OFFICERS ARREST ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Four Men Taken on One Charge Are Thought to Be Fellows Wanted for Another Crime

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 8.—The conductor on the north bound Northern Pacific local freight wired to Carrington from Barlow that four hoboes had attempted to hold up a brakeman on the train. Agent Neal notified Sheriff Morgan and that official, accompanied by E. L. Beaty, started in an auto for Barlow. When about two miles this side of that station, the sheriff saw four men walking. Pulling his machine up alongside of them, he commanded them to throw up their hands. Three of them complied, the fourth drew a gun. Another command to drop the weapon, and the 'bo dropped it. The four were then ordered to "about face" and were searched for weapons. Two of them had big revolvers on their persons, and the third had dropped his. The men were brought back to Carrington and a more thorough search of their clothing was made. Sheriff Morgan noticed that the men were wearing new shirts and underwear and one of them had a new sweater. The night before men had entered the store of J. P. Kidder at Melville and got away with considerable. The sheriff suspected that possibly the men he had arrested for the holdup were the same outfit that had robbed the Kidder store. Mr. Kidder was summoned here and identified the plunder. Under further examination one of the men told where the balance of the articles taken from the store had been hidden. It was found later under a hay stack at the spot between here and Melville. The four men were given a preliminary hearing before Police Magistrate Pryor and were bound over to the district court. They gave their names as Mars Harmon, Henry Kuhn, Otto Kementz and John Tully. They will remain in the Foster county jail until their trial comes up in district court. The men were well armed with revolvers, shells, knives and flash lamps. Young Kementz has pleaded guilty to the charge of robbing the Kidder store. The other three men stand pat and claim they had nothing to do with the job.

ABERDEEN WOMAN SHOT HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Jim Oday Fired Through a Window at Husband on Porch Severing an Artery.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 8.—Jim Oday of Groton was perhaps fatally shot by his wife at the Oday home, one block off Main street in Groton, about 2 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Oday fired one shot from her revolver through a window and struck her husband in the neck. An artery was severed and there is very little chance that the man will live. He was brought to the German Baptist hospital. The quarrel which ended in the shooting is said to have been caused by Mr. Oday demanding of his wife that she institute divorce proceedings against him, so as to leave him free to marry some other woman. This Mrs. Oday refused to do as she did not wish to bear the expense of such a proceeding. Her husband returned to the Oday home about 10 o'clock and demanded admission. She refused to let him in. From about 10 o'clock until about 2 in the morning the husband sat on a chair outside the door and the wife on another chair inside the door. Finally the husband tried to beat his way into the house with a spade or shovel and it was then that the woman shot at him through the window.

TOY DOG SAVED HOME FROM THIEF

Burglar Walking in Hallway of Home Stepped on Toy Which Squeaked Loudly.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—A toy dog equipped with a mechanical bark routed a burglar who broke into the home of F. R. Albro, 728 Thirteenth avenue SE, early today and the robber only escaped by fleeing from the house and bearding a moving freight train two blocks away amid a rain of bullets from a policeman's pistol. The robber is believed to have been the same man who an hour before entered the home of John Williams, 1096 Fourteenth avenue SE, where he was routed by the screams of Mrs. Williams. The robber was walking quietly through the hall at the Albro home, when he stepped on the toy dog. The toy yipped, awakening Mr. Albro and frightening the robber. As Albro rushed from the room the robber ran down stairs, while Patrolman F. S. Hallett was nearby looking for the intruder who had been at the Williams home. The policeman gave chase. The robber ran for the railroad yards and Hallett was unable to capture him. Mrs. Williams was awake when the robber entered the room. She saw him rifle Mr. Williams' clothes taking $3. When he turned the flash light about the room she screamed and the robber fled. Mr. Williams chased him to the street and then called the police.

BARN STRUCK.

Large Structure on Canfield Farm Near Cando, is Destroyed.

Cando, N. D., Sept. 8.—In the severe electrical storm which prevailed in this vicinity the large barn on W. F. Canfield's farm, about nine miles north of Cando, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed, only the cement foundation and chimney being left standing. The Lipp threshing crew was at the place and it was Will Lipp who first notified that the barn had been struck. The bolt hit the northeast corner of the barn and in a few minutes the structure was all ablaze. Nothing could be done to save the barn, but the crew went to work at once taking all stock out of the barn, some pieces of small machinery and twenty sets of work harness. For a while it seemed that the house would go too, the wind carrying burning embers and sparks onto the roof and through the windows. Just as the roof caught fire, however, the wind changed to the south, blowing the fire away from the house, and at the same time the rain began to fall, putting out the blaze.

SMALL BOY INJURED.

Child Had Leg Badly Crushed Under Heavy Log of Wheat.

Raleigh, N. D., Sept. 8.—Everest Faebel, four-year-old son of Henry Faebel, was unfortunate enough to get thrown from a wagon loaded with wheat and the hind wheel passed over his right leg, crushing it quite badly and breaking the bones. He thrown under the wheel. A physician was at once summoned from Flasher and decided to take the little fellow to the Mandan hospital.

AGE NEEDED TO GIVE CHARM

New Buildings, Clean and Freshly Painted, Are Unattractive and Seem to Lack Dignity.

A new building, clean and freshly painted, is one of the most unattractive things in the world. Take a shining new house, set in a treeless lot, without shrubbery or vines. It looks as harsh and bumptious and obtrusive as a fresh young agent who sets his foot inside the door the moment it is opened to keep it from being shut in his face.

Age is needed to give charm and dignity to buildings, to make them a part of the landscape. A new piece of stonework or brick or stucco stands up like a sore thumb. It does not fit in with the rest of things. The planet is somewhat weathered by the winds and rains of millions of years, and a permanent addition to it needs at least a little weathering to harmonize.

The gray of the great cathedrals which have accumulated the smoke and dust and grime of centuries is one great source of charm. To clean Westminster Abbey's hoary walls would ruin them. An example of the cheapening effect of newness is conspicuous in Kansas City in the partly cleaned walls of the new station. The gray stonework is wonderfully impressive in its massive dignity. But where the walls have been cleaned and whitened they give the impression of staring artificiality and primness wholly out of keeping with the general scheme of a monumental city entrance. Happily, in the case of the station the devastation wrought by the cleaning will be repaired within a few years. Meanwhile it may stand as a horrible example.

New things generally are more of less distressing—new shoes, new clothes, new houses. They all have to be lived with awhile before they get humanized.—Kansas City Star.

A Reception for Kings Who do Not Pull Each Others Hair

SINCE the Aristocrats of the Old World began tweaking each others noses, it would seem that there is something wrong with the old system of Royalty. It no longer stacks up as the genuine regal article. And while we hold no grudge against Europe's titled Nobelman—this country still prefers to pay its homage to Nature's Nobelman. Somehow we like Nature's brand the best.

America has shown that she has real peage of the world Monarch's, not Foreign, but truly American, whose domains are civilization and enlightenment. The kind of titles we tip our Hats to over here are Dukes of Dignity, Princes of Peace, Lords of Love and Labor, Sirs of Service and Self Sacrifice and Counts of Courtesy, Consideration and common sense. We have plenty of such right here in town. And for those we have gathered together America's famous lines of headwear which we now show in our abundance of beautiful

Marine Fossils Found in Bluffs of Heart River Strengthen Theory of One-Time Sea.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 8.—Some of the latest evidence discovered of the one-time great sea over this area is a bed of marine fossils found the last of the week in the bluffs along the Heart river west of this city, about a mile north of the Northern Pacific main line, by T. W. Stanton, paleontologist with the United States Geological Survey of Washington, D. C. Mr. Stanton has headquarters in Mandan since the middle of last week while searching for fossils throughout this vicinity. He made one trip by the north line of Stanton and several small expeditions to various points around Mandan, but found nothing of particular general interest, although he was much pleased with his discovery of the marine fossil-shells embedded in the Heart river bluffs, which he believes the latest evidence of marine fauna in all this region. The data is being gathered for a publication by this federal department on the geology of this section. A party of four, of whom Prof. E. T. Hancock of the Geological Survey is in charge, is camped on the Muddy,
