BIG CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM BOOKED

ren have been enlisted, gives added interest to the announcement the Percy Mackaye's "Sanctuary" will be presented by a complete cast on "Bird Masque Night," with Ernest Harold Baynes, to whom the play was dedicated, in the character of Shy, the naturalist, Percy Vivian, so well remembered for his excellent acting with the Ben Greets in former years, will take the part of the Faun. Bird stories and nature studies will be taken up at the Children's Hour each morning looking forward to the Masque and the pageant by the children in connection with it.

The value of the drama in community life will be further illustrated and emphasized on the third night of the Chautauqua by an address by Harold Heaton followed by three one-act plays by the Parish Players with special staging and lighting effects. The four members of the cast are actors of high standing in the profession and will give a fine presentation of these modern plays. As this is Shakespeare's year, the morning hour lectures will be devoted to the discussion of his genius and the principles and practice of dramatic art. It is evident that the drama will receive full recognition both as a literary form and as a force in American life.

Among the other popular features of the program may be mentioned, Everett Kemp in an interpretation of J. G. Holland's great war-time play, "Sevenoaks"; Weatherwax Brothers Male Quartet, one of the best known quartets now before the public; the Schumann Quintet, which is a classical chamber-music organization having a high reputation in the musical world; The White Hussars, a fine band playing the highest quality of band music; popular lectures by old and new favorites, such as Allen D. Albert, editor and actor of national reputation, Dr. E. T. Hagerman, a divine in his denomination, William R. Bennett, widely known as "The Man Who Can," etc., etc.

We cannot better close this review of the program of "Chautauqua Week" than in the words of an editorial in the Kenton, Ohio, News-Republican:

"Remember when you spend money for a Chautauqua ticket you are investing in something that brings dividends. Education is the best purchase that money can buy. 'Yes, we know what so many say about needing the time for business and all that. But remember that all business and no relaxation makes real estate valuable in the graveyards, too, because people who never relax, collapse before their time. 'The average man spends more for cigars within two weeks than it costs to purchase a Chautauqua ticket which would enable him to see and hear some of the most noted men and women in America, men and women who are shaping the public opinion of our nation, and who are making history. 'How much would most of us gladly give if we could hear Beecher, or Gough, or Wendell Phillips, or the great Father Vaughan, who died a little while ago at Dubuque? When you spend your money for a circus you spend it for something which gives you a few thrills maybe, but that is about all. When you spend the little money asked for a Chautauqua ticket you have something left in your brain and heart that will glow and make of you a nobler and more enlightened, more efficient citizen."

MILADY'S FASHION IN COMING SEASON

Robinson Receives Bulletin From National Makers of Women's Apparel

YOUTHFUL FIGURE TO PREVAIL

Short Skirts Will Still be in Vogue, With Flaring Wing Effects and Colors

A graceful youthful figure. That is the aim of every woman who wants to be in style, this spring. This does not mean that women will try to look like sixteen-year-old girls. Rather, they will choose clothes that give graceful, youthful lines, lines that indicate the natural pose, activity and attractiveness of young womanhood.

Skillful tailoring has much to do with the graceful curves of youth. And just as the good cook requires the best ingredients for her cakes, so the expert tailors require the best materials for garments that they recommend to stylish dressers.

Fashion's Prominent Features

In suits and coats, the most fashionable features are the incurve at the waist, without being close fitting, and the sharply flared rippling below the waistline.

Many jackets and coats have almost a wing-like flare. This feature is carried out in a smaller way in the flared cuffs which finish the new bell sleeves.

Plain materials and checks are preferred for suits. The plain materials are frequently ornamented with silk embroidery and inlays of taffeta.

For short coats there are new novelty weaves of white wool and fancy coating in navy, Copenhagen, Holland blue, old rose, maize, green and red. Silks are very fashionable and promise to grow more popular as the season advances.

Smartest Skirts are Short

As skirts are all fuller, either in circular models are plaited, they give the smartest appearance when worn quite short.

Eight to ten inches from the ground is the most fashionable length. Even conservative woman will wear their skirts six inches from the ground. The new short skirts are most convenient. With trim footwear and hosiery to match, they are genteel and very pleasing in appearance.

Latitude in Choice of Hats

Wide latitude in choice of hats marks the early showing of spring millinery.

The tailored hat of satin or combinations of straw with satin or silk will be most in favor for early spring wear.

Chic little sailors, with closely rolled brims, are equally stylish, however.

But all the early hats fit close to the head, and many of the silk models have high crowns.

The suit is a Wooltex suit. It is one of many handsome models of suits and coats shown by D. W. Robinson.

against the home team could hardly be laid to the pitcher. Johnson and Dewey who took the box in the beginning of the sixth inning threw a good ball but were far behind the big Coleman man who had complete control over his ball.

Of the eleven innings played to complete the game, Alma was in the lead 6 points till the ninth inning when the score was tied by the visitors. The tenth inning played tie with no runs and the eleventh saw the Mt. Pleasant team cross the home plate three times, giving them the victory by so many points.

The batting and pitching of the Alma team were of the highest order, and the general work of the team showed excellent material in the team. But one thing is sure, that the boys will have to put in a lot of hard back yard practice learning how to drop a man on a base and quit making errors.

Following is a summary of the game: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 R Mt. Pleasant 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 2 0 3 9 Alma College 5 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 6 6

TIME TO PLANT EVERGREENS

Repeatedly The Exchange has drawn attention to the crying need of a more liberal use of evergreen trees in the planting of landscapes, home grounds and gardens. It has been pointed out that travelers from Europe are much struck by the bareness of the landscape in many parts of the Eastern States, to mention these only, but the nakedness of things becomes forgotten and is acquiesced in. Recently, however, we had this fact brought again to mind, this time by a Californian who had come across the country early in March while the landscape was white and desolate, who remarked upon the paucity, not to say total absence, of evergreen trees, including pines, spruces and the cypress family, in so much of the land that meets the eye as one travels along. It is certainly a fact that the planting of a few million more evergreen trees, both for shelter and adornment, if not for the provision of lumber, would be highly advantageous and a real blessing to the countryside.

As we are now in the season, or immediately approaching it, when conifers and all soft woods can be planted most successfully, it is surely well for us to consider how much we in our sphere or locality can do for improvement in this direction.—Florists' Exchange.

Empty but Flattering Title.

The Term "Bully."

The term bully in the days of Shakespeare had quite a different meaning from that which it has at present, being an expression of endearment and good fellowship. Some suppose that the word, when it is used in approval, is derived from the Dutch word or German bulle, which stands for the English word, bull. The harsher use of the word is, however, to be traced to below, the root of bull, with a significance of noisy blustering.

PAVLOWA, FAMOUS RUSSIAN DANCER TO BE AT SAGINAW

Imperial Russian Ballet at the Auditorium on Thursday Evening May, 4th

The theatre loving people of Alma will have the privilege of seeing the great Russian Ballet dancer, who will appear in our sister city, Saginaw, on the evening of May 4th.

The attraction will be staged at the auditorium by the Boston Grand Opera company, featuring the Pavlowa Imperial Russian Ballet Russe.

The same great artists will be with this combined organization of over two hundred members, all of whom contributed to the triumphs gained in New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore and St. Louis. There will be the same orchestra, the chorus which critics pronounced one of the finest ever heard and the artistic executives whose abilities helped to make the achievement of the Boston opera and the Pavlowa Ballet the most comprehensive undertaking known. The public of this city may rest assured that the same excellence that marked the successes elsewhere will be equaled in what is to be done here.

Pavlowa is Pavlowa, to say more superfluous. Her Ballet is the same admirable organization in personnel and numbers that she has always presented the public and her principal premier danseur is that splendid artist, M. Alexander Volinine.

There will be shown during the present trans-continental tour of the Boston Grand Opera company and the Pavlowa Ballet Russe the most pretentious array of scenic production ever assembled outside New York and Boston (save, of course, those cities recently visited by this organization); for these settings, designed and executed by one of the most celebrated artists living—Josef Urban—are of a quality which the great grand opera companies have not heretofore carried outside their own homes.

City mail orders and out of town mail orders filled in order of receipt now. Send remittances with self-addressed stamped envelope to Boston Grand Opera Company, Auditorium, Saginaw. Regular seat sale opens at box office, Auditorium, Monday, May 1st.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Waste and neglect in the average apple orchard are plain evidence of bad farming. An orchard of a single acre if properly managed will give a revenue of $200 or $300 yearly, and besides this it is important to the owner's family. Fruit trees should receive intelligent care.

Orchards are not sprayed and pruned in a systematic way, because this kind of work can be put off, and there is always something else demanding attention. Good farming gives every feature on the place due attention, whether the product is for market or merely for home use. If this be done the fruit in small orchards will be sounder and more uniform than it usually is, the family will get increased benefit from it and revenue will be gained at the rate of at least $200 an acre.

When orchards are neglected the fruit deteriorates in quality, and much of it is allowed to rot on the ground. Even the farmer's family gets only a meager supply. An apple orchard ought to be an object of pride, and if the owner feels that he is too busy to attend to it he should turn it over to his wife or to the young people in the family. Most likely they will get some good experience and quite a little profit thereby.

All farmers and their families should study up on canning methods so that surplus fruit can be saved in the most profitable way. This is equally important with spraying and pruning. Canned apples are in general demand. Cider and cider vinegar are also readily sold at good prices. It is wrong to let good fruit go to waste when it is so greatly needed by the human family.

It is possible to pick up windfalls and make cider of them or sell them to the canning houses. It is still better to can them at home, but in many instances they are allowed to go to waste, although in all cities and villages and often in the open country there are many worthy families, some of them destitute, who would be greatly encouraged and helped by a few bushels or barrels.

The cause of poor hatches of poultry is a much discussed question. A poor hatch is more apt to be due to the condition of the eggs previous to hatching than to incubation, although improper handling of either factor will produce the same results. When eggs fail to hatch an investigation should be made to see if the breeding stock is kept under conditions which tend to produce strong, fertile germs in the eggs. A daily temperature record should be kept of each machine. The operator can thus compare the temperature at which the machines have been kept. This may prove valuable in future work, especially if the brooder records can be checked back against those of the incubator.

The climate of the central northern states is well suited to the quince, and almost any of the soils that are rich enough to grow good crops of corn, potatoes or garden stuff would be in right condition. It may be heavy clay or of a sandy nature, for this tree will flourish in either kind. Plenty of rich, and well rotted stable manure will help the soil. The trees may be planted in the spring or fall, the latter being preferred, because the trees get well settled in the ground and start early to grow the next spring. The proper distance apart to set the trees is about twenty feet. They should begin to bear in about five years from the time of planting, but may do so a little earlier if well treated. The Orange and Meech are two of the best early kinds, and Champion and Van Deman are good late ones.

Rhubarb From Seed.

The usual practice is to propagate rhubarb from pieces of root, but it is practical and easy to grow the plants from seed. By planting seed in very rich, well prepared soil where the plants are to remain permanently stalks may be had ready for cutting about as soon as when root planting is followed.

Not Easy to Explain.

"That boy of mine is always asking questions." "Oh, well, perhaps he wants to learn something." "Maybe so, but his inquisitiveness is rather distressing to me at times." "He insists on being told what his mother means when she calls me a 'jelly fish,' a 'matrimonial midget' and a 'human tank.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.
