

WITH THE PASTORS

The Tribunes will run sermon digests weekly in this space. Pastors of Bismarck churches are asked to co-operate with the church editor in the way of furnishing these digests.

McCABE M. E. CHURCH. At the Sunday evening service at the M. E. church Rev. R. H. Craig preached on "Tiger Cubs in the Human Soul." These tiger cubs begin as things which seem harmless enough but they end by being habits from which it is impossible for the soul to free itself.

Then there are slight irregularities in the moral life which we may think do not matter much, but these too are tiger cubs. The habit of telling so-called "white lies" may end in total inability to tell the truth. All these tendencies must be curbed in the beginning. If we would be on the safe side. Bad temper may seem a slight offense in a young girl, but in the grown woman it is far less attractive. Unbelief is another tiger cub. While there are some sincere souls of an investigating type of mind who naturally doubt it is possible to carry the doubting spirit beyond all reasonable bounds and to consciously and purposefully cultivate it. This is especially true in this scientific age.

Then there is the tiger cub of religious indifference. This cub is especially checked with sure work in his right hand. His left hand hung down at his side. The pet tiger was near. The tiger began to lick his left hand. Finally he bit the skin and got his first taste of human blood. The tiger cub had become a full-grown tiger with traits of the savage beast. It was necessary to kill him immediately.

There is also the tiger cub of procrastination. Putting things off is a dangerous practice. This is especially true in regard to the matter of beginning the Christian life. "Procrastination," some have said, "is the thief of time." It is a mistake to leave things for the future. All worthwhile things should be done today, if possible.

There was an English officer in India who owned a tiger cub which he kept as a pet. One day he was reading with his book in his right hand. His left hand hung down at his side. The pet tiger was near. The tiger began to lick his left hand. Finally he bit the skin and got his first taste of human blood. The tiger cub had become a full-grown tiger with traits of the savage beast. It was necessary to kill him immediately.

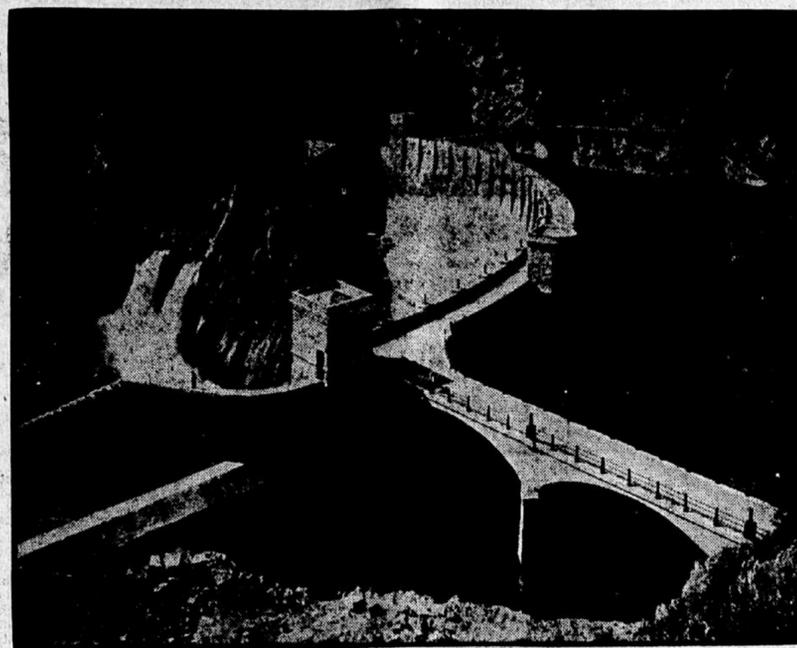

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH. Rev. Bruce E. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist church, is delivering a special series of Sunday evening sermons on the general topic of "Voices of the Spring-time." The first sermon of this series was delivered Sunday evening on "The Day of the East Wind." Rev. Jackson spoke of the different winds in human life. The east wind, he said always makes us blue, but we must remember that we cannot have all sunshine and no rain. This is true for the soul as well as in nature.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. Rev. Charles W. Harris preached a sermon on Sunday night from a book without words. This book contained first the black pages representing man's sins; then the red, significant of the blood shed for us; then the white pages which represented the new life which all may inherit through Christ and lastly the golden page, representing the eternal life in the Holy City with the streets of gold. The sermon impressed the large audience which gathered at the church that night. Several new members were received into the church at both morning and evening services and a chorus choir directed by Taylor O. Thompson, furnished special music.

UNCLE SAM WINS AGAIN!

Greatest project of Reclamation service a complete success. Roosevelt dam filled today. Arizona celebrates PHOENIX, Ariz., April 15.—Arizona and the rest of the west celebrate today the filling of the Roosevelt reservoir. The water has finished its 225-foot climb from bedrock, and for the first time since the completion of the dam in 1911, is pouring over the spillway. Thousands of people are journeying over the splendid government highway to see the "Reservoir of Progress" filled at last.

The Reason Why There is enough water behind the dam today to irrigate the 190,000 acres of farm land in the Salt River valley for three years without the help of another drop of rainfall. In addition to these lands already under cultivation, water is now to be delivered to 30,000 acres of new desert land never served before. Even with this added burden, there is enough water in the reservoir to put every farm in the valley under four feet of water.

The Celebration The celebration at Roosevelt today takes the form of an old-time range barbecue with speeches afterward, and dances and boat rides after that.

Some of the distinguished personages present at the blessing of the waters are Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, who is a resident of the valley, United States senators Ashurst and Smith, Congressman Hayden, George H. Maxwell, director of the National Reclamation association, and Advisory Engineer Louis C. Hill of the reclamation service.

The Way There A party of Raymond-Whitcomb tourists will pass the dam tomorrow in time to stir the ashes of today's celebration. The Southern Pacific is now routing much of its cross-country travel via Roosevelt, the distance of 140 miles between Globe and Phoenix being covered by an automobile ride over the government highway through the mountains, along the edge of Roosevelt lake, and down into the Salt River valley. The mountain region traversed by this road is of such scenic beauty that a campaign is now under way to make it a national park.

The Dam Not the least of the wonders of this new park will be the dam itself. This artificial mountain of granite is 285 feet high and 165 feet thick at the base. The roadway upon its crest is twenty feet wide and the lake above is twenty miles long. Forty-five miles farther down the Salt river is the Granite Reef diversion dam, and from that point canals and laterals carry the water to the foot of every orange tree and alfalfa stalk in the broad valley.

The Power Plants Three great hydro-electric plants—at the dam, the Arizona Falls, and Tempe—generate a total of 18,000 horsepower. This wire-walking energy operates the city and interurban electric railways of the valley and furnishes light and power to half a dozen cities and towns.

Making Money The whole project has cost $12,000,000, and the return from the power plants, which are now being enlarged, is expected to pay off this entire amount. Thus the land is left free of burden and the farmer goes on declaring dividends on water free as rain.

The wise man puts $3.00 into a Gordon Hat and $2.00 in the bank.

BOLLEY ISSUES SEED WARNING

Unscrupulous Dealers Are Going About the State With a Fake Product.

Prof. Bolley has issued the following warning to farmers: "I am writing this short note to call the attention of the farmers of the state to the fact that there are certain unscrupulous dealers in seed running about the state, making sales, showing samples of rather good stuff and apparently delivering samples of very poor seed. It seems necessary that farmers should be on their guard in these matters.

In making purchases of expensive seed, such as clover, alfalfa, new varieties, etc., in which high prices are charged, it is particularly wise that you have a man give good references and you should be sufficiently forehanded in your business methods to require him to submit samples long enough before you buy to have those properly examined and tested. This is especially true with regard to alfalfa, in which there is apt to be seeds of the alfalfa pest known as dodder.

The North Dakota Pure Seed Laboratory can help you very materially if you submit samples before you buy. First publication of the 27th day of April, A. D. 1915. Apr. 20, 27, May 4, 15

A four course luncheon will be served. The hostesses will be Lillian Thrams, Violet Thrams and Mabel Funston. The first cooks are Dorothy Blunt, Albertina Smith; second cooks, Gertrude Hoffman, LeVina Peterson, waitresses, Maud Miller, Adyth Ferris. The next domestic science luncheon will be served one week from today.

The junior-senior banquet will be held next Saturday evening. The S. S. S. Girls' Literary club will meet Thursday evening instead of Wednesday evening on account of the Schumann-Heink concert.

The Websterian Debating club will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 when the following program will be given: Piano solo—Angelo Holta. Current Events—Paul Register. Bits O'Nonsense—George Smith. A Mock Trial—all members. A story—Oliver Jorgenson. Parliamentary practice. Music.

The mock trial will be one of the most interesting features of the program. It will be a breach of promise suit in which the complaint reads as follows: Breach of Promise Suit. District Court, Sixth Judicial District. Misc. Jane Hihlfe, Plaintiff, vs. Mr. Angelo Holta, Defendant.

The plaintiff complains against the defendant in the above entitled action and alleges: First: That the defendant has written love letters to the plaintiff from about April, 1914 to April, 1915, now in her possession. Second: That the defendant presented her with a brass engagement ring on the evening of June 5, 1914, at the home of her parents.

Third: That the defendant promised on the evening of January 25, 1915, to marry her, the plaintiff, one year from the aforesaid date. Fourth: That the defendant did tell her on or about April 1, 1915, in words to the effect that his love for her had grown cold, and that he did break the above contract, and that he refused to marry her.

And the plaintiff further says that she performed her part of the contract in every particular; and that she was willing and ready to marry the defendant upon the date agreed upon.

And the plaintiff further says that she did remind the defendant of his promise, and did refuse to consider it dissolved, but that the defendant wholly neglected to make amends to her, and that she has suffered great loss from circumstances growing out of the defendant's action. Therefore,

This plaintiff does demand and seeks judgment against the defendant in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, to be paid in, together with the cost of this action.

Entrance examinations for the naval academy at Annapolis will be held at the post office today and Wednesday and Thursday. Henry A. Anderson of the senior class will be an applicant.

A number of students in the history department are now organizing a history club under the patronage of Mr. White, the teacher of that department. The club met yesterday after school to prepare a constitution. It is the plan of the club to do research work and study things of interest historically aside from the regular course, especially to take up card topics. The first regular meeting will be held a week from today at which time the organization of the club will be practically completed and the first program carried out. Quite a number of students have signified their intention of joining.

The senior class in the English department is busily engaged getting ready for oral reports on modern American fiction writers. Forty seniors are engaged in this work, each one giving a full account of one fiction writer and his works. This material is all written out, memorized, and given in the form of an oration to the other members of the class. Thus the class as a whole is familiarized with forty fiction writers although each member does his individual work on only one writer. Through this method it is believed that the maximum of information is obtained with the minimum of work for each student. Thus the senior class will complete its English work with this comprehensive review of the works and lives of forty of our representative American fiction writers, a study which cannot fall to be of great benefit to them.

The junior class in English is enjoying the perusal of Carlyle's "Essay on Burns," learning that a true biography embraces a man's attitude toward life and the world,—how the world affects him and he affects the world.

The sophomore class in English is busy dramatizing the chief scenes in "The Merchant of Venice" including the bond scene, the casket scene, the trial scene and the ring scene.

A call is being issued for all boys who expect to take part in either class contests or field meet at Mandan to report for regular practice as no one will be allowed to take part who does not do some regular systematic training.

A WOMAN DOCTOR says, "Eugenics is a necessary factor in the future of the race. The average American girl is unfit for motherhood." This may be true, but if weak and ailing girls passing from girlhood to womanhood would only say, as thousands do, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—that simple remedy made from roots and herbs—to restore the system to a normal, healthy condition, it would cause many ills from which they suffer to disappear, so that motherhood might become the joy of their lives.—Adv.
