

WOULD SAVE INDIANS FROM CURSE OF LIQUOR

Washington, D. C., March 26, 1914.—The following is an excerpt from my address to the conference of Field Supervisors on the evening of February 20, 1914:

I believe that the greatest present menace to the American Indian is whiskey. It does more to destroy his constitution and invite the ravages of disease than anything else. It does more to demoralize him as a man and frequently as a woman. It does more to make him an easy prey to the unscrupulous than everything else combined. If I say nothing more to you tonight that leaves an impression, let it be this one thought: Let us save the American Indian from the curse of whiskey.

We have a force of men engaged in the suppression of the liquor traffic. That is their special business. But it is my business, and it is my business and it is your business, to do everything we can without injecting ourselves offensively into the work of others or assuming a duty that is not properly ours, to create an atmosphere, and suggest conditions that will be helpful in this respect, and above all to be a personal object-lesson inviting the Indian to banish liquor, rather than to be guilty of anything that may cause him to look upon one of us as a justification for doing that which leads him to the destruction caused by the use of whiskey.

There is nothing that could induce me, since I have taken the oath of office as Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to touch a single drop of any sort of intoxicating liquor, and this regardless of my attitude on the Prohibition question.

As a matter of good faith to our treaty relationships, to legislative enactments, to the Congress which appropriates $100,000 a year for the suppression of the liquor traffic among the Indians, we should do everything reasonably within our power to justify this appropriation and insure the best results obtainable. This accomplished, we have laid a substantial foundation for all of our work in solving the Indian problem, and made a long step forward looking toward their equipment for the responsibilities of citizenship.

It is my great desire that every employe in the Indian Service shall realize the tremendous importance of the liquor suppression work, and exert his best efforts and influence for the protection of the Indian from this, his worst enemy.

I desire this letter to be regarded as a personal communication to every employe in the Indian Service, and that it be seriously treated as such, and I especially request that on the Sixth Day of April, Nineteen-Powteen, the same be read to the student body of every Indian School, including those under Government, Mission or private supervision.

Sincerely yours,
CATO SELLS, Commissioner.

I am addressing the above letter to each of the six thousand employes in the Indian Service.

SENATORIAL ELECTIONS OF INTEREST

Senators of 32 States Will Be Elected by Direct Vote of People

New System of Selecting Senators Predicted to Bring Many Changes

One of Most Notable Senators to Retire Next Year Is Elihu Root

Washington, D. C., March 26.—Between now and the end of the year 32 United States senators are to be elected by direct vote of the people. The election by direct vote is expected to bring about some changes in the upper house, for among the members who terms are to expire next March are several who probably could be returned if the election was still in the hands of the legislature, but who will find it pretty difficult to win in a popular primary.

One of the most notable of the senators who will retire a year hence is Elihu Root of New York. Mr. Root is one of the most commanding figures on the Republican side, and should his party return to power he would be the recognized leader of the upper house. But between the Democrats and Progressive opposition his re-election is very doubtful. Fearful of Pennsylvania is another prominent senator who will retire next March unless he is re-elected. If he wins the Republican nomination in the primary next month he will have to defeat A. Mitchell Palmer, Democrat, and Gifford Pinchot, Progressive, at the polls in November.

Albert B. Cummins, one of the "big" men in the senate, will face the mixed Republican and Progressive sentiment in Iowa. Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, is another notable Republican who will have a hard race for a return. Joseph I. Bristow of Kansas also has a hard fight on his hands. Six aspirants are now in the field for his seat, among them such well known political figures as former Senator Charles Curtis, Republican, and Victor Murdock, Progressive. The venerable Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, a leader among the Stand Patters, is not likely to return. The election of a Democrat to succeed him is among the possibilities. Senator Bradley of Kentucky is another Republican who will probably be succeeded by a Democrat, either Governor McCreary or former Gov. Beckham.

Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, now in his eighty-fifth year, is not expected to be a candidate for re-election, though he has made no announcement to that effect. Several candidates to succeed him are already in the field, among them Governor McCreary and Lieutenant Governor Morris.

James H. Brady of Idaho will have to overcome formidable opposition if he returns. Four Republican candidates, as well as Democrats and Progressives, are now striving for his seat.

The case of Senator Clarke of Arkansas was practically settled in the state primaries this week and two weeks hence the Alabama primaries will decide whether Underwood or Hobson will be sent to the senate. At the same time Alabama will choose a short-term senator.

Of the Democrats whose terms will expire one of the most notable is Hoke Smith, of Georgia, who expects to return. Gore, of Oklahoma, also expects re-election, though he has a hard fight on his hands. Another Democrat who will seek re-election is Senator Newlands, of Nevada. He is popular in his state, but whether he can win out in a general primary remains to be seen. Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, appears to have a good chance to return, although a number of opposition candidates are already in the field.

According to reports received the path to re-election will not be altogether smooth one for Senators Sherman of Illinois, Shively of Indiana, Stone of Missouri, Jones of Washington, Dillingham of Vermont or Cronin of North Dakota.

The other members of the United States senate whose terms will expire next March and the majority of whom appear reasonably sure of re-election are F. B. Brandegee of Connecticut, J. R. Thornton of Louisiana, C. S. Thomas of Colorado, C. E. Crawford of South Dakota, Reed Smoot of Utah, D. W. Fletcher of Florida, M. A. Smith of Arizona, Lee S. Overman of North Carolina, J. W. Smith of Maryland, G. C. Perkins of California and E. D. Smith of South Carolina.

The present membership of the senate stands 51 Democrats, 43 Republicans, and 1 Progressive. The body is certain to remain Democratic until March 4, 1917. The elections of senators to take place this year will not detract from the Democratic majority, and, in fact, may add one or more to the voting strength.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" Can't Harm Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children California Syrup of Figs, that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless fruit laxative, and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good inside cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep California Syrup of Figs handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of California Syrup of Figs, which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

The color scheme was yellow. The shades were drawn, and decorations consisted of jonquils, yellow candles and other decorations in this color.

Mrs. T. E. Flaherty won the honors and the honor guest was also presented with a beautiful gift. Refreshments were served, there was music and a general royal time. Upon departure for their homes the guests showered Mrs. Beckley with good wishes for prosperity and happiness in her new home, and the function was a decided success in every detail.

PARENTS TAKE GREAT INTEREST

Great interest is being taken by the patrons and parents in the school exhibits shown at the city schools during the last two days of this week, and which commenced yesterday at the Will school, when a large number of people were visitors. This afternoon the North Ward school and the Seventh grade at the High school will receive visitors to view their exhibits, and the High school will be open this evening for the same purpose from 7 to 10 o'clock.

MAY START A UNIQUE PAPER

Col. Ben G. Whitehead says that he has rented that part of the McGowan building on Fifth street formerly occupied by Dolan's barber shop, and that he will use it for a printing and newspaper office, and that part of the outfit, including a linotype machine, is already on the road here from Chicago. In addition to publishing the State on Wednesdays, the Colonel says he will start still another newspaper to be called The Two Towns Saturday Night, which paper will cover both Bismarck and Mandan every week.

Makes Healthy Bowels

Rexall Orderlies

More Than One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork—by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives—by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh—by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them—they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

—a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when, your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic constipation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, because, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores and in the town only list.

This Is Our Guarantee—You Risk No Money

If Rexall Orderlies do not make your bowels act right, tell us so and we'll give back your money without asking a single question. There is no red tape to this guarantee. It means just what it says. You sign nothing. We won't hesitate, or ask you any questions. Your word is enough. If Rexall Orderlies do not do all you expect them to— if you don't feel better after using them and find that they are the pleasantest-acting and best laxative you have ever used, we want you to tell us and get your money back.
