Works of Nature.—In a state of health the intestinal canal may be compared to a river whose waters flow over the adjoining land, thro' the channels nature or art has made, and improve their qualities; so long as it runs smoothly the channels are kept pure and healthy; if the course of the river is stopped, then the water in the canals is no longer pure, but soon becomes stagnant. There is but one law of circulation in nature. When there is a superabundance of humoral fluid in the intestinal tubes, constiveness takes place, it flows black into the blood vessels, and infiltrates itself into the circulation. To establish the free course of the river, we must remove the obstructions which stop its free course, and those of its tributary streams. With the body, follow the same natural principle—remove the obstructions from the bowels with BRANDRETH'S PILLS, which never injure, but are always effectual for the perfect cleansing of the system from foulness or disease. Remember, never suffer a drop of blood to be taken from you. Evacuate the humors as often and as long as they are deranged, or as long as you are sick.

See that B. BRANDRETH is in white letters on the Government stamp. Sold by all Druggists. July 3, 1866. 46-1m
