellow dog fund" among voters of his color in his neighborhood.

Mr. J. S. B. Thompson, in a telegram already widely published to Hon. H. D. Flood says that in 1898 Mr. Jones called at his home in Richmond and told him the needs of the Democratic party in the First District, Mr. Jones's District, and that Mr. Jones was instructed by Mr. Thompson to call on Chairman Elyson who would be put in a position to supply his needs.

Mr. Jones denies that he made any such solicitation. Chairman Elyson authorizes the statement made in a public speech by Hon. H. D. Flood in Fredericksburg, that Mr. Jones did call on him for funds and gave him a list of the names of persons in the First District to whom money should be sent. The money was sent out as requested by Mr. Jones.

If money was not needed for election purposes in the early nineties why did Mr. Jones send it out?

Was he distributing bounty among his constituents and giving out Christmas gifts in October?

In 1898 was he using Chairman Elyson and party funds to bestow charity in the First District?

Congressman Jones exact answer.

GOOBERS AND COLTS TO BATTLE FOR GLORY

Intercity Postseason Series Definitely Arranged, and Begins Thursday Afternoon Here—Both Expect Victory—Hogue to Oppose Bruckmiller in Opening Game.

Though the Virginia League season will officially end Wednesday, a series of games, which will prove even more interesting than the race for the pennant, has been arranged between Petersburg, the pennant winner, and Richmond for the baseball supremacy of the two cities.

All putted up over having finished at the top of the heap after a hard season's campaigning and after having overcome the big lead which the Tars gained early in the battle, the Goobers feel that they will settle once and for all the assertion frequently made that Richmond had the better team by playing the postseason games.

The first game is scheduled for Thursday afternoon at Broad Street Park beginning at 4:30. Joe Laughlin will have charge of the Petersburg team, while Steve Griffin will pilot the Colts. Henderson is scheduled to do the umpiring, while it is said that Bruckmiller and Hogue will be the opposing twirlers.

The second game will be played here Friday, with the final contest taking place in Petersburg on Saturday. These will be no joke contests. Griffin really believes that he will be the better team, and feels that had he been in charge all season Richmond and not Petersburg would be the possessor of championship honors.

On the other hand, Joe Laughlin States that were he not absolutely positive that his team could put it all over Richmond he would not have accepted the challenge, because he has all to lose and nothing to gain. Under these conditions fandom will be treated to some but not to any of the usual battles for baseball supremacy.

Collegians Defeated. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Culpeper, Va., September 4.—In a loosely played game in the local ball park to-day, the Richmond Collegians went down to defeat, 10 to 6. The feature of the game, if any could be recognized, was the batting of Rose for the Collegians and the routing of some of Culpeper's citizens for the visitors, which kept the grandstand amused.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Culpeper..... 10 6 5 Collegians..... 6 5 8 Batteries: Culpeper, Burgandine and Brown; Collegians, Hinckman, Trevillian and Cottrell. Umpire, Mr. Hoover.

Baltimore, Md., September 4.—The senior eight-oared shell race proved to be the premier event of the Middle States Regatta, which was decided over the one-mile Spring Gardens course here this afternoon. The New York Athletic Club, rowing in superb form, won the race with Vesper Boat Club, of Philadelphia; Ariel Rowing Club, of Baltimore, and Arundel Boat Club, of Baltimore, finishing in the order named. The New Yorkers' clock-like stroke carried them into the lead at the quarter-mile, and they finished in the excellent time of 5 minutes 28.25 seconds.

The next best event of the day, the junior four-oared gig race, also took place in the afternoon. It was won by the Arundel Boat Club, of Baltimore; Ariel Rowing Club, of Baltimore; second, the Fairmount Club, of Philadelphia, third, the boat, lapped each other at the finish line.

There were but two contestants in the intermediate eight-oared shell race, which was a magnificent contest between the Ariel Rowing Club and the Potomac Boat Club, of Washington, the victory going to the local crew. The feature of the forenoon events was the intermediate single scull race, which was won by Stanley B. Furstenau, of the Crescent Boat Club, of Philadelphia, in a brilliant finish.

A promising start was made by Geo. T. Lewis, of the Ariel Rowing Club, of this city, but the even stroke of the Philadelphia man in the final spurt made him the winner. Another interesting forenoon event was the senior double scull, which was won by Fred Fuesell and Fred Sheppard, of the Harlem Rowing Club, of New York, former national champions, who crossed the finish line with a great spurt ahead of Howard and Kronberger, of the Ariel Boat Club, of Baltimore.

LARNED NATIONAL TENNIS CHAMPION Newport, R. I., September 4.—William A. Larned, of Summit, N. J., is national lawn tennis champion for another year. This resulted to-day by Larned's decisive victory over Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, the young player who on Saturday last won the right to challenge the champion by defeating former Champion Beals C. Wright, of Boston, in the final round of the all comers' tournament. The scores to-day were 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. This is the fifth successive year that Larned has won the championship and the seventh time in the score of years that he has been a prominent figure in the courts. He has won two championship trophies, and now has one leg in a third cup.

Larned made the pace from the start. After McLoughlin had taken the first game, the champion began a dashing game driving McLoughlin back from the net to the base line, where the Californian seemed unable to get back his strokes, netting many times.
