

YALE SQUAD NOW BACK IN HARNESS

Rest Is Over and Coaches Drill Men Hard for Princeton Game.

New Haven, November 4.—With a rest since last Wednesday, the practice of the Yale varsity squad started to-day at Yale Field and will continue uninterrupted until the Harvard game. With the end of the season so close at hand the regular coaches, reinforced by a score of others, will drive the men hard for the remaining period.

The omission of practice came as a result of the death of Theodore W. York, of Philadelphia, the big Yale right guard, who died from pneumonia Wednesday night at the Yale infirmary.

Generally there is a rest of the varsity men Monday, but to-day the team started scrimmaging, and there will be scrimmaging every day this week, with the possible exception of Friday, when there will be a signal drill, preparatory to the Brown game.

Several of the coaches and players saw the game between Harvard and Princeton at Cambridge Saturday, and were much impressed by Brickley's play. This fact has made the coaches more than ever determined to develop Yale's already remarkable defense, realizing that on this Yale's hopes of the championship must rest.

The members of the Yale squad are in good condition for the most part. Cooney has a sprained ankle, which, however, is rapidly growing better. Randall, another guard, has the same trouble. Flynn, Philbin and Gallauer had muscle bruises, which they should recover from. Homelster's shoulder still gives the coaches concern, but it is expected that he will be able to start the Brown game.

The ends will be Gallauer and Bo-meiser, if the coaches dare to put the latter in. Otherwise Avery will replace him. The tackles will be War-rene and Talbot. Cooney and Arnold will be the guards; Ketchum, center; Flynn, Philbin and Gallauer, quarter back; Philbin, left half back; Spalding, right half back; and Flynn, full back.

EXPLAINS VICTORY OF MEDICAL COLLEGE

Sporting Editor Times-Dispatch: Dear Sir,—The article appearing in your columns under date of November 2 from Blacksburg, Va., reporting the game between V. P. I. and the Medical College of Virginia, does the latter school a great injustice.

The article states that the "visitors from Richmond presented an all-star team, composed of ex-college and club players." This sentence is misleading and partially incorrect. There are no "club players" on the eleven, presuming that we interpret "club players" as meaning men who have played on some athletic club eleven.

There are a number of ex-college men on the team, but it would be practically impossible to put out an eleven without such men, for most medical students are graduates of, or have at least attended, other institutions in order to acquire the required preliminary education necessary for the study of medicine. Teams who take on medical college eleven know this just as they know that men playing on the Carlisle Indian team do not conform to the usual rules governing intercollegiate contests.

These facts being known before the game was arranged, it seems un-sportsmanlike to make excuses after the game is played. These remarks do not apply to the student body nor to the coach at V. P. I., for they took their defeat at the hands of M. C. V. gamely and as true sportsmen, and we have nothing but praise for their gentlemanly attitude.

To one reading the article in question who did not see the game, it would appear that the scoring done by M. C. V. was of the most "club" character, when, as a matter of fact, both scores were made by superior playing. The forward pass that the Techa attempted in the second half "that resulted in a field goal" for M. C. V., was attempted on their sixty-yard line, and Brockwell, our left guard, intercepted the ball and dashed off for twenty-five yards before being downed. In the next time the ball was advanced to their fifteen-yard line, where the goal was made.

It is also made to appear that a Medio fell on the ball behind Techa's goal line as a result of a "substitute" missing a single, when, as a matter of fact, he fell on the ball, regained his feet and rushed off ten yards to the goal. The touchdown that they claimed should have been allowed was made on what the umpire (a V. P. I. man) claimed was an illegal forward pass.

In regard to our goal being in danger "four or five times," I notice that the article failed to mention that we got suspiciously near Techa's goal on several occasions. It also failed to mention that we gained more ground exclusive of miscues than they did.

If we had been outplayed and then have won the game by a series of accidents, then we would have no ground for complaint about the write-up in question, but under the circumstances we do think that your reporter made a rather misleading report of the game.

Very truly,
LESLIE B. WIGGS,
President M. C. V. General Athletic Association,
November 2, 1913.

INVINCIBLES TO PLAY M'GUIRES

Game This Afternoon Should Prove One of Very Best of Season.

The fast little McGuire bunch who played rings over Academy last Friday to the tune of 13 to 6, will give battle to the Invincibles this afternoon, at Broad Street Park, the game beginning at 4 o'clock.

Last year the game between these rivals was a tie. The Invincibles have an enviable lot of players to choose from. It is generally conceded to be the fastest team around town for its weight. Unfortunately the four high school players, who have hitherto formed a strong part of the team, have been requested to play only on the public school team by their coaches. Despite this, Captain Rankell will put a team on the field which will do credit to any prep school.

McGuire's fast backfield, composed of Fanchall, Cogbill and Northen, are all experts at broken field running. To meet such a trio, Charles Wrio, brother of the Blue's star, Vaughan-Lloyd and Hancock, will endeavor to show their ability at tackling.

The line-up:
McGuire's Position... It includes, Hammond... left end... (Flyer)
Freeman... left tackle... Hancock
Briggs... left guard... Kiervermill
Montague... center... your reporter
Milton... right guard... Williams
J. A. Leach... right tackle... Woody
Wilson... right end... (Captain)

Northern... quarter... Gray
M. Cogbill... left half... Wood
Preston... right half... Montgomery
(Captain)

Invincibles... 13 to 6

WHITE AND BLUE HAPPY OVER GAME

Victory Against Davidson by Overwhelming Score Surprises V. P. I.

Lexington, Va., November 4.—The Washington and Lee football warriors and student body have not yet fully recovered from their surprise at the result of last Saturday's game with Davidson College. The Freshyvarsian game to Lexington with an aggregation reputed to be stronger than usual, and they always turn out game and gritty eleven. Having held North Carolina A. & M. to a lone touchdown, and having played strong, consistent football all season, they were feared by the White and Blue, and a close contest was expected. The amazement was great when the Varsity, scoring with apparent ease, rolled the contest against the visitors up to 54 points, the largest score of the season for the White and Blue, and the largest ever run up against Davidson.

The outcome of the game was not the result of any lack of fighting spirit on the part of Davidson, for they gamely stuck by their guns until the close of the contest. Graham, quarterback for Davidson, one of the fastest men seen here this season, did stellar work for them, but he worked practically unaided, and was able to get away with only a few end runs. McQueen, the big left tackle, also played well for the visitors.

It would be hard to pick the individual star for Washington and Lee, for every man played a great game. Sweeping end runs, line plunges and a forward pass successfully executed now and then tell the tale. The policy of straight football used in the game last Saturday with Wake Forest was again resorted to. The team played in by far its best form of the season. The interference was splendid, the broken field running of the back was spectacular and the line opened up huge holes for the backs to plunge through.

Coach Estill's men have been showing marked improvement each week, but even most optimistic followers were surprised at their splendid showing Saturday. They will meet V. P. I. next Saturday at Roanoke in good condition. Stewart, the big tackle, was injured, but it is not believed seriously. Captain Miller, the elephantine guard, was out of the game. The game next Saturday promises to be a great one, and though Roanoke dispatches say the odds favor V. P. I. slightly, Washington and Lee will be on hand to give them the strictest kind of a fight, and from the blowing of the whistle every man is going to fight his best. The student body has been granted a holiday for the occasion by the authorities, and will attend en masse.

TIGERS' DEFEAT SERVES TO BRACE

Princeton Squad Now Looks to Yale Game to Retrieve Itself.

Princeton, N. J., November 4.—Students who saw the game at Cambridge came straggling in yesterday, most of them broke financially, but not as dejected in spirit as might be expected. There is very little discussion about the game, the men having left it behind them on the boat.

In what is being said there is very little in the way of criticism for either the coaches or players. The attention is now being focused on the Yale game, and it seems to be the general opinion that the defeat will be of great value to the coaches in building up the team for the final game. Princeton hates to lose to Harvard, but if there were a choice open there would be no hesitation on the part of any one to choose Harvard's foe as the one to take the victory.

If the team can come through the Yale game with a victory there will be plenty of reason at Princeton for a celebration, even though it isn't in commemoration of winning the inter-collegiate championship.

The team is still at Atlantic City, and what measures the coaches will adopt to start the final preparation are still unknown. The team will not return to Princeton until to-day at noon, in time for a short practice on Osborne Field.
