The following preamble and resolutions, adopted at a mass meeting of the citizens of Washington, on the 27th day of September last, present the general sentiments of the "American party" in this city, and will doubtless be read with interest by the friends of American principles throughout the country, to wit:

Resolved, that a public meeting of citizens of Washington, held on the 18th instant, upon a call made in and approved by the Executive office, the proceedings of which, in the resolutions and in the public employment of such officers as entertain disapproved views, are now spread before the public eye in the columns of said organ, and its kindred presses, with approbation; and whereas said resolutions, however dissimilar in abstract principle, are in their practical effect, dear to the American heart and necessary to the safety of the constitution and to the peace and prosperity of our country; and whereas the Executive is invoked therein to remove from public employment such officers as entertain disapproved views, thereby to perpetrate a ruthless proscription of both Whigs and Democrats for a honest difference of opinion; therefore

Resolved, that the professions of love to the constitution and to civil and religious freedom, when contradicted by actions, cannot deceive the sensible and vigilant guardians of American liberty, whose apprehensions have been excited at beholding the Executive, who have been made toward a complete control of our government by the subjects of a foreign potentate well-known as the avowed enemy of our whole American system, to whose overthrow they are solemnly devoted.

Resolved, that, as vigilant custodians of that beneficent system of civil and religious freedom bequeathed to us by the fathers of the republic, it is our duty to meet and repel all incursions upon our liberties as well as all open assaults; and that we view with indignation and alarm the assertion of principles and purposes, on the part of the recognized Executive, which are in direct violation of the sacred rights of our citizens, and which are in direct violation of the sacred rights of our citizens, and which are in direct violation of the sacred rights of our citizens.

Resolved, that while, in the past political divisions of the country, as Whigs and Democrats, we have struggled in honest combat over contested principles, we are now united in the face of the present crisis of danger to all that both parties hold dear we will bury every remembrance of past opposition, and pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor, to maintain the rights of our country, and to see that our country shall be freed from the dangers that now menace it.

Resolved, that we proclaim, as the cardinal principles of our political and moral creed, a sacred regard to the rights of the people, and that we are based on our glorious American principles—freedom of speech, freedom of opinion, freedom of conscience, freedom of the press, together with a school system free from sectarian influences, and a free Bible as the rule of faith and practice, holding as an established principle that intelligence and virtue are essential to the success of a free government.

Resolved, that we welcome to our country the victims of tyranny from foreign lands, and offer them a place by our side under the shield of our constitution, we claim for Americans the right to govern their own country; and those who do not like our present laws, let them consent to go elsewhere in the pursuit of happiness.

Resolved, that the fourth resolution of the meeting at Curtis's Saloon, recommending to the President of the United States, that he should remove from office all members of the association of Know Nothings—a recommendation which, before its adoption, was recognized and acted upon by the Executive of the United States, is an alarming and dangerous infringement of the principles of self-government, and calls for the prompt and decisive rebuke of all the free citizens of these United States, without distinction of party, sect, or denomination.

Resolved, that every Protestant denomination in the United States maintains the constitutional principle of a separation of Church and State—in which principle many of our citizens are now engaged, and which, on the other hand, the Papal Church abroad openly, and always, and everywhere maintains the doctrine of obedience of the civil to the ecclesiastical authority, both in Europe and America; and any attempt to unite the two, or to merge the two, is a dangerous and dangerous infringement of the principles of self-government, and calls for the prompt and decisive rebuke of all the free citizens of these United States, without distinction of party, sect, or denomination.

Resolved, that upon those principles we appeal from the opinions whose proclamation is a sacred regard to the rights of the people of the United States; and, although we might infer they are an exponent of executive feelings, from the official positions of those who controlled the proceedings, yet we will leave that to the President, who alone has the power to arrest the proscription already begun of faithful office-holders, both Democrats and Whigs, for daring to entertain American and Protestant sentiments, and to reject the necessary suggestion made to him by the fourth resolution of the meeting last week, as a covert scheme to gratify the appetite of office-seekers at the expense of many who zealously and efficiently aided in his elevation to the presidency, and whose removal under existing circumstances will fix an indelible stain upon him as a man and as the President of the United States.

Resolved, that having seen the denunciations that almost daily issue from certain presses and offices of the "Unionists" of the North, who are denounced as absorbed in "the traitorous factions" which distract those States, by which they are one after another being placed in opposition to the administration, and whose removal is necessary to the safety and prosperity of our country, believing, as we do, that it is high time the career of interested and unscrupulous demagogues should be checked, and the government be placed in the hands of men acquainted with its character and spirit, and who only value its countless blessings.

And whereas we believe in the competency, ability, and right of American-born citizens to govern their own country, therefore

Resolved, that we will not vote for, nor assist in elevating foreigners by birth to office of trust, emolument, or honor under our government; nor will we vote for, nor assist in elevating to such offices any American-born citizens who recognize or hold themselves out as any allegiance whatever to any foreign prince, potentate, power, or authority.

Resolved, that the naturalization laws ought to be fully executed, and that the term of residence before admission to the rights of citizenship be extended to the period of twenty-one years.

OUR PRINCIPLES.

First. We shall advocate a repeal of the laws of naturalization, or if that cannot be accomplished, then such a modification of those laws, as will prevent future immigrants from becoming citizens, short of a residence of twenty-one years, after taking the oath of allegiance to the United States, and of abjuration of all other powers, potentates, and princes.

Second. We shall advocate the passage of a stringent law by Congress to prevent the immigration hither of foreigners, who are either paupers or criminals, and to send back to the countries from which they come all such foreigners of these classes as may, in violation of such law, hereafter reach our ports; and to require the President of the United States to demand from any government, which may send hither such classes of its subjects, immediate and ample satisfaction for such outrage, and a proper indemnity against the repetition thereof.

Third. We shall oppose the election or appointment of any foreign-born citizen to any office of trust, honor or emolument, under the Federal or State governments, or the employment or enlistment of such persons in the army or navy in time of war; maintaining, as we do the opinion, that the native-born citizens of the United States have the right to govern the land of their birth; and that all immigrants from abroad should be content with the enjoyment of life, liberty and property, under our institutions, without seeking to participate in the enactment, administration, or execution of our laws.

Fourth. We shall advocate and urge the adoption of such an amended form of an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and, to be administered to all persons elected or appointed to any office of trust, honor, or emolument, under the Federal or State governments, as will effectually exclude from such offices all persons, who shall not directly and explicitly recognize the obligations and binding force of the Constitution of the United States, as paramount to all obligations of adhesion or allegiance to any foreign prince, power, potentate, or authority whatever, under any and all circumstances.

Fifth. We shall maintain the doctrine that no one of the States of this Union has the right to admit to the enjoyment of free suffrage any person of foreign birth, who has not been first made a citizen of the United States, according to the "uniform rule" of naturalization prescribed by Congress, under the provisions of the constitution.

Sixth. We shall oppose, now and hereafter, any "union of Church and State," no matter what class of religionists shall seek to bring about such union.

Seventh. We shall vigorously maintain the equal rights of all persons, of native or foreign birth, and shall at all times oppose the slightest interference with such vested rights.

Eighth. We shall oppose and protest against all abridgment of religious liberty, holding it as a cardinal maxim, that religious faith is a question between each individual and his God, and over which no political government, or other human power, can rightfully exercise any supervision or control, at any time, in any place, or in any form.

Ninth. We shall oppose all "higher law" doctrines, by which the constitution is to be set at naught, violated, or disregarded, whether by politicians, by religionists, or by the adherents to either, or by any other class of persons.

Tenth. We shall maintain and defend the constitution as it stands, the Union as it exists, and the rights of the States, without diminution as guaranteed thereby; opposing at all times, and to the extent of our ability and influence, all who may assail them, or either of them.

Eleventh. We shall oppose no man, and sustain no man, on the ground of his opposition to, or his support of, Democratic measures, or Whig measures; but we shall oppose those who oppose our doctrines, and sustain those who sustain our doctrines.

Twelfth. And lastly, we shall use our utmost exertions to build up an "American party," whose maxim shall be:

AMERICANS SHALL RULE THEIR COUNTRY!

PROSPECTUS OF THE "AMERICAN ORGAN."

A Daily and Weekly Paper, published in Washington City, D. C., by AN ASSOCIATION OF NATIVE AMERICANS.

WE have reached an important crisis in our political history. The two leading parties in our country, hitherto separated by broad lines, either of principle or of policy, differ now scarcely in any thing but in name.

A National Plan, formerly an essential point of difference between rival parties, has now no advocates. A Protective Tariff for the sake of protection, which constituted the basis and the National Councils, has become obsolete, as a question of party policy, simply because a "revenue tariff" affords a modification of the details of our present tariff system in all that is demanded by the most strenuous advocates of protection to American Industry.

The distribution of the proceeds of the public lands among the several States, as formerly claimed by one party, and the appropriation of those proceeds solely in aid of the national Treasury, as claimed by the other party, have both yielded to a compromise of these conflicting opinions, so far, at least, as to sink these questions into the general question of a "quasi-sovereignty," of "graduation," and of a "surrender to the States" in which they lie, seems likely to withdraw the public lands from the arena of future party contentions.

The improvement of harbors and rivers by congressional aid, on which political parties have hitherto differed at different times, has now become a question of principle than of local and sectional contest; and, in the future, progress, and next Congress, upon that basis of liberality and justice demanded by the spirit of the age and the true interests of the country.

But new issues have arisen, having no reference to the party organizations of Whigs and Democrats—issues which are vastly important in their bearing upon the future welfare of the country—and which issues must be decided, progress, and next Congress, upon that basis of liberality and justice demanded by the spirit of the age and the true interests of the country.
