Love-Story.
One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at noon last Thursday at Varina, on the James, when Miss Lucy Jane Stoneman became the bride of James Augustus Lovett, of this city. A boat chartered for the occasion took about fifty guests from Richmond.

The house was decorated with daisies, ferns and sweet peas. The south parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was covered entirely in white, and the walls were hung with trailing vines and improved altar was arranged between the windows with a background of ferns and backed with crystal candelabra. An aisle was formed in the room by small white pedestals twined with ferns and connected by loops of tulle. At the altar, the bride was formed with ribbons in the north parlor, and was held by Misses Marion and Katharine Stoneman, and Garland and Austin Snyder.

To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, rendered by Mrs. S. Frazier Snyder, of Richmond, the bride party came down the winding staircase, led by Rev. Martin Johnson, son of Powhatan county followed by four brides of bride dressed in white with pink and blue ribbons and carrying baskets of sweet peas and ferns tied with tulle to match their ribbons. These were Misses Edith, Elsie, Virginia, Mary Garland, and Lillian Stoneman. Little Miriam Snyder carried the ring in a tiny basket. Mrs. Thomas Garland Snyder, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore pink chiffon draped over pink satin tulle, and carried pink roses. The bride entered with the groom and was exquisitely gowned in white Japanese embroidered crepe with a fall of Duchess lace over the shoulders. Her tulle veil was caught with lilies of the valley, and she carried a white prayer book and a nosegay of the same flowers. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Lovett left in an automobile for Richmond, where they took the train for an extended Northern trip.

Mr. Lovett is connected with the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway, and his friends on the couple here are glad to know they will make their home in Richmond.

The house guests at the wedding were Misses Huldah and Elizabeth Stoneman, of Cleveland, O.; Miss Susie Hodge, of Columbia, Md.; T. G. Snyder, and Miss Jennie Hughes, of Richmond; Philip Stoneman and the Misses Stoneman, of the Byrd Farm, in Goodland County.

SOVEREIGN IS NOT REGARDED AS MINOR
Special Provision for Exercise of Regal Authority by Act of Parliament.

BY JA. MARQUESE DE FONTENAY.
WITH THE PRINCE OF WALES'S AT-TACHMENT of his majority, the measure enacted by Parliament in June, 1910, providing that in the event of the King's decease and the succession of the heir while under the age of eighteen, Queen Mary should become Regent during his minority, loses most of its importance. It will remain in force, however, with reference to her younger children should the Prince of Wales predecease his father.

The news from Munich that Duke Siegfried of Bavaria has become "so violently insane as to render necessary his transfer from the Castle of Hohenstein, where he has been confined for some years past, to the private sanitarium of New Frieden-sheim, near the capital, serves to recall the fact that he was at one time engaged to Archduchess Maria Annunziata of Austria. She is the half-sister of her husband, Emperor Francis Ferdinand, and by order of the Emperor, has filled the place and duties of the murdered Empress. When Archduchess Marie-Josepha, mother of the second heir to the crown was away, her breaking off of the engagement on the very eve of the wedding, is believed to have contributed in no small degree to the failure of his reason. Maria Annunziata was so distressed, first at having to terminate the engagement, and then by the sudden death of her fiancé, that she seemed determined to take her own life. The Emperor, however, would not permit her to become a nun, pointing out to her that it would be contrary to the interests of the dynasty, and that she could accomplish just as much good, and even more, as Abbess of the Convent of Noble Ladies of the Brudershof, near the city of Vienna.

STABBED TO DEATH BY HIS BROTHER

Clifton Betts Dies From Wound Which Is Accidentally Inflicted.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., June 23.—Master Lovene Betts, fifteen years old, killed his brother, Clifton Betts, twenty years old, this afternoon. The killing occurred in the home of the parents of the boys, Calvin J. Betts, on Boylan street in the city. Clifton, the elder brother was trying to assist his father in bed when the younger brother interferred and stabbed his brother to the heart. However, the officers now discredit the report, and are inclined to accept the statement of the boy to the effect that he was sitting on a couch in the hall when his older brother came up and began sufficing with him, trying to hold him down on the couch. At that time, except for the father, who was upstairs, and the mother, who was at work in the kitchen and dining room.

Levene has gone to a neighbor's house when the officers arrived, and another brother, who had come in went after him and turned him in. The officers, he is a bright active lad in shirtwaist and knee breeches, barefooted with no suggestion of viciousness in his face. He is a newsboy, and the father is a painter. The boy is held in the city prison, pending preliminary examination.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BARACA UNION

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., June 23.—The annual convention of the world-wide Baraca Philanthropic Society opened last night with a grand reception in Armory Hall. Between 1,000 and 1,200 delegates were in attendance, and a great number of local people took part in the exercises, and a chorus of several hundred made the building roar with melody. Welcoming speeches were made by Mayor Riddick and officers of the local unions, which were responded to by Marshall A. Hudson, founder of the Baraca movement.

The hall presented an animated scene when the convention was called to order by Chairman Woodhouse, president of the Norfolk union. The balconies were filled with spectators, while the delegates wearing white and blue badges occupied the main auditorium.

On Monday business sessions will be held. Two thousand delegates are expected to be here by Monday. Today the visitors attended the various Bible class meetings of the Sunday school, and at 11 o'clock prominent Baraca workers spoke in most of the pulpits of the city.

The convention address was delivered at the Colonial Theatre at 3 o'clock by Rev. John Carson, D. D., moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

During the week the delegates and other visitors will be offered amusement and entertainment in the shape of trips to Cap Henry and Virginia Beach on Monday afternoon, to Old Point Comfort on Tuesday afternoon, and to the naval station at St. Helena, where they will witness a sham battle, Wednesday afternoon.

James E. Woodhouse is president of the Baraca Union, and Miss Bertha Cannon president of the Philanthropic Union, of Norfolk. The committee having charge of the arrangements for the convention is composed of James E. Woodhouse, chairman; Mrs. L. J. Stanton, vice-chairman; G. Osborne Reid, secretary; A. P. Herd, treasurer; Rev. W. A. Smith, program; B. G. Wood, accommodations; Palmer H. Hardy, publicity; T. B. Miller, social; B. S. Holland, music; Oliver Wynne, press; A. H. Sterling, outdoor service; T. T. Osborne, information; J. B. Walker, decorations; Peter Wright, meetings; places; R. L. Britt, registration; John P. Small, caption; C. N. Bailey, Sunday speakers; G. Harris Doyle, transportation.

A crowd that filled the Colonial Theatre to the utmost applauded three minutes after the Rev. John Fleming Carson, D. D., of New York, moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, had delivered the address of the convention. He read an extract from one of Mr. Carson's letters and addressed to say the Nebraska "four square" ever on the side of city religious righteousness.

When the speaker had subsided, Dr. Carson said he was sorry his was not the Baltimore convention. Only the speaker had subsided, free, declared the speaker to every one to say that the gathering here was of more importance than the convention in Chicago, and that he held in Baltimore. He emphasized the importance of studying the Bible and applying its teaching to every day life.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., June 23.—The British steamer "Vivian," which spent five days on Peble Shoals, near False Cape, and which was only floated yesterday, sailed to-day for Glasgow.

The ship came to Norfolk to have her bottom examined by the city surveyor, but found no damage. The "Vivian" was loaded with lumber, but part of her cargo was jettisoned before she could be floated.
