WHAT A CONGRESSMAN SAYS

"We want, and we are going to get, too, the highest-class men in America to come into our Peace time army just as they flocked to the colors in time of stress—for we have something tangible, to offer the man who elects to enter the military service these days. The Army has the machinery to take him in hand, show him his weaknesses, discover his strength, teach him a trade or profession, and give him a start in the right direction, it's the school of opportunity, and I earnestly recommend it to every young man in America."—Representative Julius Kahn, of California.
The following men have enlisted in the past month at Alma:
Melbourne A. Dayton, Alma, 715 First street (Branch), 77th Field Artillery, Camp Lewis, Wash. 3 years; Edward E. Johnson, Elwell, Mich., 14th Infantry, Panama, 3 years; Orva F. Bowen, Clare, Mich., 14th Infantry, Panama, 3 years; Homer E. White, Clare, Mich., 14th Infantry, Panama, 3 years; Lyman C. Swears, Breckenridge, Mich., 77th Field Artillery, 3 years; Carl A. Bovee, Merrill, Mich., 14th Infantry, 3 years; Teddy R. Baird, Wheeler, Mich., 29th Infantry, 3 years.
The new peace time army is the place to get an education in most any vocation one wishes to take up, so if anyone is looking to better themselves call at the recruiting station at Alma.

A Reliable Remedy for Colds and Croup.
It would surprise you to know the number of people who use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. J. N. Rose, Verona, Pa., writes "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used by myself and husband for a number of years for coughs and colds. I also gave it to my little granddaughter three and a half years of age when she had croup last winter. It broke up the attack at once. I have recommended this remedy to many of my friends and neighbors who have also used it with good results.—72-4w.

GOOD WILL TRIUMPHANT UNDER TEST

As this message is being written, Dodge Brothers' daily, weekly and monthly production, is at the highest point in its history.

The most casual sort of inquiry will satisfy you that this production is being absorbed as it is delivered.

Within sight and sound as we write, a great addition to Dodge Brothers' immense works, is being rushed to completion.

The interesting thing about this situation is, that it is not likely that a half a hundred people have ever bought Dodge Brothers Motor Car just because they wanted a motor car.

Of the more than half a million who have bought it—the overwhelming majority did so because of the name it bore.

It has always been treated, by the American people in particular, as an exception—always set apart, and singled out, and never judged by ordinary standards.

It has always been thought of, and is still thought of, first, and foremost, and all the time, only in terms of its goodness, and the results it gives.

All of this is wonderful, in one way, and quite natural and logical in another.

It all dates back to the day when John and Horace Dodge conceived and designed and finally built the car—after warning each other, and their associates, not even to think of it in any other terms than the best obtainable value.

They began with a few almost absurdly simple principles, bluntly expressed and rigidly executed, about decency and honor and integrity—such as most of us wrote in our copy books at school.

They reduced these old copy book maxims to a splendid and scientific system, pouring more, and more, and still more value into the car, and then marshalling all the resources of modern massed manufacture to get their product into the hands of the people at an honorable and an honest cost.

These policies and principles have never been changed, and never will be changed, by so much as a hair's breadth; and they have come to be recognized and accepted as Dodge Brothers principles wherever motor cars are driven.

It has all happened as John and Horace Dodge planned it—quite simply, naturally, and automatically, all over America, and all over the world.

People do discriminate, as Dodge Brothers contended they would; people will find out when a motor car is well built and gives good service and great good value.

Dodge Brothers market today is where they planned to locate and establish it—in the mind and the heart of every man and woman who admires good work, well done.

It will last, and it will keep on growing, as it has kept on growing for five years (faster than Dodge Brothers works could keep pace with it), as long as the number of those who believe that a manufacturer should build to serve and not merely to sell, continues to increase.

All is well with Dodge Brothers today, because John and Horace Dodge build well in the beginning, and because their business will continue to build well until the end.
