

AMPLE SUPPLY OF FOOD TO WARD OFF SUFFERING

Quartermaster's Department Prepared to See That No One Goes Hungry.

THIRTY DAYS' RATIONS ASHORE

Funston's Aides Investigating Excessive Prices and Discrimination Against Americans by Shopkeepers.

BY CHARLES MICHAELSON.

Funston, May 3.—General Mass may maintain a long blockade against the food supply until Mexico freezes over. The quartermaster's department will see that no American man, woman or child, American, foreigner or native, goes hungry.

We have thirty days' full rations ashore for 12,000 persons. The soldiers, marines and civilians attached to the expedition are on every transport from the United States. The food is of the best grade and as fresh as is obtainable in New York City.

The quartermaster's department has since November, 1912, embraced the commissary and pay departments. Captain Mass maintains a shop as fully equipped as the largest store in the city. The essentials of life are concerned. It has the fullest supply of household utensils, crockery, and the articles in stock include toilet soap, cold cream and manicure supplies.

The quartermaster's department also maintains an out-of-door bakery, behind the firing line, to furnish the troops with fresh bread daily, as far as the advance base. From there the bread is carried to the front.

The quartermaster said to-day: "We have twelve complete ovens, the maximum possible output of which is 326,000 pound loaves daily. We also make our own four-pound loaves. We keep fresh for two weeks, and which rivals the product of the best American household. We have thirty days' flour and yeast ahead, and in case of necessity we can mill our own flour, make yeast and continue uninterrupted baking."

Captain Lucien Holdbrook and Quartermaster's Sergeant Danne have devised an equipment that Captain Holdbrook toured Europe in an effort to improve, but was unable to find any other system that could compare with it. We have had our own bread here. The pits were dug, brick foretop built, ovens mounted and 6,000 pounds of bread baked an issued. The sanitary conditions of the bakery are ideal. The product is piled in four columns on tracks, screened, shaded and well ventilated.

The high cost of living follows the general rule. Funston's aides are today investigating the excessive prices of food stuffs and the discrimination against Americans by many shopkeepers. The military authorities propose to start these practices.

The post-office has been taken over by United States Postal Agent H. M. Robinson, who, with a corps of assistants, has set about establishing the office on a permanent basis.

Position for Kerr. Former Governor Kerr will probably be attorney-general of the new military government under General Funston, and he will have much to do as at present. He had no much authority nor honors, and despite his acceptance of dismissal, there is no question that Kerr is much disappointed. He had planned elaborate changes, all looking to the actual Americanization of Vera Cruz.

Returning alone to New York, General Sickle's again entered politics. He served as sheriff of New York, and at sixty-seven he was re-elected to Congress. General Sickle's life drew to a close with frequent romantic situations. He faced bankruptcy proceedings in his last years, though he had early in life received a large share of his father's $3,000,000 estate, but his estranged wife and son came to his aid on several occasions.

His last days were spent at 25 Fifth Avenue, New York, surrounded by war relics, and attended by his faithful negro servant.

that they would be protected by the United States if Huerta again controlled the town. All projects have been called off, but will probably be resumed as the military adviser in the military administration.

DANIEL E. SICKLES YIELDS TO DEATH

Continued From First Page.) Lincoln kept his word, and in 1861 raised him to brigadier-general. His fighting spirit early won him his spurs. On the Peninsula and at Antietam he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader. At Chancellorsville he led the Third Corps, but he became a national hero. At thirty-seven years of age, he had risen from a colonel to major-general of volunteers.

After the war his fighting spirit led him into the regular army, and he became, first, brigadier and then major-general. He continued active service until 1879, when he was appointed minister to Spain by President Grant.

At the court of Spain, Sickle's vigorous personality made him a dominant figure. Four years of brilliant diplomacy brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain."

Returning alone to New York, General Sickle's again entered politics. He served as sheriff of New York, and at sixty-seven he was re-elected to Congress.

CARRANZA DECLINES TO CEASE HOSTILITIES

Suspension, He Says, Would Accrue Only to Benefit of Huerta. El Paso, Tex., May 3.—General Venustiano Carranza has formally declined the suggestion of the South American mediators that he cease hostilities against General Huerta pending the outcome of the plan of mediation.

No importance is attached here to the report that the rebels and Federalists at Tampico are arranging a truce. It is assumed that if true the cessation of hostilities is for the purpose of burying the dead or removing the wounded.

The text of General Carranza's telegram declining the armistice, follows: "I again direct myself to you for the purpose of assuring your respectful message regarding the armistice, calling your attention to the fact that the international conflict with the United States was intentionally provoked by Huerta, and for the solution of this I hurriedly accepted in principle only, the good offices of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, and which are independent of our internal strife for liberty and law, and I consider it inconceivable to suspend hostilities and military movements, because such suspension would only accrue to the benefit of Huerta in the civil war now going on in Mexico between the usurper, Huerta, and the Constitutional army under my command. The sovereign citizenship is in my hands, and I cannot agree to the armistice which you propose."

Will Go to Durango. General Carranza, shortly after his arrival at Torreon next week, expects to visit the city of Durango, in the state of that name, to establish a civil government. The situation there, it is said, has caused him much anxiety because of the dominance of the Arrieta brothers, Benjamin and Domingo. These men have recruited 3,000 or 4,000 men, but it is alleged they have merely used the rebel banner as a cloak for looting and outrage.

SERVICE IN HONOR OF COLORADO DEAD

temper in this crisis, it does not mean to be diverted from the doctrine of personal responsibility for social crime. But the public wishes to be quite sure that it is dividing its blame in proper shares; and just as it is asking you to change your mind in the light of new facts in Colorado, so it will be willing to change its own mind in the light of new facts from Wall Street."

Proceeding, Sinclair tells that he has received information from a friend of the Rockefeller that John D. Jr., has never been given control of any part of his father's wealth, is still under paternal control and, in fact, is being used in the Colorado strike by the wealthy men in Standard Oil to shield themselves. If this is correct, Sinclair says, the facts should be made known.

REPEATS MURDER THREATS

Marie Ganz Will Kill Rockefeller Unless He Acts in Colorado. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] New York, May 3.—Still uttering threats against the life of John D. Rockefeller, Marie Ganz was arraigned in Tombs Police Court to-day and released in $500 cash bail for examination to-morrow. Harold Spielberg, counsel for the woman, declared after adjournment of the court that he intended to demand the appearance of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in court to-morrow as the prosecution witness. The complaint, which is sworn to by Detective Eitinger, is based on the stenographic minutes of the meeting held in Mulberry Bend Park on May 1, during which Marie Ganz is alleged to have said:

"Yesterday I was up at the office of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and if I would have got that dog, I would have shot him like a dog. If he is not going to stop this slaughter, then he can just run to his father's home, for at the first chance I get I will land him with a bullet."

Further along, Marie Ganz is quoted with having said: "I want you all to get into action and protest, not with words, but with dynamite."

Lawyer Spielberg contends that in a recent ruling of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court it was decided that a man against whom a threat has been made must personally appear as the defendant in court.

COLORADO LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION TO-DAY

Well-Defined Plans to Impeach High State Officials Reported.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Denver, May 3.—With the entire membership of Company A, Colorado National Guard, facing both courts-martial and trial by the civil authorities on charges of mutiny, the legislature is today in special session to-day to consider the impeachment of Governor Ammons and Lieutenant-Governor Stephen H. Fitzgerald.

The members of the State Legislature are arriving by dozens for the special session, which convenes to-morrow. Secret caucuses were held to-night in three of the big hotels. On every side the real interest in the strike situation tonight centered in Denver.

Major W. A. Holbrook, in charge of the Federal troops in the Trinidad district, let be known to-day that he has constructed Secretary of War Wood's plan as to the disarming of all persons in the strike zone who are not in active service of the United States army. This includes members of the Colorado militia as well as strikers, mine guards and others. Consequently, the order is being carried out on that theory.

By noon to-morrow it is expected that all arms in the district will have been collected and given into the hands of the Federal troops. Government soldiers to-day took charge of the entire strike zone of the State. Major Holbrook is ruling with an iron hand. He has ordered a complete embargo upon the shipping of arms into the State of Colorado and between points in the State, but he ordered that saloons remain closed throughout the disaffected district. Arms shipped in violation of his order, he declared, would be confiscated.

WARD LINER MONTEREY ARRIVES WITH REFUGEES

They Call Meeting to Pass Resolutions Criticizing Wilson's Mexican Policy. New Orleans, May 3.—The Ward liner Monterey, with 623 refugees aboard, arrived here to-day. Upon learning that the war had not been declared with Mexico, the refugees called a meeting for midnight, at which resolutions criticizing the present policy of the United States with regard to the regime of General Huerta will be presented.

Among the refugees were more than fifty persons—men, women and children—who had been locked in Mexican prisons following the first attack by the army of Huerta on Vera Cruz. Among the refugees was Dr. J. M. B. Hurd, proprietor of a chemical plant near Mexico City. Dr. Hurd told of a narrow escape from arrest by Huerta soldiers, of being hidden in the Dutch embassy at Mexico City, and of finally being spirited aboard a refugee train to Vera Cruz, where he arrived safely.

According to Dr. Hurd, after the firing at Vera Cruz, a detachment of Federal soldiers, of being hidden in his plant, which was wanted for the manufacture of smokeless powder by the Huerta government, while another detachment was sent to take him prisoner. He stated that the Federalists had no one available who understood the process of smokeless powder manufacture.

Resinol

Jan. 27, 1914: "I suffered over eight years with eczema. My hands looked like they had been burned by fire and peeled off until they were only raw flesh. It was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I tried all sorts of eczema salvas and one prescription after another but nothing gave me any relief until I used Resinol Ointment. After the first application my hands never itched or burned again, and were well in one week. I was very suffering from eczema to know that there could find a cure in Resinol." EXPERT SOCIAL WORKERS TO MEET AT MEMPHIS

Annual Sessions of National Conference of Charities and Corrections Begin May 8.

REPRESENTS MODERN THOUGHT

Scores of Most Prominent Leaders Throughout Country on Program for Addresses and Lectures. Memphis, Tenn., May 3.—Social workers from all parts of the United States will gather in Memphis this week for the forty-first annual meeting of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections, which opens its sessions on May 8 and continuing to May 15. In addition to this organization, nine others affiliating more or less with the conference of Charities and Corrections will meet here at the same time. It is estimated that more than 2,000 delegates and visitors will attend the meetings.

This great organization of expert social workers in many fields represents modern thought in the reforming of the defective and criminal, on the idea that prevention is better than cure, and that cure is better than punishment. The meetings will be devoted to discussions of health, social hygiene, family and community life, neighborhood development, settlement work, public health, prison reform, child welfare and other kindred subjects.

Under the leadership of standing committees of the conference the work of the week has been divided into nine different series of meetings, but the entire program has been planned in a harmonious manner with the purpose of facilitating the discussion of the social reforms and the more technical requirements of the special groups of workers.

Scores of the most prominent leaders in reform work throughout the country are on the program for addresses and lectures. In addition an interesting array of exhibits in the field of social work is being prepared. The sessions open next Friday, but the conference will recess on Saturday night in honor of the closing meeting of the Southern Sociological Congress.

Problems of Social Reform. Problems of social reforms will be discussed at the third annual convention of the Southern Sociological Congress which meets here next Wednesday for a three days' session. Delegates from all the Southern States, as well as the advance guards of visitors from the National Conference on Charities and Corrections, will be in attendance.

BODIES OF DEAD HEROES START FOR UNITED STATES

Solemn Honors Paid by Great Assemblage of Warships in Vera Cruz Harbor.

Vera Cruz, May 3.—The bodies of seven American bluejackets and marines killed in the street fighting during the operations accompanying the occupation of Vera Cruz by the United States fleet, started on their way to New York to-day on board the cruiser Montana. Solemn honors were paid by the great assemblage of United States and foreign war vessels as the Montana departed.

The crews of the warships in full uniform lined the sides of the warships, and as the Montana reached each one, the men stood at attention, the marine guards on the horizon, and the ship's bands played. One by one the colors of the fighting craft sank to half-mast as the Montana passed through a lane formed by divisions of the Atlantic Fleet.

On shore, during the Montana's passage out of the harbor, the flag over Brigadier-General Frederick Funston's headquarters was half-masted, and was only raised again when the vessel had disappeared on the horizon. The hospital ship Solace, with about 100 sick and wounded American bluejackets and marines on board it was said to-day, might sail northward later this week. All the men under treatment on board are doing well.

Greatest Event in Woman's Life

All human experience looks back to motherhood as the wonder of wonders. The patience, the fortitude, the sublimity, the faith during the period of expectancy are second only to the mother love bestowed upon the most helpless but most marvelous creation—a baby. Women are quick to learn from each other these helpful agencies that add to comfort, and yet are perfectly safe to use and among these they recommend "Mother's Friend."

It is entirely an external application designed to lubricate the broad, flat muscles and skin that protect the abdomen. It has been in favorable use for nearly half a century and is known to mothers in almost every settled community in the United States who highly recommend it. You will find it on sale in drug stores. "Mother's Friend" is utterly harmless, contains no dosing drugs, very beneficial, very soothing and a wonderful help.

Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" to-day at any drug store and write to us for our instructive little book to mothers. Address: Bradfield Regulator Co., 313 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
