

LOCAL DOCTORS
GIVE UP SKIN
TO SAVE CHILD

Grafting Operation Necessary to Save Life of Little Boy at Hospital.
CHILD'S MOTHER ALSO CAME TO RESCUE
But Refused to Give up a Second Supply to Save the Child.

Some weeks ago a small boy was taken to a Bismarck hospital for treatment following severe burns on the arms and chest. He is a dear little fellow, very prepossessing in appearance, and cunning in his ways, a child about four years old. After the burns had partially healed it became necessary to resort to skin grafting. The mother was informed of this and told that it would be necessary to have some of her skin for this purpose. She was willing to submit to the operation, and the skin was grafted on the body of her child, and adhered and was doing nicely. However, it became apparent that more skin would be needed to insure the complete recovery of the boy. The mother was again appealed to, but she would not consent to give any more skin, even for the sake of her own child. All attempts to persuade her proved fruitless, and she even sought to remove the child from the hospital and the doctors' care rather than undergo the pain and inconvenience of having skin removed to assist the boy's cure. It is at this point that the altruism and unselfish devotion of some of Bismarck's physicians became manifest. The world knows something of the unselfish service which the conscientious doctor renders to his community, a service which is often performed in secret, with no thought of self, through such delinquents as that of the immortal Dr. McClure by Ian McLaren, and others. We may congratulate ourselves that something of the same spirit is present in the physicians of Bismarck. When the mother refused to further sacrifice herself professional spirit which finds its reward in the sense of work well done, and forgets self and all else in devotion to that end, gave their own skin; each physician, curious to relate, himself removing it from his own body that the little boy in whom they were so much interested might, if possible be perfectly healed.

THIS DESCENDANT OF HARVARD'S FOUNDER NOW HARVARD GRAD

Lionel de Jersey Harvard.

The only descendant of the founder of Harvard University to graduate from that institution is Lionel de Jersey Harvard of London, who received his diploma last week. Young Harvard, who was the poet of his class, expects to join the British army at the front.

VILLA'S GENERAL AT WASHINGTON

Issues Statement Saying That His Chief Has No Sympathy With Huerta.

Washington, June 29.—General Felipe Angeles, a veteran of many artillery duels in Mexican battles and right hand man of Villa, came to Washington today to deny the intimations that he was involved in activities of Huerta and his associates, at the same time to learn the sentiment of officials generally toward the Mexican problem.

He issued a statement saying he opposed Huerta and all he represents in Mexican politics, and that after his visit here he would go to Sonora on a private mission for Villa, returning thereafter to the battlefield to remain with his chief. Officials at the department of justice had no additional details concerning the charges and evidence on which Huerta and Orozco were arrested at El Paso. They expressed the opinion, however, whatever might be the outcome of the prosecution, the arrests already had a wholesome effect in preventing the launching of the new revolutionary movement in Mexico.

Another Mexican Arrested. El Paso, Texas, June 29.—Jose Zozaya, a wealthy Mexican here, was arrested today on charges of conspiracy to set afoot a military expedition against a friendly country, in violation of United States neutrality. He was released on $7,500 bonds for hearing Thursday.

The arrest of Zozaya is the first since Huerta and Orozco, who were placed under detention Sunday. Additional specific accusations were made against Zozaya, including the purchase of five machine guns, 500 rifles and a quantity of ammunition.

Anxiety Expressed. Washington, June 29.—In the absence of direct reports from Mexico City which for nearly ten days have been cut off by telegraph and rail from the outside world, there was much anxiety in official quarters concerning the conditions in the old capital and its vicinity. The food supply is short and danger of the military operations being carried into the city itself has caused grave concern.

Wilson Refuses Interview. Cornish, N. H., June 29.—An unsuccessful attempt made today to arrange an interview between Wilson and General Angeles, the Mexican leader who recently came to the United States, desiring to give the President his views of conditions in Mexico and to suggest a way of meeting Wilson's warning that the situation there must be changed.

Colonel Jesus Aguilar and Major Yreco Garcia, who said they were members, respectively of the staffs of Angeles and Raul Madero, brought letters of introduction from Madero and Angeles, but were told the Mexican situation was being handled by the state department at Washington, and that it would be impossible for Angeles to see the President here.

Irish Patriot Dead. New York, June 29.—Jeremiah O'Donovan, better known as O'Donovan Kossa, the Irish patriot, and revolutionary, died at St. Vincent's hospital, Staten Island, today. He had been ill many months.

GOVERNOR'S SON ASSUMES ROLE OF "OFFICIAL GUIDE"

Chief Executive of State Sees Exposition Under Sons Guidance.

VISITING GOVERNORS RARELY SEE SIGHTS.

Human Side of Governor L. B. Hanna Strongly Evident at Frisco.

San Francisco, Cal., June 29.—Many people wonder how a governor of a great state gets to see the Panama-Pacific-International exposition, when he comes here to be present at functions gotten up in his honor. It seems to be impossible for him to get a real good idea of the magnitude of this great show. But one governor, at least, did see the exposition, and while he was on the job he saw all of it, but, of course, could only see it superficially. When a governor is invited and entertained we so often fail to investigate the human side of the official, and forget that his home life and home ties play as great a part in his existence as in the more humble citizen. This was that just before Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota, left for home last night it was somewhat of a surprise to many when he said that he had seen the exposition. This wonder led to curiosity, and he was asked how he did it. It was a simple explanation that he gave. Accompanying the governor on his trip to San Francisco was his son Robert, a boy of 13. Robert is just as inquisitive as any other boy of his age, and he was just as anxious to see the sights here at the exposition as would be the son of any other man less prominent than his father. So it was that on Monday evening he took his father by the hand and went through the zone, and went through it thoroughly. And the father was glad to be with the boy and enjoyed the merriment as much as Robert did. Tuesday was a busy day for the governor, but Robert went along and took in the festivities from his point of view.

Steal a March. Wednesday morning, eight and early, while the rest of the official party was eating breakfast, Robert and his father stole away from the hotel and went to the exposition grounds. They went through the several palaces of industry, and in order to hurry matters took a wheel chair and took in the state and national buildings. They were at it all day long, and when they turned up in the afternoon they were tired, but happy.

"It was a great day. My boy and I saw the whole show, big and splendid as it is, and we are going to carry back to North Dakota a lot of good lessons that will help us later on. Robert did not have a greater time than I did, for it was all so fine, so big, so comprehensive, that I could not help but stop at times and wonder how human mind could conceive such magnificence. I forgot the cares and worries of my office for the time being, and saw everything from the viewpoint of the private citizen. I hope to come back later in the year, when I can spend more time studying the various exhibits more closely. But I am going home thoroughly pleased in every way, and I am going to tell our people that they should not miss coming out here and see what Robert and I saw today."

The ship of state was forgotten for one day, and it was a boy, his son, who helped to perform the miracle. Surely governors are human after all.

HEROLD CASE WARMING UP

Attorneys Busy Picking Alleged Flaws in the Reputation of Plaintiff.

Considerable time was taken up yesterday in the court of Judge J. M. Hanley at Mandan by attorneys in the case of Frank Watrang, charged with rape. Lizzie Herold, the complaining witness, was placed on the stand yesterday, and the attorneys for the defendant, L. A. Simpson and J. A. Sullivan, took advantage of the opportunity to pick a number of flaws in the lady's otherwise spotless reputation. Congressman P. D. Norton and Attorney J. W. Murray of Mott represented the complaining witness, Lizzie Herold. It is expected the case will be finished today. The jury in the case is as follows: W. J. Garrick, E. D. Moore, W. G. Jones, John Elmar, W. B. Noyes, Mike Brown, M. C. Caddell, M. McDowell, Frank Hagerman, Jacob C. Olin, Otto Wendt, E. J. Lawler.

BIG CELEBRATION AT MOORHEAD IS PLANNED TONIGHT

Saloon Patrons Plan on "Licking Up" All Available Booze.

LAST WET DAY WILL BE A HUMMER.

Thirty-one Saloons Will Close Their Doors for Last Time Tonight.

Moorhead, June 29.—Tomorrow night at one minute to 11 o'clock the patrons of the Moorhead saloons will have their last chance to legally buy a drink of intoxicating liquor in this city. As a result of the county option law the saloons, for the first time in the history of this city, will close their doors to the public, and under the present arrangements will never open again. It will be a strange incident in the history of Moorhead and one that will have a great effect on its future.

The local saloon keepers are making no extensive arrangements for a big celebration and will no doubt close their places promptly at the usual hour. However, it is said that the "joy lovers" of Moorhead, Fargo and the vicinity, are not destined to let this important event go by without a "one big blowout" and with that fact in view the city tomorrow night will probably see such a time as was witnessed on several occasions in the olden days when things were free and easy.

It is well understood that the majority of the people in this city are the friends of the saloonkeeper, if not his business. It is reported that the liquor men, at least most of them, will remain in Moorhead and go into some other line of business. Most of the local saloonkeepers are old settlers here and have made many friends that would regret to see them move away to some other city.

Americans Must Have Passports

Washington, June 29.—Another warning against going into foreign lands without passports was given Americans by the state department. In all countries except Canada passports are necessary, and even in Canada they should be carried by citizens of the United States whose names indicate German, Austrian and Turkish origin.

A dispatch today from Consul General Rio Janeiro described difficulties by Americans getting out of Brazil after coming from the United States without passports. England's passport regulations are being made more and more stringent in an effort to check the movement of German spies.

W. J. Bryan Explains All to Home Folks

Lincoln, Neb., June 29.—W. J. Bryan, in an address here tonight on the "Farmer Friend of Peace," told the Lincoln people they were fortunate in being so far removed from what he regarded as the baneful influence of the newspapers of the east, particularly of New York, some of which he accused of preaching the cause of war. Speaking of the farmer, Bryan elucidated his virtues.

Bryan Had to Spell His Name To Work for Sen. Burton

Chicago, June 29.—William Jennings Bryan was obliged to repeat his name five times, and then spell it before his identity was recognized by whoever answered the telephone at the home of Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, yesterday. The former secretary of state called Mr. Harrison's home, and on learning the former mayor wasn't there, asked that he call Mr. Bryan at a hotel upon his return. "Yes—Bryan," the former secretary of state shouted over the telephone. "The initials? W. J., yes—W. J. Bryan, B-r-y-a-n. W. J. Bryan of Lincoln, Neb. No not Ryan. It's Bryan—B-r-y-a-n. Tell him I had hoped to see him. Thank you." "Such is fame," commented Mr. Bryan as he banged up the receiver.

IS THIS THE FACE OF AN INSANE MAN?

Harry Thaw sketches in court last week.

The twelve jurors in Harry Thaw's sanity trial have a difficult task. While not one of them is an expert on mental disorders they must decide a question on which experts are in sharp disagreement. Several alienists of the highest standing have testified that Thaw is sane. Several others with equal professional ability believe Stanford White's slayer hopelessly insane.

Army of Russia Neither Beaten nor Discouraged Says London Times

London, June 29.—The Russian armies are neither beaten nor discouraged, according to the correspondent of the Times in reviewing the six weeks' Teutonic advance, after a visit to Russian headquarters. General Ivanoff, commander of the southern armies, shows no trace of despondency. Discussing the present situation, the correspondent says: "The view is held here that the capture of Lemberg and other Galician successes have brought the Austro-Germans no nearer a solution of the war. In spite of their enormous losses, which are estimated at 339,000 Germans and probably an equal number of Austrians, they still counter the same stubborn army as before which is willing to keep fighting for years if necessary. The Germans must continue pouring in fresh troops in order to hold their positions, for if they take them away to defend other frontiers the whole edifice of the Austrian defensive will collapse. "The Russian point of view is that they can retire and advance again indifferently, caring little for the moral effect of the loss of towns as long as they are constantly weakening their adversaries and preventing a trench headlock such as exists on the western and Warsaw fronts."

BURGLARS FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO ENTER BUILDING

Burglars were scared away from the rear door of the J. B. Fredericks Hardware store of Mandan, early this morning, just as they had about gained admission. Two men, it is believed, were in the job. They had a brace with a three-quarter inch bit, and bored seven holes in a circle alongside the Yale lock in the back door. The wood was chipped out, but the hole made was not large enough to admit a hand. Dogs in a shed at the rear of the Merchants hotel were barking furiously, and their owner, John Yurck, got out of bed to see what was the matter. He called to the dogs and immediately afterward heard men running. They left their brace and bit lying on the ground beside the door. This morning Chief of Police Knoll took the tool to other hardware stores of the city, but that particular variety is not handled by any. It is believed that the brace was stolen from a hardware store in some other city for it is brand new. The bit used was an old one.

BRITISH RECRUIT MEN IN FRISCO

Alleged $150,000 Was Spent in Recruiting 300—Enlisted Man Arrested.

San Francisco, June 29.—Further investigations by the federal grand jury into the secret operations of alleged recruiting agents of the British government in San Francisco brought out testimony to the effect that three hundred recruits were shipped from here to New York for ultimate service in the British army and were given medical examinations in a room next to the British consulate in New York.

Frank Cook, a recruit, was arrested in New York and thus testified. It was asserted today in the alleged recruiting of 300 men over $150,000 has been spent. Federal investigators are endeavoring to learn the source of this money. According to the statement of the federal investigators in the case, the soldiers and sailors of this government have been induced to desert and join hands of recruits sent from here by the payment of ten dollars per head, free transportation money and pay with future bonuses. It is declared recruiting agents worked in the army, navy and U. S. C. A. here.

NEW ROCKFORD ASTIR.

Rural Interests Enlist in Town's Boating Campaign. New Rockford, N. D., June 28.—A remarkably enthusiastic campaign is being conducted for the revival of interest in the promotion of New Rockford and Eddy county's business interests. The campaign is under the direction of the New Rockford Commercial club. Not only are city folks being aroused, but the movement is being extended to the rural districts.

THE WEATHER.

North Dakota: Generally fair Wednesday and Thursday and not much change in temperature. South Dakota: Cloudy Wednesday and Thursday and probably showers with little change in temperature.

RUSSIANS FORCED OVER FRONTIER BY AUSTRO-GERMANS

Teutonic Allies Bent on Farther Punishment for Slavic Forces.

MONTENEGRINS IN SCUTARI FOR STRATEGIC PURPOSES.

Holland Issues War Loan of $36,000,000 for Mobilization Purposes.

London, June 29.—Driven back over their own frontier north of Lemberg and forced to cross the river Gnila Lipa, in southeast Galicia, the Russian armies to retreat before the Austro-Germans along the front of approximately 250 miles, about equal to the distance between Arras and Vosges. The Berlin official communication records the progress by the Teutons in virtually the entire southeastern theater, although violent fighting is still progressing beyond the Gnila Lipa, which joins the Dniester at Halicz. Forces Passage.

Having forced the passage of this stream, von Linsingen's army presumably is astride the railroad running from Halicz to Lemberg and Stanislau, now doubtless is aiming at the line running from Lemberg to Odesa. Bent on Punishment.

Evidently Germany is bent on further punishment for the Russians before relaxing the intensity of her Galician campaign, but with the Germans across the frontier, the Russians are forced to rely almost solely on road transportation and their advance will be necessarily slower. Secure in West.

Notwithstanding the French attacks around Arras, it is argued the Germans must feel comparatively secure in the west, else they would not have risked their tremendous enveloping move against the Russians. David Mason, a liberal member of the house of commons for Coventry, has given notice that he will ask Premier Asquith in the house Wednesday whether, in view of certain speeches by some members of the German parliament demanding speedy and honorable peace, that his majesty's government will consider the advisability of stating more specifically than heretofore the terms upon which such peace will be possible, with the object of hastening such a happy consummation.

Montenegrins in Scutari. Almost coincident with the report from Rome that the Montenegrins occupied Scutari, Albania, Andre Rabovitch, former prime minister of Montenegro, who is in London on a special mission, announced that Montenegro had no intention of occupying Scutari. He explained that Montenegro entered certain parts of Albania for strategic purposes only.

Holland Issues War Loan. An Amsterdam dispatch says the Dutch government has decided to issue a new war loan of $36,000,000, to pay the cost of mobilization and other war expenditures.

The Teutonic allies are in advance over the Galicia border into Russian Poland in the region of Tomaszow and have captured that Polish town, according to Austrian official statement issued tonight. The statement also says that strong Russian forces north of Kamionka, 25 miles north-east of Lemberg, were repulsed with great loss last night, after heavy fighting. Loss $40,000.

A dispatch to the Geneva Tribune from Innsbruck, Austria, dealing with fighting in Galicia, says, according to estimates in Innsbruck, "that in the Russian counter attack around Lemberg, the Austrians have lost 40,000 men since June 23."

"The Russians are resisting strongly, it added, on the left bank of the Zelder. The Austrians have begun a general powerful offensive on the Dniester-Fruth Zereth front. From the Dniester the Russians have been obliged to retreat, which is difficult, owing to rain and mud."

Leave For Geneva. Four Bulgarian army officers left Geneva for home, recalled by telegrams. All Bulgarians and students in Switzerland of military age have received notice to be prepared to leave immediately.

The German government has decided to adopt the same measures for the conservation of this year's crop of grain as employed last year, expropriating all grain and fixing the maximum prices for sale. Expropriation will be in the hands of the communes and the maximum prices will not be fixed until it is seen exactly how the harvest results. The same measures apply to fodder.

Recruiting Sufficient. That the recruiting for the British army has been in excess of actual needs was revealed in parliament last night when the house of commons voted a resolution adding fifty thousand men to the navy. Thomas J. McNamara, the financial secretary of the admiralty, explained the government already had all the men actually needed at present, but in asking this vote the admiralty (Continued on Page Eight.)
