CATCH PHRASES.

Their Utility in Advancing the Interests of Business Men.

There are many instances of where a suitable catch line well drilled into people has been of great value in building business. The best catch line is one that fits your business best, and the discoverer of such a line is apt to be due more to inspiration than to effort. Pick the distinctive feature of your stock or business methods and endeavor to express it in a breath.

If you can coin a phrase that expresses your central business idea or emphasizes some feature that marks your store alone, you can make good use of it. It puts into condensed form an idea that will get hold of people and influence them if persistently presented to them. One fact about your business well lodged in the heads of people is as good as a score that do not penetrate.

You can make people believe about what you like if you go about it properly. If a man comes to you today and tells you there will be a panic inside of six months, you will pay no attention to him. If another comes tomorrow with the same story, he will get no attention, but you will idly wonder what is getting into folks. The third man you will argue the matter with. The fourth will get more of a hearing, and you will begin to see signs of disaster yourself. By the time the tenth man has made the statement you will be ready to tell folks the same story yourself.

Probably you yourself could not be influenced in such a manner, but the common run of people are built that way and will believe what they are told often enough. That is why an expressive catch phrase does good. It comes to stand for you and your methods and of necessity is remembered when goods in your line are wanted.

As ordinarily used such a phrase is of little value, because it is not properly hammered into people. Such a line should go on letter heads, billheads, stationery, envelopes, should go into every ad. or circular, should be seen about the store and should appear on labels. Put it on a sticker to attach to goods and packages. Let people see it everywhere. If it means what it says, people are going to respond to it.—American Druggist.

An Optimistic Cripple.

A one legged newsboy had been hopping about on his crutch selling afternoon "extras," and when there was a lull in the business, owing to a falling off in the crowds, he sat down for a brief rest.

"How did you lose your leg?" I asked.

"Cable car," he said, with the street urchin's characteristic economy of words.

"Too bad!" I remarked.

"Oh, but it might 'a' been worse, sir," the boy replied. "The company paid the doctor and gave mother $800. That paid all our debts and left us $500 in bank, and it's all there 'cept $40 we had to take out when mother was sick, and I sell more papers than most of the boys, just 'cause I've a crutch. There's one of my customers now."—New York Times.

GEOLOGY OF THE STATE.

Interesting Volume Prepared by Prof. Willard of Normal School of State Geology.

Explanation of the Geological Formation of the Various Parts of the State.

Story of the Geological Changes From the Earliest Time to the Present Period.

In his book recently published, "The Story of the Parishes," Prof. D. E. Willard of the state normal school at Mayville has put into interesting and readable form, the geological features and peculiarities of the state of North Dakota, and the manner of the formation of the several sections of the state. There is an absence of dry technicalities in the book, which is written to be understood and appreciated by the layman, who is interested in the manner of the formation of the state. Prof. Willard has spent his vacations for a number of years traveling through the state, many of his trips having been made on a bicycle, and he has been able thus to study the various parts of the state from the standpoint of the geologist and to arrive at a scientific explanation of the differing formations that exist.

It would be impossible to review the work comprehensively in the brief space allotted by the newspaper. To be thoroughly appreciated the book should be read carefully, and its reading leads to a better and clearer understanding of phenomena which may have been theretofore imperfectly understood. For example, Prof. Willard deals with the manner of the formation of the Red river valley, showing the existence of a wide and deep valley there before the glacial period. He illustrates clearly the action of glacial ice, presenting maps showing the portions of the state covered with glacial ice. The erosions and drifts caused by the action of glaciers is pointed out. To this same cause, he ascribes the chains of lakes in McLean county and in Kidder county.

Other chapters are devoted to the Bad Lands formations, which are ascribed to the erosion of quickly running water. The scientific explanation of the formation of the immense lignite coal veins in the state is given. The several chapters are made more interesting with views of different parts of the state. The portions of the state where once existed immense glacial lakes are described, and the valleys left by these lakes are shown. The geology of the artesian well supply is explained, and there is a brief geological table showing the nature of formations along the several railroad lines in the state. The student of North Dakota will find Prof. Willard's book exceedingly interesting, as it enables him to follow the gradual changes, from the time the state, with others, was entirely submerged, through its various evolutions, to the present time.

The book is published by Prof. D. E. Willard at Mayville, and those who desire it should send the price, $1.75, to him. Hon. B. S. Russell of Jamestown sends the Tribune an unqualified commendation of the work, in which he says:

"Prof. Willard has spent his summer vacations for a number of years in preparation of this work in traveling over the state mostly on his bicycle, and has written a work that will be exceedingly interesting to read, avoiding technicalities and scientific expressions. Every intelligent scholar, male or female, can take up this work and read it with great benefit, and apply its contents to the township in which he lives. I especially call the attention of the school directors in every district in North Dakota to it, and suggest that one or more copies of it be placed in the library of that school. And that the attention of the teachers and those who will be engaged from time to time be called to it, with the suggestion that they call the attention of the scholars to it, especially those who are intelligent, to read it. The chapter containing the description of the 'Bad Lands' and the formation of the Red River valley are alone worth the entire price of the book."

Fargo has organized a commercial club with L. B. Hanna as president and H. C. Plumley as secretary. There are about 115 members, and articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state.

Dickinson Recorder: Nothing but hail can prevent a bumper crop in Stark county this year—the largest and best in the history of the country. All kinds of small grain is so far matured and with so much moisture in the ground there is no longer any danger from hot winds. The one perplexing problem that now confronts our farmers is "where to get sufficient help to harvest the crops."

Alert: A young man who had a date with a girl in the Second ward created quite a stir Thursday night. He walked up and down the street at the point she had promised to join him and finally the residents in a number of houses got the idea that he was a housebreaker and was looking over the buildings with an idea of taking everything in sight. Doors were barricaded in a number of residences where the men were away and much excitement prevailed. The man finally got tired waiting for the girl and left. As soon as he was gone Officer Russell was summoned and told of the incident. From the description given he succeeded in finding the man in the Salvation Army barracks where all was satisfactorily explained.

TO MY FRIENDS.

It is with joy I tell you what Kodol did for me. I was troubled with my stomach for several months. Upon being advised to use Kodol, I did so, and words cannot tell the good it has done me. A neighbor had dyspepsia so that he had tried most everything. I told him to use Kodol. Words of gratitude have come to me from him because I recommended it.—Geo. W. Fry, Viola, Iowa. Health and strength, of mind and body, depend on the stomach, and normal activity of the digestive organs. Kodol, the great reconstructive tonic, cures all stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia. Kodol digests any good food you eat. Take a dose after meals. E. G. Patterson & Co.

A Clear Cut Warning.

"Young ladies," said an absentminded teacher of Latin to his class in Virgil, "I understand that you count upon my calling on you in alphabetical order and prepare your lessons accordingly. I am surprised and disappointed at such conduct. Hereafter I warn you I shall begin at the other end of the alphabet!"

Corrected.

Tests of Friendship.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

State Board of Equalization Begins Work on Equalization of Property Tomorrow.

Work Before the Board Will Require Sessions Lasting Probably a Week or More.

Valuations of Railroad Property in State to be Fixed and Other Property Equalized.

The state board of equalization begins tomorrow upon its work in the equalization of property. The state board consists of Governor White, Treasurer McMillan, Auditor Carlblom, Attorney General Comstock, and Commissioner Turner. The duties of the board will keep them in session probably for nearly a week. Returns from the several counties are being received at the state auditor's office, and are being tabulated and put in shape for the use of the board. It will be necessary to have all the returns before the equalization of real and personal property can be disposed of.

The board will probably dispose of the matter of railroad assessment before taking up the other property. The total valuation of railroad property as fixed by the state board last year was not quite $18,000,000, which was an increase of about $600,000 over the preceding year.

Last year the state board made a levy for the taking up of the asylum bonds. This year that levy will not have to be made. The board will, however, make a special levy of one-thirtieth of the bonded indebtedness of the state to create a sinking fund for the payment of this indebtedness in thirty years. The levy will be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

TO HAUL THE CROP.
Chicago, Aug. 4.—Accepting the estimate of a corn crop of 2,500,000,000 bushels, which is very nearly double the corn crop of last year, as correct, the Railway Age does some interesting figuring upon the amount of freight which it will create. Two and a half billion bushels of corn means 140,000,000,000 pounds or 70,000,000 tons. At the liberal average of 30,000 pounds to the car this means 2,333,333 carloads, which at fifty cars for a train means 46,666 trains. The Railway Age felicitates itself that this will mean a demand for cars and engines, long hours and increased pay for train crews and large earnings for the railways.

HOG MARKET.
Chicago, Aug. 2.—Receipts, 28,000; official shipments, 1,112; left over, 5,891; estimated receipts tomorrow, 20,000; closing steady. TELEGRAPHIC MARKET LETTER.
Minneapolis, Aug. 4.—The extent of damage done by recent scattered storms will not positively be known until returns from the thresher is made but there must be quite a heavy percentage lost, as well as reducing the quality. Wheat is not by any means without friends. Both elements are treating the situation with unusual conservatism and it will be shown later on that buyers on the scale down will find little difficulty unloading.

Corn started quite firm, rallying considerably over the strong close of Saturday but it was natural to anticipate setbacks on profit taking. There were but 45 cars, three of which graded contract which also induced considerable short covering. The first reports of hot winds came from Kansas but it is generally considered no harm was done. A few continuous hot days, however, will tell.

Oats also were strong as much on short covering as upon investment orders. Receipts were but 128 cars but ample for immediate wants. After selling up to 33c for the new September longs were inclined to let go and during this period there were very few caring to oppose them. It would seem about an even proposition taking the long side on dips, or short side on bulges for the present.

Provisions on a very moderate run at the various packing centers, were permitted to open off sharply. The market was bare of supporting orders which with the down turn in the grain pits caused considerable liquidation. The market now acts steady as offerings have been pretty generally withdrawn. Still consider the short side very dangerous.

THE STATE TWINE PLANT.

Wabpeton Globe: Warden Boucher of the North Dakota state prison informed the Globe some days since that all the binding twine the prison mills had been able to manufacture had been disposed of by the first of July, and that orders for tons and tons of twine had been received since then, which he was unable to fill. The prison twine was sold at several cents a pound below the prices demanded by the trusts which now control the market, and those farmers and others who delayed putting in their orders until late in the season have to pay the penalty to the trusts. The warden will ask the next legislature to accept the experience of the Minnesota people in handling the twine output for another year, which will keep the twine out of the hands of dealers until later in the season. Farmers who want to buy state made twine another year can just as well file their orders in January or during the spring months and be sure of the twine. They will not have to pay for it until the following December, any they may be sure that state prices will be lower than trust prices, it makes no difference what conditions may prevail. The twine plant is now in a prosperous condition, and while a good deal of money was lost the first year, yet the loss has been made up, and the factory now shows a profit, and business will be pushed continuously hereafter. The plant will be run every working day during the coming year, so that many more people may be accommodated by the increased output.

SEEN AT WASHINGTON.

W. W. Jermaine in Minneapolis Journal: It is believed here that the nomination of a straight democratic ticket in North Dakota will drive a great many former republicans back to their own party. They have been looking for an excuse for several years and now have it. Republican party managers writing to friends in Washington, predict a republican majority this year of from 20,000 to 25,000 and a legislature with perhaps 115 republicans out of a total of 140. This would be the greatest victory the republicans ever have won in the state.

BARNES COUNTY NOMINEES.

At the republican convention for the 38th legislative district, Barnes county, held at Fingal Friday, K. S. Ramsett was nominated for the senate and Ernest Critchfield and S. J. Aandahl for the house. In the fifteenth district George M. Young and J. H. Rogers were nominated for the house. Ramsett and Young were both in the house last session.
