

ALLEN-HUNTERS WANT STATE PAY

Baldwin Detectives Have No Information as to Whereabouts of Fugitives.

FARMER CONVICTED OF ARSON

Given Three Years in Penitentiary—Druggist Gets His License Back.

W. G. Baldwin, of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency, which has for four months been trying to catch Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, the fugitive members of the family which shot up the Carroll Circuit Court on March 14, is in the city for a settlement of his accounts. Mr. Baldwin failed to see the Governor yesterday, because of the executive's absence from the city, and will take up business matters with him to-day.

The cost of the man-hunt has not been divulged by the Governor, and is unknown. Reports have made it reach far into the thousands, aside from the payment of the bounty for the capture of the men now in custody. Within an hour or two after the murders, the detective agency was retained to catch the murderers. A party started at once for Hillsville, but could not reach there until early the next morning, when Floyd Allen and Victor Allen were taken from the hotel, where the elder man lay wounded, and were placed in arrest.

At Work in Mountains.

For weeks following detective parties scoured the mountains looking for the fugitives, raving hundreds of hours, watching the movements of every individual, searching caves, using all the arts of the man-hunter. Blases of operation were established, from which the men worked. Sidna Edwards surrendered first. Claude Allen was captured at the point of a rifle and Fred Allen was taken at his father's home, where he had returned, starving and ill.

But Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards have evaded every effort but forth looking to their capture, and are still at large. Gradually the force of detectives, at first numbering nearly thirty, was reduced, and for weeks at a time not one of them would be in Carroll county. Much information received from some source, two or three would return and hunt down the clue. The fugitives have been reported from every quarter of the United States, yet a very large portion of the population of Carroll believes they are still in the county and have never left it. Only a day or two ago the detective agency was informed by letter that Sidna Allen had spent the preceding two weeks in a certain house. The information came to naught.

It is believed that the cost to the State so far is between $10,000 and $15,000.

WEALTHY CONVICT

Pittsylvania Farmer, Given Three Years in Prison for Arson.

Prosecution by detectives of the Bureau of Prisons of U. B. Simpson, a wealthy farmer of Pittsylvania county, has resulted in his conviction for arson. The jury returned a verdict of three years in the penitentiary. Because of the prominence of the prisoner, the case has attracted a great deal of interest in Pittsylvania.

The property destroyed was Gritt Schoolhouse, near Hart, Va., which was burned on April 11, 1911. Commissioner Butler sent a detective to the scene, and suspicion attached to Simpson because of his anger that the schoolhouse was removed from his neighborhood a distance of about three miles. He was arrested in May, 1911, and has since been out on bail, the case being continued from time to time.

For $25 here's a suit that would have made him throb with the vibrations of envy, and for $15 a better costume than he ever owned. He was a great "dresser," too.

PEACE OFFERING TO CHAMP CLARK

Bryan Would Like to See "Highest Sort of Happiness Enter His Life."

Lincoln, Neb., July 19.—William J. Bryan, in a Communion editorial extending the olive branch to Champ Clark, says:

"All Democratic candidates for Congress in the Ninth Missouri District have withdrawn in order that Champ Clark may have an uncontented field. This gracious act will meet with the approbation of men of all parties. Unquestionably, Mr. Clark met with a great disappointment at Baltimore, and political disappointments are often very keen. They cut to the very quick the unsuccessful candidate and they press most heavily upon those nearest and dearest to him.

"But such things are to be classed among the fortunes of war, and men of experience and judgment may sweep them aside as altogether inconsequential. Surely Mr. Clark will find consolation in the assurance of affection that come from his old-time neighbors and the grateful act of the ambitious men of his district, who would probably be glad of the opportunity to serve a term or two in Congress.

"Mr. Bryan claims a piece among those who are related by these incidents, and who would be glad to see the highest sort of happiness enter the life of Champ Clark and the life of every one he loves."

PROTEST AGAINST OUTRAGES IN PERU

Under the rules of the impeachment court, a roll call was necessary on the motion to extend the time to July 29, Senator Bailey urged that no time could be saved by requiring an answer July 21 or the next three days were to be devoted by the Senate to tariff discussion.

"I am not willing," he added, "to compel the counsel for the accused to make answer before he says he can be ready. I do not believe the saving of three days can warrant us in forcing the answer."

Senator Lodge then suggested Monday, July 23, as the day of answer. Mr. Clayton also opposed this, as too long a time.

"If the answer in this case were purely formal, we could make it now," by saying "Not guilty," interrupted Attorney Wortham, "but the practice has been to answer fully, and that requires time."

JUDGE ROBERT W. ARCHBALD.

BAILEY WILL URGE IMMEDIATE TRIAL

many things in the charges had come as a surprise, both to Judge Archbald and himself. He said the time proposed in which Judge Archbald should answer was shorter than usually given.

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota proposed to extend the time to July 21.

Representative Clayton said this postponement would not be doing justice to the views of the House, or of the House managers. He insisted, for the managers, upon an answer July 21.

Owing to an agreement to vote on tariff bills July 25, 26 and 27, none of these days could be offered as a compromise.

Senator Lodge then suggested Monday, July 23, as the day of answer. Mr. Clayton also opposed this, as too long a time.

COUPLE RESTORED TO ROYAL FAVOR

Recent Happenings Point to Reconciliation of the Marboroughs.

London, July 19.—The efforts to effect a reconciliation between the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough (Consuelo Vanderbilt), who have been living apart for the last six years, are being renewed by English friends of the duke, and it is understood that considerable hope is entertained that the couple may be brought together, though the American family of the duchess is believed to be as strongly opposed as ever to a reunion. The fact that both the duke and the duchess recently have been received by the King and Queen lends color to the belief that there will be a reconciliation in the near future, while it seems that special pressure is being brought to bear on the duchess by the royal family.

The duchess, who crossed the Channel to visit the King and Queen, refused to allow either of them to be received at court, and care always was taken to have neither of them present at functions where Their Majesties were in attendance. On one occasion, near the end of the late King's reign, the Duke of Marlborough was present at a function of the Order of the Garter at Windsor, but he was noticeably absent from the tea given afterward by the King for the members of the order.

The pressing and Queen have followed the example of King Edward, and it has been understood that neither the Duke nor the Duchess of Marlborough could expect the royal favor again until there was a reconciliation. It is interesting to note that the Duchess of Marlborough was present at the last court this season, while at the dinner given at Londonderry House on Tuesday night by the Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry, at which the King and Queen were present.

The Duchess of Marlborough, the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the Duchess of Roxburgh (M. G. G. G.), the Marquis and Marchioness of Salisbury, the Marquis and Marchioness of Ormonde and the Marquis and Marchioness of Stafford.

The Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry enjoy the particular favor of the King and Queen, and the marchioness also is a warm friend of the Duke of Marlborough. No one would have ventured to ask the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough to meet the King and Queen without the permission of Their Majesties, and when they departed separately, but the necessary opportunity was afforded for a meeting and for the friendly exchange of views which has been so much sought for by the duke's friends.

Yesterday afternoon the Duchess of Marlborough was present at the royal garden party at Windsor, and as the duke was not one of the guests, this may be interpreted to mean that the King and Queen are bringing further pressure to bear to effect a reconciliation between the duke and the duchess. It is believed that the duchess already has been achieved and that the duke and duchess have been restored to royal favor, while the final result of the negotiation of an agreement will be attained with as little publicity and notoriety as possible.

The Alexandria Will Be Withdrawn From Service on July 27.

Alexandria, Va., July 19.—The ferry steamer Alexandria, operated between this city and Lynchburg, and the tugboat, the latter on the opposite side of the river, by the Alexandria-Washington Ferry Company, has been withdrawn from the service July 27 next, following the last trip on that afternoon.

The boat came here in March, 1911, and has not made a great success financially. It is said.

Bonds in the sum of $10,000 were subscribed by local merchants, and three bonds having a par value of $100 each, bearing interest at 5 per cent, have been bought up recently, and the prices paid varied from $50 to $75, it is said.

The principal revenue of the ferry was the steel plant, which paid the company a bonus for stopping at its plant. This contract will be canceled on July 27, and the company will be forced to use a trolley line, just erected from Anacosta, D. C., to the plant of the concern, which is on the Maryland side of the river.

A number of Alexandrians employed at the Washington Navy Yard will be more affected than any other persons it is said. This boat will be operated hereafter at some place in Maryland, it is understood.

FIRST BUILDING FOR NEW SCHOOL

Contract Awarded for Structure to Cost More Than $100,000.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., July 19.—The building committee of the board of visitors of the Radford State Normal and Industrial School, to be established at Radford, in Montgomery county, has let the contract for the erection of the first building for the new school. This will be known as the Administration Building, and will be erected on the beautiful site overlooking the town of Radford, which was purchased by the board a year or more ago.

The Administration Building will cost, including heating plant and electric wiring, more than $100,000. This building, designed by one of the most experienced architects in the State, will, it is said, be a model of architectural grace and beauty, and will easily be one of the finest structures of its kind in the South.

The building committee, which has the work in charge, is composed of W. T. Baldwin, W. D. Smith, L. Scherer and J. P. Jones. This committee met in Richmond this week and awarded the contract for the erection of this building to J. C. Curtis, of Danahigh. Professor W. D. Smith, a member of the committee, was here Thursday en route to his home at Gate City, after attending the meeting of the committee.

The contract provides that the new building is to be completed June 1, 1913. It will be commenced at once. The new school is to be inaugurated in September, 1913.

Following the erection of the Administration Building dormitories, class-room buildings and all other necessary structures will be erected, and it is believed that the State will eventually invest half a million dollars in the school. Its location cannot be said to be ideal, but it is situated in a beautiful section of the State, and it is believed that it cannot fail to have a large attendance at all times.

A test was made in East Tennessee, when such a school was established at Johnson City. Its location cannot be said to be ideal, but it is situated in a beautiful section of the State, and it is believed that it cannot fail to have a large attendance at all times.

Professor J. T. McConnell, of Emory, will be president of the new school, having been elected to that position a year or more ago. Professor McConnell has had a distinguished career as an educator as a member of the faculty of Emory and Henry College. He will continue as a member of the faculty of that school until next year, when he expects to take active charge of the new State school.

Horner—Thorp.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Rocky Mount, N. C., July 19.—At the Church of the Good Shepherd on Wednesday morning a pretty marriage was solemnized when Miss Mary Arrington Thorp became the bride of J. Lawrence Horner, Jr., both of this city. Rev. R. B. Owens performed the ceremony.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with palms and ferns. The bridal party entered the church as follows: M. P. J. Williams, E. R. Hines, H. P. Morton and Caleb Horne, ushers. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Nellie Parlin. Then came the bride, with her father, who gave her away. At the altar they were met by the groom and his best man, James Gordon, of New York city.

Miss Thorp is the oldest daughter of Judge W. L. Thorp, of this city, and is of a prominent family. She is a graduate of the State Normal College at Greensboro, and was normal of the class of 1905. Mr. Horne is a graduate of Trinity College, where he graduated in 1909. Since leaving the college he has become editor and part owner of the Rocky Mount Evening Telegram.

Following the ceremony they left for Atlantic City, Providence, Philadelphia, New York and other Northern cities. They will be at home at their many friends at 124 North Church Street, in this city, after August 5.
