

DENNY READS LIST OF APPOINTMENTS

Closing Session of Western North Carolina Methodist Conference.

FINAL REPORTS PRESENTED

Statistics Show Contributions During Year of Nearly $40,000 for Missions.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] High Point, N. C., November 25.—The close of the morning session to-day marked the adjournment of the Western North Carolina Conference. When all of the minute questions had been answered, the minutes of the session of to-day were read and approved. A short devotional service was conducted, after which Bishop Collins Deady made some remarks to the conference relative to the appointments, assuring the preachers that while he knew all of them would not give satisfaction, that he had tried to do the best he could in making them. He then read the appointments, as follows:

AN APOLOGY

We ask the indulgence of our customers for a few days pending the completion of the new and improved sanitary plant now being installed at the spring. The present plant was only installed this spring (April, 1912), but since that time new and better methods of sanitation have been discovered, and we are adopting them at a tremendous expense. Our contractors promise completion of the work on or before Monday, December 2, and we will then be able and glad to supply your wants promptly.

MAYO EXONERATES CHIEF OF POLICE

Intimates That Attack Was Made at Instance of Gamblers.

ACCUSED BY POLICE JUSTICE

Fear That Personal Encounter Might Follow Is Finally Relieved.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., November 25.—Mayor W. R. Mayo to-day rendered his decision in the investigation of the Kizer-Barron controversy, exonerating the Chief of Police, Police Justice James S. Barron asserted from the bench a few days ago in acquitting Hugh A. McKay and Joseph McLean on the charge of operating a public gambling house that the police knew the place had been closed a week when the raid upon the place was made. Chief of Police Kizer said the assertion was false, whereupon Justice Barron asserted the place had been closed, saying the patrolmen and sergeant on the beat had told him so. Major Kizer demanded an investigation, which culminated to-day with his acquittal. Mayor Mayo took occasion to say, in announcing his finding, that he had implicit confidence in Major Kizer, and intimated that the attack was made at the instance of gamblers, who want to get rid of Major Kizer as Chief of Police. Fearing there might be personal trouble between Chief of Police Kizer and Police Justice Barron, City Sergeant John F. Lawler conferred with Judge Hanel, Mayor Mayo and Commonwealth's Attorney Tilton with a view, if necessary, of putting Justice Barron under a peace bond. Judge Hanel advised asking Mr. Barron to give his promise not to cause any breach of the peace, a remark made by him on Saturday having led to the belief that he might do so, and thus avert the necessity for a peace bond. Sergeant Lawler, therefore, called on Justice Barron this morning and secured his assurance that there would be no trouble.

BULLET CLAIMS TWO VICTIMS

Helena, Ark., November 25.—Milton Elix, manager of a pool room, was mortally wounded, and Charles Norman, a barber, was instantly killed at Marvel, Ark., yesterday, when a bullet fired by Robert Davidson ploughed through Elix's body and struck Norman. Elix died two hours later. The cause of the shooting could not be ascertained. Davidson, a member of a prominent family, is under arrest.

PLANNED MURDER TO SECURE FUNDS

McNamara Would Have Killed and Robbed Treasurer of Automobile Races.

M'MANIGAL STILL ON STAND

Self-Confessed Dynamiter Continues Story of Outrages Committed and Proposed.

Indianapolis, Ind., November 25.—The contentions of the defense that McNamara and Ortle E. McManigal alone were responsible for explosions and that the Iron Workers' Union executive board and President Frank M. Ryan knew nothing of any $1,000 expended from the union funds for destroying nonunion property were pursued in the cross-examination of McManigal at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial to-day. McManigal was turned over by the government to the defense of the dynamite business, terrified saying if he did not do it he would be prompted by a foolish notion that it was for the good of the Iron Workers' Union. My mind was inflamed with the idea that it would build up the union. McManigal admitted that he had been arrested three times, twice for larceny and once for disorderly conduct. "After the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, when you and James B. were hunting in the woods in Wisconsin, you say he admitted to you that he deliberately killed the twenty-one persons; that he was a printer who he knew he would kill one when he put the bomb in the Times building, and yet you continued to associate with him?" "Yes, I did." McManigal had said that when J. J. McNamara, secretary of the union, planned "wholesale explosions," including the blowing up of Los Angeles city, he was afraid that the "executive board would cut off his allowance." "Now, you say McNamara, in order to get more money, proposed to steal $150,000 by killing the treasurer of the automobile races at the Speedway in Indianapolis, and yet you still kept company with these men who planned the murder?" "Yes, I did." McManigal told in detail how much he was paid for each "job." "When you caused the explosion in the Lewellyn Iron plant in Los Angeles on December 25, 1910, how much did you charge for it?" "I got $25, which included my expenses." Other witnesses interrupted McManigal's examination. Mrs. Sadie Maguire testified she was a neighbor in Chicago of the McNamagal family. She said in November, 1910, the month after the Los Angeles explosion, at the request of Mrs. McManigal, she arranged with her brother, Marion Sharp, Kenosha, Wis., for McManigal to go on a hunting trip. When the hunters returned to Chicago in January she said she went to a theatre party, with the party being a man who answered James B. McNamara's description. She accompanied Mrs. McManigal and the latter's children to California after McManigal was taken there, and on her return to Chicago, she said, she placed the McNamagal children in the care of Ed Nockels, a labor union official. Later, she said, she collected from R. H. Houllhan, financial secretary of a Chicago Iron Workers' Union, $25 a week to be paid to Mrs. McManigal, hearing Houllhan on one occasion say while this is going on.

George W. Caldwell, member of a firm of contractors, said after explosions on his work at Columbus, Ind., and Omaha, Neb., Hockin visited him at a hotel in construction at Tulsa, Okla. "I told Hockin I had had enough of him and McNamara at Omaha and I would not unionize the job," said Caldwell. "He replied that they would get even with me. The work later was unionized. Frank K. Painter, the business agent at Omaha, had told us we would have to unionize the job in Omaha, but we did not, and the work was dynamited."

had been practicing his profession in the Monumental City. His standing at the bar soon became enviable. In 1875 he was chosen a member of the Maryland Legislature for two years and served on the Judiciary Committee and as chairman of the Baltimore delegation. In 1885 he was elected to the State Senate for four years, serving on the Judiciary Committee of the upper house. Resigning his office in the State Senate in the middle of his term, he became a candidate for Congress in 1886, and was elected. He was appointed a member of the Foreign Relations and Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees. He was elected for a second and third term, but declined re-election for the fourth. He was thereupon chosen Attorney-General for the State of Maryland, serving from 1893 to 1902. Elected to Senate in 1904. In 1904 he was elected to the United States Senate to succeed the late Louis E. McComas, Republican, for the term ending March 4, 1911. He had no beginning March 4, 1905. He had no opposition when he came up for election six years later and, following a primary, in which he received a flattering endorsement, was chosen by the Legislature to succeed himself for the term beginning March 4, 1911. In Buying Silverware Always Insist on Knowing the Weight

Stieff Silver

THE STIEFF STAMP A SIGN OF QUALITY

If a piece of silverware bears the Stieff stamp its quality is beyond question. The name stands for all that is best in Sterling Silverware. The reputation of Stieff Silver is established on the basis of quality—quality of pattern, workmanship and material. The Stieff designs are of real artistic worth, and the finish, wrought by hand by Stieff silversmiths, gives the finished ware a distinctive beauty that pleases critical buyers of silverware. Stieff Silver is sold only by the Stieff Company.

To any one interested we will send several designs of the pieces desired from the factory at Baltimore for selection. Illustrated catalog giving prices mailed upon request.

All Stieff ware is sold direct to our customers at manufacturers' prices, saving the retailers' profits. Our salerooms, while convenient, are outside the high-rent districts—a big saving of expense. The price is based on the weight of metal, plus the cost of manufacture, and a small but fair margin of profit.

That part of the session previous to the appointments was occupied with the adoption of reports and resolutions. The recommendation of the report of books and periodicals that an assessment of $3,000 be placed on the conference for the support of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, the conference organ, met with opposition, and a substitute was adopted which recommended that 2,500 new subscribers to the paper be secured the coming year.

The report of the committee on Sabbath observance recommended that the Legislature be petitioned to establish a Sunday law in North Carolina. E. A. Cole was appointed conference lay leader for the coming year. During the reading of the appointments an attempt was made by some in the audience to indulge in applause. Bishop Denny silenced the throng with the words that were uttered that the conference was no political gathering. The statistics presented to-day show the conference now has 224 pastoral charges, 256 traveling and 179 local preachers and a total church membership of 95,950. During the past year the conference contributed $19,717 to foreign and $1,574 to domestic missions. Bishop Denny pronounced the benediction with which the conference adjourned.
