Wildomar, Cal.—Says Mrs. F. S. Mills, of this place: "I had a mishap, which was followed by inflammation, and I suffered with intense pain for more than a week. I positively believe I would have died had it not been for Cardui, the woman's tonic. I don't think any one can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I never saw a remedy which strengthens one so rapidly. When I began to take Cardui I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles I was cured, and now I weigh 165 pounds. I am glad to recommend a medicine with so much merit. If womanly troubles have won you out, made you feel weak, sick and miserable, and able to see only the dark side of things, brighten up, by getting back your health. Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. This well-known woman's medicine has brought health and happiness to many thousands of weak and ailing women. Why not try it today? Get a bottle to-day at the drug store. NOTE.—The Cardui Home Treatment for Women consists of Cardui ($1), Theodor's Black-Draught (25c), and Veltro (50c), for the liver, and Cardui Antiseptic (50c). Woman's Happiness The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes.

NOW PLANNING NEXT YEAR'S FAIR

Board of Directors Pleased With the One Just Closed.

NEWS OF THE VALLEY Much Mystery Surrounds Sudden Death of Woman at Strasburg.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Winchester, Va., September 17.—Pleased and satisfied with the success of their forty-second annual exhibition, which closed on Friday evening, the board of directors of the Shenandoah Valley Agricultural Society, expect to begin work in the near future on plans to make the Winchester Fair one of the largest and most complete in this section of the country. The society owns ample grounds in the northern suburbs of Winchester, which are admirably adapted for fair purposes, and the race track is one of the best in the State. The unprecedented success of last week's fair was much more pronounced than was anticipated by the directors, and it is their intention to make larger increases in premiums and racing purses for the fair of 1912. The society has the entire Shenandoah and Cumberland valleys to draw from, as well as other sections of Virginia and adjoining States on the north, and the fact that it is the only agricultural fair between Roanoke and Hagerstown is another fact taken into consideration by the board.

A great deal of mystery is said to surround the tragic death of Mrs. Rebecca F. Seothern, the three-weeks bride of George W. Seothern, of Strasburg, which occurred a few days ago. It is generally believed that she committed suicide, but the nature of the drug she used has not been ascertained by the physicians who were called in after the young husband had returned home, after a brief absence, and found his bride dead. One of the physicians, however, expressed the opinion that she may have taken cyanide of potassium or a mixture of chemicals which her husband used in his photographic studio. Friends say the husband and wife were very devoted one to the other, and that when he left her to go out and take several photographs in the suburbs she appeared happy and contented. It was necessary to break through a window when the husband failed to get a response to his knocks on the door, and lying on the floor was his wife's dead body, partly disrobed.

Edward Knight and John Murnan, well-known young men about town, were arrested late yesterday afternoon by police officers taken to jail to await a hearing on the charge of selling whiskey without Federal State approval.

The derailing of a ponderous freight engine and nearly a dozen cars on the Southern Railway, between Delaplaine and Leeport, on Friday night interrupted passenger and freight traffic about six hours, and passengers who expected to reach Harrisonburg and vicinity early in the evening did not get there until after midnight, while those on a later train got home just in time to hear the town roosters crow at dawn.

B. F. Arthur, for many years a prominent business man of Union, S. C., has bought fifty-five acres of land a short distance west of Winchester from J. M. Steek for $18,000, and will take possession this week and prepare to plant an apple orchard. The tract also contains a large brick dwelling, which was for many years the home of the Tidball family.

Charles E. Duval, a well-known Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman, who was walking along the track while on duty near Cumberland a few days ago, was run down and killed by a passenger train, and his body was found by members of a freight crew nearby early in the evening did not get there until after midnight, while those on a later train got home just in time to hear the town roosters crow at dawn.

David Tyson and Fred Lineberger, of Frederick county, who were recently caught in the act of selling whiskey from a buggy on Saturday at a camp meeting at Ridgeway, W. Va., several preachers buying bottles of liquor in order to get evidence, entered a plea of guilty in the Circuit Court of Berkeley county, at Martinsburg, and were fined $75 piece, and sentenced to two months in the State penitentiary. It is expected that the two men as soon as they are released, and they will be charged with selling liquor without a government license.

Harry Carper, whose father, Albert Carper, lives in Harrisonburg, fell off a coal cart at White Post on Saturday afternoon and broke both arms. He was taken to the home of his uncle, and now it is necessary for members of the family to feed the lad and attend to his wants as if he were a helpless infant.

Peter Swenson, of West Bay, Wis., who contracted tuberculosis while in the government service at Washington, and who had been living with his wife at a camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains, near Blountmont, since early in the summer, died recently, and when a message was sent to relatives at West Bay advising them of his death, one was received from that place to the effect that his father had expired the day before from a stroke of paralysis. Melvin Swenson came and took the remains of his brother to Wisconsin, and a double funeral was held for father and son.

The real estate of George W. Garvin, the Boyce grain merchant, who was forced into bankruptcy recently because of his inability to make good on wheat he had bought from farmers near Blountmont, was high, has been sold to the Shenandoah Valley National Bank of Winchester for $7,900.

Rev. Julian S. Sibley, a former pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Winchester, and who for the past seven years has been pastor of the First Church, of Pensacola, Fla., has resigned to accept a call to a large church of that denomination in Louisville, Ky., and expects to begin his pastorate there about October 1.

At the annual meeting of the Blue Ridge Hunt Club, of Millwood, which numbers many wealthy people among its members, the following officers were elected: President, Henry Frost, Vice-President, O. B. Herriman, Master of Hounds, E. B. Jacobs, Secretary.

city license. Several arrests for selling liquor during the fair were made last week, and Norman Brooks, a jockey employed by Louisa Leth, of Loudoun county, was fined $55 in the police court, which was paid by his employer. A negro who claimed to be selling horse manure, but which proved to be an alcoholic mixture, also went to jail.

Three funeral services were held for Robert I. Polk, a native of Winchester, who died on July 12 in Philadelphia, where he had lived for many years. The first was conducted two days after his death, the second when his body was cremated, and the third and final service was read here a few days ago by Rev. W. D. Smith, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, when the ashes of Mr. Polk were interred in Mount Airy Cemetery. The grave of his father, the late Robert I. Polk, was opened, and the small oak box containing the ashes was placed therein and the cavity covered with earth. His father was for many years organist of Christ Church.

Hog cholera has broken out and has become almost an epidemic in several sections of Jefferson county, and measures are about to be taken to prevent it spreading into Frederick county. Charles D. Wyson, living near Shepherds town, has already lost over $1,000 worth of hogs, and a number of others have had hogs to die from the disease.

A wrecking crew has been engaged for several days clearing away what was left of several box cars loaded with freight and oats, two cabooses and a freight engine at Middletown, twelve miles south of Winchester, which were smashed and partly buried a few days ago, when the engine of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad work train crashed into the rear end of a freight car on a siding. The work train engine of the engine was on its left side, and a number of workmen were injured, but none fatally. The engine man, however, stuck to his post and escaped through a window of the cab without a scratch.

James A. Seabright, whose father, the late James W. Seabright, was a prominent Winchester contractor, died several days ago in a sanatorium in New York, where he had been living for a number of years. He was thirty-one years old and is survived by his several brothers and sisters. His funeral took place from the First Baptist Church this afternoon and was attended by the Odd-Fellows, Elks and Friendship Fire Company, with which he was affiliated.

A cold storage plant, with a capacity of about 70,000 barrels of fruit, has practically been completed in Winchester for the C. I. Robinson Ice Company, which also has a 12,000-barrel plant and ice factory at Charlestown. The Winchester plant is one of the largest in this section, and many apple growers will store some of their fruit there this fall and sell it during the winter season as the demand comes for fancy fruit at higher prices than those prevailing at this season.

USES OLD LAMP TO CUT THROAT Traveling Salesman Makes Desperate Effort to End His Own Life. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Covington, Va., September 17.—W. R. Driscoll, aged forty, of Beckley, W. Va., made a desperate attempt to take his own life here at noon to-day in the basement of the Allegheny Hotel. He found an old glass lamp, which he broke; then taking a piece of the glass, he cut his throat, severing the windpipe. He was found unconscious in a pool of blood, by Proprietor O'Gara, who had heard the noise made by breaking the lamp, and went to investigate. Dr. J. W. Wallace was called and took several stitches in the windpipe and dressed the wound. Driscoll was then taken to a hospital at Clifton Forge by his brother, who lives there, and happened to be in town at the time the act was committed. There is slight hope for his recovery. Driscoll was a traveling salesman for the Champion Refining Company, of Cleveland, O., and had come here Friday from Hinton, W. Va. No cause can be ascribed for the act. His wife and four children live at Beckley, W. Va., one brother at Prince W. Va., and his father and two sisters at Hot Springs. Driscoll formerly lived here and was well known and respected.
