He has been in the employ of the Santa Fe road in some of its hotels in New Mexico and recently came from one of Tom Taggart's hotels in Indianapolis. He is an agreeable and pleasant gentleman to meet and will undoubtedly please the traveling public.

HOME FROM FLORIDA.
A. D. Corder is back from Florida and is enthusiastic over it as a nice place to live when one has acquired a competence. There is no such business opportunities there as in North Dakota for the young man. He left Mr. Edick well and in good spirits. Mrs. Edick is much improved in physical condition since going south. They will remain there for the present.

MADE QUICK WORK.
On the resumption of train service yesterday, the local express office on the N. P. road made quick work of the express matter that had piled up on them. Route Agent Collins was on the job to help the boys out. The office was practically cleaned out after No. 16 passed through to the west.

The baggage men were busy loading an empty freight car with the two hundred pieces of baggage that was waiting the opening of the road west. In a day or two conditions will be about normal around the N. P. depot.

APPROACHING WEDDING.
Cards have been received in the city announcing the forthcoming wedding of Miss Irmgard Schaefer and Mr. Robert R. Elgin, at Honolulu, Hawaii, March 28. Mr. Elgin will be remembered here as an attaché of the U. S. quartermaster's office at the time of the construction of the first buildings at Fort Lincoln, some ten years ago, with Major E. B. Robertson. Friends in the city will extend congratulations upon the nuptial event.

JOHNSON SELLS STOCK.
David Smith of Gladstone, Manitoba, loaded a car of fashionable breed Jerseys yesterday which will be shipped to his home in Canada. This will be the debut for a registered stock farm in that part of the country. This herd of registered cattle was purchased from Paul E. Johnson, proprietor of the Sunny-Cress stock farm, and is considered the largest sale of exclusive registered stock that has been negotiated in this part of the country.

LOST THEIR POSSESSIONS.
Advices from down the river are to the effect that no settlers lost their lives in the flood, though there were some narrow escapes. All dwellers on the bottom lands from Glencoe to Gayton lost their stock and hogs and other livestock. Their barns and dwellings were badly damaged by the water and in many cases were wrecked by the immense cakes of ice that were forced by the high water into the woods. In a few cases the furniture and all loose property were swept away in the flood of water. Below Gayton there are not any settlers on the flat and the only loss was the hay that was swept off. The bottoms at present are covered with ice and those driven out are not able to go back and look after what the flood left behind.

SUFFERS FROM OLD WOUND.
Jamestown Alert: J. H. Latimer was on the streets today for the first time in two months, having been laid up by the effects of an old gun shot wound in the knee, received while chasing the Apaches when those red skins were on the war path in Mexico under Geronimo, back in '86. He was a volunteer scout under Gen. Crook when wounded. A piece of the bullet was removed from his knee this week, after remaining in the limb for twenty-four years.

FOURTEENTH INFANTRY HERE ON MARCH 22ND

NEW TROOPS AT FORT LINCOLN HAVE LEFT SAN FRANCISCO FOR BISMARCK.

Four Companies and Machine Gun Platoon to be Located Here—Warm Welcome Being Arranged.

Fort Lincoln, N. D., March 18.—(Special.)—Hurray! the 14th infantry arrived in San Francisco March 16th, and the 1st battalion, Companies A, B, C, and D, and the machine gun platoon, is now on their home stretch and if nothing happens en route they should arrive at Ft. Lincoln on Tuesday, March 22.

The battalion is commanded by Major H. C. Cabell, 14th infantry, who having served a tour of duty as chief of staff, headquarters department of Dakota, is undoubtedly remembered quite well by the older residents here. The other officers with the battalion are: Capt. Chas. B. Clark, Joseph Frazier, A. H. Martin and E. R. Stone; Lieut. Roy C. Kirtland, Batt. Adjut. G. A. Herbst, R. E. Beebe, G. F. Brady, F. B. Kobes, Oscar Westover, Batt. Q. M. & C. J. L. Benedict, G. R. Koehler, Jas. A. Merritt, and E. F. Harding.

The little garrison that spent the past weary winter months in doing the usual guard duty and in taking care of the post, hastens to bid the incoming troops a hearty welcome, and in this it is quite safe to add that the people of Bismarck are joining in bidding welcome to the noble defenders of the stars and stripes.

It is hoped that after spending the past two years in the far away Philippines, braving the trials and privations under the scorching tropical sun, and the dangers that are ever present in a country where the people are imbued with fanaticism and treachery, the country where many dreadful diseases are lurking everywhere and are ever ready to ravage even the most stalwart body of men, the incoming battalion will find the new place of abode, here under the very shadows of the capitol of the state of North Dakota, a most restful, invigorating and agreeable place; that the men of the incoming battalion will prove themselves worthy of all respect and good fellowship that can never be bestowed upon them by the people of Bismarck and the surrounding country, and once friendly relations and good fellowship are established, the most pleasant time may be looked forward to. The Bismarck Tribune is willing to meet us half way, and it is up to us to do the rest. That the incoming battalion of the 14th infantry will do right by us, is evidenced by the reputation that the regiment was enjoying for the past years.

In these days of shifting, it only remains now to cast a parting glance at the outgoing detachment of the 28th infantry, and credit must be given the little band for good behavior, and honest and loyal performance of duty. Capt. C. W. Weeks, 28th infantry, who was the commanding officer for the past three months, ever watchful, gentle, yet firm, will long be remembered by all those that came in contact with him. Lieut. A. Moreno, 28th infantry, who is the post quartermaster and commissary, was quite busy all these days, always anxious to keep up the post-in the best of repairs, will undoubtedly feel much relieved after everything is turned over to the incoming organization and may enjoy the much deserved rest. On the whole, the past three months were spent most pleasantly at this post and the outgoing detachment will carry with it the best wishes of all those that got to know them.

Post Com. Sergt. Ephraim, U. S. A., the man who is looking for the provisions for the troops at this post, will be discharged Sunday, but Ephraim is an old timer and he would not abandon Uncle Sam at this critical time, so he will re-enlist the next day.

The paymaster, who was lost sight of since he was last heard of from Livingston, Mont., made a tenuous journey on to St. Paul and thence by return trip, pleasantly surprised the garrison Thursday evening; and now that the accounts for the month of February is being made ready for the 14th infantry, and as the weather continues real nice, the post is assuming real neat and inviting appearance. Enter—1st battalion, 14th infantry.

WILDFIRE A TREAT.

Clever Company Presents Popular Play to Good House.

"Wildfire" as presented at the Bijou last night, was one of the cleverest productions that has been seen in the city in a good many months. The play is full of spirit and interest, clever dialogue, and there are climaxes enough to keep the interest throughout the three acts.

As Mrs. Barrington, the unknown owner of the racing stables, and the pseudo aide to the reverend promoter of the anti-racing bill, Luella Morey was eminently capable and clever. Her stage presence is pleasing, her manner gracious and her conception of the part clear and sufficient.

The cast was well balanced all through, notably pleasing being Donovan, the manager of the stables, Rasper, the jockey, and "Bud" the stable boy, whose slang and heart-reaching earnestness for the success of "Wildfire" winning the laughter and sympathy of the audience. The play was well staged and cleverly presented throughout, and was a genuine treat to those who attended.

LOST POCKETBOOK.

Bookkeeper for Singer Company Has Serious Loss.

Some of the light fingered gentry got in their work Friday afternoon, and as a result the lady bookkeeper at the local Singer office is mourning the loss of her pocketbook containing five dollars in money, a bunch of keys and a number of valuable papers. Miss Mann went to the postoffice during the afternoon and left the door to the office unlocked and open, and upon her return missed her hand bag and there is not the slightest clue to the identity of the thief. The police have been informed of the theft and are keeping a close watch for suspicious looking persons.

A NEW LAND DEAL.

A deal was consummated yesterday between A. B. Welch and The Northern Land company of St. Paul, in which a partnership was formed for the purpose of dealing in lands this year in Bismarck, Kidder and Stutsman counties. Both parties have good organizations and are well and favorably known throughout the country as conservative land merchants. The main field office will be located at Steele, with Mr. Welch in charge. The Northern Land company will continue operating their main offices at St. Paul, and with the addition of the land that Mr. Welch controls in the vicinity of Bismarck, it is expected that a large amount of land will be sold, which means that more agriculturists will be added to the contributing territory of Bismarck.

SAVED A SOLDIER'S LIFE.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds." For coughs, colds, la grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, hoarseness, croup, whooping cough and lung trouble, its supreme. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed by Flinney's Drug Store.

FLAX WILT.

Flax wilt is caused by a degenerate plant which gets into the flax plant and uses up the sap intended for growth and development. This causes the flax plant to wither and die. The spores or seeds of the flax wilt can live in the soil or on flax straw or roots. Flax should never be sown on ground thus infected. Spores of flax wilt can get into the ground only by being sown with the seed or by being brought in on flax straw. The wilt spores may be just inside the seed coats, in which case the kernels will usually present a small, dark colored appearance, or they may stick to the outside of the seeds. The latter will be true of all seeds that has come from a field in which there is flax wilt. The spores may even be gathered from a threshing machine just used for threshing affected flax.

Prof. Bolley of the agricultural college, gives the following method for killing the wilt spores on the flax seed:

1. Use only plump, bright colored flax for seed.
2. Clean all seed thoroughly in a fanning mill until all bits of straw and chaff, as well as light seeds have been removed or blown out. The treatment recommended will not kill the fungus, which is always to be found inside diseased straws and chaff, because it cannot penetrate to it. In a diseased crop, most of the light weight, dark colored and scaly seeds bear the fungus on the inside of the seed coats. Such seeds must be removed, for the treatment cannot prevent these from infecting the soil.
3. Treat all seed flax every year.

Treatment.

Use formaldehyde at the rate of one pound of standard strength to forty gallons of water. Spread the seed upon a tight floor or upon a canvas and sprinkle or spray on a small amount of liquid (a fine spray thrown by a small force pump is best). Shovel, hoe or rake the grain over rapidly. Repeat the spraying, shoveling, hoeing or raking until the surfaces of all the seeds are evenly moist, not wet enough to mat or gum, but thoroughly damp. (This can be done without matting if well hoed or shoveled over.) Leave the grain piled for several hours. The dry grains will absorb the excess of moisture without injury or matting, and the spores of the disease will be killed by the fumes. It takes about one-half a gallon of the water solution to properly wet one bushel of flax seed.

Further Precautions.

After this care has been taken with the seed, I recommend these further precautions:

- Sow all flax on a compact, even seed bed.
- Sow flax seed as shallow as possible and yet have it well covered.
- Sow smaller areas to flax, and never follow flax by flax until a number of years have intervened.
