WRIGHT MACHINE OF GLIDER TYPE

Manteo, N. C., October 13.—Orville Wright's newest flying machine arrived this afternoon at the combination hangar and cottage on the sands of Kill Devil, in which Mr. Wright and his guests are spending what the former declares is merely a vacation. The machine was landed from a steamer at Collington Bay, near Kitty Hawk station, early this morning, and was brought on to the Wright camp in a box car. About six hours work will assemble and put it in shape for operation, and Mr. Wright says there will be a flight tomorrow if there is a twenty or twenty-five mile breeze blowing. Reports that the new flyer is to be a world sturrier are belied by Orville Wright. He says he came South to spend a vacation, and at the same time try out his latest machine, which is of the "glider" type, and which he hopes will glide considerably farther than any flyer yet invented. He and his friends, he declares, are out chiefly for recreation.

ATTORNEYS MAKE STUBBORN FIGHT

(Continued From First Page.) Horton, in his address, reassured the court. "I don't think the court cares to consider the possible action of a court of review," interrupted Judge Bordwell, and all counsel seemed to agree. McNamara throughout the afternoon sat against the rail, clasping his knees with his hands and looking steadily at his counsel. There will be a two hours' session of court to-morrow.

VALEDICTORIAN ELECTED.

Washington and Lee Students Honor Thomas McL. Glasgow. Lexington, Va., October 13.—Last Wednesday afternoon the senior classes of the academic and engineering departments of Washington and Lee University met in joint session and elected Thomas McL. Glasgow, of Lexington, valedictorian of this year's graduating class. Mr. Glasgow is a war athlete in the university, having rowed on the Harry Lee Boat Club for two years. He played guard on the basketball team for of the year, and has been a member of the varsity team for three years. In addition to his connection with athletics, Mr. Glasgow has been prominently identified with literary work since his entrance to the university. He represented Washington and Lee in a joint debate with John Hopkins University in 1908. He is a fourth year man, and besides being eminently qualified, is one of the most representative men in college to fill the position with which he has been honored.

NOVELIST WISTER DIES IN WYOMING

Special Train Fails to Get Wife to Bedside Before End Comes.

Cleveland, O., October 13.—Owen Wister, the novelist, died in Wyoming to-day while his wife was rushing from Erie in a special train to his bedside. Although the train averaged a mile a minute, death was the speedier and won the race.

The Wisters' home was in Philadelphia. Mrs. Wister was attending the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Erie when she received news of her husband's sudden illness.

Mr. Wister was chiefly known as the author of "The Virginian," a tale of ranch life in Wyoming. He was born in Philadelphia in 1861, and graduated from Harvard in 1882. His first novel appeared in 1892, and from that time up to his death he issued a constant stream of novels, magazine articles and verse.

The life on the Western prairies appealed to him strongly, and he was one of the most popular exponents of the vanishing cowboy.

RAIN IS HEAVIEST IN FIFTY YEARS

Seven Persons Killed and Great Property Damage Caused by Storm in Mexico.

Tucson, Ariz., October 13.—Seven persons are reported dead in Guaymas and vicinity as property damage estimated at $500,000 incurred as a result of heavy rainfall and wind that visited the west coast of Mexico last Tuesday afternoon. A number of other persons are reported dead at Ortiz, thirty miles north of Guaymas, but none of those deaths nor those reported at Guaymas are officially confirmed.

The rainfall that swept Guaymas and Sonora west coast was the heaviest in fifty years. The only storm approaching it in intensity was that of 1869. The rainfall in Guaymas and vicinity was about three inches, while judging from the amount of water coming down into the bay from the north and east, it was estimated that the rainfall in the foothills was between twenty and thirty inches.

On the west end of the bay a number of small craft went ashore. The Mexican schooner Progreso went down in the entrance of Guaymas harbor.

The loss of Guaymas property owners is large. F. J. Archer, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific Railway of Mexico, states the damage will exceed $300,000. At Santa Rosalia the mines of the Belco Copper Company were flooded. The people there who escaped the destruction wrought by the floods now face a shortage of water and possibly of food supplies.

PROBE WILL BE THOROUGH

Alleged Absence of Legislators in Connection With Stephenson's Election.

Milwaukee, Wis., October 13.—Investigations were made to-day at the senatorial investigation of Senator Isaac Stephenson's election that progress was intended to go thoroughly into the charges of bribery as related to the absence of certain members of the Wisconsin Legislature on March 4, 1909, when the Senator was elected. The charge was made in a previous legislative inquiry by Senator Stephenson was elected after a five-week deadlock, and then only after three Democratic Assemblies had absented themselves, thus giving Stephenson a majority. The intention of the committee to go into the subject was shown when Senator Heyburn, the chairman, quoted State Senator Domachewski as having said he had been told "it would be worth his while" to remain away from the Legislature. Mr. Domachewski, an Assemblyman, was asked whether he had heard Domachewski make that remark in the Assembly. He replied that he had not, but it was indicated the committee intended to probe the subject further through other witnesses. All the witnesses said they had never heard of Senator Stephenson's money being used for corrupt purposes.

Digs Way Out of Jail.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Harrisonburg, Va., October 13.—Fred A. W. Hodding, of Charleston, a prisoner here, dug his way out of jail by picking the mortar from the bricks in the wall and making a hole big enough to crawl through. He is charged with stealing a suit case at the Kavanaugh Hotel. He went under several aliases, and kept the police guessing by playing insane for several weeks. He is wanted in Lynchburg.

MEETS ROANOKE FOR FIRST TIME

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Wake Forest, N. C., October 13.—Though somewhat crippled, the varsity football team is in good condition for its game with Roanoke College on the home grounds to-morrow afternoon. The Roanoke game is a new one on the schedule, and it is not known what kind of team it will have, but if Wake Forest does not win, there will be a sorely disappointed student body. Coach Thompson has been devoting most of his time to the interference of the backs this week, and a notable improvement is expected over the game with the university last Saturday. But for a few inexcusable fumbles by Wake Forest, the score would have been smaller. The team will present a slightly different appearance from any previous game. The backfield will be the lightest ever seen here, the average being 153. Utley, at quarter, will be the heaviest man in the back field, his weight being 160 pounds. Savage will play full, with Billings, Faucette W., and Singletary as halves. Neither of these men weighs over 150 pounds. It has not definitely been decided who will play ends. Holding, W. R., may be out on account of injuries received last Saturday. The other ends are Joyner, Captain Betts and Faucette, H. Gattiss has been shifted to his regular place at tackle, as no other man was capable of filling the gap made by the loss of Parker, who will be out of the game for several weeks on account of a bad knee received at Chapel Hill. As a halfback, Gattiss was excellent on secondary defense, but since Billings' recovery and Parker's loss, Catch Thompson considered the team

Remarkable Christmas Present

Among the curious Christmas presents of this year will be one for a man of national reputation, which has been all year in the making. Way last January the present was decided upon, and a friend of the prominent gentleman requested the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau, of New York, to watch every paper in America and to take up every item which appeared concerning the man. The clipping bureau people followed instructions, and now present the history of one year in the life of this special man. The history ends just after election, and the 20,843 newspaper items found include everything from a three-line editorial mention to full-page illustrated stories. These have been mounted on 3,200 great sheets of Irish linen paper and bound into three massive volumes. At the head of each item is the name and date of paper clipped from, this information having been put in with a book typewriter. The words thus inserted amount to 153,252. In actual time, a very strict record of which has been kept, the work has required sixty-four working days throughout the year, and has kept in employment during that time thirty people as readers, clippers, sorters, mounters and binders. Every newspaper of importance is represented. This is merely a specimen of some of the unique orders which get into the Burrelle Bureau, for the extent of which clippings are used by individuals and by business concerns seems to be remarkable. "There are many people in private as well as in public life who need press clippings and don't know it. It might be well for them to look up this man Burrelle, who is said to be so well known that a letter simply addressed "Burrelle, New York," will reach him with no delay.
