The Passing of Miss Mildred Lane.

The sudden death of Miss Mildred Lane occurred here last Saturday, the 23th of June. She had been suffering for a short time from an attack of tonsillitis, which ultimately developed into blood poisoning, the result of the bursting of a blood vessel. Until recently she was the very picture of health and happiness. The news of her death came as a terrible shock to the entire community, as she was held in highest esteem and greatly respected by all who knew her. She took a very practical interest in the activities of the Kintyre church and for this she will be especially remembered.

Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the bereaved members of the family.

The interment took place last Saturday evening at the Kintyre cemetery, after a brief service had been held at her home. A memorial service was held the next day at the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. J. M. Macmillan. Her favorite hymns were sung by a number of the ladies, and the service was a very impressive one. The entire congregation then marched in procession to the cemetery, where they all sang "We'll Never Say Good-bye to Heaven."

This hymn was also sung at the interment. The church was appropriately decorated and thoroughly indicated the expression and sense of loss felt by all her friends.
