EIGHT LIVES LOST IN TRAIN WRECK

Engine Fails to Take Cross-Over and Pullman Cars Are Demolished.

Westport, Conn., October 2.—Seven persons, five of them women, were killed late today when the Springfield Express, second section, running from Hartford to New York, over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad was wrecked west of this station.

The engine, driven at high speed, failed to take a cross-over from one track to another. The train went into the ditch alongside the tracks and the four Pullmans which followed the mail and baggage cars were completely demolished. The wreckage took fire adding to the horror of the scene. The women killed were passengers in the first Pullman coach, which had to bear the brunt of the shock. The other dead are the engine crew.

Anthony M. Brady, the well known traction man of Albany and New York, suffered a terrible affliction by the wreck, his daughter and daughter-in-law being among those killed.

The women of the Brady family with a party of friends had attended the funeral of Patrick Garvan at Hartford this afternoon. He recently died abroad, and many friends from New York and elsewhere went to Hartford earlier in the day by special train to attend the funeral.

After the express had been wrecked great fear was entertained that the special car had been attached to this second section at Hartford. It was not until a late hour that it was definitely determined that members of the funeral party separated at Hartford, and James C. Brady and some relatives started to make the Springfield Express. As the first section had only day coaches, the second section was taken. It was not until 11 P. M. Brady, another son of Anthony N. Brady, had gone to the little undertaking home here to which the bodies had been removed that those of Mrs. Brady and Mrs. Gavit and Miss Hamilton were definitely identified.

List of Dead.

The dead:
Mrs. E. F. Gavit, daughter of Anthony M. Brady, of Albany, N. Y.
Miss James C. Brady, daughter-in-law of Mr. Brady.
Mrs. C. S. Ransom, sister of Mrs. James C. Brady.
Frank Wheeler, mail clerk.
Engineer Clark and Fireman Moker.
The other two bodies have not been identified.

The locomotive, which was running at high speed on its side after leaving the roadbed and the boiler, to all appearances, exploded. Engineer Clark was taken out alive but died soon after. Joseph J. Moker, his fireman, was crushed to death. The baggage car and the four chair cars following it were overturned and in these overturned cars, which were three day coaches, although derailed remained upright. The wreck carried down the poles carrying wires alongside of the tracks and delay ensued before outside assistance could be secured.

The South Norwalk fire department was called out and began working on the burning cars, and surgeons were summoned from nearby towns.

Meantime darkness had fallen and the work of rescue of the injured passengers was slow. The fire burned several hours in the wreckage.

Of the injured it is believed the number will run to fifty.

when he wishes to regain their confidence, which by his failure to act he has forfeited.

Conservation of Life.

Governor Wilson, in addressing the National Conservation Congress here today, preached a doctrine of conservation of human life in lieu of an expected discourse on the conservation of natural resources.

"The more widely we view the field of obligation," he said, "the more clearly it will appear to us that our duty is only done in respect of the laying of our foundations which have conserved the natural resources of America, for these natural resources are of no consequence unless there is a free and virile people to use them."

The governor expressed his profound sympathy with the whole work of the National Conservation Congress and his hearty sympathy with the past and future efforts of the conservation of the vital energy of the people of the United States.

The presidential nominee declared that only men the United States was putting its thinking teachers to its government.

"I am glad to be concerned here on the other side of the water. Almost all the worst governed cities in the world—in the civilized world—are in America, and the thing that is most lacking in our political genius is making a decent deal where we made such a disastrous beginning."

Factory and Labor Conditions.

The governor referred briefly to factory and labor conditions.

"We must take the heartlessness out of industry," he added, "before we can put the heart in the men who are engaged in industry. The employer has got to feel that he is dealing with flesh and blood like his own, and with his fellow-men, or else his employees will not be in sympathy with him and will not be in sympathy with the work. And a man who is not in sympathy with his work will not produce the things that are worth having."

"Just so soon as you make it a matter of confidence with your Legislatures to see to it that human life is conserved where modern progress touches it, just so soon as you make it the duty of society to release the human spirit occasionally on playgrounds surrounded with beauty to give it even in the cities the touch of nature and the freedom of the open sky; just so soon as you realize and have all society realize that play and enjoyment is part of the building up of the human spirit and that the load must sometimes be lifted or else it will be a breaking load, then you will begin to see that your factories are doing better work."

The Governor's speech was received with great applause. To-night the presidential nominee was the central figure in an illuminated street parade. He addressed a big Democratic meeting at Washington Park baseball grounds. To-morrow he will make several speeches through Indiana.

By a large majority, the voters of the Manchester School District yesterday at a special election ratified the vote of the board of trustees for the issuance of $40,000 bonds for school purposes. While the total vote will not be ascertained until this morning, Swansboro, Oak Grove and a large majority which cannot be changed by the vote of the remaining precinct, located at Pullman's Store, on the New Road. The vote in Swansboro was 104 for and 18 against. Oak Grove gave 63 for and 8 against the issue. This vote was heavier than that cast in the recent congressional primaries.

Confident that their plans would be sustained by the voters of the district, the trustees have called for bids for the construction of two buildings. The bids will be opened to-morrow morning in the presence of the bidders, and the contracts awarded. The work will be done in the Midlothian Turnpike, midway between Swansboro and Woodland Heights, and the other will be located on the New Road, near the intersection of the New Road and the former building will be the larger.

The bonds will be placed on the market to-morrow. They will be interest-bearing, and will run for thirty years. A sinking fund to retire them at maturity will be started.

he left he was placed under arrest as a deserter and sent to jail for ten days by Justice H. A. Maurice, of Police Court, Part II.

Club Meets To-Night.

Owing to other arrangements, the South Richmond Democratic Club will not be able to meet at its regular quarters in Fraternal Hall, but will assemble to-night in the courthouse, permission to do so having been secured.

Probably the most important business to come up will be the report of the committee which is soliciting funds to assist the Wilson campaign. A systematic canvass of the southside is being made and a large sum will be realized. One member of the committee yesterday took in $25 in real money and received promises for a like amount.

The "1,500 voters" committee will also be heard from. As only two more days remain for new voters to qualify, the committee will make a whirlwind finish to-day and to-morrow, and hopes to increase the number of voters by a large amount.

Drunk Surrenders to Police.

Realizing his irresponsible condition, C. A. Spain, a white man, who had partaken too freely of the cup that cheers, last night walked into the Third Police Station and requested Captain Lipscomb to lock him up until he sobered up. He was given a cot and was soon in the land of dreams. Although a voluntary prisoner, he will have to face Justice H. A. Maurice this morning in Police Court, Part II.

Baby's Death Still Mysterious.

No clue which would lead to the discovery of the parents of the child which was found dead Monday afternoon on the farm of Special Officer J. P. Lane, of Chesterfield, has been found on the case. While decomposition prevented the cause of the baby's death from being ascertained by examining physicians, it is thought from conditions surrounding the case that the police have another murder mystery on their hands.

HUSBAND KNEW BEST

Mrs. Bishop Reluctantly Consented To Advice of Husband, But Is Right Glad She Did, Now

Waverly, Va.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Mattie L. Bishop says: "I suffered miserably from womanly trouble, and everything I ate would put me in such misery I would have to go to bed until it wore off. I could not even wash my dishes after a meal.

At last my husband begged me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I had tried so many different kinds of medicine I didn't want to take it, but agreed to try it for his sake.

Before I had finished one bottle I could eat all I wanted and could do all of my work all right.

I gained in weight, and looked so much better that my own sister said she wouldn't have known me had she seen me away from home.

I shall always recommend Cardui, for I know it will do all you claim."

If you suffer from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, don't wait until the trouble becomes chronic. You owe it to yourself, your friends and your family to try to regain your normal health.

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic, as so many thousands of other women have done, with good results.

Begin taking Cardui today.

To Hear Interesting Suit.

An interesting case will be tried before Justice H. Wells this morning in Hustings Court, Part II. It is the suit of Louis Cohen against the Virginia Railway and Electric Company. The plaintiff is seeking damages in the sum of $3,000 for ejectment from a car operated by the defendant company. Cohen boarded the car and tendered in payment of his fare a 50-cent piece. The conductor refused the coin, saying it was a counterfeit. Cohen claims that the conductor will be represented by Louis O. Wendenburg and Benjamin Lovenshtein, while the company's interests will be cared for by their attorneys, T. E. Bryan and W. C. Pullham.

Way Disband Business Club.

Whether the South Richmond Business Men's Association will be kept together will be the question before the meeting which will be held to-night in Lafayette Hall. The club was started before an organization and was instrumental in working up the proposition to make Manchester a part of Richmond. Now that this has been accomplished interest in the organization has dwindled, and it is the opinion of some of the members that the club has outlived its usefulness. In addition to this, many members are now connected with the Richmond Business Men's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic organizations, and think that the Southside club should be discontinued.

Soldier Was Not Deserter.

James Henry, a young soldier, stationed at Fort Washington, Maryland, who was being held at the City Jail as a deserter, was yesterday given his freedom as a part of a telegram was received from his commanding officer stating that his furlough had been extended, and therefore he had not overstayed his leave.

Henry, while on a visit to his sister in South Richmond, was shot through the leg in an altercation with a man supposed to be a negro. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he underwent treatment for ten days. When

A large sum was netted yesterday by the young women who sold buttons on the Southside street for the benefit of the Home for Needy Confederate Women.
