BRYAN AND PROHIBITION.

It is rather amusing to read Bryan's letter to the Democratic national committee of Iowa relative to prohibition. The Commoner probably has had an inside tip that the state will soon be dry, anyway.

Contrasted with this letter is his attitude in Minnesota last fall, when he delivered several speeches for Governor Hammond, the avowed candidate of the liquor interests. Mr. Bryan was as silent as the tomb upon the liquor traffic.

But Iowa conditions are different and no gubernatorial fight is at stake. It might be interesting to know whether Bryan regards prohibition as a state or national issue.

Pinchot is not the first man to be embarrassed by his relatives.

SEED SELECTION.

Campaigns for the selection of seed corn have done more than anything else to increase the acre-field of corn in North Dakota. They have created a confidence in the selection of seed grains of all kinds.

Now is the time to let this confidence have its way.

Seed grains put in this spring should be carefully selected. A bin of grain may be compared with a herd of cattle, and superior individuals may be selected from each. Individual kernels of grain vary as much in ability to produce good or poor offspring as do individual animals.

An increase of yield of from two to ten bushels an acre may be expected from properly selected seed grain. Whereas an increase of one bushel an acre in yield will pay for the labor of selection and leave a handsome profit. Anything more than one bushel an acre gain in yield, therefore, is all "velvet."

Bob LaFollette at Williston said he opposed peep-holes in post offices. What is he afraid of?

THE DRUG PROBLEM.

Drug addiction is very common in this country, and constitutes a menace to the nation, according to an article in the Public Health Reports, which reviews the efforts made to lessen the abuse of habit forming drugs and analyzes the federal and state laws restricting or regulating the distribution and use of opium, coca, and other narcotic and habit-forming drugs.

The abuse of narcotic drugs involves economic, social, moral and public health questions that collectively constitute one of the most serious problems before the people of the United States today.

In New York and several other states, drug addiction is regarded as a disease, and these states have provided a systematic treatment for those addicted to the use of drugs, while in Michigan such a person may be adjudged incompetent and a guardian appointed. A law recently enacted in Tennessee permits the sale of narcotics to drug addicts registered according to the law. Similar laws exist in other states, but the New York law for treatment of drug addicts is considered the better measure.

The principal shortcomings of the present laws are that no method of enforcement is outlined and no special appropriations are made for their enforcement.

 In order to bring about a uniformity of anti-narcotic laws, those who are interested in the subject should make a careful comparative study of the existing laws to determine the reasons for the inadequacy of those laws. Statistics should be compiled showing the nature and extent of the use of habit forming drugs, and earnest efforts should be made to secure uniform legislation which will prevent the misuse of such drugs.

The solution of the drug problem will be well worth the thought, time and expense required, and all who are interested in the welfare of the American people should give their support to the new federal anti-narcotic law, which aims to reduce the number of drug addicts and to remove temptation from others.

Huerta evidently is not satisfied with the revolution now in progress in Mexico. He is on his way back to start a real one. But probably he has just received a report on the status of the Mexican treasury.

New York is fortunate in having its constitutional convention headed by Elihu Root. It was also a Republican victory. Martin O'Brien was the Democratic candidate who went down to defeat. Nearly all political triumphs are bearing the Republican label these days. Just a trend of the times.

TWO BIBLICAL MIRACLES EXPLAINED BY PROFESSOR

Philadelphia, Pa., April 7.—Two Biblical miracles were explained by Professor Hamden M. Cobern, explorer and archaeologist, who has just returned from Palestine, in an address here yesterday. Professor Cobern visited the oasis at Kadesh-Barnea, where Moses struck the rock with his rod and brought forth water for the Israelites. He declared that Moses knew of the presence of the spring and that he had struck the rock in indication to his followers that water was to be found there. The explorer said the spring was located somewhat below the level of the surrounding desert and is visible only for a short distance. The oasis on which it was found, he said, was very small and is still held sacred by the Arabs.

The progress of the Israelites across the Red sea was possible, according to Professor Cobern, by a peculiar phenomenon which occurs once in a century, by which the wind, blowing from a certain direction, leaves a portion of the sea bed almost bare. The Israelites upon their departure from Egypt, the speaker said, could have reached Palestine in 12 days by taking the northern route, but they found this barred by fortifications. Enemies barred them at Sinai and Suez, which compelled Moses to take the southern course at the Red sea, he declared.

He's Smelt Them.

Church—They say that the New York market loses a million eggs a year by breakage. Isn't that enough to make one hold his breath?
 Gotham—Hold his nose, I should say.

Bishop James O'Reilly of Minot today contributed $1,000 in cash to the Aroch Catholic church for the purpose of aiding in the construction of a new building.

O. M. Fraser, county auditor of Walsh county for the last 26 years is today a private citizen, and W. C. Treumann holds the office that Mr. Fraser retained for so many years.

Grand Forks will have another modern theater. It will be erected by J. D. Bacon, at a cost of about $10,000, and already has been leased by A. J. Kavanaugh, formerly of Minneapolis, but now of Grand Forks. The theater will occupy a site in the heart of the city's business district.

The meeting held at Coulee to discuss the organization of a co-operative farmers' elevator was well attended and that those present meant business was evidenced by the fact that committees were named to effect a preliminary organization and solicit funds for financing the project.

M. A. Brannon, former dean of the college of liberal arts of the North Dakota university, now president of Idaho university, whose resignation has been tendered to the board of trustees of the Idaho institution, probably will be re-elected to the position at a salary of $5,000 a year.

Seeding on the experimental plots at the North Dakota Agricultural college will begin Monday, according to announcement made by one of the officials of that college yesterday afternoon. Five four-horse teams have been at work this week getting the plots in top-notch condition for receiving the seed.

After more than 30 years' continuous use as a Presbyterian church, the pioneer edifice at Lisbon was abandoned on Easter Sunday, April 4, and the church society moved into the new and handsome church recently completed and furnished. The new church has been built at a cost of $10,000 and is modern in every respect, even to fine stained glass windows.

The Kenmare Commercial club, a new organization, was started with an impetus that augurs well for its future as a boosters' meeting of about one hundred men of the city. The meeting was called by a committee of the younger men of the city interested in the success of the baseball team and band and the result was the organization of a commercial club and the appointment of committees to investigate and report on a number of projects of civic interest. The following are the officers of the new organization: President, Dr. Fred Ewing; vice president, G. G. Shepherd; secretary, Geo. Trzcinski; treasurer, Roscoe Lewis.

The First Presbyterian church of Jamestown was dedicated Sunday. It cost $40,000.

Fifteen children and all living is the remarkable anti-race suicide record of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Lunneberg of Dunbar township, near Minior.

The Van Hook Commercial club held a meeting and consulted a surveyor relative to the laying out of streets in the townsite and the preparation of a plat for incorporation purposes.

Receipts at the city abattoir at Grand Forks during the month of March exceeded the disbursements by $134.75, according to the monthly report filed by the superintendent with City Auditor William Alexander to be presented at the regular meeting of the city council.

Four high schools still remain in the race for the state debating championship, the final elimination events taking place this week at LaMoure and Mohall. The LaMoure high school will be opposed by the Hatton school, which won the state championship last year. The Mohall school will be opposed by the Reynolds high school. The schools are debating the question of government ownership of telegraph and telephone. The final debate will take place in Grand Forks on April 20.

North Dakota contends that for the first time in the United States a team composed of girls has represented a state agricultural college in an inter-collegiate debate. What is more, North Dakota's team, composed of Miss Bolin Frejzen of Oakes and Miss Louise Fitzgerald of Fargo, won the unanimous decision from the deponents of the agricultural college of South Dakota. The young women sustained the affirmative side of the subject whether each state should laws embodying the principles of the minimum wage.

Kenmare high school has had six graduating classes numbering a total of 66 young people. Of this number 19 have entered college and 9 have entered and graduated from the Valley City Normal school. The percentage of pupils continuing their education beyond high school is 52%. Two or three of last year's class expect to attend Normal school so it is a conservative estimate to say that at least 45 per cent of our graduates continue their education. North Dakota stands higher in this respect than most states.

The Farmers' Grain Dealers association of North Dakota have sent two representatives to Chicago, where they are appearing with representatives of the farmers from other states in the biggest freight rate hearing ever held and which is now being heard before Commissioner Daniels of the interstate commerce commission. Forty-one railroads west of Chicago, have united for an increase in freight rates. Their plea is that they do not receive sufficient revenue under the present rates. During the past several months the railroads have been making a direct appeal to the public for more revenue. This appeal has been made by a general plan of paid advertising in the newspapers of several states, by hearing before the state legislatures.

Condition of Missouri River

Orris W. Roberts, weather observer, has prepared the following interesting table relative to the Missouri river:

Station	Date	Stage	2 Hr. Change	Remarks
Billings	5	1.4	None
Bismarck	7	9.0	4.2	*6 p. m.
Ft. Berdon	5	1.7	None
Glendive	6	1.2	0.1	Falling.
Havre	4	6.8	0.2	Falling.
Medora	6	5.4	0.1	Rising.
Townsend	6	6.5	1.9	Rising.
Williston	7	7.7	???	Falling
Wolf Point	6	3.0	4.2	Falling.

The ice is running freely in the Missouri river at all points in North Dakota. No readings are obtainable at Williston for the reason that the gauge is covered with ice. The stage of water at Bismarck at 7 a. m. was 7.3, rising to 8.4 at noon and to 9.0 at 6 p. m., at which point it came to a stand. No danger from overflow is anticipated owing to the honeycombed condition of the ice.

Very respectfully,
 ORRIS W. ROBERTS,
 Section Director.

The First Touch of War.
 We did not encounter any battleships on the way over, but I caught a rather poignant glimpse of the war as we drew up to the Prince's landing stage in Liverpool. Long before any regular conversation was possible we saw a well-dressed woman on the dock. An Englishman with a voice worthy of the Bull of Bashan began to shout questions at her.
 "Have you news of Fred?"
 The woman nodded.
 "Good?"
 The woman shook her head.
 "Is he captured?"
 She shook her head.
 "Wounded?"
 Again she shook her head.
 And a woman aboard who stood beside the strong-voiced man faintly. I don't know whether she was Fred's wife or mother.—From a letter to the Outlook from Arthur Bullard.

WHITE HOUSE BEING MADE NEW; PAINTERS USE INGENUOUS PLAN

White House as it looks today.

It is not an uncommon sight to see painters working about the White House in the springtime, as almost every year the old mansion gets a new coat of paint; but this time, judging from the looks of the exterior, it seems as though they were building the historic mansion all over. The up-to-date painter dispenses with rope, hooks and ladder. The new process is a succession of tiers of ladders stood on ends, with boards passed between the rungs from the ground to the roof, thereby enabling many painters to work on one wall at the same time.

Use New Words.
 The words we use every day make up our vocabulary, and it is a very good thing that our vocabulary should be as large as we can possibly make it. The best way to accomplish that is to use as many new words as possible as often as we can. Then we get accustomed to them and they are part of our vocabulary. But we must be sure that we understand their meaning, and that we use them in the right place. It is better to choose short words rather than long ones.

BIG SUMS ARE WAGERED

Those Who Backed Sweitzer Lost More Than $500,000.

Chicago, April 7.—Sweitzer was a 2-to-1 favorite in yesterday's election and at those odds the greatest amount of money ever wagered in a mayoralty election changed hands.
 It was estimated last night that Sweitzer's cohorts who backed their belief in the democratic candidate's chances of election lost more than $500,000. Some of the wagers ran as high as $10,000, dwindling down from that figure to the "tinney" bet.

The heaviest bets were laid in the first ward, which includes the downtown district. Two board of trades men who plunged heavily were credited with being $100,000 shy as a result of wagering that amount against $50,000 of Thompson money.
 James L. Monaghan was said to have placed $10,000 at 2 to 1 on Thompson to win.

"Odds opened directly after the primaries with Sweitzer a 3 to 1 favorite. In the last week the odds dwindled to 2 to 1 and some few wagers were recorded at odds as low as 8 to 5. Numerous wagers were laid as to Sweitzer's plurality, but little Thompson money was offered at this angle to support their claims of an expected overwhelming vote. Several small bets were reported, but these were at large odds.

Some "Hedging."
 Election day saw considerable "hedging" but even with that there was considerable money offered which could not be placed. At one saloon in Clark street, directly across from the city hall, $70,000 was in the air at noon awaiting takers. The greater part of this belonged to Sweitzer supporters.

Women's Victory.
 "It is a women's victory," she explained on examination of returns, which gave Mr. Thompson a big majority of the suffragist vote. "He will be the first mayor of Chicago to be elected by the women, and he will live up to every promise made to them in the campaign. The vote shows what confidence the women of Chicago have in him. Billy stands for everything that is good for the city and I will stand by him and second him in everything that he will do for us."

No One Need Fear.
 "No one need fear for the board of education or the park system or the play grounds of Chicago under his administration."

Mrs. Thompson was interrupted by a telephone call.
 "It was Mrs. Carter Harrison congratulating me," she explained when she returned. "Every one seems so nice."

"Every appointment that Mr. Thompson makes will be upon a merit basis," she went on, and he will live up to every promise made to them in the campaign. The vote shows what confidence the women of Chicago have in him. Billy stands for everything that is good for the city and I will stand by him and second him in everything that he will do for us."

Never Lost a Race.
 "Do you know that Billy never lost a race in his life? It is almost a superstition with me, and so I was sure of victory, even in the darkest hour."

It cost the campaign committees of the two leading parties only $50,000 to protect their interests at the polls yesterday. "Only" is used in a comparative sense, for there were reports that the cost ran into six figures. There are many who believe it did, notwithstanding the modest statements of the committees.

Miss Welch Here.
 Miss Margaret Welch of the high school class of '14 was a visitor at the school on Tuesday. Miss Welch is now attending the state university.

Selected Invitations.
 The Seniors met after school last evening and selected the invitations for the annual commencement exercises. The invitations are very neat and of good style.

Increased Enrollment.
 The latest count of high school students shows a total enrollment of 232, not including two special students who are taking work in only one class each day. The total enrollment last year was 200 and Superintendent Root is pleased to note the goodly increase of this year.

Pennmanship Prizes.
 Mrs. L. H. Patten has offered two medals to the two students in the sixth grade room at the high school showing the greatest improvement in pennmanship during the year. All of the pupils in this grade are hard at work in an effort to win one of these medals and some fine pennmanship is the result of the contest.

Prize Essay Contest.
 A number of students of the history department of the high school are entered in a prize essay contest under the direction of Mr. White. The essays are to be written on some phase of the peace movement. The contest is being carried on under the auspices of the Independent magazine. Messrs. Bolt, Fish and Root were chosen as judges in this contest.

Gross Home Now.
 W. L. Gross, head of the commercial department at the high school, who slipped and fell downstairs at his home last week and broke a bone in his foot, is out of the hospital now and his friends will rejoice to know that he is getting along very nicely, although he will not be on his feet for two weeks or so. Miss Clara Burkum of Albert Lea, Minn., is taking Mr. Gross' classes for the time being.

Inter-class Track Meet.
 The high school classes, from the eighth graders up to the seniors, are now selecting their class teams and captains and expect to hold an inter-class track and field meet prior to the interscholastic meet at Mandan in May. The contestants who will represent this school in the Mandan meet will be selected in the inter-class meet. There is much interest in track and field work this year among the boys and during the spring vacation some of the lads built twenty hurdles.

Even Crabs Have Instinct.
 Everyone has heard of the homing instinct of birds and of insects, but it is rather a surprise to be told that animals as low in the scale of nature as crabs have a similar instinct. The experiment has been tried in England of capturing crabs, marking them for identification, and releasing them long distances from their homes. The most interesting example was that of a male and female captured together in a trap and released at different places far apart from each other. Later the two were caught together again in a trap in their original home, showing that they had not only returned to their home, but had found each other and had again mated. The homing instinct had enabled them to go from the county of Lincolnshire back to their original home in Yorkshire.
