Indian Woman Dead.—Mrs. Thomas Whittemore died yesterday evening following the birth of a son at her home in Shields. Dr. Shortridge of Flasher and Dr. Rice of Ft. Rice, were in attendance but despite their united efforts her life could not be spared.

Mrs. Whittemore was one of the best known Indian women of this section, and had made her home at Shields since 1910. She was born on the Standing Rock reservation, and at the time of her death was 36 years of age.

The child she gave birth to is still alive and is being cared for by Mrs. Joe Briggs. In addition to the infant Mrs. Whittemore leaves her husband and a son, Johnnie, aged 14 years. Her father and mother were summoned to her bedside from Ft. Yates, but arrived after she had been claimed by death.

Funeral services will be held Friday, and interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery at Ft. Yates.

Society Notes

At Christmas Time.—Along the road to Bethlehem. Three weary wise men slowly fared. And wondering shepherds gazed at them. And bowed the heads which they had bowed.

Three wise men who had journeyed far. Rode slowly o'er the hills that night. Still following their guiding star. Whose constant beams are broad and bright.

At Christmas time they heard a voice. "Rejoice, ye sons of men, rejoice!" The words rang clearly from the sky. The trembling wise men paused to hear. The song that angels sang to them. And ceased to doubt and turned fear. That Christmas night in Bethlehem.

We hurry through the busy days. And in the market-places contend. We strive to win the shameful ways. Forsaking brother wronging friend. We foster greed and stingy pride. We have no time for being kind. We rudely push the lame aside. And give no guidance to the blind.

We madly struggle after gain. Forgetting all the Master's taught. We worship riches and disdain. To heed the message that he brought. Yet, even so, at Christmas love. Assails our hearts and clusters them. And brings us glad remembrance of That holy night in Bethlehem.

We cease a little while to hate. We turn a little while from sin; We greet the stars and angels. And reaching forth we lead him in. And, happily remembering. The baby cradled in our arms. We still acknowledge Him our King. As they did, the first Christmas day.

Three shadowy wise men slowly fared. Along the shadowy highway still. And, shadowy shepherds watch them. And see the star blaze o'er the hill. And men, wherever men may dwell. That God still reigns and all is well. The star shines o'er Bethlehem. S. E. KISER.

Mrs. Cushing Home.—Mrs. Walter F. Cushing returned yesterday from a ten days' visit in the twin cities.

Christmas at Home.—Mr. Harry Call came up from Minneapolis to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. N. L. Call.

Christmas With Mother.—Mr. Ben Lenhart of the city here spent the holidays with his mother, Mrs. M. Lenhart of Oak Grove.

To Fargo for Holiday.—Mr. and Mrs. Spalding and baby of Streeter, N. D., are spending the holidays at the home of Mrs. Spalding's parents, Judge and Mrs. N. C. Young in Fargo.

Visits Parents in Fargo.—Miss Bertha Johnson of this city is in Fargo to spend the holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Johnson.

Old Timer in Jack McCarty.—An old timer who came to the Standing Rock agency in 1873, and was for years a trapper along the Missouri river and its tributaries, is reported to be very ill, at Fort Union, where his home made his home recently.

Christmas of the Newsboys.—The Duluth Herald of Dec. 23 has the following: "Tomorrow evening—Christmas eve—all the newsboys and carriers of The Herald take in will be clear profit. This will be due to the far-reaching benevolence of a certain man who pays for all the papers taken by these young merchants, in accordance with a custom established by him years ago. Moreover, it is reported that the newspaper buyers will fall into the spirit of this extraordinary Christmas gift, and refuse to take occasion to quarrel and thus, between free papers and the 'keep the change' habit, Christmas eve will be very merry and very profitable for the enterprising young business men who retail The Herald."

It would be hard to imagine a method of Christmas giving that could spread happiness wider than this. The majority of the newsboys are members of poor families, and the earnings of these are an important factor in the family income. Many of them are using their earnings to get a set of books, and all of them are learning business habits and business thrift by their dealings. And this very kind Christmas gift from a man who was a boy himself not so long ago, and knew what it meant to need a dollar, is a fine encouragement to all of them.

Because of this occasion, and because of the carriers' greetings now in circulation, the following verses by James W. Foley, North Dakota's sweet and gentle bard, written to serve as the greeting of the carriers of the Bismarck Tribune, are timely and felicitous:

Oh you in your plenty, and you in your need. I bring you a message this Holiday tide: A message of gladness and kindness and cheer. To bless you and keep you through all of the year. And with this glad message I bring you a prayer. That freely of all of your blessings you'll share. With those round about you—bring pleasures and joys To hearts that may need—and be kind to my boys.

Oh you in your fullness of riches and health. Go forth like the sower and scatter a wealth. Of kindness about you and reap in thy field. Of goodness and gladness a bountiful yield. Be mild with the erring, the needy befriend. Be tender and patient, have love with-out end. Be spendthrift with kindness and cheer—chiefest of joys To gladden thy living—be good to my boys.

Oh you in your gladness and peace and content. Go scatter the gifts thy good fortunes hath lent. Spill sunshine and laughter and glad word and song. And make thy way brighter in passing along. So then will my Father, at closing of days. Smile on thee and bless thee, and so will he say: "Come, enter with Me into unending joy. For thou wert once kind to My 'irls and My boys."

BISMARCK HARDWARE COMPANY

Mix the Breakfast Biscuits the Night Before—

Set Them Away in a Cool Place and Bake them Fresh in the Morning

If the family do not all eat breakfast together, you can bake a few at a time. If you are having hot biscuits for supper, mix and cut out enough more for breakfast. They will be much nicer freshly baked than warmed over.

Of course you can't do this very successfully with sour milk and soda or with any of the old fashioned, single acting baking powders, but this convenient way of making hot biscuits and muffins for breakfast is entirely satisfactory if you use which is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which begins to give off leavening gas as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. The dough will remain in a partly leavened condition for hours and when put in the oven will come up just as light and fluffy as if freshly mixed.

Get a can of KG today and try this easy way of baking biscuits at once. You'll never go back to the old way.
