An afternoon of more than ordinary interest was spent at the home of Mrs. A. A. Bruce, 420 Avenue B, on Wednesday, when 25 people were present to enjoy the program which the ladies of the suffrage organization had in charge.

The program was opened with a solo by Mrs. Wm. V. Klebert, who was followed by Captain Grant Marsh, who gave a most interesting description of his experiences at the time of the Custer massacre, when he was in charge of the Far West on his trip up the Missouri, in '76. The Captain pictured localities, fixing in the minds of the hearers a much clearer idea of the places of Wagon Wheel Butte and other places of interest, and gave reasons why certain points bear the names they do, also telling of his journey up the Big Horn.

While making this journey the Captain and his party had reached a place only 15 miles distant from the scene of battle, and while they were fishing they did not realize the scope of disaster so near, until an Indian by the name of Curly, of the tribe of the Crows, came between the bushes or horseback and gave the signal of peace. The Captain realized that he knew the Indian though he had a hard time to make out what he wished to explain, not being at all familiar with the Crow language, but he finally gathered that help was needed and learned that Curly was the only one who had escaped from the terrible field of bloody battle, by concealing himself under a blanket. The Captain and his party managed to go to the scene and there were 52 wounded, and these they managed to get back to Bismarck. The Captain did great work in assisting in getting the wounded back and his description was exceedingly interesting to those whose pleasure it was to be present.

After the Captain's part on the program, Mrs. L. H. Patten related points of interest centered on the historical places of Bismarck, Fort Lincoln and others, and gave an Indian legend of Painted Woods, which was also listened to with much interest. Miss Anderson, who is of Indian birth, and is now taking a course of study in the Bismarck hospital, rendered two solos, one a lullaby and the second a love song. She was heartily encouraged.

While these meetings are always enjoyable, it is doubtful if the organization has ever spent one so more interesting than the meeting at the home of Mrs. Bruce. And while Captain Marsh almost had the gathering in tears at times, he also told humorous incidents which caused mirth. There will be another afternoon in two weeks, when the suffrage organization will give a tea for old-timers, when it is expected another profitable and pleasant time will be had.

Judge and Mrs. Geo. V. Newton returned on Monday from Mandan, where they enjoyed the Easter season with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton, leaving here on Saturday. The hostess had made the home pleasing in flowers, the drawing room being decorated in Rambler roses and Martha Washington geraniums, while the dining room was in green and yellow. Here the table was also pleasing in flowers and a sumptuous repast was enjoyed at noon. The afternoon was happily spent driving in Henry Newton's new Cadillac car, they taking a trip to Smith, returning with a good, sharp appetite for the evening meal, when other guests were bidden to partake also of the delicacies. There was a real congenial circle to spend the evening at the Newton home, while conversation and Victrola music ruled the hours.

Dh. M. Evangeline Bolton went to her home at Jamestown on Wednesday to visit with her parents and enjoy the Cynosura Easter party given at the Elks' hall on Thursday evening, and returned on Friday. The Cynosura club has attained a fine reputation, when it comes to acting as hosts, and the ball given on Thursday was elaborate of appointment and enjoyment abounded to the utmost during the entire evening. The hall was brilliant with lights and floral decorations of lilies and other flowers gave an appearance of spring-like beauty to the surroundings. Tunstall's orchestra played an exceptionally fine program, imbuing the already happy guests with even more enthusiasm and to party as a whole bears the seal of success. The splendid supper served during the evening added much to the pleasure.

Miss Marion Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newton of Mandan, who formerly lived at Bismarck, is so well acquainted here as to seem like one of Bismarck's young ladies, and all whose pleasure it is to have the acquaintance of Miss Newton will be pleased to learn that she is meeting with great success in her musical career in Washington, D. C., in the Greene school of music. Mr. Greene conducts his school strictly for private instruction, and therefore his instruction excels. On February 28, Miss Newton was soloist for the afternoon, when an exceptionally fine program was presented at the Auditorium. She is also to be soloist this month with Sousa's band, which appears in that city. The Washington papers gave some very complimentary mention of Miss Newton's fame as a singer.

Evangelist Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Burch have been in our midst a month—just long enough to make Bismarck people wish they would make this city their permanent home. The meetings have been interesting and profitable and the church auditorium has been filled all the time. Today the services close, and Jones and Burch depart on Monday for Jamestown, where they begin a series of meetings, to last three weeks, in the First Presbyterian church. While in Bismarck Mr. and Mrs. Burch and Mr. Jones have made their home in the Crockard residence on Fifth street. The many whose pleasure it has been to enjoy the meetings and the society of these people extend them their best wishes for a pleasant journey and successful stay at Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tatley of Bismarck and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Klein of Bismarck, who have been spending the winter months at Miami, Fla., have had a most enjoyable season. Mr. Klein and Mr. Tatley both went for the purpose of getting well and strong, and they have both found that Florida is, indeed, a pleasant place during the winter season. Mr. Klein boasts, and in fact, sent friends a picture, of a wonderful shark, weighing 400 pounds, which he caught, and the ladies had their picture taken amid a field of grapefruit, saying grapefruit sells for 19 cents a dozen there.

Mrs. C. H. Crockard, son Craig, and little Collette, have been spending the time since their return, the first of the week, at the McKenzie hotel. Mrs. Crockard and children spent three weeks in Minneapolis, being guests the greater portion of the time at the home of Miss Rose Mary Malloy. They also spent a day at Fargo, and their stay would have been prolonged there if little Collette had been enjoying her usual good health, though since their return home the baby is greatly improved. On Monday Mrs. Crockard expects to return to her home on Fifth street.

Among the most enjoyable evenings spent by the young people of the city during the past few months have been the Tuesday evenings, when the members of the Modern Dancing club met at Patterson's hall for a few hours of dancing to O'Connor's music. Last week the dance was postponed until Friday evening, but the usual good attendance made the evening one of exceptional merriment, and it is expected that on Tuesday of the coming week there will be as enthusiastic a crowd as ever.

Mrs. H. A. Korslund, two children, Dorothy Pearl and Almund, her brother, Mr. Frank Myers, and cousin, Miss Lillian Myers, autoed from Kenmare to Flasher to visit her parents during the Easter season. Their trip and stay was very enjoyable, they coming to Bismarck on Friday evening, departing on Saturday, and expect to meet Mr. Korslund at Minot on their arrival there. They were guests at the McKenzie while in the city.

The home of Mrs. C. M. Henry Holist was the scene of a gathering of ladies on Thursday afternoon, when the Guild members and a number of other ladies assembled to do needlework for the bazaar, to be held later in the season by this organization. The serving of refreshments at 5 o'clock brought the busy workers' meeting to a close. Meetings will be held every week now until all articles are ready for the bazaar.

When a food sale is put on in Bismarck, ladies flock to the appointed place of the sale and the counter is cleared as quickly as if it were dew before the sun. The ladies of the Presbyterian church held a sale at Finney's store yesterday and this was their experience. It seemed everybody was anxious to get some of the delicacies for their Sunday dinner.

Miss Katherine White, who accompanied her brother, J. J. White, to her home at Fairmount for Easter, returned on Tuesday and has resumed her school work. There was a reunion at the White home in Fairmount, nearly all the children gathering around the home fireside for the happy Easter tide.

Miss Emma Laist left for Napoleon on Friday, to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Halseth for the next two months. Miss Laist has been a guest at the Halseth home before and enjoys an acquaintance in that little town, where she will enjoy a number of social affairs.

Mrs. H. L. Michelson was guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brewster on Friday evening, at a 6 o'clock dinner. Following the repast a social evening was spent, when little Lester figured prominently in the circle.

Mrs. Marvin Hart returned Friday from a month's visit with friends in Minneapolis and St. Paul. While there Mrs. Hart took in all the things of interest and was entertained on various occasions at pretty afternoon parties and other functions.

Miss Mabel Amiot, stenographer in the office of the secretary of state, spent the Easter season at LeSueur, with her mother, returning home on Thursday. Miss Amiot reports a pleasant visit. She also spent a short time with relatives in St. Paul.

Mrs. Richard Treacy left for her home at Fargo on Monday, to be away about two weeks, during which time she will mingle with her many friends in social circles and enjoy the festivities at Fargo.

Miss Anna Orin returned to Simm on Saturday, after completing her term of school north of town. Miss Orin spent a short time in Bismarck, enroute to her home.

Mrs. C. W. Jackson of Wilton arrived in Bismarck on Friday and is spending a few days here, visiting friends and taking in the department stores.

Miss Mary Huber returned to her school work at New Salem on Saturday, after spending a week at home enjoying Easter vacation.
