

"WILD OATS" DISCOURAGED

Evangelist Jones Says Idea of Sowing Them Is a Doctrine of the Devil.

"Wild Oats" was the subject used by Evangelist Jones last night at the first Presbyterian church and another large audience gathered to hear the sermon which pointed out the dangers and follies of youth. The text was taken from the first verse of the first Psalm: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

The Holy City was sung by Mr. Burch prior to the sermon and this old favorite lost none of its original charm and beauty by the masterful way in which it was rendered by Mr. Burch. The large chorus sang two numbers and the orchestra continues to delight the people. It was announced that the regular church quartet will sing this evening.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay gray! Here's a simple recipe that anybody can apply with a hair brush.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at your drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Witch's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, making one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

their good wishes for the meetings now being held in the Presbyterian church. It was decided to give up their mid-week service. The spirit of fellowship had a good effect on the meeting and many felt that it was the most helpful of any yet held.

We give the following excerpt from Jones' sermon: "Sin is a process, working gradually on the hearts and minds of men, leading them step by step, until at last they reach the precipice of despair. The text which I have chosen this evening clearly points out this downward trend. All Desire to be Good."

"No one ever began life with the thought of doing wrong, and I believe that sometime between the cradle and the grave there burns a desire in every breast to be good and true and noble. That desire was placed in the human breast by the Father of us all, and if men would yield to the kindly and heavenly influences that come from time to time, it would not be long until the entire world would be saved."

"Parents oftentimes give expression to the thought that 'Young people must sow their wild oats.' This idea of sowing wild oats is the doctrine of the devil and the theology of hell, for 'Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.' The story is told of a young man who was left some very valuable property by his parents. Soon after receiving the legacy, strangers came and offered him a fancy price for the property, but the young man shook his head and said, 'This property is not for sale; it's the old homestead—money is no object.'"

"Some days later the strangers returned and suggested that he lease the property long enough for them to sow and reap one crop. While the young man was unwilling to sell the old homestead, he could see no harm in leasing it, but when it was safe in the hands of strangers they sowed acorns, and the young man was dead long enough before the acorns were ready to reap."

"Many a young man who sprang the thought of living a life of sin has yielded to temptation and has gone out for a few hours to sow his wild oats and in some cases it will take a lifetime to reap what has been sown. There are only two ways, the right and the wrong, the path of the just and the way of the wicked."

Forks of the Road.

"Every person wakes up some morning at the forks of the road and right there, they are compelled to make a choice, and that choice is the crisis of their life. Israel made that choice when Joshua said, 'Choose ye this day whom ye will serve.' Ruth made that choice when she said, 'Thy God shall be my God and thy people shall be my people.' Moses 'chose rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasure of sin for a season; and I would urge every person in this audience tonight to seek the Lord while He may be found and call upon Him while He is near; let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts and let him return unto the Lord our God, for He will abundantly pardon.'"

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 there will be a meeting for men only; boys under 13 will not be admitted to the service, but a large attendance of men is expected. Mr. Burch will sing "Memories of Mother" and the large choir and orchestra will furnish special music. The revival meetings will close next Sunday night.

The piano recitals given last Monday by pupils of Miss Myers' class were a pleasant surprise to the public. None of these performers have studied over a year, and yet they showed ability at the piano. In the evening, a large audience assembled to hear the older pupils. With but two or three exceptions, it was the first public performance for these players, most of whom have studied much less than two years. The audience was very appreciative.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Girls! Try this! Makes your hair thick, glossy, fluffy, beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair out of it, if you will just try a little Danderine. (Adv.)

NEW MEMBERS TAKE OFFICE

Governor's Appointees to Board of Education of State Have Qualified.

President R. M. Black, head of the Normal Industrial school at Ellendale; President George A. McFarland, head of the normal school at Valley City; Miss Mary D. Flemington, superintendent of schools in Dickey county, and H. M. Taber of Jamestown, have qualified as members of the state board of education and will act in that capacity henceforth.

These four new members of the state board of education were recently appointed by Governor Hanna to take the places of Lewis F. Hillier of the Mayville Normal and Mamie Sorenson of Cando, superintendent of schools of Towner county.

The new members of the board took their office on Tuesday. On that day, too, the board of regents was to have met in this city to organize but a recent opinion of the attorney general to the effect that the board could not organize until July 1, next, served to hold up all action in this matter until that date.

ROSE STAHL IN PERFECT LADY

This Four-Act Comedy Booked for Bismarck April 27.

There are few comedies on the American stage whose success has been so distinctive as that of Miss Rose Stahl, and the audience she has gained is the result of hard work and the careful study of her profession. This season Miss Stahl will come to the city in a new comedy, called "A Perfect Lady" in which the Henry B. Harris Estate will present her at the Bismarck Auditorium, April 27. The piece is in four acts and was written by Channing Pollock and Renold Wolf, being the first straight comedy on which these authors have collaborated.

It is said that in her new character Miss Stahl has ample opportunity to win laughter, and to do this has been her delight ever since she began her career. Messrs. Pollock and Wolf have written many bright lines for the play and Miss Stahl delivers hers with that irresistibleunction which is so uniquely her own.

"A Perfect Lady" tells of Lucille le Jambon, rightfully Lucille Higgins, who with two companions from a now night burlesque company settle in the little town of Sycamore, Kan. In order to make their way, Miss Higgins decides to inculcate the people of the town with the tango craze. Under the cover of an ice cream parlor, she begins her work. The plot succeeds and soon nearly the whole population is dance mad. Of course, there are friends of the interest in the story is maintained. At length, all ends happily, and as was predicted at the beginning of the play, Lucille marries the minister and puts over her philosophy that to be good you must first be happy.

The Henry B. Harris Estate has surrounded Miss Stahl with an excellent number of players. The characters in the play are mainly of the country type and the humor is builded around their idiosyncrasies, so it is essential that each character in the play shall be ably interpreted.
