VETERANS WILL ENTER PROTEST

Believe the Arbitrary Dismissal of Men From Service Bodes Ill for Democrats.

Washington, June 13.—Grand Army veterans throughout the country have been roused to action by the discharge of old soldiers from the government service in Washington. On the heels of dismissals of veterans who had served the Government faithfully in the Washington City Post office for years, came President Wilson's declaration of the invitation to deliver the Memorial Day address at Arlington National Cemetery, where so many thousands of the "boys of '61" lie sleeping.

Spirit of '61 Aroused. President Wilson's last-minute recall of his reelection, after Speaker Clark, his political enemy, had agreed to make the speech, has fallen very short of satisfying the old soldiers. Evidently, they are up in arms with all their old fighting blood aroused over those two slaps in the faces of the Union veterans.

Want Veterans Re-instated. The feeling in Grand Army circles over what the veterans regard as scant courtesy on the part of President Wilson on Memorial Day and the dismissals of veterans from the Washington Post Office would seem to be growing greater instead of smaller. Washington Gardner, of Albany, New York, the National Commander of the Grand Army, is in Washington in support of Dr. J. K. Gleason, Commander of the Department of the Potomac, who has made a valiant fight for the reinstatement of the veterans dismissed. Word has been flashed to all the old veterans of the country to hold themselves in readiness to defend themselves from further attacks of the Democratic administration.

Fired in Spite of Protests. In spite of protests to President Wilson, old veterans have been told to go, and threatened with dismissal if they did not resign. The treatment accorded these old men, who have given faithful service, has brought a flood of telegrams for senators and Representatives in Congress, and the end is not yet. Some re-instatements out of fear of the political effect of these dismissals, may be expected, but veterans say that will not satisfy the affront which was given the Grand Army of the Republic.

National Question. In a speech at a mass meeting, in Washington, a few nights ago, in which senators, Representatives in Congress and private citizens joined with the veterans in protest against the dismissal of veterans, Commander-in-Chief Gardner said the question was not a local one, but one that reached all over the country.

DAWSON DEFEATED. Cleveland, N. D., June 14.—The Cleveland-Windsor ball team defeated the Dawson team in a one-sided contest, held at Cleveland Saturday evening. The Dawson boys secured only one run to their opponents' eleven. Batteries: Dawson, and Farmer; Knapp and Bowers. Cleveland-Windsor: Hill and Martin. This makes three straight for Cleveland-Windsor this season, who have lost but one game in the last four years. The little twin cities on the N. P. have an aggregation that they can well be proud of. Stanton, take notice!

HEAVY RAINFALL AT DICKINSON. Dickinson, N. D., June 15.—Rainfall twenty-four hours Saturday amounts to two inches. It is the largest precipitation for a given time in the history of the weather bureau at Dickinson. Three and a half inches of moisture so far this month which is a half inch more than the normal for June according to the government records of the last 17 years.

EXCAVATING TO MAKE HISTORY

WONDERFUL WORK GOING ON IN DESERTS OF EGYPT TO FIND RELICS.

U. S. AND EUROPE JOIN

Working Together to Unearth the Treasures of the Valley of the Nile.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—When the announcement is made that some exploration expedition has rescued from the bowels of the earth material that reveals the history of the people who lived three thousand and more years ago, few people realize the attendant difficulties and hardships that are frequently undergone for the sake of that "branch of science. Wallace N. Stearns, in a communication to the National Geographic Society, at Washington, D. C., gives some idea of this side of the work in the reconstruction of Egypt's history.

Need Much Equipment. "These stupendous excavations along the Nile call for equipment on a considerable scale," he says. "Work must be rapid. December 1 to April 1 marks the working year. Every moment is precious. Every carload must count. Every shovel of earth must be carefully sifted whenever there is a possibility of a find. Even a basket brigade is sometimes pressed into use. As soon as some apparently valuable piece is located, workmen are called off, experts are sent in, every man is on guard. Carefully every inch of soil is watched as the last baskets of earth are removed. Every fragment must be saved and laid away until everything has been uncovered.

Keen Disappointment. "Think of the disappointment when, for example, a magnificent statue comes out headless. Think of the conjectures as to the whereabouts of the missing piece and the furor when, perhaps, weeks afterward, the lost is found. There is an air of hushed expectancy, a suppressed excitement hovering over that keeps men up under the most tense strain under which the work is of necessity conducted.

11th Dynasty Temple. "At Deir-el-Bahari the debris had to be carried to an old clay-pit in order to run no risk of covering either temple or tomb. This precaution doubtless saved the eleventh dynasty temple from burial beyond any hope of resurrection. Any one who took part in this work, will never see any dust worth mentioning elsewhere. At a distance of 50 yards a visitor would hear a terrible hubbub, seeing nothing but an impenetrable haze of dust, from which would presently emerge a tram, visible at ten yards, operating under the direction of a dust lamp—almost immediately followed by another. Over the high embankment would plunge the loads, and the train, once started, rolled all day ceaselessly on its double track, save for the noon hour of rest.

U. S. and Old World. "America has joined hands with the Old World in prosecuting this work. Wonderful are the results attained. Every student of history and literature, every student of the Bible, is vitally concerned in the confirmations yearly coming to light from the sands of Egypt. There is need of haste. To extend the arable district of Egypt is an economic necessity. Accordingly the British government has erected at Assouan the great dam, whose 95-foot head has sent the waters of the Nile back over great areas of hitherto dry ground. Already a dozen temples have been flooded, and ere long will be forever lost to sight. Already beautiful Philae at the head of the first cataract, is gone. The soil is becoming infiltrated, and the stores of treasures, especially the papyrus manuscripts, are being ruined, even before the waters cover the ground above.

Egypt Born Again. "However, through the genius of the engineer Egypt is born again. Pharaohs is again to play a role among nations. Art and sentiment have been sacrificed to her commercial welfare. The gain to Egypt, through the conservation of life-giving waters in a rainless land, is estimated at $15,000,000 annually."

CHILD DROWNED. Gardner, N. D., June 15.—The 14-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curley of Gardner was drowned yesterday afternoon when it fell into a large jar of water. The mother left the house for a short time, and when she returned, found the child in the water. She called a doctor at once, but it was too late to save the child's life. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the church at Gardner.

BURIED TOGETHER. Minot, N. D., June 15.—When Charles Sands' 18-month-old daughter died, May 29, the father gave the undertakers instructions to embalm her body and defer burial until after his
