PROGRESS IN LAW REFORM.

The progressive spirit of the people of Maine is again shown in a new act of the Legislature. The Legislature has made a long stride forward in the matter of simplifying the criminal and civil jurisprudence of the State.

The testimony of witnesses left no doubt that the prisoner killed the person alleged, but as the deed was done in the dark, no one but himself could know whether it was self-defense or not.

Notwithstanding the old common law maxim, that it is better "ninety-nine guilty persons should escape than that one innocent man should suffer," and the various guarantees that every opportunity shall be allowed the prisoner to establish his innocence, and that he shall always be given the benefit of the least doubt in regard to his guilt, we find that invariably the prosecution is shown more favor than the defence; if in no other way than that of having the closing argument and permitting the court to sum up the facts and influence the jury by the expression of an opinion with regard to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

There are a great many very odd customs and notions that form a part of the common law, which might be dispensed with now, and which, having ceased to have the force they once possessed, ought to be abolished. Society has changed entirely within the last century or two, but the old legal forms, and the antiquated, not to say foolish, language in which they are obscured have undergone no alteration.

We still retain the words and wisdom of Blackstone; and the language of the law is now as difficult to comprehend in many instances, even to those learned therein, as the language of the Choctaws or Chinese. We see no good reason why it cannot be simplified and made plain.

Our statutes, forms, indictments, legal documents, rules of evidence, and everything connected with the science, which is called the perfection of wisdom, can certainly be reduced to good modern English and made as intelligible to the most common understanding as the simplest incident of life told in words of one syllable.

Discard all the difficulties of ancient Latin construction, and all the iterations, repetitions and superfluities, and let the simple facts be stated in brief, comprehensive and unmistakable language. We think the concession made to the prisoner, which permits him to be his own witness, a very important and a very just one, and that it would be well to adopt it everywhere.

The object of all trials is to arrive at the truth and all the truth, and the jury being the judges of the evidence, we cannot see how the ends of justice can be defeated by examining everybody who may know anything in regard to the matter in controversy; and certainly the party accused ought to know better than any one else how far he is implicated, and whether he be guilty or innocent.

His statements, of course, would always be taken with considerable allowance, and the character and manner of the man would have as much to do as his testimony in influencing the verdict of the jury. We trust, therefore, that these important ameliorations in criminal jurisprudence will not be confined to any particular State, or locality, but that the attention of our own legislators may be attracted to it; that law will be looked upon every where more in the light of a progressive science, and our present system be remodeled, improved, reformed and simplified to such an extent that it will no longer be a mystery, and that it may conform to reason and common sense, and be made so plain that every man who can read and write may be his own lawyer.

OLD VIRGINIA.

We cannot find time to answer the letters sent us from various quarters, inquiring as to the best region wherein to settle at the South. We can only say generally that there are inviting lands to be had at low prices in every Southern State, and that those who consider them all bought there are not to be considered eligible for settlement, from lower Delaware down. We could not advise a Western man to come East in quest of a good location, nor an Eastern man to go West, since the chances are good on the lower Mississippi as well as on the James, the Santee and the Savannah. Better look first at the region nearest you, and if you are not suited there, go further.

The Apple, the Peach, the Grape, and the Plum, and can supply our markets, as well as those of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, with these and the edible Berries and delicate Vegetables, at the seasons in which they respectively command the highest prices.

The Grapes of the Temperate Zone, the Tobacco, are here grown in perfection; the Flour of Richmond being of excellent quality. Now that Slavery is dead, it is morally certain that Wine and Silk will be added to the list of Southern staples, and that the lands of the seaboard States will rapidly appreciate in value.

The Mutton of the Virginia mountain-sides is the best in America, and will yet be recognized by epicures worth an extra price. Many of her people have much land and little else. Her crops are very short. There is not food enough in the State to carry her people through the year before them.

Labor will of course be cheap, through the pressure of want. Every man who goes down there will pay out even $500 (perhaps the labor before them; and the more money he invests the better. We advise Northern men to clear their estates, buy large estates, divide them into farms and lots, sell them at auction, build on the tract that suits them, and then sell the proceeds according to their several investments, according to the needs of the market, as to Roads, Schools, congenial neighbors, &c.

Those who do this will find Virginia an excellent State to make homes in, and will sell in forty-eight hours, travel from the homes they will have left behind.—New York Tribune of Monday.

We have ourselves, on several occasions, set forth the advantages of Virginia for farming purposes; and we repeat that no portion of it offers more profitable inducements than the region of Norfolk and Portsmouth. The land, which is unsurpassed for "trucking" or early gardening purposes, is offered freely in the market, and can be purchased for reasonable prices—much less, generally, than is asked for it. Explore the nearest point to market, before advancing into the swamp regions.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

GRAND TRIAL.—The audience was numerous and fashionable, notwithstanding the heat of the room, it was decidedly cool, and did not grow less so with the warmth her fine appearance and really meritorious acting deserved, or would have called forth from people less disposed to frigidly. But, then, she was a stranger to our stage, and our theatre-goers are not given to being so fastidious as to see themselves before they approve, and to see the words of those they applaud, it cannot be denied that she was a very charming woman, and an actress of the very highest order of talent.

Without copying very closely her style, she reminds us a little of Mattie Heron, but more pleasing than that actress, like authors in their later days, she frequently subjected herself to being approved, and to see the words of those they applaud, it cannot be denied that she was a very charming woman, and an actress of the very highest order of talent.

THE NEWS. The Montreal Company's steamship Hilbrunn arrived at Father Point on Sunday, with European mails to the last inst.—Five days later than the previous one received. The continued retirement of Queen Victoria from public life, and the persistency with which she devotes herself to the inauguration of memorials to her late husband, are again exciting comment in the English press.

The Atlantic Telegraph Company has determined to issue contracts for a new cable, and the insurance agents have recognized the resolution of the company not to attempt to pick up the dropped cable during the great sea-fall of the late project, and had set about paying the insurance claims made upon them. Continental politics has furnished no new developments, with the exception of a ministerial crisis in Portugal.

Some new phases in the interminable Schleswig-Holstein dispute have been reached equally as remarkable as those preceding. Nothing new appears to have been proposed in Europe respecting the actual progress of the war in South America. The Emperor of Brazil, in his journey to take command of the Brazilian army, had proceeded to Rio de Janeiro, and there he had issued five-hundred bonds worth of the London market on the 1st inst. at 83 1/2. American consols sold at 89 1/2. A merchant had advanced 1/4 per lb.

The proclamation of Provisional Governor Hamilton, of Texas, issued on the 19th ultimo, lays down the regulations and prescribes the plan whereby the people of the State shall be enabled to take the oath of amnesty and allegiance to the national government, and qualify themselves to vote for delegates to the State Convention and to sit in the State Legislature. The object of the proclamation is to constitute the boards in the several counties for administering the oath and keeping a list of the names of those who subscribe to it, and for the performance of this duty they are required to be in session at least one day in each county, till the duty is accomplished. The Governor concludes by earnestly urging the citizens to come forward with alacrity and take this primary step in the work of restoring their civil government.

A grand banquet was given on last Saturday night in Meadville, Pa., on the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, to the English capital of the New York City on Tuesday last, and who are now on a tour of inspection of the public works and other enterprises of this country and Canada. Some of these gentlemen are largely interested in the Atlantic and Great Western road, and are to be seen in the city on Monday, Mr. Le Hommedieu presided at the banquet, and Mr. Reynolds, former president of the road, made the speech welcoming the distinguished guests, which was responded to on their behalf by Sir Robert Peel, the speaker.

Some weeks ago an advertisement appeared in the Richmond Bulletin, in which the advertiser expressed a wish to go into the newspaper business, and some one who had the material, as his printing office had been destroyed "by the public enemy." A few days since General Terry's attention was attracted to this expression, and Mr. Bailey, the publisher, was requested to state who the author was. He pronounced the name Palmer, formerly editor of a paper in Winchester, which was taken possession of by the Federal troops, who lately returned to that city, having been absent since the evacuation. Mr. Palmer was then called on, and admitted to Castle Thunder, from whence he has been removed to the city jail.

The New York Herald gives an extended sketch of Canada and Canadian political affairs, which shows how the struggle between democracy and republicanism, between republicanism and imperialism, is rapidly approaching a crisis, the evident tendency of which is towards the concentration of the provinces to this country. It also furnishes an exposure of the secret policy of Great Britain, and her efforts, by means of establishing powerful land and naval armaments in her colonies along our northern frontiers, and by endeavoring to force them into the ranks of her empire, to set up on this continent an empire to check the great American republic in its career of free government and civilization.

Advices from the Rio Grande, via New Orleans on the second instant, give as the cause for the recent removal of the French troops of Maximilian's army from Matamoros a vicinity, and their substitution by native soldiers. The disposition of French officers to give and take office. One of these gentlemen, who some time ago wrote an insulting, pompous and silly letter to General Brown, the American commander at Brownsville, from Matamoros, is said, being dismissed from the Imperial army, to have reported that officers lately belonging to the rebel army in this country have been given commands in Maximilian's service are contradicted.

Richard D. Pool, formerly lieutenant colonel of the Fourth Alabama regiment and recently released from Fort Warren, was on Sunday committed by Justice Dodge, of New York, on charge of having attempted to pass at the bar of an unknown hotel a worthless one dollar bill purporting to be the issue of the Allegheny County Bank, of Maryland. Other worthless bills were found in the prisoner's possession.

A railroad passenger train was thrown from the track near Lynn, Massachusetts, on Friday night, by a misplaced switch. As the train was running slowly, no person was injured, but about twenty thousand dollars worth of damage was done to railroad property by the consequent wreck.

We regret to state, says the Petersburg Express, that Cicero, aged twelve or fourteen years, son of Mr. James King, of this city, was accidentally, but it is feared, very seriously, shot yesterday afternoon near his father's slaughter pen, in Pocahontas.

At a meeting of citizens in San Antonio, on the 16th, to inaugurate means to provide a homestead in Texas for Gen. J. B. Hood, it was recommended that a subscription for that purpose be opened in every county in the State.

Mr. Robert Patterson, a well known citizen of Petersburg, died on Monday afternoon. The deceased was a native of Scotland, but has resided in Petersburg for the last fifteen years.

Judge Underwood, of Va., has arrived home at Alexandria, having made an extended Northern tour. The Daily News of Jackson, Mississippi, has hoisted the name of Andrew Johnson for next President. Hon. C. J. Faulkner was bitten by a snake while walking near his house at Martinsburg a few days ago.

General Longstreet passed through Eatonton, Alabama, last week to visit a relative in Mississippi. Burr W. Harrison, a prominent lawyer of Loudoun county, Va., died on Tuesday last. A child has been born in Portland with sixteen toes. That boy will toe the mark.

FUNERAL OF GEN. SCHMIDT.—The remains of Brigadier General Schmitt, of the 4th Pennsylvania Cavalry, who died at the Spring Water Cure Establishment, near Wernersville, Berks county, on Thursday morning last, were brought to this city this afternoon, and interred with military honors. General S. entered the army as colonel of the 4th Pennsylvania Cavalry in 1861, and was made a Brigadier in January, 1863. He commanded a brigade in Schurz's Division at the battles of Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, and his forces were the first to enter Charleston in February, 1865. He was relieved of the command of that city on account of ill-health caused by a consumptive affection contracted in the service.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT IN MAINE.—Augusta, Maine, September 9.—The billiard tournament for the championship of this State, which has been in session for the past week, terminated to-night as follows: The first prize of a gold cue, valued at $200, and the championship, to Robert T. Williams, of Bangor. The second prize of a silver cue, valued at $100, to E. Goldfry, of Bangor. The third prize of a silver goblet, valued at $50, to Charles E. Smith, of Augusta.

Mr. Smith, of Augusta, has challenged the winner of the cue to play him a match game for $200 and the championship. THE CRUELITIES AT ANDERSONVILLE. ATTEMPTED INTERFERENCE BY ALEX. STEPHENS.—The Evening Post says it has been informed that Alex. Stephens, of New York, has made an appeal directly to Jeff. Davis for leave to examine the Andersonville Prison, and authority to remedy the abuses; that he represented to Davis the wrongs and cruelties committed there, but received for reply that the officers in command were capable and trustworthy men, and should not be interfered with, for which reason Mr. Stephens' requests were denied.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—From New Orleans we learn that a "nigger" took a ride in the white man's car. Nobody hurt. ARE THEY GOING?—We refer, reader, to your teeth. Be careful. Next to your eyes, your teeth are the most precious of your facial organs. Use the Fragrant Soap. It will do you good, and prevent your not more sure spots from being on your face. It will save and beautify your teeth. And it is the only thing that can save them. Reflect on this.
