TWICHELL HAS BEST OF DEBATE OVER GEO. LOFTUS

Outpoints Him in Argument Which Crowd Easily Realizes.

HARD FACTS PITTED AGAINST VITUPERATION

Explodes Many Foolish Charges Made Against Him Personally.

Aneta, N. D., July 3.—Should the last session of the legislature have authorized the construction of a state owned elevator in the city of St. Paul is the subject debated this afternoon between George S. Loftus, sales manager of the Equity Co-operative Exchange, and Treadwell Twichell, a Cass county farmer.

Attracted Large Audience. Yesterday's debate on the feasibility of a terminal elevator in St. Paul attracted a large audience, but the attendance today exceeded that of the preceding debate. Members of the Equity exchange from many other counties were here in attendance and there were a large number of non-members, who are interested in the matter and anxious to hear what are probably the two best rough and ready talkers that could possibly be secured on the question.

Since the adjournment of the legislature the speakers of the Equity Co-operative exchange have attacked members who were opposed to the terminal elevator proposition. In some localities the speakers announced without any equivocation they would camp on the trails of these members and endeavor to prevent their renomination and re-election.

Took Affirmative. Mr. Loftus took the affirmative of the question and spoke for an hour and a half on the subject. He called the roll of the legislature, citing the names of the members of each house who favored and opposed the terminal elevator proposition and made some decidedly caustic remarks regarding some of those who took an active part in the defeat of the proposition.

Approved Amendment. His main contention was that the voters of the state had approved of the constitutional amendment authorizing the erection of a terminal elevator by such a one-sided vote that the members of the legislature should have acted in response to this voice of the people and authorized the construction of the terminal. He contended that the members in failing to do this showed an entire disregard of the wishes of a great majority of the voters of the state and were entitled to all the criticism to which they had been subjected and some, through their activities in opposition to the plan, had thrown themselves open to suspicion and had they been guided by the expressed sentiment of the voters they would have favored the construction of the terminal elevator.

Opposed Construction. Mr. Twichell, speaking on the negative, explained that he had been a member of the legislature and had opposed the construction of a terminal elevator in St. Paul as a matter of principle and supposed that a member could do so legitimately and not be suspected of ulterior motives any more than those who favored the proposition could be charged with having been bought by the citizens of St. Paul. He called attention to some of the stories that had been circulated since the close of the legislature, one of which was that he had been paid $25,000 by the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. Another, that he had a wealthy uncle in the grain business.

No Wealthy Uncle. This, he said, was true, except that he had no uncle who was wealthy and none in the grain business. Another report was that his wife's two brothers were in the grain business, elevator in St. Paul to help them out, all of which was true except his wife had no brothers. He went through a list of a dozen or more similar charges printed by a paper advocating the interests of the Equity Co-operative exchange in an attack on him.

He deplored the attempts of certain agitators for the Equity Co-operative exchange in stirring up strife

OROZCO ESCAPES HUERTA ARRESTED -- PLACED IN JAIL

Mexican Revolutionist Eludes a Guard of Twelve Men; Dictator Apprehended Again.

FIVE MEXICAN LEADERS PLACED UNDER ARREST

In Default of $15,000 Bonds Demanded They Are All Locked Up.

Washington, July 3.—A rigid investigation of circumstances surrounding the escape of Orozco was ordered, with a view of prosecuting offenders. A message to the Carranza agency from the border said Orozco was at Valentine, Texas, near Marfa, Mexico. He intended to cross into Mexico tomorrow, the message said.

No Trace Found.

El Paso, Tex., July 3.—No trace was found of Pascual Orozco, second only to Huerta in importance of Mexicans detained here who disappeared from the house where he was under guard.

His escape was accomplished, despite a guard of six men, three soldiers and three agents of the federal department of justice, whose instructions warranted them in taking drastic action in case of attempted flight.

Rearrest Huerta.

General Victoriano Huerta was rearrested here today on a federal warrant issued at San Antonio, charging conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws of the United States by attempting to launch a revolutionary movement in Mexico. He was arrested with General Ignacio Bravo and Jose Delgado. General Caus, J. B. Ratner and Enrique Gorostiza, Huerta associates were arrested earlier.

All were taken before Commissioner Oliver and bonds fixed for each defendant at $15,000, raising Huerta's total bond to $30,000. Huerta, with the five, failed to secure the bond, and shortly after the five was taken to the county jail, where a military guard will be stationed around the building. Would Extradite Huerta. Application to the United States for the formal extradition of Huerta, Felix Diaz, Manuel Mondragon and Aureliano Blanquet was filed with Secretary of State Lansing yesterday by Eliso Arredondo, the confidential agent of Carranza. The text of the application received here calls for the extradition of the American government to alleged crimes committed during February, 1913, during the uprising in Mexico City, and lays the blame for Madero's death to this alleged combination. "Then it asserts they are planning another revolution and asks that they be detained and sent back to Mexico for trial.

A hearing for the six is set for July 12.

CLEARING WEATHER IN WEST.

Red River Valley Fields Are Drying. Fargo, N. D., July 3.—Clear and cool weather prevails over North Dakota and will lessen damage from the recent deluge. The water is passing from the fields as rapidly as the ditches can carry it away. All streams are flush. There are indications of a continuance of the fine weather of yesterday and today. Additional reports of damage by hail on Sunday have been received from many sections of the state, the losses ranging from 25 per cent to total.

BECKER'S COUNSEL SAYS LIEUTENANT WILL TELL STORY

Will Make Public Disclosures of $100,000 Graft Fund Distribution.

WILL MAKE CLEAN BREAST SAYS MANTON

New York, July 3.—The authority of Charles Becker's counsel, Martin F. Manton, it was said today that if Becker fails in his appeal to the United States supreme court he will, before going to the electric chair for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, make a public disclosure of the names of the men with whom he is alleged to have divided $100,000 in graft money collected from gamblers and illegal resorts during his career as head of the famous police strong arm squad. Six men, some of them police department officials, are understood to be involved in the statement Becker has prepared while awaiting the outcome of appeals to Governor Whitman and the United States supreme court.

"Becker will make a clean breast of the grafting," said Mr. Manton. "He will issue a statement, not for me, but to divide the guilt of graft. He realizes his perilous position and does not want to die, if he must, and leave a set of men to use others as he has been used. He wishes to have the truth of his mind as soon as possible."

It was reported that Becker's statement would attempt to explain the death of "Big Tim" Sullivan, who was believed to have been killed by a New Haven railroad train.

Conflicting statements and denials by some of the informers against Becker and by others confused the situation today. One clear point was that the informers could not deny their testimony against Becker without "jolting the contract under which they were granted immunity by the state's representatives. Under this agreement they were to enjoy immunity unless shown to be guilty of perjury.

CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER TRACTOR

Ray, July 3.—One of the most deplorable accidents which has ever happened in this community occurred when Ingvald Ingvaldson was crushed to death under the wheel of a gasoline tractor. Mr. Ingvaldson was in charge of the Mike Lundie plowing outfit which was breaking on the H. P. Herberg land northwest of Ray and while the engine was running he got off to adjust the carburetor walking along side the engine while doing it. It is thought that in some way he fell and caught under the heavy drive wheels, which passed over his left shoulder and side of the face crushing him almost beyond recognition. The man at the steering wheel tried to stop the engine but Ingvaldson was already back to the plows before the outfit was stopped. The only words the dying young man uttered were "lift me up," then he lost consciousness. Word was sent to Ray and Mr. Scott went to the scene but the man died as he reached the tent on the fields which was about a half hour after the accident.

GETS $75 AN ACRE.

Mott, N. D., July 3.—While papers of transfer filed at the court house show "Consideration $1," it is understood that all prices for farm land in this section have been broken. Geo. Kline received $75 an acre for his place, north of this city.

TEUTONIC DRIVE IN GALICIA IS NOT CURTAILED

Russian Military Experts Admit Complete Retirement From Enemy's Soil.

FIGHTING ALONG WESTERN FRONT IS MOST SEVERE

German Submarines Get Five More Boats; Engagement in Baltic.

London, July 3.—The armies of Emperor William and Emperor Francis Joseph continue their impetuous drive against the forces of Emperor Nicholas along the front, measuring approximately 150 miles in Southern Russian Poland and Galicia.

The Teutonic troops, according to Berlin, have gained possession of the lowlands of Lubinka, a Russian province of Lublin, and despite stubborn resistance, also advanced in pursuit of fleeing Russians in the Zlota Lipa section of Galicia. Petrograd admits the retirement of Russians across the Gnula Lipa and explains the retrograde movement to the north was caused by strong flanking operations of Austro-Germans against the Russian positions in the Tanew region, making them untenable.

Galician Campaign Ended. The Russian military experts profess to believe the Galician campaign is ended. Fighting along the western front is especially severe in the Argentine forests, where the German crown prince is commanding the Teutons.

The French assert they inflicted heavy losses on the Germans in combats in this region, while Berlin admits the Germans were forced to give up gains they made on the Hilgen Eidge in the Vosges mountains. In the Italian theater, the Italians claim to be making slow, but steady gains, though the Austro-Hungarians are augmenting their forces and counterattacks are said to be becoming more resolute. Unofficial reports say Tolmino, on the Isonzo river, is occupied by the Italians.

Turks Claim Victories.

In the Dardanelles, the Turks claim to have beaten off renewed attacks of Anglo-French forces, with heavy losses to their opponents. The German submarine activity in the war zone drawn around the British Isles accounted for five more British steamers and one Belgian vessel, according to today's reports. They aggregate 20,000 tons gross. The lives of all of the crews were saved before the ships were sent to the bottom.

The Russian submarine in the Black sea sank two Turkish steamers and one sailing ship carrying provisions and coal, and later engaged and drove around three armed schooners near the mouth of the Bosphorus.

Naval Battle in Baltic.

While the Russian details of the naval battle between German and Russian cruiser squadrons off the Swedish island, Gotland, in the Baltic, affirm that the German cruiser was damaged and driven aground and other German warships fled. The German admiralty in a statement at Berlin tonight confirms the previous official reports that the disabled vessel driven ashore was the German mine layer Albatross. Berlin states that twenty of the Albatross' crew were killed in the fight and twenty-seven were wounded, adding that the vessel ran aground in a sinking condition after two hours of heavy fighting with four Russian cruisers. General Gouraud, commander of the French expeditionary force at the Dardanelles, was wounded and is returning to France, according to an official announcement. It said the General was injured by an explosion of a shell. He was not dangerously wounded.

J. P. MORGAN SHOT TWICE BY AMERICAN COLLEGE INSTRUCTOR WHO WAS BROODING OVER WAR

Officials Declare That He Has Confessed to Placing Bomb That Wrecked Portion of Senate Reception Room.

WANTED FINANCIER TO CEASE DIRECTING PURCHASE OF MUNITIONS

Maniac Rushed by Banker's Butler and Lodged Two Bullets Before He Was Overcome by Capitalist and Servants; Wounds Not Serious.

Glen Cove, N. Y., July 3.—J. P. Morgan, head of the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., was shot twice today, at his country home, near here, by Frank Holt, a native American and former student and instructor in Cornell university, who also, officials say, confessed tonight to placing the bombs which last midnight wrecked the public reception room in the senate wing of the national capital at Washington.

Holt was to have become head of the department of French in the Southwestern Methodist university, at Dallas, Texas, next fall.

Both shots took effect in the region of the hip. A bulletin issued by a specialist at Morgan's bedside tonight, stated there were no unfavorable symptoms and Morgan is resting easily.

OVERCOME BY MORGAN.

Holt was overpowered by Morgan and Henry Fiske, a butler in the Morgan household, who grappled with him in the hallway. He was locked up in the jail here and held without bail for further proceeding on July 7. From his cell, Holt issued a written statement, saying he intended no harm to Morgan, but had come to Glen Cove to persuade the banker to stop the shipment abroad of munitions of war from this country. He went to the Morgan home, he said, with a pistol in his hand and a stick of dynamite in his pocket, intending to remain there till Morgan "did something."

Another loaded pistol was found in Holt's pocket and more dynamite in a suitcase which he had taken to Morgan's, in addition to numerous newspaper clippings in the suitcase, all regarding the European war.

BOY IS KILLED BY MEXICANS

North Dakotan Is a Victim of a Bullet From Across the Rio Grande.

DeVils Lake, N. D., July 3.—That Peter C. Moscripp, son of Mrs. P. M. Poole of Devils Lake, was shot by a bullet from across the Rio Grande, is the opinion of P. M. Poole, who with his wife left last evening for Tipton, Iowa, where they will meet the remains of the boy whose body is being shipped from Fort Douglas, Ariz. Young Moscripp joined the 11th Regiment, U. S. regulars the first of the year and was detailed to the border country.

Yesterday the mother received a brief telegram that her son was dead. No information as to the cause was contained in the message. But two days before Mrs. Poole received a letter from her son which led to the belief that all was not right at Fort Douglas. The boy stated that "stray bullets were flying around pretty thick, and that every once in a while one of the men is being picked off by the snipers."

This statement, together with the fact that the telegram gave no cause of death or intimation of sickness leads to the belief that he was the victim of a bullet.

"We are going to find out the cause of his death," declared Mr. Poole on receiving Devils Lake. "Even if it is necessary to hold an autopsy."
