CONVICTS NEEDED ON STATE'S ROADS

Highway Commission at Annual Meeting Decides on Advanced Legislation.

REQUIRE UPKEEP OF ROADS

Board of Education Meets to Morrow—Demand for Cholera Serum.

Unqualified indorsement of the proposition to use all available convict labor on the public roads of Virginia was given yesterday at the annual meeting of the State Highway Commission, held at its offices in the State Library building. Three of the four members were present: Dr. William M. Thornton, dean of the engineering department of the University of Virginia; Colonel T. A. Jones, professor of civil engineering of the Virginia Military Institute; and State Highway Commissioner P. St. Julien Wilson.

It developed that every convict who can be safely worked on the roads can be used. The demands far exceed the supply. If the men could be secured, the force now on the roads could be doubled by January 1, and this would depopulate the penitentiary of those strong enough and well behaved enough to be trusted.

Continue Money Aid. There is no idea of abolition of State money aid to counties, but to let this continue, and give the localities their choice as far as possible. It is a question which pays the best, depending largely upon conditions in the counties affected.

Another point which the Highway Commission decided to stress before the Legislature was some measure requiring those counties which use State money or convicts to make provision for keeping up the roads. It is not considered good policy to encourage a large amount of road building unless from the very beginning there is considered the matter of repairs. Otherwise there must be much waste. Most of the time of the commission was occupied in consideration of the annual report to the Governor, which was approved.

TEACHING CERTIFICATES

Education Board Ready to Recognize Randolph-Macon Woman's College. Apparently there was no particular significance in the action of the Virginia Methodist Conference in asking the State Board of Education to issue teachers' certificates to graduates of Randolph-Macon Woman's College. The board intended to do it any way at the first opportunity. As a matter of fact, this has been practically the position of the school examiners for some time.

The work done by this Lynchburg school has always been regarded as of great value by the State authorities. A meeting of the State Board of Education will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, when this matter may or may not come up.

Saves Many Hogs.

It is estimated by the Department of Agriculture that fully $10,000 worth of hog meat has been saved during the past year by the distribution of cholera serum. The demand is constantly increasing, and it is expected that it will continue as more and more people learn of its results. Commissioner Kolner knows of no case of failure when used, as intended, as a preventive and not as a cure.

Support Ten-Hour Law.

Numerous indorsements from organized labor bodies of the policy of the State Bureau of Labor in prosecuting violators of the ten-hour law are reaching Commissioner James V. Doherty.

Instead of considering an amendment which would weaken the law, the tendency is to demand a stricter application, so that there may be no doubt as to its relation to workshops, as also that it may be extended to employees of mercantile establishments.

Value of Carbonate of Lime.

Adding his testimony to the agitation for ground limestone upon which legislation is to be demanded, Commissioner Kolner, in his newly issued bulletin on soil improvement, insists that when carbonate of lime can be had, either in ground shells or ground limestone, there can be no doubt that it is better than caustic lime, provided it can be bought at a reasonable price.

He quotes Director Patterson, of the Maryland Experiment Station, who said: "It will be noted that the car-

SPURLOCK ACQUITTED.

Coroner's Jury Declines Shooting of Johnson Accidental. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] (Etna Mills, Va., November 21.—A coroner's jury inquest was held over the body of Albert Johnson, who was shot on the morning of November 6 and died on the morning of November 20, by June Spurlock, while hunting. The jury brought in a verdict that the shooting was accidental.

Johnson had the warrant gotten out before he died. Spurlock accidentally shot Johnson, who loaded his gun and coolly shot Spurlock, striking him on the right hip.

STEEL TRUST MEN PUZZLE OFFICIALS

Suggested That They Want to Be Forced to Testify Before Committee. Washington, D. C., November 21.—What is the motive of counsel for the steel trust in objecting to a continuance of the hearing before the House of Representatives Investigating Committee? This is the question in official Washington to-day.

Are the steel trust officials, it is asked, trying to strengthen their plea of immunity from criminal prosecution given them by the law by bringing about a condition where the House

IMMUNITY FROM PROSECUTION.

It is generally believed that immunity from criminal prosecution would be given to every steel trust official for doings disclosed to the House committee, whether he was compelled to appear before the committee and was sworn or not.

When United States Judge Humphrey gave the beef trust officials their immunity "dip" in 1906, he said that a subpoena and an oath were not necessary to insure the defendants a pardon for everything they had confessed to Commissioner of Corporations Garfield. And when Congress, in 1906, lacked on a requirement for a subpoena and an oath, the requirement was not made applicable to investigations by committees of Congress.

Consequently, the Humphrey decision, which has never been interfered with, except in so far as the 1906 act is concerned, applies, it is thought, to investigations by committees of Congress whether the witnesses have been subpoenaed and sworn or not.

Are Safe in Testifying. Moreover, the Humphrey decision gives immunity to trust officials not only for unlawful acts confessed in oral testimony, but also for anything disclosed by their papers and records. That part of section 555, therefore, which provides that immunity shall not be given for anything disclosed by an official paper or record, would not hold, in view of Judge Humphrey's decision. Nor, indeed, does it agree, it is said, with decisions by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The steel trust people can therefore appear and testify before the Stanley committee and produce their records, with no fear whatever of criminal prosecution therefor. No summons, no oath, no compulsion is needed to get such immunity.

From only criminal prosecution, however, is the immunity given. The present equity suit to break up the steel trust is not affected. The government is at perfect liberty to make us of all the testimony of the steel trust officials and the data in their books and papers that have been spread before the House committee.

Naturally, therefore, the steel trust officials do not want to continue to pile up before the Stanley investigating committee ammunition that the government can use in its dissolution suit.

The resolution of the House of Representatives of May, 1911, directed the steel trust investigating committee to find out whether there have occurred violations of law by the steel trust, "which have not been confessed by the executive officers of the government." Committee Not Excused.

Perhaps the steel trust people feel that inasmuch as the government is now proceeding against them in a civil suit, this proceeding is equivalent to such "prosecution" as will make further action by the House committee unnecessary. The resolution does not, however, excuse the committee from a continuance of the duty of investigating

HETTY GREEN, SEVENTY-SIX

Noted Woman Financier Too Busy to Celebrate Anniversary. New York, November 21.—76-day Mrs. Hetty Green's seventy-sixth birthday anniversary. She declared herself too busy to celebrate and said that a birthday was as good as any other day for hard work at her desk in her Broadway office.

"Yes, I'm seventy-six and proud of it," she remarked brightly. "Still young and still happy." Talking with friends, she said that she intended to continue in active business at least another decade.

Mrs. Green has stopped riding in the street cars. Her son, Colonel Edward H. R. Green, has a big sixty-horsepower automobile, in which Mrs. Green rides down to her office at 3 o'clock every morning and the chauffeur calls for her at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

She still does her marketing, however, and bright and early every morning she takes her market basket and goes forth to strike a bargain with the butcher.

JUDGE KNAPP FEARS TOO MUCH REGULATION

Some Structure Is in Danger of Breaking Under Its Own Weight. Philadelphia, Pa., November 21.—Martin A. Knapp, presiding justice of the United States Court of Commerce, on his coming lecture on the regulation of commerce at the University of Pennsylvania yesterday uttered a warning that the legislation to regulate commerce has developed such a number of complicated features "there is grave danger of its breaking down under the weight of the task imposed upon it."

He spoke of the many complex phases of the power of regulating the railroads of the country and their traffic, which have recently been brought to light in the long and short haul case, as well as other important freight rate controversies, and declared that if the demands of public sentiment increased any further the burden imposed upon those to whom the power of adjusting the subject has been given there is a possibility that the same may be found to be totally inadequate to meeting the purposes for which it was created.

He advocated legislation as affecting the carriers by the creation of power adequate to prevent abuses, but urged that these laws be of a character that would preserve the private enterprise which is responsible for the system of railroads now enjoyed by the country.

SURE DEATH TO BURGLARS

Two English Bloodhounds Installed on Greenwich, Conn. November 21.—Burglars will have little chance of escaping with their lives if they ply their trade in the vicinity of the Rockefeller estate here. Two imported English bloodhounds, each weighing 210 pounds, have been installed there for the protection of the house.

In case there are repetitions of the recent burglaries in Greenwich, the hounds will be lent to the police and put on the trail of the burglars. The dogs are said to be the only imported specimens of this breed in America. They are double the size of Southern bloodhounds and have the reputation of being able to track a person through a crowded city once they take the scent.
