PAY AT NAVY YARD CAUSE OF PROTEST

Secretary Daniels Hears Arguments Presented by Committee of Employees.

Washington, July 3.—Secretary Daniels today gave a hearing to a committee representing the machinists and other artisans at the Washington Navy-Yard, who ask for what they term a more suitable revision of the wage scale at the yard, based on the 10 per cent increase in the total appropriations for the present fiscal year.

The situation is the result of a disagreement on the part of Captain Jones, commandant of the yard, and his assistants and the employees generally as to how the additional funds provided by Congress should be distributed. It appears that the employees expected that each one of them would receive a 10 per cent raise in his compensation under the wage scale for last year.

What actually was done by the authorities of the yard was to raise the minimum and maximum wage for each class of work to the full extent of the appropriations, and to fix the pay of each employe within those limits on the basis of the individual employe's efficiency, as shown by the records of the yard.

The larger number of employes, it is said, receive less than the expected 10 per cent, however, and they, as well as those whose wages are less than before, have expressed dissatisfaction with the new wage scale, and appealed through the ranks to the chief of the yard, Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels.

CARLOADS OF TULIP BULBS FOR EMPEROR

In Dutch Eyes No Gift Could Be More Precious Than Favorite Flower.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Of all the presents received by Emperor William on the occasion of the silver jubilee of his reign, the most odd, and yet what the most characteristic, was that given by Queen Wilhelmine of Holland, consisting of several carloads of bulbs of rare tulips, for plantation in the flower beds in front of the Neues Palais, and elsewhere in the imperial gardens at Potsdam.

In Dutch eyes, no gift could be more precious. For ever since the so-called turban flower first made its appearance in the Netherlands, from the Orient in the sixteenth century, it has been the favorite flower of the Dutch, par excellence: the one thing, indeed, capable of rousing them from their national phlegm into the wildest sort of excitement. The Dutch have, in fact, been known to ruin themselves for the sake of tulips, giving anywhere from $3,000 to $20,000 for a single bulb.

In many other countries it is regarded as the most unlovely of flowers; tulips of such quality or in their gardens. But this is largely because the flower in question has been the subject of so much drama, and even so much tragedy among its growers, particularly in the Netherlands. Families of cases have been ruined, and noble escutcheons tarnished, in connection with tulips, which have led to robberies, forgeries, arson and even murder.

Neither the Kaiser nor his consort, however, share the prejudice and fears of the more superstitious of their fellow-countrymen with regard to this particular flower. For the Emperor is so enthusiastic about the gift of Queen Wilhelmine, that he has asked her to place some of her cleverest gardeners at his disposal for the time, in order that no mistakes may be made in the planting of the bulbs, and in the care of their early growth at Potsdam.

Originally cultivated in India, Persia, and Turkey, the tulip has formed the subject of many legends and stories, full of the grace and mysticism of Eastern romance. Indeed, the Turks were wont to honor it with a great festival, more gorgeous than all others of the year. It is thus described:

There was one festival in the early spring, which, for dazzling splendor, outshone the rest of the Eastern artificial lights, and stars lit up the Sultan's beautiful gardens, and in the mystic light, which turned night into day, tens of thousands of tulips

OLD RAILROAD MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

George R. Satterfield Loses Life Under Train at Danville.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Danville, Va., July 3.—George R. Satterfield, aged sixty years, a well-known car inspector, employed by the Southern Railway at this city, was crushed to death here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when a gondola car, being backed down the main line of the Danville and Richmond division, passed over him.

Although nobody knows exactly how the fatality occurred, Coroner Charles Raine decided that an inquest was necessary. It is believed that Satterfield, being the cars moving slowly, thought he would swing aboard the end car and ride, that he missed the grab iron and fell beneath the wheels. The train crew, seeing his fall, threw on the brakes, but the damage had been done before the cars were stopped.

Mr. Satterfield was one of the oldest men in the service working for the Southern Railway here. He has been inspecting cars for twenty years, and was thoroughly popular. He was a prominent member of the Car Inspectors' Union, and known by practically every one in the city. This was his first accident during his long service on the Southern Road.

Mr. Satterfield is survived by his wife and five children. Two years ago he lost one of his sons, who was engaged on train No. 35 when it was derailed at Stokesdale and the engine turned over. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon.

Will Take Case to Court. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Bristol, Va., July 3.—Because the Norfolk and Western has been slow to put into effect the city's demands for a flagman at the Edmonds Street crossing, City Attorney Roberts has been instructed to institute legal proceedings to compel action. The city has sought to have the railway company build a bridge over this crossing, but nothing has yet been accomplished.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES. And Blackheads. Would Itch, Burn and Smart. Arms and Back Affected. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Four Weeks.

Ruffin, N. C. — "My face became full of pimples and blackheads, and would itch, burn and smart. The skin was rough and red. I was really ashamed of my face. My arms and back were affected almost as badly. The pimples would fester and there would come a dry scab on top. The trouble caused my face to be disfigured badly and the itching would bother me so I could not sleep well nights, especially during warm weather.

"I used all kinds of ointments, cold creams, powders, soaps, medicine and all kinds of different remedies for my face and arms, but from none did I get any benefit. The trouble lasted me three long years without anything doing me any good until a friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and that I decided to try them. After the first application I could see some improvement. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment two weeks I did not look like the same person; most of the pimples had disappeared. At the end of four weeks I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Mamie Mitchell, Jan. 9, 1913.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexion, red, rough hands, itching scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston, U. S. A." Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.
