LENEHAN REMAINS LAID TO REST

Father and Daughter Victims of Lightning Buried Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church occurred the funeral for the lightning victims of last Saturday's storm. Father Ott preached the funeral sermon, at what was in many ways one of the saddest gatherings which ever met together in this city. Thomas Lenehan and his daughter, Nora, were cut down in the pride of life together, suddenly without the least warning to their friends and relatives. It is hard to lose two members of a family at one time, and so unexpectedly, and Mrs. Lenehan and family have the sincere sympathy of their friends and the people in general throughout this community. Father Ott spoke such comforting words as it is possible to utter at such a time. There was a profusion of beautiful flowers, and appealing music was provided by the regular church choir. At the conclusion of the service, a long procession of carriages made their way to the Catholic cemetery, where further services were held, and interment made. The widow of the deceased, children, grandsons, sister, and other relatives were present. They all have the heartfelt sympathy of the people of this community.

TAYLOR THOMPSON HAS RESIGNED

Taylor O. Thompson, who for the past two years has been in the secretary of state's office, tendered his resignation last Saturday to take effect August first. Mr. A. G. Jacobson, who has been employed by the Bismarck Tribune for several years past was chosen to succeed Mr. Thompson by the Commissioners of Public Printing. Mr. Thompson has accepted a position with the Knight Printing Company of Fargo. Prior to coming to Bismarck he was for several years city editor of the Minot Daily reporter. He has been Sunday school superintendent in the Presbyterian church, a member of the session, and active in the Presbytery of which he has been the moderator. He had the distinction and honor of being the youngest commissioner at the General As-

RED LAKE RIVER AT FLOOD STAGE

Ellendale Visited by Very Destructive Storm—New Rockford Hit.

Grand Forks, June 29.—The Red Lake river reached flood proportions today at several points as a result of heavy rains during the past three weeks, the situation being made acute at Thief River Falls where the Kretzschmar dam, providing power for the city's electric plant and the big Hanson & Barzen flour mill, was partially dynamited to remove the possibility of the dam washing out. The upper portion of the dam when blown out permitted a rush of water that washed out the mill race at the Hanson & Barzen dam. The dynamiting, however, reduced the tension on the big dam to such extent that no further damage is anticipated. The river still is going up, waters pouring from Thief river and several other sources. At Red Lake Falls the big dam owned by the Byllesly interests of Chicago is withstanding the enormous strain laid upon it. The water there is flooding over the dam to a depth of two feet. Pumps Moved Back. In Grand Forks the Red River Power company was forced to remove its water pumping plant from the water side to higher ground. The present stage of the water is the highest this year, and it is going up here at the rate of four inches an hour today. Looked Dangerous. W. H. Brown of this city, manager of the Red River Power company, was notified last night by the manager at Red Lake Falls of the dangerous outlook there. At that time a small island in the Red Lake river at Red Lake Falls, opposite the Steinhart mill there, is completely covered by water. MINIATURE CYCLONE WRECKS BARN AROUND CHAFFEE. Chaffee, N. D., June 29.—A miniature cyclone swept over this place early Sunday evening, taking in a path 20 miles wide, wrecking farm buildings, lodging grain, and flooding fields. No injuries reported. Several barns were completely demolished, the cattle escaping unhurt. S. E. Bergeson & Son will keep open every evening this week.—Adv.

FORGAVE ACT OF TREACHERY

General Hugo, Father of Immortal Writer, as Magnanimous as He Was Brave.

Just a century ago, in 1815, as a French writer reminds us, Gen. Count Joseph Hugo, father of Victor Hugo, the famous poet, rendered his country the last service of an adventurous military career by defending for the second time the fortified town of Thionville. The first siege, although the garrison was weak and the military supplies wretchedly inadequate, lasted for forty-eight days—one day more than the famous siege of Lucknow. The place was abandoned only on the news of Napoleon's downfall, and was recaptured and held for him once more during the hundred days of his return. Thionville, which was renamed Diedenhofen by the Germans after the Franco-Prussian war, may sometime find itself again in the war zone, since it is only a few miles from the great stronghold of Metz, and that is only a few miles from the border of French Lorraine.

The fame of General Hugo is associated, however, chiefly with warfare of a more picturesque and dashing nature than siege operations usually permit. He served brilliantly in both Italy and Spain, and especially distinguished himself in putting down bandits and guerrillas. That he was a man as magnanimous as he was brave is attested by a little incident of his career that his son narrated. General Hugo, accompanied by a single trusted hussar orderly, had occasion, at the close of a day of fighting, to ride across a portion of the battlefield as dusk was beginning to fall.

"He heard a feeble sound in the shadows," wrote Victor Hugo. "It was a soldier of the Spanish army, who dragged himself along the roadway, pale, bleeding, gasping, and who cried, 'A drink! A drink, in the name of pity!'" "My father, touched, handed his canteen to his faithful hussar, and said, 'Here, give a drink to that poor, wounded fellow.' Suddenly, as the hussar, stooping, leaned over him, the man, a Moor of some sort, snatched the pistol he carried and fired it at my father's head, crying, 'Caramba!' The bullet passed so close that the hat fell, and the charger reared wildly backward.

"Give him the drink all the same," said my father.—Youth's Companion.

LASSED A GERMAN SENTINEL

Peculiar Circumstances Under Which French Soldiers Made Prisoner of Single Enemy.

The second lieutenant of a battalion of Alpine chassours tells how the lasso was utilized against the Germans in the Vosges. "We occupied a wooded knoll," he says, "so well placed the Germans couldn't think of taking it by assault, so they set their miners and sappers at work. They arrived thus within a few yards of our trenches and had the audacity to place a sentinel there, well protected in a sort of armored box with loopholes in it. There was no way of driving him out. One day a chasseur, who had seen life on the American plains, asked permission to try his hand with a rope. At midnight he slipped out of the trench and crept close enough to throw a slip noose over the box, then another and another before the German realized what had happened. With the aid of a number of comrades the box with the German in it was dragged into our trenches."

Use Steam to Dry Grass.

The up-to-date, well-equipped farm seems now to have a method of protection during the hay season against the losses which have been experienced in so many cases by the wetting of the rain and the preventing of proper drying. Experiments show that grass can be dried by steam within thirty minutes from the time it is cut, and then be ready to be stored away. The product thus obtained is superior to the ordinary sun-dried product, having a sweeter flavor and keeping fully as well. This can be applied, of course, only on a farm that has a steam plant, but it is fairly simple, and it certainly seems to promise to the farmer a protection against one of his inevitable trials in the past.

First Submarine Forgotten.

An ignominious end marks the end of the Holland, the first modern submarine owned by this country. Perfected by John J. Holland, the little vessel was sold to the government 15 years ago. The craft was 53 feet in length, with a displacement of 75 tons, compared with the modern submarine of 1,000 tons which the government has decided to build. One of the features of the boat was the aerial gun in the bow, which could throw a shell of high explosives nearly a mile. All that remains of the Holland lies filled with sand and water in the Delaware river.

Godfather Cities.

A new scheme is announced for the rebuilding of devastated districts of East Prussia. Each of the larger municipalities in the interior of Germany will become "godfather" to one of the towns or villages which have suffered from invasion. Thus Charlottenburg has undertaken to raise the necessary assistance for Soldau, Magdeburg for Johannesburg, and so on. The parent towns are not expected to deal with the general or temporary relief of distress, but rather with rebuilding and town planning.

OSTEOPATHY.

It is an exact science. There is back of Osteopathy the lineage of the thots of all ages. It rests upon certain fixed and unalterable laws of nature. It offers to the vigorous mind the opportunity to investigate, to discover, to reason, as no other field can do.—Adv.

MADE ALL THE DIFFERENCE

Change of Ownership Seemingly Caused Change in Hearing Faculties of Neighbors.

Champ Clark has invented a little fable of two men and a dog, and more than once used it to point a moral. Jones and Smith were next-door neighbors. Jones had a dog that barked a considerable part of every night. Finally Smith said to Jones: "See here, Jones, we have always been friends, and I hope you won't take offense if I tell you that the barking of your dog is driving me and my family mad for want of sleep."

"That's queer," said Jones. "I haven't noticed that the dog barked any to speak of." "Two or three evenings later Smith came home leading a dog—the dog—by a string.

"Now," said he to Mrs. Smith, "we will soon have a chance to sleep. I didn't like to shoot the beast while he belonged to Jones, so I have bought him. Nobody can blame us for killing our own dog. I'll get some chloroform tomorrow." "A month passed and Jones and Smith met.

"Well, Smith, you haven't chloroformed the dog yet." "No," said Smith, "the truth is we have become rather fond of him. He is so lively and playful."

"But doesn't his barking at night annoy you?" "I haven't noticed it."

"Well," said Jones, "the brute keeps us awake half the night. I don't see how you can endure it."

WAYS OF ACQUIRING GRACE

First of All Probably the Necessity of Holding Chest Correctly—Crossing the Arms.

A good carriage has much to do with success in acquiring grace. Never mind about your shoulders; they will fall naturally into their place if the chest is correctly held. The woman who holds her chest up will glance at you pityingly when you speak of indigestion, backache and similar physical worries. The secret of health is to adjust all the parts of your machine. Lift your chest, and all the other organs in your body will slip into the place nature designed for them. Learn to hold your chest forward in walking, even straining against it, as a horse strains against a harness. Hold your head easily balanced on your shoulders.

Crossing the arms gracefully is an art that never seems to be understood outside the theater. Most women who assume this position fold the hands down inside the arms. The hands should be laid out straight, one crossing the right arm and the other just holding to the left.—The Delineator.

Arrangements are almost completed for the opening of the Barnes County Fair at Valley City next Monday, July 5. The first day will be devoted entirely to an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, with all the events on the program that are usually found on a celebration program. There is enough to make a very busy afternoon, including something which has never been seen in Valley City before. During the afternoon there will be a monster display of daylight fireworks. This alone will be worth the price of admission, and much will be seen to be appreciated. All kinds of figures will be released by the exploding bombs, which will float around in the air, and beautiful cloud effects are also formed.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Hixson County Medical Society, and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since time immemorial three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be found in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparation, or natural starvation causes with tuberculosis associated. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the dietetic (lime lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Thus from another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of lime in the treatment of tuberculosis. Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try. Eckman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

CHAPLIN KNOCKS AUTO IN SAN FRANCISCO BAY

Charles Chaplin knocks two men in an auto off a deck into the bay at San Francisco, in taking a scene for "A JITNEY ELOPEMENT." Leo White, as the Count de Ha Ha, and his prospective father-in-law pursue Chaplin and his sweetheart, who are eloping in a jitney auto. After a long chase, Chaplin runs into the pursuing machine, knocking it clear into the bay. It turns a flip flop from the dock and both White and papa-in-law are hurled out into the water. They were fished out half-strangled.

SEND PICTURES TO ROLLA CARNIVAL

F. J. Grady is making up a collection of pictures, which will be sent to Rolla this week to be exhibited at the annual midsummer carnival to be held there July 2 and 3. Included in the collection which Mr. Grady will send is a picture of "Sankawa," one of Denny Hamman, one of "Red Tomahawk," and a picture of a boy which won first prize at a recent convention of the Northwestern Photographers' association. "Madonna and Child" was exhibited before the Photographers' association of America. The above mentioned pictures were kindly loaned by Mrs. W. E. Butler of this city.

In addition, three pictures of famous Indians, Sitting Bull, Chief John Grass, and one of Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and Sitting Bull, the property of W. A. Stickleby, will be sent to the exhibit. Captain A. B. Welch has furnished a short sketch of the lives of each of the above mentioned chiefs, which will be forwarded with the pictures.
