TARBORO, N. C. AN ELECTION FOR ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY DELEGATES TO A CONVENTION TO REVISE THE STATE CONSTITUTION WILL BE HELD ON THE FIRST THURSDAY OF AUGUST, 1875.

FOR THE CONVENTION: FREDERICK PHILIPS, AND JAMES H. EXUM.

"We should so live that none will believe those who speak ill of us." - PLATO.

There is a Judge in North Carolina, one Moore by name, who is believed to be a man of respectable ability. If it is fair to assume that he is also something of a scholar, perhaps he has met with the above quotation in the works of the renowned Plato. We should guess so at any rate. He defers to public opinion in such a grand measure that his general conduct disarms every accuser. He so lives that none will believe those who speak ill of him. Who can say aught against his incorruptibility, his impartiality, his unbiased judgment, his serene temper, his modesty! Surely not one, if so, let him stand forth. Now hear us for our cause. He is making a strong effort to represent Washington county in the convention. There is of course nothing improper or immodest in that! Some folks think that a man who fills a position likely to be touched upon by a body of constitution-makers should not be a member, that it is immodest in him to run as a delegate; but they are mistaken. One of the first laws of nature is self-defence. A man should look out for himself. Moore should be there to take care of his judgeship and all the other judges to take care of theirs. Certainly they should be there. All the honest and sober-minded men in the state fill these or some other positions. A convention without them would be a farce. For instance, how could this convention get along without the said Moore. Certainly he should be a member, and certainly the Washington county republicans should elect him. There should be at least one member to dignify the body—a man who so lives that no one will believe those who speak ill of him. Perhaps the good people all over the State would give him the same reputation. We should know and we don't like to cry. Save us the misfortune, ye republicans of Washington!

The Canvass in Ohio.

The Republicans of Ohio have evidently planned their campaign in the interest of the candidacy for the Presidential succession of Vice President Wilson, the champion of bigotry and prohibition, the Know Nothing and C. s. s. The most conspicuous plank in the platform seek to inflame religious animosities, and arouse sectarian bitterness; the next most efficient weapon upon which reliance is placed, is the movement to enforce total abstinence not only by law, but by crusading hands, and other destructive instrumentalities resorted to by insane fanatics. The Wilson type of Republicanism thus takes precedence; and special pains are taken to exclude its opponents from any participation in the canvass, not only by the allegations provoked by this crazy policy, but by impudent methods of treating the third term question, and by movements which must excite the alarm of all the Conservatives. It is impossible that the crusading bigots should succeed in a State noted for its liberality.

The Columbia (South Carolina) Union Herald, a radical paper, having gone into raptures over what it terms the prosperity of the State, compared with that of other States, the Charles on News and Courier pointedly remarks: "With an honest government since 1868, and without corrupt radicalism, South Carolina would have been today a hundred million dollars richer than she is. More than that sum have her people lost during the past six years by taxation, by stealing, and by depreciation of property. We have turned the corner, however, and the future is bright, whatever the darkness of the remote and recent past."

The Republicans in Southern Iowa, according to a correspondent desire a man for Governor who has a commanding presence, is plentiful in gold and high-falootin—who will make a sensation at the Centennial.

State Taxation.

This short article from the Baltimore Sun is interesting, and will be read with profit by our people. We have rarely seen more valuable information compressed in so small a space, and in so convenient a shape for reference:

"A table recently prepared from official statements for 1873 and 1874 gives the taxable valuations and the rates of taxation in the several States, as varying all the way from 10 cents on the $100 in Connecticut to $2 15 on the $100 in Louisiana. The rate is 50 cents in Alabama, Arkansas, California, Maine, Minnesota, Texas, and Virginia; 40 cents in Georgia, Kansas, Ohio and Tennessee; 70 cents in Florida, 10 cents in Connecticut, 24 cents in Illinois, 15 cents in Maryland, 22 cents in Michigan, $1 12 1/2 in Nevada, 72 1/2 cents in New York, 15 cents in Oregon, 20 cents in Rhode Island, and 70 cents in South Carolina.

Hard Times.

The New York Herald winds up a long editorial with these consolatory reflections: "Our condition just now is that of a man who has a handsome income and lives in a small house. Such a man has not long to wait before he is master of the situation. He is already prosperous. And so is the country at the present moment. It is substantially in a sound condition. It would bear losses to-day far better than three years ago. It is richer now than it has been since 1861. A bad crop would distress us less this year than it would have done in 1871 or 1872. We have put a stop to the ongo, and our income is so great that only prudent economy and sound business management are needed to bring us back to a well-earned prosperity. It will be some years before we are ready to enter another speculation, and those who understand by prosperity notions of living at the expense of others will have to wait a while. For them the times will continue to be hard; but for legitimate industry the present promises to be the last hard year, and if we could be certain of sure wholesome and needed reforms in the government, which would give rest and good government to the South and a sound currency to the nation, our period of hard times would be substantially at an end."

Mr. Beverly Johnson, of Baltimore.

Mr. Beverly Johnson, of Baltimore has written to the New York Herald a criticism of President Grant's third term-letter. He holds that the limitation of the office of two terms is binding from long established usage, and says: "I think it may, with perfect justice, be said that if the convention which framed the Constitution had anticipated the enormous extent of the official patronage which in time would necessarily be vested in the President, that they would have limited the term to six or eight years, and have rendered the incumbent ineligible. The idea of the President that the safety of the country may demand the re-election of a President for a third term in my opinion, is an idle conceit, having no other support but the most egregious vanity. Mr. Johnson does not think it probable that President Grant will be re-nominated or re-elected a third term."

Government instructions are freely tendered to the Commission that is to treat with the Sioux Indians for relinquishing their rights in Nebraska and the Black Hills.

The general theory of these instructions seems to be to make as cheap as possible. As nobody is yet certain whether the Black Hills are really worth anything, their present value will probably be estimated by the offering price, if the Indians are willing to make an offer; if they stick to the policy propounded by Spotted Tail, to give nothing until they are sure of their money, the negotiations are likely to be prolonged.

It has been discovered by United States officers on duty in Texas, that Gen. Cortina has been shipping large quantities of beef from Mexico to Cuba, stolen chiefly from Texas. Cortina's resignation as a Mexican army officer has been accepted, it is stated, an attempt will be made to remove him from the Rio Grande border, but he is determined to keep his position in the vicinity of the spoils. Capt. McNelly, of the Texas troops, with a few men pursued and killed twelve Mexican cattle thieves a few days ago, recapturing 250 head of cattle.

A canvass of opinion among the fifty-seven journalists employed in reporting the Beecher trial showed that forty-two regarded Mr. Beecher as guilty, eleven were non-committal, and four were convinced of his innocence.

With the impartial mind of the world, secular or religious, no additional testimony is necessary to convict Henry Ward Beecher of the great moral crime with which he stands charged before the court tribunal of his country. But the additional and startling testimony just developed in the columns of the New York papers, is sufficient to shake the faith even of Plymouth church, if, indeed, it ever had any honest faith. The verdict of the jury, with its suborned foreman, whatever it may be, will never reverse the opinion of the world as to Beecher's crime and hypocrisy.

The procession in connection with the Centennial Celebration of the battle of Bunker Hill, on the 17th instant, promises to be of imposing dimensions. All the Massachusetts militia, about 6,500 men, will be in column, and half as many more are expected from other States. Civic organizations, numbering 10,000 men, have already reported their intention of being present, besides the various trades, who will send wagons with men working at their various vocations.

Miss Alice M. Singer, daughter of the sewing machine inventor, was married on Wednesday in South Devon, England, to W. A. P. La Grove, formerly of Brooklyn. It is stated that the bride's dowry is one million dollars, in addition to which she received ten thousand dollars' worth of diamonds. Her wedding dress cost one thousand dollars, and each of the six bridesmaids received a dress worth two hundred and fifty dollars from Mr. Singer.

The Black Hills expedition, which has been organizing in Philadelphia for some weeks past, will start upon its venturesome mission in a comparatively unexplored and unknown country.
