APACHE WRIST WATCHES.
Any supercilious person who still regards the much-abused wrist watch as an effeminate trinket, suitable for no males but mollycoddles, is invited to consider this news dispatch, received recently from El Paso, Texas:
"The Apache scouts ordered to trail the bandit, Villa, have entered Mexico on motor trucks, led by Peaches, the captor of Geronimo. Each of the twenty Apaches wore sun goggles and a wrist watch."
These Indians are regarded as the flower of the United States army scouts. Nearly all of them are veterans who participated in the famous hunt for Geronimo. If they wore the scalps of all the men they have killed, they'd probably have to pay excess baggage on them.
The wrist watch may now be regarded as having received its final and complete vindication. Boys may soon be demanding them to play soldier with—at least, when they fare forth to hunt Villa in the back lot.

STALE AIR.
The trouble with the United States senate, according to Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, is simply lack of air. He explains that the senate chamber is surrounded by corridors, so that the only ventilation possible comes from the gallery, where the air has already been breathed by the public.
This notorious stuffiness, he says, is responsible for the premature death of many senators. He instances particularly Senators Bacon of Georgia, Johnson of Alabama, and Bradley of Kentucky, whose end he is certain was hastened by breathing the polluted atmosphere of the chamber. The chief reason for the retirement of Elihu Root from the senate, he declares, was the fact that his health was impaired whenever he attended a session.
Indeed, remarks Senator Lewis, it is this same deadly air of the chamber that makes senators' attendance so irregular, and adds to the difficulty of his own work as senate "whip." They will not stay there for business unless driven to it.
Quarrels and fights on the floor of the senate are due to the same cause. The lack of oxygen results in frazzled nerves and tempers. And while the senator does not say it in so many words, he lets it be inferred that the dullness of senatorial oratory is largely due to the debilitating and stupefying atmosphere.
The House, he hastens to add, labors under the same handicap.
It has been estimated that a proper system of ventilation could be installed for $50,000. The public naturally wonders why the elder statesmen don't take a full breath of fresh air some morning before entering the chamber, and then, ere they have succumbed to the stupefying stench, adopt a resolution to introduce a ventilating system. Surely that is not beyond the power of the greatest deliberative body on earth. And the public will not begrudge the money.

PRESIDENT WILSON CALLS FOR JOINT SESSION

and amendments to increase the standing army to 250,000 men—a number much in excess of the military committee's recommendations of the house bill, were quickly approved, and the bill was passed and sent to conference to adjust differences with the house.
There was no visible connection between the two events, but its significance was remarked upon.
There is only one instance in modern diplomatic history in which a breaking off of diplomatic relations between two first-class powers has not been followed by war. It is the breaking of relations between Germany and Italy, and it stands alone against a precedence which the diplomats regard as the inevitable.

President Wilson's purpose in going before congress is explained to be in recognition of the fact that while the executive branch of the government has power to break diplomatic relations, congress alone has power to declare war, and the president feels, therefore, it should be advised of an action in which it may subsequently be called upon to bear a part.

President Wilson has guarded with unusual precaution secrecy of the message he will deliver.
He will read from personally prepared manuscript, on which he labored three days; and of which no copy was made. Some of the cabinet members know and they are bound in honor not to reveal the president's aim before he speaks to congress, the country aid to Germany.
An army reorganization bill that would produce regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating a million men was passed by the senate tonight without a recorded vote. It is a substitute for the Hay bill, passed by the house and the differences will be worked out in conference.

Refuses to Tell.
The president has refused to tell his own secretary, because, as the president expressed it, his secretary would be questioned about it.
Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, called upon Secretary Lansing by direction of his government.
The ambassador did state to Secretary Lansing that while under no circumstances could Germany give up the submarine warfare, because it was being used in retaliation for Great Britain's food blockade, his country would attempt to use the submarine in accordance with international law and Germany's assurances to the United States.
He added that in any case where instructions to submarine commanders were violated, reparation would be made in accordance with the assurances given in the Lusitania, Arabic and other cases.
Secretary Lansing told the ambassador he would see him again in a few days.

New Army Plan.
In the closing hours of debate the senate made provision for a regular standing army with a peace strength of 250,000 men, as compared with 140,000 in the Hay bill, which passed the house, retained, after a close fight, the plan for a federal volunteer army reserve force, calculated to aggregate 261,000 men, and federalize the national guard forces of the states at an estimated strength of 280,000 men.
In addition to this combined regular and reserve force of 790,000 men an amendment was passed to create a school and college reserve corps in time of war or threatened war, which would recruit a force of young men trained by officers of the regular army, the estimated strength of which is estimated at from 200,000 to 400,000 men.

was at Satevo. Since then, I have heard nothing about him. Knowing his condition and the certainty of his being wounded, I consider it highly probable that he is dead, as he assuredly could not have got any proper medical treatment."

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE
If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Give Fruit Laxative at Once.
Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste, and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When his little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.
Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Be Comfortable in Your Clothes
COMFORT is one thing you take for granted in clothes; and it's the most important thing to consider.
You want bodily comfort; that depends on the fit.
You want mental comfort; that comes from knowing that you're well dressed.
The Hart Shaffner & Marx label in clothes means that the garments were made with special reference to YOUR Comfort, physical and mental. The label mark is a big thing to find; look for it.

FOUR DOCTORS DISAGREED
Pains Disappeared After Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Wilmington, Del.—"I was suffering from a terrible backache and pains in my side, with bearing down pains and was very nervous. I was always tired, always drowsy, never could get enough sleep and could not eat. I had four doctors and each told me something different. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. I got good results and I now feel better than I have felt for years and I am gaining in weight. I can gladly recommend it to all women."—Mrs. GEORGE W. SEBOLD, 1611 West 4th Street, Wilmington, Del.
