

Panoramic Views of Flood and Cyclone Disasters In East and West Which Dealt Death and Destruction In a Sudden and Terrible Form

PANORAMIC VIEW OF RESIDENTIAL PARK IN OMAHA AFTER CYCLONE

Here you see the flood and cyclone horrors from a panoramic distance. The upper picture was taken from Troy, N. Y., and shows how the Hudson river at flood inundated the river front of the little town opposite, Watervliet. New York state was in many parts worse hit by the swollen rivers than in the floods of 1885. The lower view was taken at Omaha, Neb., the morning after the calamitous tornado tore through that unlucky city. It shows a part of the exclusive residential section, which was the hardest hit. All the mansions in the district of which the picture shows a part were seriously damaged. Some of the fine homes were completely smashed. They were in the section extending from Thirty-eighth to Davenport streets.

WATER IS WORKING TO SOUTH

Waters Tightening Their Clutches in South Regions Relief Boats Are Tugging Food and Supplies to Sufferers Outside Aid Has Greatly Relieved Situation in Indiana

(By Associated Press.)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—While the northern central states and Indiana today are rehabilitating their flood devastated districts, the waters are tightening their disastrous clutches on southern regions.

The government relief boat, Scioto, in command of Lieutenant Meight, towed a barge load of provisions into Lawrenceburg, to find but 40 of the 5,000 homes were not under water.

When the boat proceeded to Aurora, conditions were found almost as bad. Governor Ralston, on an appeal of Mount Vernon citizens, ordered out a company of militia stationed there to patrol the town.

Leavenworth has sent a cry for help. New Harmony and Evansville reported increased suffering from rising waters, but the mayor of Vincennes telephoned the water there was falling, and it is believed no lives were lost. People have been warned in plenty of time to flee to the high lands.

Reports of fatalities where the floods struck unexpectedly, but now gone, are still conflicting. Peru's death list of 20 may shrink somewhat, but with those figures still standing, Indiana's loss of life is 68. Three bodies were found at West Indianapolis today and 4 refugees were victims of exposure. Elastically, Indiana is recovering, outside aid is greatly relieving the burden, and today the public utilities were completely restored.

SOUTH DAYTON HAS 60 DEAD

Has Been Decided to Appropriate $60,000 to Purchase Necessities

(By Associated Press.)
SOUTH DAYTON, March 31.—At a meeting of the relief committee and members delegated by the city council, members of the latter declared their individual willingness to cooperate with the committee in all necessary measures for the protection and rehabilitation of the city.

It was decided to appropriate $50,000 for the relief fund to the Red Cross to be expended in purchasing bare necessities which will permit destitute families to re-establish their homes temporarily.

A court martial was organized today and 40 petty cases are on the docket. The reports that looters have been shot are untrue, according to statements by those in authority. Guns have been shot to frighten suspicious looking characters, but never a shot to kill or injure. The list of identified dead reached 60 today.

OHIO WILL MEET ITS CRISIS ALONE

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—"Ohio stands ready from today to meet its crisis alone," was the statement of Governor Cox this evening. "We cannot speak our gratitude to the president for federal aid, to the Red Cross, to states municipalities, trade organizations and individuals that have sent funds."

It has been decided to place into effect a plan whereby relief will be based upon the property loss of individuals and the income loss incurred which will be similar to the San Francisco relief plan.

J. P. MORGAN ANSWERS CALL OF DEATH AT ROME YESTERDAY

Breakdown of Great Financier Attributed to Money Trust Investigation

Remains Will be Brought to America and Buried in Mausoleum at Hartford

Greatly Affected the Pope Pronounced Him a Great and Good Man

(By Associated Press.)
ROME, March 31.—Pierpont Morgan, the American capitalist, died here at 12:05 p. m., Rome time. Dr. M. Allen Starr of New York, called into consultation regarding the financier's illness, attributed the breakdown of Morgan to the emotion caused by the investigation by the Pujol committee at Washington into the operations of the "money trust."

The physician's statement which qualifies Morgan's illness as nervous prostration, says his intelligence remained normal until Easter Sunday. Then a gradual, general collapse supervened, affecting his digestion and mental faculties until delirium ensued. Pope Pius, greatly distressed, said, "He was a great and good man."

WILL BE BURIED AT HARTFORD.

NEW YORK, March 31.—John Pierpont Morgan's death occurred today at Rome, probably will be interred in a mausoleum in Cedar Hill cemetery, Hartford, Conn., which he had erected some years ago in memory of his father and mother.

When the body of Morgan reaches here from Rome it is expected the funeral services will be held in the cathedral of St. John, the Divine, toward the construction of which Morgan was a large contributor.

When the news of Morgan's death was reported here expressions of regret at his passing were heard on every side. In the financial district the stock exchange and the consolidated exchange passed resolutions of respect to his memory and flags everywhere were dropped to half mast. The offices of Morgan and Company were closed immediately upon receipt of the news and little information was vouch-

Many buildings in the path of the storm were smashed in this manner. The men in this hall were horribly crushed.
