

With the Clubwomen

By Mrs. W. F. Cushing.

MONDAY CLUB.
The Monday club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kiebert, North Fourth street, with Miss Harmon as hostess. Program was as follows:
Roll Call—Vacation Experiences. Chipterl—Blander Matthews' Development of the Drama—Mrs. Cushing.
Indian Dances and Legends—Mrs. Bruce.
Vocal Solo—September Evening—Mrs. Berndt; Mrs. LaRose at the piano.
Development of Moving Pictures—Mrs. Dullam.
Duet—Piano—Awakening of the Lion—Mrs. Haney, Miss Harmon.
The afternoon was enjoyable throughout, the music feature of the program eliciting especial appreciation. The study of the drama promises to become an absorbing one, and the papers by Mrs. Bruce and Mrs. Dullam were timely and altogether interesting.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.
The Fortnightly club held its initial meeting of the year Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Budlong. The following program proved most enjoyable:
Preliminary—Mrs. Budlong.
How to Study a Play—Mrs. Young.
Staging of American Plays—Mrs. Spaulding.

ABOUT A SCHOOL NURSE.
Sentiment having been thoroughly aroused in the city over the possible spreading of a few cases of contagious disease, sufferers from which were school children in the lower grades, active steps are being taken toward securing an appropriation from the city commission for the employment of a school nurse.
At a special meeting of the Monday club, two weeks ago, the matter of a trained school nurse and medical inspection for the children was discussed at length, after which the president, Mrs. Knowles, appointed a committee, of which Mrs. W. H. Bodenstab is chairman, to confer with similar committees to be appointed from the other women's clubs of the city. The idea was to present a request to the school board that a school nurse be engaged and that a medical attendance be urged upon the parents, to whom the nurse should report suspicious cases.
At a special meeting of the school board Monday afternoon, during which there was a stirring address by a noted health expert of Toronto, Canada, Dr. W. E. Struthers, it was decided to ask the city commission to include in its budget a sum sufficient to meet the expense of such a nurse, and this matter, it is expected, will be taken up at its special, or deferred meeting, next Monday night.

It is said that the personnel of the commission is highly in favor of such a measure, and it now devolves upon the citizens to make known their desires in this most important matter.
A meeting has been called at the home of Mrs. Bodenstab this afternoon, at which the committees appointed from the various women's clubs, and there is every indication that prompt and energetic means will be taken in the form of circulating petitions, etc., on the part of every woman's organization in the city, toward presenting to the city commission the need of an appropriation from its budget of a sum sufficient to meet the amount necessary for the best protection of the health of North Dakota's choicest possession—its children and budding youth.

RETURNED FROM CITIES.
Mrs. W. F. Cushing has returned from the twin cities where she spent the days looking into the matter of an exhibit for the educational department of the Industrial Exposition of labor saving devices for the woman of the city and of the farm home.
A number of unique and interesting devices have already been secured, each of which betokens a lot of thinking on the part of workers in this line. All are designed with the sole object of saving or simplifying labor for the housewife, who, if she has been neglected in the past, can complain no longer of being in any sense overlooked.
Among the unusual things which will be exhibited is a range constructed upon the entirely new principle of combining a fireless cooker with the ordinary gas or gasoline stove, its use being confined to either the one or the other, but either mode of cooking may be adopted at will.
Still another device is a mayonnaise mixer and home butter churn, combined; and simplicity itself is expressed in a hollow cork with perforated aluminum top. The cork end fits into any ordinary bottle, which, when filled with water, becomes an ideal clothes sprinkler. Again, there is a self-winding clothesline, which may be wound up on a reel and kept clean and protected from the weather. There will be new dust cloths and broom covers, and, altogether, a glimpse at this department may well reward the seeker after more hours of repose, as against confusion and useless toil.

ONE-PIECE FROCKS SHOW PARIS STYLE DETAILS

Paris designers cling to the idea of simplicity in one-piece dresses such as New York women want for early fall street wear. The new note is sounded in fabrics and in the broken lines of the silhouette. Two of the latest models here shown call attention to the narrow bottom of the skirts, and to the inevitable drapery. That on the left (7946) is made of taupe color wool poplin, and has a belt of chiffon velvet and a broadened collar, by way of adding a touch of bright color. It has a drop shoulder blouse with trimming sections and crosses diagonally to meet the line of the smart two-piece skirt in pet-got effect. Size 26 can be made from 5 1/2 yards of 42-inch material.
When a little hand embroidery is judiciously used, as illustrated on the other gown (7974) it instantly puts a

H. Newton at the McKenzie hotel Wednesday afternoon when she entertained seven guests at a pretty appointed tea. A decoration of pink and white asters were arranged in vases throughout the room which added much to the already cozy appearance of the surroundings. The time was spent in doing fancy work and exchanging ideas on the latest methods of such line of sewing. Pleasing conversation abounded and the time passed most delightfully. At 5 o'clock the hostess served delicious dainties, during which time little Mary Jane Bowen ably assisted Mrs. Newton.
Mrs. Engender accompanied the judge here a few days ago and has been a guest at the McKenzie, expecting to leave within a day for her home in Fargo. The guest list included the following: Mesdames Edward Engerud, E. C. Snyder, A. K. Ross, J. D. Thomas, B. F. Spaulding, C. F. Dullam, and E. G. Bowen.

MAYVILLE NORMAL BEGINS SEPT. 30

The new school year at the Mayville Normal school will open on Tuesday, September 30. All conditions are encouraging and indicate a good attendance and a successful year's work.

Wide interest has been shown in the Model Rural school, the Normal school's most recent and important improvement. The Model Rural school is intended to illustrate in every way the best that is practicable and feasible in a country school. It aims to aid, not only the one-teacher school, but the two-teacher school, which for a long time to come will be the most common type of the consolidated school. The Mayville Normal school is well known for its interest in elementary education and the improvement of country life in general and its new Model Rural school will be of very exceptional value to students of the Normal school who are preparing to teach in the country schools. Such students will have opportunity for observation of the various phases of the management of the Model Rural school and they will go out to the work in the state with minds rich with ideas of how country schools and country life are to be improved. It is probably true that no other institution in the state is now as well equipped to train rural school teachers as the Mayville Normal school. Undoubtedly ly, a great many young men and women who are just finishing the Eighth grade and who are going away to school to prepare for teaching in the country will go to the Mayville Normal school the coming year.
